PREFACE

“Biography is the only true history.”—Emerson.

“Biography is allowed on all hands to be one of the most attractive and profitable kinds of reading.”—Archbishop Wheatley.

“Every man is a bundle of his ancestors.”—Emerson.

Who and what were my ancestors? Such information is of vital importance if the present would improve upon the past, and yet honor the ancestry. In the subject matter of the above quotations; in the complexity of the general family lines under consideration; in the study of heredity problems, especially those of consanguineous marriages and their effects^a; in the desire to fashion a fitting monument to the ancestry; and to help and encourage both the present and future generations—in all such matters the reader will gather motives for the preparation of this volume. The definite purpose to ultimately undertake the project was formed while long ago listening to conversations between Father [E226] and Grandfather [E68], held upon the site of the original building at the “old homestead” in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. I have very often regretted that my questions were then so superficial, and that we were unable to secure some important historical papers pertaining to [E2] Jacob² Brumbach.

There was a great, cracked iron kettle at the old homestead which had been dropped from an old Conestoga wagon in making the difficult fording of the Susquehanna River, and recovered from it, as several of the ancestors were returning to “Woodcock Valley” from “the Gushehoppa” or “Gushehoppa region,” “where some Brumbachs yet remained.” George³ [E13] said the ancestors came from Germany and France, but he seemed not to have mentioned immigrants other than the lines “C” and “E.” They passed through eastern Pennsylvania into Maryland, and some went West and South, while others went into Cumberland Co., Pa. The latter made occasional trips to “Gushehoppa.” Some references to this general region are found upon pp. 134-137.

Early German and other colonists, especially in Pennsylvania, usually buried their dead on their farms in family or community plots. The graves were marked by field stones, or by slate slabs, using merely initials and rarely the dates of birth and death. Positive knowledge of the facts thus perished through death, loss of memory, and migrations. Family Bibles and other records have been destroyed by fire, or lost. In one instance a Bible was sold in York Co., Pa., "to a man from Philadelphia for fifty cents," and it has never been located. This actual occurrence, fortunately, is but illustrative, and did not happen in our families—but some of our valuable records have been destroyed because "they were old."

As a rule Brumbach-Brumbaugh and related families have not sought public office,^a and this commonly fruitful source of information in public records has been closed. Land records, however, have been of the greatest assistance. Will books but infrequently assisted, owing to the early and general practice of dividing property upon retiring from active business life; or of permitting the laws of descent to determine the division of property.

The military records ordinarily furnished extensive material for family history. Though loyal, the large majority of the families herein traced adhered to the non-resistant views, and military sources of information are therefore also of comparatively little assistance. In connection with the Friend, Mennonite, German Baptist and other church belief and practices, the following extract^b is of interest:

"The Draft—Brethren who are drafted may pay $300.00 and be exempt, or be assigned to hospital duty, or to take charge of 'freedmen,' but will not be forced into the ranks."

The earlier data, gathered partly by Father, was taken up by me in 1889, and the search was pressed as opportunity permitted. Later the writer learned that others were working upon our separate family histories, and finally learned that death had terminated their efforts. It was finally learned that Ephraim⁵ Brumbaugh [E345], historian of the "Descendants of Conrad³ Brumbaugh" [E9], preserved the material gathered by his late brother, Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344], in some fourteen years of persistent inquiry. This material was secured and was found to deal largely with the descendants of Conrad³ [E9], and of Margaret³ (Brumbaugh) Fouse [E8]. About 1907, after a long search, the records of the late Edmund Green⁴ Brumbaugh [G160]^c were secured from his widow. These records represented about nine years' search amongst the descendants of Hermanus Emanuel¹ Brumbach [G1]; and without that assistance, and the later co-operation of Albert Jacob⁴ Brumbach [G87],^d Section G would scarcely have been included in this volume.

^aHon. Clement Laird⁵ Brumbaugh [C203], now Deputy Superintendent of Insurance for Ohio, was elected a Member of Congress from Columbus, O., Nov. 5, 1912, too late to note upon page 229. Others of the name have served in State Legislatures, but he is apparently the first to serve in the National body. See Plate 61½.

The records of both Andrew Brumbaugh and Edmund Green Brumbaugh, and those of Father, preserved the results of personal interviews, letters, etc., from the oldest surviving persons both in the family lines and without them. The compiler carefully digested, collated, and made everything to assist in the completion of the present "progress report." Their basis work was most important, and the compiler profoundly regrets that they could not have survived to assist in completing this volume, which is evolved along wholly different plans. Their records included letters from numerous deceased ancestors, and a comprehensive plan should be formed for the union of the different Memorial Associations, or Reunions, and the permanent preservation of this data.

The late Judge Jefferson⁵ Brumback [D231]^a wrote of his investigations in Virginia tracing the descendants of The Widow² Brumbach [D2], and during his lifetime his assistance and interest in the project of the writer were most cordial. There were also found letters from Garrett Ellwood⁵ Brownback [A132],^b who was especially interested in the descendants of Gerhard¹ Brumbach [A1]. His co-operation with the compiler has been constant and most encouraging in the dark hours. He has preserved valuable records, at his own expense furnished many half tones for Section A, and has already loaned $200 to help the compiler to publish this volume. Orville Sanford⁶ Brumback [D263]^c was also represented by letters to the late workers, has continued his enlarged interest in the undertaking, has furnished much information concerning his family lines, and has paid for many half tones in Section D. John Garner⁵ Fouse [E8-ix-6]^d and his brother, Adam Garner⁵ Fouse [E8-ix-8],^e visited the late Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344] and encouraged and assisted him materially by securing facts concerning the Fouse families. That active interest and assistance has been continued to the compiler, and a volume, "Fouse Families in America," is planned by us for later publication.

It has been very difficult to secure photographs, but an unusual number for a family history are reproduced in the belief that this expense will assure a more acceptable and valuable volume. A few composite or type photographs were planned, but this is reserved for the future. One old record and some facts were secured by one co-worker, who drove thirty miles through snow to secure them. Such assistance, together with that of Joseph Martin⁵ Brumback [D256] and Frances Elizabeth⁵ Brumback [D259]—see pp. 270, 278, 330, Pls. 67-70—have been intensely encouraging to the compiler.

Dr. Martin Grove⁶ Brumbaugh [E682] took the necessary time from his busy life to read the page proofs for the volume and to kindly write the Introduction. His continuous interest and decided commendation of the results secured, and his co-operation throughout the later stages of the project, are gratefully acknowledged.

Mr. Eugene Alleman, P. M. at Warsaw, Ind., kindly furnished information leading to a considerable number of hitherto unobtainable facts concerning Brumbaugh families in Kosciusko and Elkhart Counties, Ind.

Mr. Luther R. Kelker, Custodian of the Public Records, Harrisburg, Pa., rendered important help, and was instrumental in directing me to Mr. Karl Brombach, Karlsruhe, Baden (see p. 4), who has been of the greatest assistance in searching the foreign field for facts and illustrations. Chalmers Sherfey⁶ Brumbaugh [E756] also materially assisted in the study of the coats-of-arms (see pp. 21-25, 616). Messrs. Stephen Olop, Denver, Colo., Emory Alburtus⁶ Zook [E231-ii], and Michael Alvin Gruber, Washington, D. C., very kindly assisted in making translations, etc.

The treasures of the Library of Congress were kindly placed at my disposal for reference and study (much is there yet ungleaned); and the officials and attendants there, as also in other libraries, court houses, etc., etc., have been most helpful and courteous.

Mr. Ernest Lindsley Crandall, Washington, D. C., made the excellent photographs of most of the records herein produced, and deserves especial credit for the careful manner in which this often difficult work was done. The half tones were made by Messrs. Joyce & Co., Washington, D. C., and Gatchell & Manning, Philadelphia, Pa. The publication was produced under the direction of the publisher, Mr. Frederick H. Hitchcock, of New York. Their combined results speak for their workmanship, and the author hereby expresses his thanks for their continuous interest and zealous assistance.

[E105] Jesse K——⁵ Brumbaugh, West Milton, O., and [E652] Noah Jay⁶ Brumbaugh, and his wife, of Washington, D. C.; [E348] Isaac⁵ Brumbaugh, and others, at Hartville, O.; [E1965] John Milton⁵ Brumbaugh, Elkhart, Ind.; [E2024] Melvin Washington⁶ Brumbaugh, Maitland, Mo.; [E3054] Isaac⁴ Brumbaugh, Huntington, Ind.; O. J. D. Haughtelin, Panora, Iowa; [C12] Jacob Brown (died Oct. 11, 1912), Cumberland, Md.; [C34] Rebecca (Clopper) Brumbaugh, Greencastle, Pa.; [C76] David Stuckey⁴ Brumbaugh, Roaring Spring, Pa.; and [D104] Lucy Gertrude (Lauck) Brumback, Stanley, Va., are a few of the many other active co-workers. The number of the latter is so great as to render separate enumeration impractical.

The personal relations resulting from our work have become of much value, and it is with special gratitude that I return sincere thanks for all assistance extended to me. Permit me to further ask a continuance of active help in securing extensive distribution of the completed book.

The volume presents much authentic data hitherto inaccessible. The great mass of facts has been built year by year, constantly verified and changed, through correspondence and visits to members of the families mentioned. The comprehensive index gives numerous surnames only, to economize space, and it is one continuous whole carefully alphabeted. It will enable searchers to quickly locate available information, and the general methods followed will doubtless be helpful. The results are often fragmentary and incomplete. Sometimes differing dates have been given by members of the same family, and the rule has been to give preference to the oldest records, letters, etc., and such records at times have been found in far-distant places. Over 10,000 envelopes containing letters and circulars of inquiry have been sent by the writer during the past four years. In one instance 26 letters were sent to members of one family before the important replies were received, and the facts are condensed into three printed lines of the book. Special thanks are extended to the faithful ones who lessened the labors, and encouraged, by speedily replying to troublesome inquiries. These often involved trips through snow and ice-bound cemeteries, etc., etc.

Especial efforts have resulted in giving full given and middle names (a practice far too rare from the historian's and genealogist's standpoint), and to include the female ancestry. All ancestry is dualistic. The marriages are italicized. Intermarriages in the direct line of descent were at first set in upper case letters, but in most instances these have been changed to italics. The trouble, delay and expense involved in the change are the cause of the remaining exceptions to the italicizing rule. Money has never been requested or received for the insertion of biographies, and some persons are yet unaware that extensive family details are here first published. Completeness and authenticity have been the aim. Owing to the wideness of the research, it is believed that a large majority of readers will find herein facts much in excess of personal knowledge, even in his or her own line. Such has been the testimony of those who have seen portions of the work.

INTRODUCTION

Biography is concrete history. The story of a life is the story of the race concreted. The understanding of a life is in no unimportant way the understanding of an age. The record of a family through successive generations is a large chapter in the history of the race. To trace this record through the centuries and across the seas is a labor which only the trained spirit imbued with sacrificing love can adequately undertake.

I have long wished that someone would gather the broken threads of my family and patiently and capably weave them into a connected and coherent whole. The difficulties in the way seemed to render the task prohibitive. The family belonged to the Upper Palatine in Germany. It grew and wrought and worshipped along the historic Rhine and under the snow-clad Alps. Its gradual increase and development contributed, I believe, no insignificant part in the history of the Fatherland. Just what it did and who the workers were no one knew.

Imbued with the spirit of religious freedom and wrought to protest against prevailing social and religious ideals, it broke away during the 18th century from its traditional moorings and came to America. Here the family found itself a German-speaking group in an English colony. Dispersed and denationalized, its records were lost and the task of the biographer made difficult to the point of despair. By bitter experience and by religious conviction much that had meaning for this world was lost in the holy enterprise of securing an assured entrance into the world to be. Pious concern for the future rendered the family largely indifferent to the present.

All this complicated the work of the author. Only those familiar with the task of writing personal history through the centuries and in different countries, with a forbidding sea between, can appreciate the gigantic task Dr. Gaius Marcus Brumbaugh has here undertaken.

And how splendidly has the work been done! With an industry and an intelligence worthy of the greatest commendation, he has for many years, with many discouragements and few encouragements, steadily traced the story and collated the records until at last and with almost inconceivable skill he has given us the record of the family, individual by individual, to the present time.

A service so signally well performed is worthy of all commendation, and merits the hearty appreciation and support of all those that love their family and welcome the narrative of its development. There is in the volume abundant evidence to justify the conviction that our ancestors were God-fearing and God-serving people, who through the ages steadily walked honestly before men and humbly before God.

There is also ample warrant for the claim that here in America, by rigid adherence to the homely virtues of honesty, frugality and industry, they have contributed only good to the country, and have left a record sacredly significant and worthy of unstinted praise and noble emulation.

By intermarriage the Brumbaugh family is closely identified with our worthy families, like the Groves, the Boyers, the Fouses, the Garners, the Hoovers, the Replogles, the Rineharts, the Studebakers, the Stutsmans, the Winelands, etc., etc. To trace these related lines of family life up and down the Piedmont Plateau, into the valleys between the Blue and the Allegheny Mountains, into Virginia, and out over the boundless plateaus of the West, and even along the Pacific coast, was an heroic effort and added to the task of the author additional difficulties. These labors have been notably well done, and the result is most satisfactory. These groups, like the strictly "Brumbach" families here enumerated, are among the sturdy stock whose unflagging zeal and industry are alike commendable.

It is worth much to be a member of any family whose achievements are so memorable. It is worth more to add to the lustre of the family name by living under the more favored skies of today a life as ideally worthy as that of our fathers. To honor them best demands of us the same noble enterprise in all industrial, social, intellectual, and religious endeavor.

A somewhat extended acquaintance with other family biographies leads me to say that the author of this volume has done his work exceptionally well. It is a monumental effort. I may be pardoned a personal reference. The inherent strength and virility of the family I think is best shown by the leading part it took in the intellectual revival of the family at the close of the 19th century. Around the story of the founding of religious papers, colleges, and professional careers, the family name rests like a halo. In that splendid galaxy, whose example has been guidance and inspiration to the writer, no one in the family is held in more reverent regard than the father of the author, my uncle, Dr. Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh [E226]. Others wrought with him and wrought splendidly, but "Uncle Doctor" was pioneer and inspiration to thousands. I humbly record my deep sense of obligation to him and to those who, with such great faith, wrought with him in the valley of the Juniata and with such phenomenal success.

The spirit of the father animates the son. It may well be that when God writes a full record it will be found that the loyalty of the author to his father will be set down as the animating and sustaining influence that sent the son with unflagging zeal into an enterprise of such significance to the family, and of such signal service to his kind.

Dear Cousin G. W.

The Brauntough volume is vastly more comprehensive, interesting and accurate than I had ever imagined. It is a monumental ^{volume} ~~work~~, worthily done; and a credit to you and to the family. I congratulate you, knowing how patiently and skillfully you have worked; and thank you, realizing how valuable your labors are to the family, the church and to the general history of our German-American civilization. I trust every descendant of our noble fore-fathers will secure at once a copy of this great work.

I wish I could take your hand in fraternal clasp and say what I write - "Thank you with a full heart."

Very gratefully yours,

THE

ABBREVIATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS.

To facilitate identification and description the reader will find preceding each proper name (rarely following) a capital letter and a number in a bracket, thus: [A1] + Gerhard¹ Brumbach, or [C1] + Johann Jacob¹ Brumbaugh. The Immigrant ancestors^a are designated by capital letters, practically in the order of their arrival, and all in the same line of descent bear the same letter in bracket. A cross, +, following the bracket, and preceding the name of the individual, indicates that at its numerical place further along in the volume additional details are given—omission of the cross means that details are unobtained. The superior figure over the given, or Christian, name indicates the generation of the individual in America.

In each series, [A], [B], [C], etc., the Immigrant is marked 1, the children are given consecutive numbers 2, 3, 4, etc., and in each succeeding generation the numbering is carried through the given series and generation taking all the children of the first male child, next all the children of the second male child, then of the third male child, etc. In the case of female children, their descendants appear numbered in Roman characters, i, ii, iii, etc.; letters of the alphabet, a, b, c, etc.; figures (1), (2), (3).

Special Note.—The children of [E2] + JACOB² BRUMBAUGH are numbered throughout the generations, then the children of [E3] + CONRAD² BRUMBAUGH commence with [E1700],^b the children of [E4] + JOHANNES² BRUMBAUGH commence with [E2900],^c and the children of [E5] + GEORGE² BRUMBAUGH commence with [E3000].^d

The individual ancestry is given at the commencement of each sketch in parenthesis, following the name, permitting quick and definite backward reference in the section, thus: [E743] + Gaius Marcus⁶ Brumbaugh, M.D.; ([E226] Andrew Boelus⁵, M.D., [E68] Jacob⁴, [E13] George³, [E2] Jacob², Johannes Heinrich¹). Only by such an arrangement is it possible to determine precise ancestry in our many families, having so many individuals of the same given names, and in some instances with change of the surname.

THE FOREIGN ORIGIN OF BRUMBACH FAMILIES; PRINCIPAL RECORDS THUS FAR DISCOVERED; COATS OF ARMS; ETC.

The name is of German origin, and is found in both German and Swiss records with "u" and "o" frequently interchangeably. There is a French branch of the old family, with altered colors in its coat of arms, but retaining the main features of the same. This investigation as to the French families is incomplete.

"Brum" is apparently a contraction of "Brummen," meaning noisy or roaring, sometimes humming, and "bach," a brook. The name in the first instance described an ancestor by locality, a common old method of designation. Owing to the general difficulty experienced by persons unfamiliar with German pronunciation, names ending in "bach" usually became "baugh" upon the landing of the immigrant, and in his deeds. The variations "Brumback," "Brownbaugh," "Brownback," etc., had local origin. Whether written with the more prevalent "ü" or "u," or "o," it was pronounced with the long German "oo" as in moon, or more rarely with the short "u" sound as in good.

"Brambach" and the older "Prampach" are mentioned elsewhere^a—note especially the discussion based upon the cloister records at Brombach, etc.

Whenever the German speaking ancestor executed deeds, and other legal papers, we find that the English scribe in America usually wrote the name "Broombaugh," or "Brombaugh." In the case of [A1] Gerhard¹ Brumbach (who seems not to have written his name), the difficulties were greater, and the name in the third generation became "Brownback." [D2] Widow¹ Brombach easily became "Brumback." The descendants of [G1] Hermanus Emanuel¹ Brumbach in the main retain that spelling. An error once made in an important deed or other important paper, the ancestor sometimes simply made the small change in his name so as to conform to the erroneous writing of the name.^b

A careful study of the reproduced immigrant lists, or ship papers, will show that the Brumbach-Brombach immigrants, whose signatures have been preserved, wrote good German script, even paying attention to the umlat, or distinction for ü—see [C1], [E1], etc. This fact gives value to the hope that somewhere in Germany and Switzerland we shall yet find that the ravages of the "Thirty Years' War" have spared early and historically valuable family records.

There evidently occurred a general dispersion of the various foreign branches of the Brumbach families. Extended investigations have been made in various parts of Germany and Switzerland, and a portion of the results from this search is herein presented to form the basis for a more general investigation.^a

From Socin's statements and investigations it seems to be definitely established that an extensive family of the name "Brambach," "Brombach," "Brumbach" took their name from the ancient settlement in the Wiesenthal valley, called "Brombach." They adopted the name of the place.

"Brombach im Wiesenthal. Ein Beitrag zur Heimatkunde von Pfarrer Mulrow in Altenheim, Lahr, 1905," is an interesting volume descriptive of the ancient town and castle. The map herein reproduced shows the locality of Brombach, Bombach, Beuggen, Minseln, Basel, etc.

Native farmers of the name Brombach yet live near Beuggen, and persons of that name in Baden trace their ancestry to the vicinity of Basel, on both sides of the Rhine.

Basilar Brombach and others at Basel came from Rheinfelden, Minseln, Nordschwaben and Karsan—all about two hours' walking distance apart.

*Presented to the compiler by Mr. Carl Brombach, Karlsruhe, Baden.

Those families remaining at Minseln,^a Nordschwaben and Karsan remained Catholic in the Reformation period, while those at Rheinfelden became Protestants—under different governments.^b

The inhabitants of Rheinfelden early left the Catholic religion, became Protestants, and later Altkatholiken (old Catholics, or reformers), which they remain. These inhabitants suffered greatly and were bitterly persecuted, causing most of the inhabitants to emigrate during the eighteenth century—the Brombachs-Brumbachs then emigrated.

In Beuggen and in Rheinfelden, during the middle ages, there was a Deutsch-Ordens Commend or association which owned much property, and the records contain the name Brombach.

Hans Brombach, according to the records of Rheinfelden, served as Mayor, 1536-1543, and died 1545—three Mayors of the name Brombach are there mentioned in the records.

EXTRACTS FROM "BROMBACH IM WIESENTAL—PFARRER MULROW,"^c (LAHR, 1905).

"For the identity of 'Prampahch' with the Brombach of to-day we had offered the records of the cloisters. We could prove the same through the shifting of the consonant sounds (Grimm's Law) in the Old-Middle and New-High German. In the record from the eighth century the place is called 'Prampahch,' in those of the twelfth century 'Brambach,' and in the sixteenth century 'Brombach.' That is etymologically exactly according to the law of the language, and not one link is missing in the chain of sound shifting. And what does the name mean? There was a word in the time of Charlemagne which was spelled prâma, in the time of the Crusades brâme, and at the time of Luther bram and brom, and this means a 'long, pointed stalk.' It appears with 'a' (bram) in North Germany yet in two forms: The top-most and thinnest part of a mast is called 'bram segel'; and also the awlwort or broom they call there 'bram' + +. The same etymologic relationship, only botanically applied, is our brombeer stranch (blackberry bush). Thus then Brombach has its name from that which we had conjectured at the first glance: from Bach (brook) along the pointed blackberry bushes.

"But in Karlsruhe the old as well as the new Council seal shows a spring, and Brombach had many fountains. Is it not much more poetic to think of 'Bronnenbach' (a brook of springs)? Its explanation would be very nice if Brombach were a newer place without old records. If its name came from the bubbling springs then it must have been called 'Brunnebach' in the Middle Ages, and in the old High-German 'Brunô-pach.' But that sounds different from 'prâm,' so we stay by the first explanation."^a

"From the year 786 'till the year 1113 we do not find Brombach mentioned in the records. How in the meantime has the power of the Kaiser diminished, and that of the Pope increased! How much nearer has the influence of the cloister forced itself to the Wiesenthal in the 11th century, since the mighty house of God, St. Blasien, was established by the Benedictines and its despotism and ban have spread out of the quiet Alb valley over the mountains and valleys 'till (it reached) the Rhine itself."^b

". . . The ratifications . . . followed 44 yrs later, on June 8, 1157, through Pope Hadrian IV. . . . On Apr. 26, 1173, Pope Calixt III ratified the contract for 71 places, Pope Alexander III the same on Mch. 6, 1179, and Bishop Hermann on June 29, 1189. In all these writings the name of our village has been changed according to the rules of the shifting of the sounds. From the old High German Prampahch has come the middle High German Brambach, only once Brambac."^c

"Kaiser Rudolph (von Hapsburg) was victorious. He captured and destroyed fortress Reichenstein and caused a terrible slaughter among the inhabitants. At that time, about 1270, the persecuted knights seem to have come over to Brombach and established a firm hold in a hiding place between the meadow and two streams running by. From the ruins and traditions one can learn that the castle was a real building about 45 meters long by 35 meters wide. On its four corners stood out great towers and the whole was surrounded with moats."^d

". . . We have two entries in the church records:

"In the year 1676 this village of Brombach, during the French war, was burned and reduced to ashes till about 7 houses left; and further in a burial account a marginal note says: 'Brombach burned and reduced to ashes except a very few houses.'^e "On the 29th of June, 1678, the Rottler Castle went up in flames after the enemy had found the entrance by means of a traitor."^f

"During the thirties and forties of the 18th century the Brombacher could not make progress because of the continuous dangers and demands of war, but in the second half of the century there was lasting peace. It required, however, a long time until the living conditions were made better, and until the number of inhabitants was a little increased."^a

The general locality of Brombach is interesting for other reasons. "In Warmbach, Herthen, Wyhlen, and Grenzach have also been found traces of former Roman culture,—on the other side of Dinkelberg they disappear almost entirely. Only at Minseln they found in 1898 fragments of a Roman two-handled urn which had a narrow neck." Glaciers repeatedly covered the region, coming from Norway and Sweden and from the Swiss Alps. In a cavern near Wunzingen skeletons of men were found with horn weapons made in the crudest manner.

From the 13th to the 17th century there were six large floods in the valley of the Wiese (Wiesenthal), as chronicled at Basel.

KIRCH BROMBACH.

Seutter's map of 1740 and an unidentified map of about 1800 in the Library of Congress show "Kirch Brombach" in Hessen-Darmstadt, Germany, near "König N. of Erbach, and S. E. of Darmstadt in Provinz Starkenberg, near a river emptying into the Main at Obenberg.

KIRCHBROMBACH.

In the German Official R. R. Guide on line No. 246 (Frankfort-Eberbach) 61.4 Km. from Darmstadt, is "Mümling-Grumbach." On the same line 67.5 Km. from Darmstadt is "Zell," the station nearest "Kirch-Brombach"—"Kirchbrombach," 1 Km. distant—midway between Darmstadt and Heidelberg.

K. Gerhard, Pfarrer Evangelisches Pfarramt Kirch-Brombach, Gr. Hessen, in June, '07, reported that the Kirchenbuch in existence contains no Brombach names.

A few miles further E. near Wertheim, there is another village named Brumbach.

Tieffenau, hamlet in Baden, near Switzerland, where Franz Leopald lived, has copy of Brumbach coat of arms.

The church registers of Sinzheim and Kappel-Windeck will probably furnish interesting details. There are also three more communities carrying the name Brombach in Hessen and Hessen Nassau (Taunus).^b

VON BRUMBACH.

Brombach, village in the Bezirksamt Loerrach. Matthias Reich, Knight, sold the castle, which was destroyed by earthquake on the 18th day of the 10th month, 1356, to the Bishop of Basel in 1294 and received it from him as a "Lehen" (feud under feudal law). Heinrich von Brombach was in 1113 witness to a Document of the Bishop of Basel for St. Blasien. Marquardus de Brumbach, 1164, was witness to a Document of Emperor Friedrich I for the Church of St. Thomas in Strassburg. Count Heinrich, Herr zu Veldeuz (Squire of Veldeuz), documented in 1292 that Ulrich — von Brünnebach and Künteli, his brother, have sold to the Johanniter in Freiberg 1289 a piece of property in Kenzingen. Cunrad von Brünnebach, witness in 1299. Jungfrau (maid) Grede von Brunnebach in year 1356. Ulrich von Buernebach 1380. Junker (young nobleman) Barthel von Buernebach 1430. Ursula von Brünnebach, widow of the Hans Brenner von Winterbach 1446. Hans von Brumbach had 1424 a quarrel over his "Lehen" located in the valleys of Arnsbach and Brinsbach, of which "Lehen" he should renounce per verdict by a "Mannengericht" (feudal court) for an indemnification of 240 florins subject to interests of 12 florins from the hundred; another agreement was reached regarding this "Lehen" in 1466. Those von Brumbach were "Lehensleute" (feudal dependants) of the House Austria | :Kolzenos :| of the Markgraf von Baden, Graf (Count) von Moers-Saarweden, Graf von Fuerstenberg, of the Herren von Geroldseck (: Stonehouse and estate with garden in Oberwila 1476-1679 :) of Schwassburg, etc. To Strassburg they came by marriage.

A certain Maria von Brumbach was, according to genealogical tables, wife of Hans Jacob von Muellenheim-Reichenberg.

HARTMANN¹ von BRUMBACH, feudal dependant at Geroldseck, died 1434, married ———.

Johann² von Brumbach lived 1434-1493 at Oberweir, where he held a stone house and an estate in Dependence at Geroldseck, 1457 in Dependence at Fürstenberg, 1470 in Dependence of Geroldseck (as his brothers-in-law are mentioned in 1457 Friedrich Widergruen von Staufenberg, and Matthias Bock von Staufenberg) married to Ursula (alias Anna) von Digesheim 1467.

Children (3):

Jacob³, 1486-1528, member of the Knighthood of Mortenau 1491, feudal dependant of Moers-Sarweden, in 1528 feudal dependant of the margrave of Baden, married Susanna Jungzorn, 1486-1515.

Ursula³, nun at Günthersthal, 1467-1510.

Jacob³, contentual in Geugenbach, 1523.

COATS OF ARMS: In silver a red ornamented green double eagle with red ornamentation in the wings. Helmet: Two red ornamented green eagle (or swan) necks and heads one behind the other. Helmet Covers: Green silver (:Wappen-Codex Reiber, fol 26—Code of Coat of Arms by Reiber, vol 26).

A Franz Leopold Brumbach von Tiefenau was "belehut"^a and his wife appears in 1764, 1773?, Catharina, Ursula born Datt (: Adels und Lehns—Archiv Karlsruhe; in K. and K. Adels—Archiv in Vienna it was impossible to obtain any information regarding this family which was probably nobled:). His seal shows in the shield a springing Deer and on a crowned Helmet the same rising. Perhaps these belonged to this family: Johannes Brombach, 1615 citizen of Rheinfelden (about 1 hour from Minseln, Karsan or Nordschwaben) and the "nobilis et doctissimus dominus Jacobus Ferdinandus Brombach," whose widow, Anna Maria Pistorin, 1682, 26 of 7th month, was married to Johann Ferdinand Ignaz Sax in Gengenbach.

Quirinus Conradus Henricus a Brumbach, canonicus capitularis ecclesiae Moguntinae, 1629, mentioned in the preface of Wuerdtwein's Nova Subsidia Diplomatica, XII, could have hardly belonged to the family mentioned above.

Hans von Burnebach, also named von Einsiedeln, named himself after Brombach a Zinken (portion?) of the community Kappel-Windeck, Bezirksamt Bühl, Feudal dependant of the Herr von Windeck and twelfth man of the Court at Bühl. 1336-1346 he is mentioned repeatedly in documents of the monastery Frauenalb pertaining to the estate Einsiedeln; he carried and used no seal of his own. His sons were Johann, Peter and Bastian. Katharina, Hans Brumbach's widow, donated a "Jahrzeit" for her husband in 1360 in the church at Kappel.

"NOBLES AND PATRICIANS AT BASEL FROM THE 13TH TO THE 15TH CENTURY."^a

At the meeting of the Historians' and Antiquarians' Society at Basel, February 3, Dr. August Burckhardt delivered a discourse on "Nobles and Patricians at Basel from the 13th to the 15th century." The questions of descent and of displacements of families were illustrated by striking examples, which at the same time prove how little agreement there is between tradition and history. The original nobility was of high and low degree. Among the former were the Counts of Honberg, whom we meet with at an early date as governors of our city. A peculiar process is observed in the Von Falkenstein family. One line of it renounced the title of count; Count Rudolf, marrying below his rank, caused his line to be deprived of knighthood; afterward that line regained its insignia and belonged once more to the high nobility. A similar renunciation occurred in the family to which Bishop Heinrich belonged, whose administration extended from 1262 to 1274. Neuenburg was the name of the family, and one of its lines, too, renounced the title of count, but assumed it again later on. In the beginning of the 13th century we meet with the free lords Von Rainstein. Here, too, we find two lines, one of which rises higher and higher until it becomes extinguished; bishops and mayors are to be found in its ranks. The other line, through marriages with subordinate officials, descends to the ranks of the lower nobility, so that members of the same House are to be found in the most diverse circumstances. The most distinguished of all were the Lords of Eptingen. Their original possessions were Eptingen and Diegten, and they managed to acquire one lordship after the other. As early as 1262 we find an Eptingen as governor of Basel, and other shortly after as mayor.

While the rural nobility, such as the lords Von Eptingen, Von Biedertal, Von Lörrach, Von Rothberg, etc., transferred their residence to the city, the urban nobility moved to the country, lost the consciousness of their urban origin, and called themselves after their new residence. In this way, born city knights became new country knights. Such was the case with the Von Hertenberg, Von Neuenstein, Von Bärenfels families. The history of the Von Bärenfels family can be traced. Its ancestor was Ludwig the Mercer, citizen of Basel, and a member of the Council. The development of his family shows what was then possible in the social line. The family begins with the Mercer and rises steadily. Ludwig's son Konrad, rising through his wealth and ability, is found more and more frequently in the higher ranks, till he acquires the knightly fief of Hertenberg, and calls himself Noble Knight. Konrad uses the seal which was afterward used by his descendants. However, his new acquisition estranged him from his home. The development cannot be traced everywhere with the same accuracy. The Von Neuenstein family in the Jura, for example, are already knights at their first appearance—in the chronicles of Matthias Von Neuenburg. To this family belonged a mayor by the name of Rudolf, whose daughter became the ancestors of the Von Reinach family.

Johann Von Bärenfels is for us the first of his line. He filled the important office of Episcopal procurator. His son Konrad occupied the same position. The family is found in possession of the highest offices, so that we are probably dealing with a line of early prominence—originally from Klein Basel. Their ancestors are probably to be sought in the Governors Von Brombach, and there may have been some kinship with the Lords of Lörrach. It is true that the seal of the Von Brombach family shows a crawfish (Krebs), and this seems to contradict that hypothesis. However, even the men continued to use the old seal of their family, so that in this case (zem) Krebs would be the old name of the Von Brombach and the Von Bärenfels families.

Among the knights we find the ministerial (official) families, who were in the service of the bishop and performed the functions of chamberlain, treasurer, butler, equerry, master of the kitchen, holding them by hereditary right. They took their names from their offices. The consciousness of this origin remained alive, as shown by the struggle between the Psitticher and Sterner. On the one side we find the Mönch and Schaler families, the most distinguished of the official nobility; their adherents are the Marschalk, Kämmerer, Reich and other families, called by the name of their office or by their original surname, or by the name of their original home. Reich von Reichenstein—"Reich" is here a mere supernumerary name—Steinlin and Vorgassen are originally related. All three have the same image on their seals. Vorgassen is the old name. The separation of the three lines must have taken place at an early date. Heinrich Steinlein, an official patrician, owning estates at Blotzheim, who had not resided long in Basel, is confirmed as first mayor of Basel. His successor is a Reich. The line of the Steinlin became extinct at an early date.

Beside the knights who were incumbents of the offices of the episcopal court and of the city offices, we find the Achtburger, the real patricians. They rose from the ranks of the merchants; their development began with Krämer and Wechsler (mercens and brokers). There is a remarkably rapid change in the lines of descent; marriages between the Achtburgers and the knights effaced the barriers. Few were derived from the ancient craftsman's class. Usually they belong to the four lordly guilds of housemates, merchants, wine dealers and mercers. The Zum Luft family were originally saddlers, the Offenburg family were originally druggists. The change of constitution in 1515 put an end to this development.

A peculiar state of affairs is presented by the Zschekkenbürlin family. They were active business men, controlling a degree of wealth unusual for those days. They were unwilling to join the Achtburgers by giving up their trade and thus becoming idlers without occupation. They also abstained from entering on a kind of development resembling that of the Fuggers. The Offenburg family pursued the opposite course. The first of them to become a citizen of Basel was the son of Albrecht, Henman Offenburg (born in 1379). He became Councilor of the Saffron Guild to which he belonged as druggist. He held the office of chief Guild Master and passed a large part of his life in travel, both in the course of business and of office. His diplomatic intelligence was esteemed far beyond the confines of the city. In 1423 he gave up his trade and his guild right and entered the high chamber at Achtburger. Sigismund conferred knighthood on him. As early as 1396 (when not yet 17 years old) he married Anna Kupfernagel, and thus did not marry within his rank.

The further development of the lines of descent is influenced by the intermarriage between nobility and burghers in the 15th century. While the nobles were attracted by the wealth of the burghers, social ambition acted as a stimulus on the other side, inducing marriages which in most cases ended unhappily.

Adel, p. 17, Taf 22 contain recently discovered references which are of interest, especially the former. Not only the resemblance in name, the use of the double eagle in the shield as in "von Brumbach," but also the fact that the old family of the Rheinland aristocracy (Bernard von Prampach, who died in 1314 as Prince—Bishop of Passau^a) had Mansfield, who was Justice in Siegen, etc., etc., whence came Milcard Brumbach in April, 1714 (see Germanna—Germantown, Va.^a), make all this a matter for further investigation.

THE COAT OF ARMS.

von BRUMBACH—D'argent à l'aigle éployé à deux têtes de sinople, becqué d'or, membré de gueules. Cimier: deux cols de cygne d'argent, becqué de gueules. Lambrequins: d'argent et de sinople.

Or, in technical (?) English, as follows:

von BRUMBACH—Argent, a double-headed eagle displayed vert, beaked or, membered gules. Crest: two swan's heads argent, beaked gules. Lambrequin: argent and vert.

Comparing with Siebmacher's drawings, the arms are, in detail, as follows:

In the shield, which is silver, the charge is a green double-headed eagle displayed, the beak colored gold, and the talons colored red. The two heads look away from each other. The eagle is the old German heraldic conventionalized form. Crest: two silver swan's heads and necks, one behind the other, with red bills, both heads facing in the same direction, to the right (i.e., to the left of the drawing). They are of the conventionalized heraldic form, with protruding tongues. The necks are settled solidly upon a three-barred helmet, either profile or affronté (hard to determine, but most probably affronté; cf. Siebmacher). It may be that upon the helmet there is a marquis' coronet (i.e., a coronet with three strawberry leaves and two pearls showing), from which in turn emerge the two swan's heads. Lambrequin: silver and green. From the drawing in Siebmacher, it is perhaps somewhat florid.

The fact that the family in France has a black instead of a green eagle, and also possibly a single-headed one (at least according to sources dated later than 1884—cf. V; also II, III, and IV), may be due to a change, voluntary or involuntary, adopted by the family, or the French branch of it, when it went to France; or at least when it became a part of the French nobility. The later omission of mention of two heads, as well as other details (as the gold beak, etc.), is probably explained on the basis of careless oversight on the part of the compilers when copying the descriptions.

In view of the probability that the family was early connected with Basle and Alsace, at least during the centuries within which all noble families assumed arms, there is reason to believe that the above description, carefully arrived at by constructive criticism, is to be relied upon as probably authentic.

THE EAGLE.—The bird of Heraldry before all others is the eagle. Its earliest and chief popularity was in Germany, where it was adopted by the empire and by many of the principal sovereign princes. Its earliest appearance as an heraldic charge was in 1136. From about this time it was borne not only by the emperor and king of the Romans, but also by the princes who, as vicars of the empire, were charged with the government or defense of the empire's provinces. Under Frederick I., Barbarossa, 1152-1189, the eagle had become the recognised standard of the Holy Roman Empire. The empire had double incentive for adopting this charge. For the eagle, the Bird of Jove, was not only the imperial emblem of the old Romans, and hence a natural adoption of the later Roman empire; but it was also, by tradition, the symbol of the fourth evangelist, imparting spiritual significance to its use by the Holy Roman emperors. Thus as affecting the Empire and its princes, the eagle lent force to their claims to an ancient succession of both temporal and spiritual imperial power. The origin of the double-headed eagle is mooted. But a probable explanation seems to be (cf. Nisbet), that, upon decline of the Roman empire in the East, the emperors of the Western empire joined the two eagles together with their heads separate, to indicate a double sovereignty probably claimed by them.

"The most usual method of differencing in Germany was by alteration of the tinctures (colors), or alteration of the charges (the figures represented on the shield).

"The Eagle was a very popular charge in early Germany armoury.

"In Germany, a change in the crest is often the only mark of distinction between different branches of the same family; and in Siebmacher's 'Wappenbuch' 31 different branches of the Zorn family have as many different crests, which are the sole marks of difference in the achievements.

"The German idea of the crest is that it has not the personal character of the arms, but is rather attached to, or an appanage of, the territorial fief or lordship. German arms are often accompanied by a number of crests over one shield. Practically all changes of crests are due to inheritance (through heiresses or ancestresses) of an alternative crest."^a

RANK OF THE FAMILY.—In all countries and at all times the condition of society has been one of inequality. Upon this fact, in brief, is Heraldry

von Brumbach

founded. In times of medieval armor bearing, nobles bore shields that were blazoned, because they were worthy of notice. The peasant or plebeian bore his shield without blazon, being considered unworthy of notice. There were many earmarks about heraldic devices by which the rank of the bearer was indicated. Probably, however, especially on the continent, the rules were as often honored by the breach as by the observance. So if any significance attaches to the coronet used in the BRUMBACH arms charged with a springing deer, the family von BRUMBACH was of the rank of marquis. The same is indicated by the barred helmet. The barred helmet (even though in profile) indicates a very high rank—a rank anywhere above that of knight. Marquis—originally the title of the princes who, as lords of the marches, were charged with the defense of the imperial provinces—is a title of honor next in dignity to that of duke. The title given a marquis in the style of the heralds is “most noble and potent prince.”

MOTTO.—In continental heraldry the motto is seldom or never found. Accordingly no motto is likely to be found with the BRUMBACH arms.

THE PREFIX von.—When a German is ennobled or made a gentleman of coat armor, he acquires the right to use the territorial prefix von. (At the same time, the Dutch van means practically nothing.) Von is used in the sense of “of” or “from,” to be followed by the name of the estate or territory over which the possessor is lord. Thus the early HEINRICH von BRUMBACH, of 1113 (or his predecessors or successors), was lord of an estate, district, or territory by the name of BRUMBACH. Beginning with the tenth century “von” is regarded as the mark of nobility.

Throughout the nation there is a commendable fostering of “Home Coming,” “Old Home” and “Reunion” days. They are beneficial to all concerned. Brief accounts are herewith given of the first and last meetings of the Reunion by Descendants of [E9] Conrad³ Brumbaugh in Ohio, the Brumbaugh-Rinehart Reunion in Ohio, the Gerhard Brumbach Memorial Association in Pennsylvania, and of the Brumbaugh Reunion also in Pennsylvania. There are numerous other organizations amongst the closely allied families, but lack of space prevents mention of them.

BRUMBAUGH REUNION—DESCENDANTS OF [E9] CONRAD³ BRUMBAUGH.

This Reunion has occurred annually since 1894 upon the third Saturday of August. “It was urged by a few of my sisters, and intended for brothers and sisters and their families, but was at once enlarged to include all the Brumbaughs and their friends.”^a At the first meeting the late [E344] + Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh was selected president, but declined, as he desired to give an address upon the family history, and also to devote all his time to gathering needed facts from those in attendance. Franklin Dulebahn was the first president and Samuel Brumbaugh the first secretary-treasurer. [E344] Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh served as historian during his lifetime.

About two hundred and fifty were present at the basket dinner, which was served at 11:30 o'clock, on tables under the trees. During dinner and immediately afterwards photographs of the company were made.

The exercises of the afternoon were held under a large tent. After a brief address of welcome by Noah Webster Rinehart [E64-x], and the devotional exercises which consisted of the reading of the First Psalm and prayer by Elder Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344], the following program was rendered:

FIRST BRUMBAUGH REUNION, SNYDER'S GROVE, MARTINSBURG, BLAIR CO., PA., JUNE 22, 1906.

This "Reunion" embraces mainly the counties of Bedford, Blair, and Huntingdon, although in the estimated two thousand persons who attended this first reunion many sections of Pennsylvania and adjoining States were represented.^a "The day was everything one could wish for. No cloud appeared to mar the pleasures of the day. The park itself was a place of beauty; and the cool inviting air of Martinsburg had much to do with the enjoyment of every one.

"The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Moses Roberts⁵ Brumbaugh [E 3168], of Henrietta. 'All Hail the Power of Jesus Name' was sung by the audience. Rev. Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E 276], of Juniata College, Huntingdon, conducted the devotional exercises, reading from the 21st chapter of Revelations.

"A quartette, composed of Messrs. Martin Pote⁵ Brumbaugh [C 328], Lloyd Replogle, Emmert Replogle and Samuel Nicodemus⁵ Brumbaugh [E 3100], sang 'We Must Answer to Our Names,' which was much appreciated by the audience.

"The address of welcome was made by Elder George Wineland⁴ Brumbaugh [E 3016], of Fredericksburg, Pa. He said in part:

"Mr. Chairman, fellow-kinsmen, neighbors and friends: It is with a high appreciation of the honors you have conferred upon me that I appear before you to extend a hearty welcome to all who have assembled here on this happy occasion. And while there are many here who, if called upon, could have performed the part better than myself, I am sure there is no one among you who is prouder of his ancestry than I am. We have come here to-day as a happy, united family.

"The family is a divine institution. In the morning of time, when the all-wise Creator crowned His work by giving to one of His creatures the attributes of intelligence, He at once found that the work was incomplete and uttered the general truth, that it was not good for man to be alone. Woman was created and given to man, the sharer of his joys and sorrows, trials and triumphs, to keep watch with him in all the experiences of life. They were made social creatures. There was put into each heart a yearning for the companionship of the other. And when two hearts are thus united, the sweetest and happiest joys of life are attained. Thus the benevolent Creator not only instituted marriage, but He Himself presided at the first marriage altar. Hence we have the family, a divine institution. It is the first as well as the greatest institution on earth. Father, mother, son, daughter, brother and sister are names that speak to the heart and call forth the highest and best impulses of which humanity is capable.

"Keep the family pure and virtuous and the nation and church are filled with good, strong men and women. Corrupt the family and the church is gone and the world is filled with beings of a lower rank.

"Much of the future is with you. We hope your coming here will increase your faith and hope and zeal, and make your life better and more useful because you have been here. We welcome our young men and women. We refer to you with pride as examples of virtue and sobriety. We welcome your coming here to mingle with your kindred, to light your torches at their altars so that you may go out better equipped to help keep the world better because you have lived in it.

"We welcome the children, God bless them, the future is theirs.

"We welcome the strangers that are within our gates. We appreciate the honor you have done us by coming here. Our ancestors were people of large hospitality. Their hearts and altars were free to strangers. The noble grace still lives in the hearts of their children and let us hope will continue to live as long as human hearts need sympathy and love, and if your being with us will afford you as much joy as it gives us to have you here, it will certainly make a day of pleasant memories to all.

"We want this to be a day of joy to all. And as we go out to face the scenes of the unknown and untried future, we know not what is awaiting us, what is written on the scroll of fate. Though we may not draw the veil aside that hides the mysterious future and see the joys or sorrows that await us, we can say with the poet:

““Let fate do her worst, there are relics of joy,
Bright dreams of the past which it cannot destroy,
Which come in the night time of sorrow and care,
And bring back the features that joy used to wear.

Long, long be my heart with such memories filled,
Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled,
You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will,
But the scent of the roses clings 'round it still.”

“The response to this address was given by David Stuckey⁴ Brumbaugh [C76], of Roaring Spring. He said in part:

“I am glad to respond to the elegant address of welcome. We must make this day the best one of our lives by clasping again the hands of old friends and those of new ones. The objects of these reunions are to know each other and renew the family ties. Almost every State in the Union has our representatives and we are not ashamed of our name, since it is a great one.

“He also gave much history concerning the early Brumbaugh settlers, which was much enjoyed.

“The meeting was then adjourned until 2:30 p. m.

“Dinner, a most important as well as enjoyable feature of the day, now occupied the attention of every one. It was indeed a pretty sight to look over the park and see the tables laden with their weight of good things, which the ladies of the Brumbaugh family know how to prepare.

“The afternoon session was called to order by Vice-president Levi Brumbaugh⁶ Stoudner [E3105-i]. ‘O Think of a Home Over There’ was sung by the audience, after which the following officers were elected for the coming year:

“President, Dr. Martin Grove⁶ Brumbaugh [E 682], superintendent of public schools of Philadelphia; vice-president, Martin Pote⁵ Brumbaugh [C328], of Altoona; secretary, Miss Lula May⁶ Brumbaugh [E 3107], of Clover Creek; treasurer, Samuel Nicodemus⁵ Brumbaugh [E3100], of Altoona; music director, Henry Holsinger⁵ Brumbaugh [E3141], of Defiance. This was followed by a quartette, ‘Far Out on the Seas.’

“Dr. Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh [E226], of Huntingdon, next favored the audience with an address in which he gave very good information concerning the Brumbaugh family. He explained the origin of the Brumbaugh name, which means humming brook. Brum—humming, baugh—brook.

“This address was followed by a much appreciated solo by Mrs. Carrie Elizabeth⁶ (Hagey) Endsley [E3095-i], of New York City, entitled ‘Nobody at All.’

“Short addresses were made by Charles Ober⁵ Brumbaugh [C368], of New Enterprise; Levi Hoover⁵ Brumbaugh [E181], of New York City; Dr. F. A. Rupley, of Martinsburg, and Rev. Geo. Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E225], of James Creek.

“Elder Geo. W. Brumbaugh, of Fredericksburg, and son S. N., of Altoona, then sang a duet entitled ‘The Old Ship Zion,’ which was much appreciated by the audience.

“The committee on resolutions gave the following report: We, the committee appointed by the chairman of the Brumbaugh reunion, present the following resolutions: First—We hereby express our appreciation for the very efficient manner in which the various committees rendered their services. Second—To the committee on music for its elaborate and well prepared music. Third—To the organist and owner of the organ, and also to Mrs. Endsley for the pleasing rendition of a solo. Fourth—To the owners of the Snyder park for the use of the grove we extend our thanks. Fifth—To the friends of the organization for helping to make the reunion a success. Rev. Henry Boyer Brumbaugh, L. B. Stoudner [E3105-ii], Prof. Horace Atlee⁶ Brumbaugh, S. N. Brumbaugh [C501], Miss Lula May⁶ Brumbaugh [E3107], committee.

“History Committee—Dr. Gaius Marcus⁶ Brumbaugh [E743], Washington, D. C.; Dr. Martin Grove Brumbaugh, Philadelphia; Dr. Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh [E226], Huntingdon; Rev. Geo. W. Brumbaugh, Clover Creek; Nicholas Brumbaugh, Huntingdon; David Stuckey⁴ Brumbaugh [C76], Roaring Springs; H. H. Brumbaugh, Defiance. Committee on Place of Meeting—H. B. Brumbaugh [E276], Huntingdon; Charles Ober⁵ Brumbaugh [C638], New Enterprise; L. B. Stoudner [E3105-ii], Roaring Spring.

“Miss Lula May⁶ Brumbaugh [E 3107], secretary of the association, kindly furnished the foregoing report of the exercises. It was the greatest day in the history of the local Brumbaugh. About a year ago Miss Bertha Brumbaugh first became interested in holding a reunion, and among others, mentioned the matter to M. R. Brumbaugh, of Henrietta, who at once took up the matter, and by their advocating a reunion, L. B. Stoudnour joined in the movement, which terminated in probably the largest reunion ever held in the Cove, and the forming of a permanent organization.

 "The Brumbaugh connection is one of the largest relationships in this part of the United States. With each succeeding generation they are becoming more and more distinguished. Among them are educators, lawyers, doctors, teachers, farmers, merchants, clerks, tradesmen, and are represented in nearly all the walks of life. Dr. Martin Groves Brumbaugh [E 682], who recently succeeded Dr. Edward Brooks to the superintendency of the schools of Philadelphia, is one of the most distinguished educators east of the Allegheny mountains. The founding of Juniata College at Huntingdon and the success and growth of that institution are largely due to the energy of the Brumbaugh connected with the school."

BRUMBACH-BROMBACH IMMIGRANTS.*

[A1] *Gerhard*¹ Brumbach arrived at Germantown, Pa., probably on the sailing vessel Concord, Oct. 6, 1683, when there was but one house in Germantown. Descendants spell the name Brownback.^b

[D2] *Widow*¹ Brombach passed from Pa. to Va. about 1760; descendants spell the name Brumbach. The presumptive evidence is that she was probably the widow of [D1] *Johan Melchior*¹.

"Milcard [Melchior] Brumbach—came into this country (Va.) to dwell in the year 1714"—lived at Germanna, Va. (Recently discovered facts are in Section D.)

[E3] *Conrad*¹ Brombach and [E4] *Johannes*¹ Brombach arrived at Philadelphia, Pa., on the ship Countess of Sussex, Capt. Thomas Gray, Oct. 7, 1765, sailing from Rotterdam.

[G1] *Hermanus Emanuel*¹ Brumbach arrived probably through Baltimore about 1770. Descendants retain the spelling, except that one branch (Va.) spells the name Brumbach and another (Ohio) spells it Brumbaugh (the late Rev. Edmund Green Brumbaugh belonged to the latter family).

*Chronologically arranged, except for "Milcard" and the "Widow Brombach," and [F2] Peter Brombach et seq. Photographic copies of the Original Immigrant Lists in half tones are reproduced in the various sections through the cooperation of Mr. Luther R. Kelker, Custodian of the Public Records, Harrisburg, Pa.

GERMAN IMMIGRANTS.

“To the German immigrants from Pennsylvania and the Palatinate, however, must be ascribed the largest share of honor in that wonderful development of the fertile plains and valleys of Western Maryland which has added so much to the general growth and prosperity of the State. As in other portions of the country, so in Western Maryland, the German element has played an important part from the earliest period of colonial history, and at the present day, woven in by time with the general prosperity and progress, forms one of the chief constituents of the industrial, agricultural, moral, and intellectual well-being of Western Maryland, as well as of other portions of the State. Even before Penn and his followers made their settlement upon the Delaware, certain German Protestants, in quest of a refuge from religious oppression, had come into the province and had been hospitably received.”^a

“To the sturdy German stock that came to the Colony of Pennsylvania (Md., Va., etc.—G. M. B.) in the first half of the eighteenth century we are indebted for more of the initial influences that have made for the progress and prestige of our American civilization than many historians record or know.”^b

“When they left the Fatherland which, with all its tender associations, had grown to be cruel, and came to dwell under strange skies in a wilderness with the wolf and savage they brought with them their Bibles.”—Pennypacker.

CONESTOGA WAGON.

“Next to barn and dwelling-house the most important architectural product of the Pennsylvania Germans is the great Conestoga wagon, which Rush called the ‘ship of inland commerce.’ Before the advent of railroads these were the chief means of transport between the farms and towns of Pennsylvania. In them the wheat, vegetables, fruit, and, alas, whiskey—which often formed a side industry of many a farmer—were carried for miles to Philadelphia. Says Rush: ‘In this wagon, drawn by four or five horses of a peculiar breed, they convey to market, over the roughest roads, 2000 and 3000 pounds’ weight of the produce of their farms. In the months of September and October it is no uncommon thing on the Lancaster and Reading roads to meet in one day fifty or one hundred of these wagons on their way to Philadelphia, most of which belong to German farmers.’ These teams were stately objects in those times; owner and driver alike took pride in them and kept them neat and trim. They consisted of five or six heavy horses, well fed and curried, wearing good harness, and sometimes adorned with bows of bells, fitted so as to form an arch above the collar. These bells were carefully selected to harmonize or chime, from the small treble of the leaders to the larger bass upon the wheel-horses. The wagon body was necessarily built stanch and strong, but by no means clumsy. Upon them the wheelwright and blacksmith expended their utmost skill and good taste, and oftentimes produced masterpieces of work, both in shape and durability. The running gear was invariably painted red, and the body blue. (This did not apply amongst the G. B. B., Mennonites, etc.—G. M. B.) The cover was of stout white linen or hempen material, drawn tightly over, shapely, fitted to the body, lower near the middle and projecting like a bonnet in front and at the back, the whole having a graceful and sightly outline.”^a

The wagon shown in Plate 15 is said to have been built by a Brumbaugh in Frederick County, Md., a descendant of Johann Jacob¹ Brumbaugh [C1], but authentic information has not been secured on this point. Mr. B. W. T. Phreaner, Hagerstown, Md., copyrighted the photograph. The “schooner” is in service in Washington Co., Md., and illustrates the general class of “prairie schooners” familiar throughout the west before the advent of railroads. Our ancestors unquestionably used them in their overland migrations.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNTIES.

In connection with the foregoing extracts from the first U. S. Census, and because the information will help clear up questions to arise later in this volume, and in searches through land and other records, certain facts are here given concerning the said counties:

Maryland—Washington Co. was formed from part of Frederick Co. in 1776.

^aBerwick, Cumberland, Franklin, Germany, Hamilton, Heidelberg, Mt. Pleasant, Mountjoy and Strable Townships.

Pennsylvania—Bedford Co. was organized March 9, 1771, from part of Cumberland Co.

"Blair Co. was formed from parts of Huntingdon and Bedford by an Act of Assembly, approved the 26th day of Feb., 1846. The act declares that on and after the fourth Mon. of July, 1846, the territory within the townships of North Woodberry and Greenfield in the Co. of Bedford + + + and of Allegheny, Antis, Snyder, Tyrone, Frankstown, Blair, Huston, Woodberry, and a portion of Morris, in the county of Huntingdon, should constitute a new county, to be known as Blair Co." ^a

"Chester Co. is one of the three original counties (Phila., Bucks and Chester) established by Wm. Penn in 1682 + + within two months after the arrival of Penn." + + + "The western boundary of Chester Co. was established by the erection of Lancaster Co. in 1729, and the northern and northwestern by the erection of Berks Co. in 1752. Philadelphia Co. formed the northeastern and eastern boundary, until the establishment of Montgomery in 1784." ^b

Cumberland Co. was formed Jan. 27, 1750, from part of Lancaster Co., and its immense area included "+ northward and westward with the line of the Provinces, eastward partly with the Susquehanna and partly with said county of York, and southward, in part by the line dividing said province from that of Maryland."

Dauphin Co. was formed March 4, 1785.

Franklin Co. was formed from Cumberland Sept., 1784, largely upon the petition of the "dwellers on the Conococheague" or the S. W. portion of the county.

Huntingdon Co. was formed Sept. 20, 1787, from part of Bedford Co., and from its immense territory Centre Co. was taken Feb. 13, 1800; Clearfield and Cambria Cos. March 26, 1804; Blair Co., Feb. 26, 1846.

Montgomery Co. was formed Sept. 10, 1784, from part of Philadelphia Co.

Virginia—Fairfax Co. formed from Prince William in 1742; Spottsylvania formed in 1721, Orange in 1734, Frederick in 1738, etc. See Sec. D.

The map of Bedford Co., Pa., is from a special photograph of the earliest map in the office of the Sec. of Int. Affairs (Pa.); and the map of Huntingdon and Blair Cos. is from the map (1883) prepared by J. Murray Africa, Huntingdon, Pa., and was published in History of Huntingdon and Blair Counties, Pa., by J. Simpson Africa. NOTE: These maps have been omitted from the vol., because of their size.

NORTH WOODBERRY TOWNSHIP, PENNSYLVANIA.

"This township is the S. E. division of Blair Co. From the extinguishment of the Indian title to lands in this region in 1758 to the time of the formation of Bedford Co. in 1771, this bit of the vast domain of the commonwealth was included within the boundaries of Cumberland, and from the latter year until the erection of Blair in 1846 it formed part of Bedford + +. With Tussey's Mountain on the east, it embraces a portion of the beautiful and fertile region known as the Great or Morrison's Cove. Martinsburgh Borough is situated in the northwest part. About 3 miles east of Martinsburg, near Clover Creek, is the small village of Fredericksburg, otherwise known as Clover Creek post office, southward from the latter place the hamlet known as Millers-town, and in the southeastern part of the twp. is Henrietta, also a post office, and the terminus of the Morrison's Cove branch of P. R.R." + + +

"About 1755 a colony of Dunkards, otherwise known as German Baptists (G. B. B.), began to settle in the southern portion of the Cove; they gradually worked their way northward, until many of them became residents of the present twp. of North Woodberry, Taylor and Huston, and numbers of their descendants hold possession to this day.

Early History.—It is an historical fact that the Great Cove, changed to Morrison's Cove as early as 1770, which commences at Pattons-ville, in Bedford Co., and ends at Williamsburg, on the Frankstown Branch of the Juniata, bounded by Dunning's and Lock Mts. on the west, and Tussey's Mt. on the east, was settled by Scotch-Irish as early as 1749; but these lands were yet owned by the Indians, and in answer to their prayers the bold squatters were expelled by officials representing the Penn family. Nothing daunted, however, many of them returned soon after and continued their improvements. Yet the northern, or Blair Co. portion of the Cove, was almost unexplored until the Penns made the new purchase in 1754."

"During the Indian wars of 1762 quite a number of murders were committed in the Cove, and many captives taken. + + + During the Great Cove massacre, among others carried off was the family of John Martin (See p. 47). This incursion was indeed a most formidable one, led by the Kings, Shingas and Beaver in person. How many were killed there is no living witness to tell, neither can we conjecture the number of persons taken. The following petition was sent to Council:

"August 13, 1762.

"The Humble Petition of Your Most Obedient Servant Sheweth, Sir, may it pleas Your Excellency, Hearing me in Your Clemency a few words. I, One of the Bereaved of my Wife and five Children by Savage War at the Captivity of the Great Cove, after Many & Long Journeys, I Lately went to an Indian Town, viz., Tuskaroways, 150 miles Beyond Fort Pitt, & Entrested in Col Bncquits & Col Croghan's favor, So far as to bear their Letters to King Beaver & Capt. Shingas. Desiring them to Give up One of my Daughters, if Alive, Among them, and after Seeing my Daughter with Shingas he refused to Give her up, and after some Expostulating with him, but all in vain, he promised to Deliver her up with the Other Captives to yr. Excellency.

Sir, Yr Excellency's Most Humble Servt, Humbly & Passionately Be-seeches Yr Beninger Compassion to Interpose Yr Excellencies Beneficent in favor of Yr Excellencies Most Obedient & Dutiful Servt.

John Martin."

"In May, 1781, a band of marauding savages entered the cove and murdered a man, woman, and two children, and took one man prisoner within a mile of the fort of John Piper, who was then colonel of the county. At another time several other prisoners were taken. It has also been related to us that during one of these Indian forays a man named Houser and his son were killed, and two children of the same family carried away into captivity. The two first mentioned were buried on the farm of David Rice, in the present township of Taylor."

"Soon after the close of the Revolutionary war, and the consequent cessation of Indian depredations, bona fide settlers swarmed into the cove, and it is presumed that prior to 1790 all desirable lands had passed to individual ownership. + + + We are quite certain that among those who were here prior to the beginning of the century now passing, or very soon thereafter, were the Albrights, Allenbaughs, Blakes, Burkets, Bridenthals, Bowers, Brumbaughs, Benners, Bulgers, Camerers, Conrads, Cowans, Deeters, Dillingers, Emricks, Eversoles, Faulkners, Flenners, Gensingers, Grabills, Hoovers, Holsingers, Knees, Lowers, Looses, Longeneckers, Martins, Metzkers, Myerses, Moores, Nicodemuses, Nisewangers, Oungsts, Puderbaughs, Rhodes, Roemers, Strayers, Shoensfelts, Stoners, Skyleses, Stoufflers, Stoudenours, Smiths, Shiffers, Stonerooks, Tetwillers,^a Winelands, and Zooks, besides many others + + +"^b

^a"A remarkable early resident of the cove is John Detwiller, who lives just northeast of Martinsburg. He was born in Lancaster Co., Pa., Sept. 25, 1789. His father finally removed to Franklin Co., Pa., from whence John came to the cove in 1811. He was a shoemaker, as was usual in those days, worked at his trade from "house to house." He tired of shoemaking, he tells us, and became a cooper, at which he was quite successful, earning enough money in a few years to buy a small farm. After various changes in location by selling and buying farms, he located on the premises now occupied in 1868. He has been a successful hunter. He killed 7 bears on Tussey's Mountain, and deer and turkeys without number. He m Elizabeth Snowberger in 1815, and of 6 ch b to them 4 survive. Samuel, his youngest son, is a grandfather. The name is written variously as Tetwiller and Detwiller."

^bHistory of Blair Co., Pa.—North Woodberry Twp.—Africa, 1883, pp. 183-185.

"Among those who were settlers" (of Huston Twp., formed 1842, then part of Woodberry Twp., Bedford Co., Pa.) "prior to the beginning of the Revolution were Jacob and Conrad Brumbaugh, Harmonus, John, Jacob and Henry Clapper, David Coughenour, Isaac Hutson, Christopher Hoover, Paul and Jacob Rhodes, Philip Metzker, Jacob Smith and his son Jacob, Jr.; James Spencer (who lived on the premises now occupied by a Mr. Obenour), William and Jno. Shirley, Christopher Shrom, Henry Wesour or Wisour, and doubtless a number of others."

"During the years intervening between the close of the first struggle with Great Britain and the year 1800, many other families had taken up their abode in this portion of the Cove. Among those who were residents in 1800 we find mentioned Christian, Leonard and John Acker, George, Jacob, John, John, Jr., and Conrad Brumbaugh, Emanuel Ludwig, David Coughenour, Abraham Ditch (the latter two operating a grist- and saw-mill on Clover Creek), Caspar Dillinger (who owned a saw-mill), John and George Everhart, Nicholas Fouse [E8], John, Matthew and Richard Hutson, Christian Hoover (who owned an oil mill on Piney Creek), Abraham Longenecker, Philip Metzker, Samuel Mobley, Harmon Obenour, Paul, Jacob and Christian Rhodes, James Spencer, Jacob Sheets, Stoephel Shrom, Jacob Smith, Adam Sorrick (who then owned a grist mill), Henry Solliday, Henry Wisour, and Jacob Wilhelm.

Among additional residents mentioned in 1810 were Joseph Everhart, Geo. Foutz, Saml., Jno., Fredk., Wm., Jonathan, Martin and Jacob Hoover, Andrew Metzker and Daniel Wilttrout." + +

(History of Blair Co., Pa., Huston Twp.—Africa, 1883, p. 122.)

"Early Residents.—When the Bedford Co. pioneers, chiefly Germans, pushed out their settlements to the northward and westward during the years immediately succeeding the close of the French and Indian war of 1756-63, some of them located within the present limits of Taylor Twp. (Bedford Co., Pa.^a). Thus we find that prior to 1775 Jacob Neff, the Dunkard miller + +, the brothers Martin and Jacob Houser, Christian Hoover, and probably a few others, were already here."

"After peace and quietness had been restored, other families located in this part of the 'Cove,' and before the organization of Huntingdon Co., in 1787, John Brumbach, Daniel Ellrich, Christopher Markle, Abraham and Jacob Plummer, Peter Hoover, who built the old log house near Jacob Shoenfelt's present residence nearly 100 years ago, and Philip and Peter Stoner, who lived at the 'Mineral Spring,' were also counted as residents. After them, but before the year 1800, came Jacob Shoenfelt, Sr., John Ullery, the miller (Neff's successor at Roaring Spring), Edward Cowen, the Neterers, John and Adam Lower, Fredk. Hartle, John Morgan, and Tobias Shiffer, who operated a tannery prior to the year mentioned."

"The Shoenfelts (or Shanefelds, as the name was written a century ago) are of German origin, and their ancestors of that name were among the first settlers of Washington Co., Md. + + Jacob Shoenfelt was b near the banks of the Antietam Creek, 3 miles distant from Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 9, 1792. His father's name was Jacob also, and in 1795 he (Jacob, Sr.) removed with his family from Md. to the locality now known as Sharpsburg, and settled upon premises formerly occupied by John Brombach. The tract contained 400 a, and it had been purchased of Brombach previously by Henry Shanefeld for his son Jacob. + +"

"Jacob Shoenfelt, Sr., completed the stone house in Sharpsburg in 1802, the log house adjoining it, still standing, having been erected by John Brombach about 20 yrs. before. The venerable Jacob Shoenfelt, now 90 yrs. of age, who never used glasses, and now reads fine print quite readily, still further informs us that at the time his father came here from Md. and for some yrs. after the only grist mills in the 'Cove' were those of John Snyder's at Pattons-ville and John Ullery's at Roaring Spring. An old log mill, however, stood where the Lower Maria Forge was afterward built. A man named Tracy had owned it at an early day, afterwards one by the name of Stephens or Stephenson was its proprietor. Myers owned the Gap mill before George McKee bought it."

"At the same time, too, i.e., about 1800, there was not a store in Morrison's Cove. Wm. Davis was the justice of the peace. The early teaching was all done in German; indeed, Mr. Shoenfelt remarks that although he was a very good reader and writer in German, he was 20 yrs. of age before he could count in English. The Dunkards (G. B. B.) and Lutherans were the only religious denominations. The former met for worship in their dwellings, the latter built an early church near Replogle's Mill, in Bedford Co. The German Reformed people came next; after them the Methodists. Christy Myers built the first house in Sharpsburg."

"The first permanent white settlers of Blair County, coming into the southern end of Morrison's Cove about 1760 or earlier, are Tunkers, and that was probably the first religious denomination to obtain a foothold in Blair County territory. A Presbyterian minister by the name of Beatty preached a sermon one Sunday at Beaver Dams, now called McCann's Mills, in 1756; but it is likely that the Tunkers, who resided here, as above stated, held religious services at a still earlier date, and that the congregation consisted of residents of the Cove."^a

I further glean from this history that about the year 1765 Jacob Neff, who was a Tunker, built a mill where Roaring Spring is situated. His mill was burned by the Indians, and rebuilt by him prior to the Revolution. Later, but still long, long ago, it was owned by John Ullery. He had a brother named Samuel, who was the first Tunker minister in the Cove, a great-grandfather, on the mother's side, of the writer of this article. He preached in the Yellow Creek congregation, southeast end of the Cove, in the vicinity of New Enterprise. So far as I remember, his successors in office were Martin Miller, John Holsinger, David Brumbaugh, Jacob Miller, John Eshelman, Leonard Furry and Daniel Snowberger.

According to the Biographical Cyclopædia of Blair County, "Jacob Neff killed two Indians who attacked him at his mill at Roaring Springs in November, 1777, and then fled; after which the entire war party came up and burned his mill." This statement must be wrong; he killed only one Indian. The facts, as I gather them from the early settlers, are these: While in his mill, two Indians suddenly came upon him. He hid in the water-wheel. He remained there until everything was quiet, for a good while. Then he emerged with his gun, and ran up the hill in the direction of East Sharpsburg. As he glanced back he saw one of the Indians close upon him, gaining on him, when he suddenly turned and fired. The Indian fell dead, and Neff escaped. But he was afterwards disciplined by the church. Some said he was expelled. I do not vouch for the truth of the last statement.

arms, etc. The German translations of the signatures have been made by Prof. Michael Alvin Gruber, who also compared the names with the U. S. Census of 1790, for Vincent Twp., Chester Co., Pa., p. 72. See p. 79 and the Almsbook Record for "Henry Brombach," as signed on Aug. 28, 1774.

SECTION A.

GERHARD¹ BRUMBACH AND DESCENDANTS.

[A1] GERHARD¹ BRUMBACH was b in 1662^a, probably in Saxony, near "Wittenberg," Germany. His name is found spelled also BROMBACH, BRUMBACK and BROWNBAUGH, as, signing by mark, he was dependent upon the spelling often of English-writing colonists who could not understand his German speech. He d Sept., 1757. A history of Vincent township (deposited in the Pennsylvania Historical Society, Philadelphia, in manuscript form), written in 1846 by Frederick Sheeder, says: "He came from Germany and settled at Germantown when there was but one house there." The first houses were built in Germantown in 1683 by a colony of forty-one Germans who landed in Philadelphia in October, and who came chiefly from Creisheim and Creyfelt. These settlers were mostly linen weavers, intelligent and industrious, as well as devout Christian people, Mennonites, who came to America to avoid oppressions at home. Tradition says that Gerhard Brumbach lived among these Germantown settlers and helped build the first houses erected there; that he came from the Palatinate of the Rhine, and that he landed in Philadelphia from the ship Concord^b, Oct. 6, 1683.

In 1716 or 1718 Gerhard¹ m Mary Rittenhouse Papen, b about 1695, daughter of Heivert and Elizabeth (Rittenhouse) Papen. Mary was a woman of many virtues and of excellent character. Her father, Heivert,^c a Mennonite, came from Muhlheim, Germany, in 1685. In 1698 he erected the house herein reproduced (torn down in 1883). It was on the "side lot appurtenant to town lot toward Schuylkill—No. 8 in the first drawing of ^aExtracts made from "The Gerhard Brumbach Family," Pennsylvania German, Vol. XI, No. 3, March, 1910, by [A112] Garrett Ellwood⁵ Brownback and [A229] Rev. Oscar Davis⁵ Brownback. The illustrations from that article, together with others furnished for this section by the former, are but a recent expression of his interest and investigations. The constant assistance in gathering information rendered by [A112] Garrett Ellwood⁵ Brownback and by his dau. [A247] Caroline Evans⁵ (Brownback) Fell, in the face of the marked difficulties encountered in gathering the facts for this section, has made possible the publication of much here given pertaining to [A 1] Gerhard¹ Brumbach and his descendants.

Dr. Wm. H.⁹ Mosteller [A78-ii] has also assisted in gathering information, partly revised the manuscript for Section A, and shown especial co-operation in advancing this work.

^bThe published American lists for the ship Concord do not contain his name. The effort to secure a complete list from the Holland archives is being made through the U. S. State Department. The assertion has been made that [A 1] Gerhard Brumbach's name appears in a fuller Holland list—this and his birthplace are yet to be verified.

lots." That lot and the side lot were conveyed by Abraham Op de Graff to Jacob Schumacher March 4, 1685; the latter conveyed both lots in 1693 to Heivert Papen, and in 1705 the latter conveyed the side lot and appurtenances to Samuel Richardson, Richard Townsend, Thomas Potts, Sr., and Samuel Cort, trustees for the Quaker meeting. During the battle of Germantown two cannon were placed in front of this house and aimed at the "chew house" opposite.

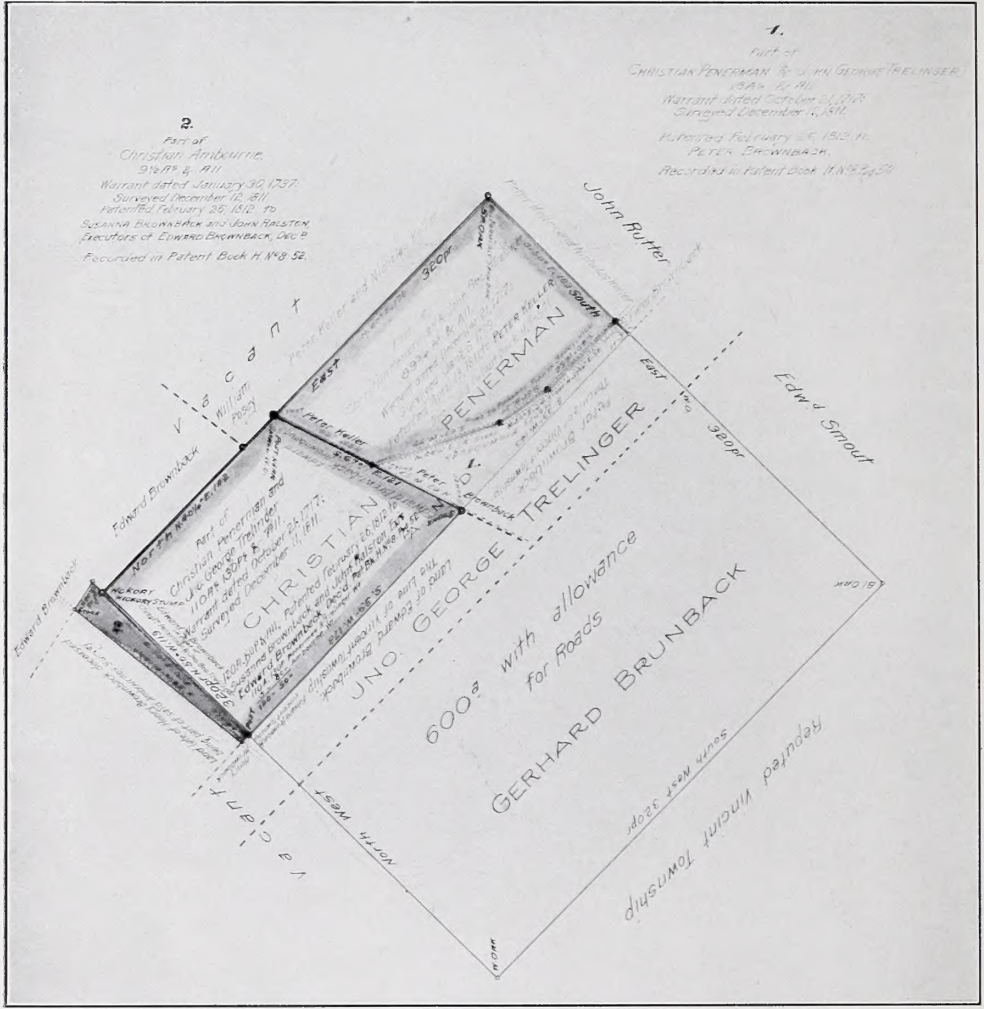

In 1701 Heivert Papen "declined to serve as burgess of said town (Germantown) through conscientious scruples." About 1690 he m Elizabeth Rittenhouse, only daughter of Wilhelm Rittinghausen—the sons were Nicholas and Gerhard. Wilhelm was b in 1644 also near Muhlheim, Germany; later resided in Holland, whence he came to America in 1688, and about 1690 erected the first paper mill in the colonies, near Germantown. He d in 1708, aged 64 years, and was buried in the Mennonite churchyard in Germantown, which church he founded—the first preacher and later the first Bishop of that denomination. The Rittenhouse forefathers long carried on the manufacture of paper at Arnheim, Holland. Nicholas inherited the paper mill at Germantown from his father William, and was the father of Matthias Rittenhouse. The latter was father of David Rittenhouse, the greatest astronomical and mathematical genius of his age.

Heivert Papen owned extensive real estate, largely farms, and d in 1707. His family consisted of five daughters, of whom Mary in 1713 m [A1] GERHARD¹ BRUMBACH. He settled the estate and his name is that of the first subscribing heir in a receipt dated March 17, 1719, mentioning certain sums of money received by each from the said estate. His name in the same was written (in German letters) "Brombach" and "Brumbach," but as he did not write the scribes of those early days have handed down to us a variety of spellings. Especial attention is directed to the photographic copy of the signature of his son [A6] "Henrich Brombach" (see Plate 22). Brambach, Brumbach, Bromback, Brownbagh, Brownbaugh (see Plates 25, 26, 27), Broomback and Brownback are other spellings often found. His descendants spell the name "Brownback," commencing with the third generation—the second generation usually spelled the name "Brumbach."

Gerhard¹ was one of the pioneers and opened up a large farm in the wilderness, settling in Vincent Township with his family some time between the years 1721 and 1724. In a Deed Poll of "Gerhard Brownback to Leonard Streeper," dated Dec. 28, 1721-2, he is said to be "of the County of Philadelphia in the Province of Pennsylvania." In 1724 he was one of the taxables of Vincent Twp., Chester Co., paying a tax of 2 S. 4 d. He must have moved to Vincent some time between these two dates.

He first took up 600 acres of land in Vincent Twp. Vincent Twp. then included both East and West Vincent, and consisted of about 20,000 acres, half of which belonged to the heirs of Major Robert Thompson, of Newington Green, England, and the other half to the West New Jersey Society, excluding probably some small tracts which were actually sold to settlers. Vincent Twp. was then leased by farmers and settlers with the reserved right of purchase. Because of this the land was developed rather slowly—the settlers built inferior houses, and were indifferent about improvements, until they became actual owners of the land, which did not become possible until the last part of the century, about 1790. Gerhard's 600-acre tract was a part of the Major Thompson 10,000 acres, and lay in the northern part of what later was called East Vincent, about the head waters of Stony Run.

He also took up a large tract in Coventry Twp., adjoining his property in Vincent. June 23, 1736, the Proprietaries conveyed to him by warrant the privilege of taking up 350 acres of land in Coventry Twp., for which he agreed to pay at the rate of 15 £, 10 S. for 100 acres, and a yearly Quit Rent of ½ d. for each and every acre thereof. The certificate of conveyance states that Gerhard was settled on this land before 1732, and in it his name is spelled "Garret Brownbagh." He was naturalized as "From Chester Co., 1734 to 1735—Gerhart Braunbeck."^a

These two tracts together equalled 950 acres. But it was customary in those days to add 6 per cent to the land transferred for roads, etc., and so the entire tract that Gerhard controlled must have been about 1007 acres.

This land was then new and uncultivated. Thick forests covered the rich soil, and Indians wandered about the neighborhood. A village of about 300 souls of these Delawares nestled about a quarter of a mile from where Gerhard built his first house. It lay at the corner of the crossroads where Bethel M. E. Church now stands (Chester Co., Pa.). Gerhard¹ made friends of them and engaged them to work for him, giving provisions in return. They were fond of potatoes, turnips, and especially of milk. The tradition is that they smoked the pipe of peace with him, that he took part in their wrestling matches, and that they always remained friends. He was called by them "Minquon," meaning never violent or wrong in dealings.

Gerhard¹ improved his land, erected buildings, and prospered in his work. He built the first house and barn of logs in 1723. It is said that the door of the house was large enough to drag logs through it with a horse, into the great fireplace. The buildings stood on the bank of the little creek in the extreme southern end of Coventry Twp. It was about ten miles from there to the Valley Forge, and Gerhard was accustomed to carry his plough-irons on horseback to the latter place to get them sharpened. (See accounts, pages 83-86.)

The farms herein illustrated belonged to Gerhard¹ until 1757, to [A6] Henry² Brownback until 1804, to [A14] Peter³ Brownback until 1834. The upper farm until 1899 belonged to [A41] Jesse⁴ Brownback, and the lower until 1899 to [A14] Peter³ Brownback—both farms belong to [A132] Garrett Ellwood⁵ Brownback and have never been owned outside the family since the original grant from Penn.

Gerhard was a leading and popular settler in his community. He is described as "a merry German who accumulated considerable means." He lived along a much-traveled highway called Nutt's Road, and was often beset by travelers for meals and lodging. Therefore, May 25, 1736, he sent a petition to His Majesty's Justices for the privilege of conducting a "Public House" on the ground that he was frequently oppressed by travelers whom he was obliged to entertain," and that there was "no Public House within twenty miles below, nor thirty miles above his house, on the Great Road which leads from Philadelphia to the Iron Works, and from thence to Conestoga." This Petition was dated May 25, 1736, and was signed by "Garret B Brumbbough" (his mark) and twenty-six of his neighbors and friends, who testified that Gerhard was "a man of good-repute, and was best qualified for such an Employment." This was the first public house in Coventry Twp., and was among the first in the county,—the first was established at Downingtown in 1717.

He conducted this inn until his death in 1757, and was succeeded by his eldest son [A5] Benjamin², who continued in business for nearly 30 years; he, in after years, erected a larger house at the junction of the Lancaster and Ridge roads, now called Hiestands Corner^a, and the latter is yet standing.

Sept. 4, 1777, and for several days thereafter, both Generals Washington and Lafayette were entertained at the Brownback Inn, while pressed by Howe of the British army—[A5] Benjamin² Brownback, then proprietor, held a commission as Lieut. in the Continental army (dated Aug. 21, 1776). Lafayette was wounded at Warren Tavern, and retreated to join Washington's army on its way from Parkersford to Lancaster, to ford the Schuylkill at Parkersford on his way to Germantown.

Besides conducting an Inn, Gerhard engaged in other enterprises. He built the first grist-mill in Vincent, and owned a half interest thereof. He also built and operated the first saw-mill in the same township. The most enduring monument to his memory, however, was the part he took in the founding of a German Reformed Church, which bears his name.

Brownback's Ref. Ch. was the first Ref. Ch. in Chester Co., Pa., and was organized May 19, 1743. Philip Breitenstein and 33 other men, including [A1] Gerhard¹ Brumbach, on May 19, 1743, issued a call for Rev. Jacob Lischey to become their pastor.^a The same day the Discipline was signed and it is hereafter reproduced. There was no church building.

DISCIPLINE OF BROWNBACK'S CHURCH, AS ADOPTED BY SAID CONGREGATION 19TH MAY, 1743.^b

"There shall be four Elders, nominated by the Minister and elected by a majority of voters who are of respectable standing and among the whole congregation of good report.

"Their office and duty is:

"(1) Carefully to watch over the whole congregation and to have strict oversight over each member in particular.

"(2) They must make known without respect to person everything evil and unbecoming which they see and discover in the one or the other member; this they are to do in this manner: First, they are to make it known to the Minister alone; Secondly, to the Minister and the other Elders; Thirdly, to the whole congregation, if the first and second admonitions prove fruitless, that there may be no impenitent sinners tolerated in the church, and that through through them no weak members may be offended.

"(3) They must see that there be good order and management together with sound and pure doctrine be preserved.

"Wherefore they shall in the (4) place frequently consult and confer with the ministers; particularly as anything occurs in the congregation, meet with him to consider impending subjects, in order to seek and to promote the welfare of the congregation.

"(5) The Elders and the Ministers shall hold consistorial meeting among themselves everytime before the administration of the Lord's supper, in which they must bear according to their conscience and their knowledge of each member who proposes to commune; when each one according to the best judgment of the Minister and his Elders may be admitted or rejected, inasmuch as the consistory has power not only to keep from the Lord's table all sinners who give offense to the congregation, but also to cast them out of the church (or excommunicate) until they show amendment of life.

"It is therefore necessary that each one who intends to commune will give in the name after sermon one Sabbath before the administering of the Lord's supper, that there may be time to consult in regard to the case of each member; inasmuch as by reason of our discipline not any one without exception, as has been our custom, can be admitted to the Lord's table, but only those who have a just conception of the important fundamentals of religion, as well as a true hunger and thirst after Christ—that there may not openly known wicked and hardened sinners enter with the communicants, and thus, through their impenitence, bring the wrath of God upon themselves and upon the whole congregation. Wherefore particularly young people as much as possible be taught and instructed—wherefore it shall be the duty of all parents and heads of families in our church to see that their children and those under their care be diligently trained up to this, and suffer no opportunity to be lost by which they may grow in the knowledge and increase in the love of the Lord, and to build upon the most holy foundation to which the Elders shall see, and shall take the lead in the congregation with a good example.

"To the preservation of the church, the things required in it as bread and wine in the ministering of the Lord's supper, &c, there shall every time at the end of divine service be a regular collection taken, when each member can contribute voluntarily and according to circumstances. Further, the youngest of the Elders shall each take care of it for one year, while another of the Elders shall keep a regular account of what was contributed, so that settlement may be made semi-annually before the congregation. Nothing shall be paid out without the knowledge and consent of the whole congregation.

"June 11, 1837 the Constitution of the Church was Altered."

The plot of ground upon which the church stood, including the cemetery, was donated to the congregation by Gerhard about 1741. He gave it "for a burial place for his family, his descendants, and his neighbors." Because of this donation, and because of the active part which Gerhard took in helping to found the church, it was called "Brumbach's Church," later "Brownback's Reformed Church of East Coventry."

An extract from directions of General George Washington contains this reference: "The Ridge road leading to Brumbach's Church," etc.

Frederick Sheeder, in his history, says the first log church was built "about 1750." But Jesse Brownback (1807-1899), son of Peter (Sr.), said that it was built in 1741. His statement is more in keeping with a fragment of the old church record, which says: "Frederick Miller was the third preacher in the old log church, 18th day of February, 1753." If the church was built in 1750, it would be very improbable that they had three different pastors within three years—especially in those days. Therefore it is more in accord with the evidence at hand to say that the first log church was built in 1741.

It was built close to the little log school-house in the southeast extremity of Coventry township on a plot of ground owned by Gerhard¹ Brumbach. Frederick Sheeder saw this venerable old building in 1793 and describes it as follows: "It was a structure of hewn logs one and a half stories high, with gallery and broken roof. Two four-light windows were made at each gable end, and two of the same size in either side of the roof to light the pulpit and

This ancient building stood where Daniel Benners' family vault now is until the year 1800, when it was taken down and replaced with a stone structure. The stone structure was erected outside of the graveyard, and stood where the present building stands.

BROWNBACH CHURCH RECORDS.

The Almsbook Record of "Brumbach's Church," Vincent Twp., Chester Co., Pa., 1773 and 1774, herewith reproduced, concludes with:

"On the 28th of August, 1774, church reckoning was held and there was a balance given in custody of Henrich Krob to the amount of 6—0—2.

During the time of the old log church a number of different ministers served the congregation, but their names and dates are not all known, because the first church records have been lost. There is one old record^a of this church wherein we find:

"Frederick Miller was the third preacher in the old log church, 18th day of February, 1753. Gerhard Brumbach brought his children to be baptized. His wife's name Mary Papen. 1 his son Benjamin, 22 yr.; 2 Henry, 20; Mary, 24; Catharine, 18."

"Richard Custard and his children were baptized" in Brownback's Ref. Ch. "Sept. 14, 1740, by Rev. Lennard Snell.

Richard Custard 28 yrs.

ELIZABETH CUSTARD 30 yrs."—[A2]^a

From time to time improvements were made, and several times the church was rebuilt. Jesse⁴ Brownback [A41] left the following private record: "The first German Reformed Church of Coventry, known by the name of Brownback's Church, was built in 1741 of logs, rebuilt in 1800 of stone, rebuilt in 1846, and in 1878 the members of the church called a meeting to rebuild and enlarge it, and appointed Jesse Brownback, Frederick Sheeder, Lewis C. Brownback, Henry Miller, William Davis and Daniel Benner the building committee to rebuild it." The last improvement was made in 1907, when a tower and Sunday School room were added to the main building. It is one of the largest and most beautiful country churches in the county, and is supported by a membership of nearly three hundred members. Many of Gerhard Brumbach's descendants worship here at the present time, and the family has always been well represented. The pastor officiating is Rev. Charles H. Slinghoff, who has served the congregation for the last nine years in a very commendable manner.

The cemetery connected with the church has been much enlarged and is an interesting place to visit, because of its many old graves and its beautiful location. It occupies an elevated position and commands fine views of the surrounding country. Some of the oldest graves are marked with sandstones without dates, while a few have no stones. The oldest grave marked with an inscribed stone is that of Christian Benner, who d in 1767. Other old graves marked with inscribed stones are those of Jacob Mason, who d in 1776, Sebastian Kelley, who d in 1777, and John Young, who d in 1780. Many of the descendants of [A1] Gerhard¹ Brumbach have been buried here. His own grave is near the center of the older portion of the yard, and is marked with a sandstone without date. He d Sept., 1757, aged about 95 years, and his wife, Mary Rittenhouse (Papen) Brumbach, d in the same year, aged 62 yrs.—12 yrs old when her father d, and 18 when married. Her remains were laid beside those of Gerhard.¹ A beautiful monument of gray granite, 7 feet high and 5 feet broad, and weighing about 7 tons, was erected by [A132] Garrett Ellwood⁵ Brownback over their graves in 1908. It is polished and lettered on both sides, and contains the names of Gerhard¹ and one hundred and sixty-five of his descendants.

The dedication occurred Oct. 10, 1908 (225th anniversary of Oct. 6, 1683).

CONSECRATION.

In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

Beloved and descendants of our father, Gerhard Brownbaugh: Animated by the pious example and worthy lives of those who have gone before us, and still sustained by their loving grace, we, their kindred, in filial love, do hereby set apart, consecrate, this memorial stone to their noble lives, whose virtues in the beginnings of this great land of promise were founded upon the solid rocks. Freedom, Immortality, and God, the triad of moral truths which formed their belief in the age that gave this land religious freedom and civil liberty. For to know Thee, O God, is perfect righteousness: yea, to know Thy power is this not of immortality?

The memory of the just is blessed, but the name of the wicked shall rot. Moreover, the nations in their wicked conspiracy being confounded, found out the righteous and preserved them blameless unto God. They shall receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown from the Lord's hand. For the memorial thereof is immortal, because it is known with God and with men. And some thereby which have no memorial, who are perished as though they had never been, and are become as though they had never been born, and their children after them.

But to-day we come with praise unto the Father that begot us. For through His mercy unto the original owners of this land, He established a righteousness that hath not been forgotten. This act of mercy shall continuously remain a good inheritance to all his children within the covenant. And their glory shall not be blotted out; but their name liveth forever.

PRAYER AND BENEDICTION.

O God of our fathers and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with Thy word, we bless Thee that Thou hast enabled us to fulfil the desires of our hearts in erecting this memorial stone to the honor and good name of our worthy parents; for in all things, O Lord, Thou didst magnify Thy people and glorify them. Neither didst Thou lightly regard them, but didst assist them in every time and place. We thank Thee, our heavenly Father, for this everlasting covenant and the fulfilment of Thy promises, unto his seed that has come forth to bless this nation and to exalt it to the utmost parts of this great land.

O Lord, hear the prayers of these, Thy servants, sanctify and consecrate this place unto him, whose good name we inherit. And grant that Thy praise may be honorable from generation to generation. And that nobility of character shall be exalted unto Him that is all glory, as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

POTTS' MANUSCRIPT, VOL. XLII.

"This most interesting volume is the first book of accounts of the Valley Forge, or Mount Joy Forge, under the ownership of the Potts family. John Potts of Potts Grove bought the property Mch. 12, 1757, and the first entry here is dated Mch. 18, 1757. There were 200 a of land in Chester Co. (Pa.) and 175 a in Phila. Co., on the latter on the south side of the creek were a forge and a saw mill. Potts immediately built a grist mill, a blacksmith shop, a cooper shop, and started a store. Daniel Watkins, the blacksmith, was paid £30 a year. Persons as far away as Moses Coates, living where is now Phoenixville, bought their shoes and other supplies at the store. There were a boat and a canoe on the Schuylkill, and logs were floated down the river to the saw mill. The iron was piled up in the store to at least the amount of four tons, and was hauled by wagons to Phila. The supplies, even the shingles and the Indian corn, were hauled from that city. Cows were driven there to be sold. Deer ran wild in the woods. During the troubles with the Indians wagons were sent to Raystown and Ohio. There was a library maintained by a company in Providence Twp., Phila. Co., to which the annual subscription was 5 s. The fuel for the Forge was wood cut and coaled in the forest. The labor was in part that of negro slaves and two servants, Thos. Connor and Henry Selig, men who were bought for £30. Teamsters were paid £20 per annum.

Saml. W. Pennypacker, May 18, 1907."

The above quotation is a copy of the memorandum made by Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, whose splendid and unique library contains the Potts Mss., an invaluable historical collection, which he kindly placed at the writer's disposal and from which the following entries were copied by the author:

Sheeders' manuscript History, before mentioned, gives the following inscription on a tombstone in Brownback Ch. cemetery: "Wm. Posey son in law of Garret Brumbach died aged 62 years," also that he owned a small farm of 33 acres, died intestate, leaving a w named Susanna and six ch John, William, Peter, Susanna, Edward and Sarah (there were 8 ch in all).

According to the tombstone records at Brownback Ch., William Posey was b 1759 and d Mch. 9, 1821; Susanna was b 1758 and d Dec. 6, 1840. She was b in 1758 and [A1] Gerhard d in 1757, aged 95; therefore this Susanna cannot be a daughter of Gerhard, and is not included amongst his children.

"There are more than a thousand descendants of this one man living to-day, and many of them hold important and lucrative positions in business, in politics, and in the various professions. Not a few have served their country during the Civil War, and on the whole they have all shown themselves to be patriotic and worthy citizens. The family is strong, energetic, and religious, and promises to maintain its virtue and industry for many generations." ^a

were held. Nearly all the land on the right side of said run was taken up by the Jenkins family as the first settlers," etc.

The Bingamans were a strongly religious people, and "Mary Magdaline was destined to be the star of religious life in the northern end of Chester Co."

"Their descendants are numerous to-day, and they have spread into several States. Most of them are occupied in business pursuits and in farming. Some have entered professional life. Gerhard¹ willed to his son-in-law, Frederick Bingaman the saw mill in Vincent township." ^a

They were also patriotic. Two sons, Frederick³ and Garrett³, served in the Continental Army. Frederick served in a rifle company, wearing trimmings which were colored with maple bark juice. Garrett³ served a term of military service, was again drafted, and his brother Frederick³ took his place in the service.

BROWNBACH; she d Dec. 12, 1853, aged 88 yrs., and was bur. at Brownback's Ch.

Peter³ Brownback's daily journal^a of the period covering Sept., 1794, gives the events of the march from home to Downingtown, Harrisburgh, etc., during the "Whiskey insurrection." He was Adj. Gen. and commanded the battalion. He also sawed out and made gun stocks^a for the Government in the old log shop which stood in the vineyard upon the old farm.

When the Revolutionary troops marched from Valley Forge they stopped at the home of Peter De Frain on the "Ridge road" and Susanna helped her mother, Eve De Frain, to bake bread for the troops. The British followed them; the Revolutionary troops left De Frain's at midnight, crossing the Schuylkill river at Parker's Ford and going on to Germantown, where the battle was fought.

"VETERAN MASON DIES."^b

After a lingering illness, William Brumbach died at his home in Lincoln May 18th, 1910.

^aHis wife came from Va., where "Brumbach" became "Brumback," which latter spelling he adopted upon his removal to Ill. in 1855.

^bThe News of Lincoln, Placer Co., Cal.

Mr. Brumbach was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, July 22, 1832. Deceased was a widower, his wife having died twenty-eight years ago. He was the father of eight children, three of whom survive: Mrs. Elizabeth Fowler, of Lincoln; Mrs. H. W. Hyde, of Brookings, S. Dak., and Miss Cora Brumbach, also of Lincoln. He had been a farmer, also a merchant, and was a man of sterling integrity and generous to a fault. Mr. Brumbach was a man of great industry and successful in business until sickness compelled him to give up his labors, since which time his two faithful daughters have devotedly cared for him. Deceased had been a member of the Masonic order for twenty-five years. He has left a legacy of well doing to cheer the hearts of his sorrowing daughters. The funeral was held at his home Thursday afternoon, Rev. C. C. Cragin officiating. At the grave the Masons took charge and tenderly laid to rest all that was mortal of another brother who has gone before. Mrs. Walter Jansen, Mrs. M. W. Hogle and Mrs. Frank L. Sanders rendered appropriate hymns."

the original tract bought by [A1] Gerhard¹ in Vincent Twp.; reared upon the farm; while extensively interested in other enterprises, he has gradually extended his landed interests and owns seven fine farms, containing 600 acres; he takes pleasure in retaining as part of his tracts 220 a. in Chester Co., to which there has never been a deed excepting the original patent^a from Penn, Proprietor of Pennsylvania. He attended the local public schools, the Guldin Sch. (Pughtown), and briefly at Millersville State Nor. Sch., and his practical belief in education is shown in the thorough educational and business training given to all his children.

In 1867 he left the farm and entered into a partnership with his brother, [A130] Penrose Wiley⁵ Brownback, and they conducted a general merchandise store at Linfield, Pa. In 1870 he there built a block for store purposes, where his brother continued in business until his retirement in 1908. In 1876 Garrett⁵ took over the general store and conducted it alone until 1887, when he sold it to [A130] Penrose⁵, and began his present extensive creamery business. He mastered the details of the latter business, erected a fine creamery in 1887 at Linfield, and gradually enlarged the business until he owns and operates 12 creameries at various points in Eastern Pa. These are equipped with the best machinery and have a daily output of 4,000 lbs. of "Golden butter." This and other dairy products he sells through wholesale and retail trade at Ridge Ave. Market, Phila, Pa.; Atlantic City and Cape May, N. J., and in New York. Reliability of products, absolute personal integrity, a pleasing personal address, and close application to business have resulted in his extensive business success and diversified interests.

Mr. Brownback is Secy.-Treas. Linfield Cold Storage & Ice Co.; Treas. Linfield Elec. Light Co.; V.-P. Royersford Trust Co.; director Girard Ave. Title & Trust Co., and director Ridge Ave. Market Co., both in Phila. He is Treas. Gerhard Brumbach (Brownback) Memorial Assn.; one of its incorporators, and a moving spirit in its activities. See footnote p. 73.

In 1897 Mr. Brownback erected his fine stone residence in Linfield, Pa., and, because of its fine architecture and the happy home life which therein exists to his personal knowledge, the author has caused two good views of the said building to be reproduced herein.

The family have all united with the Ger. Ref. Ch. (Mrs. Brownback, EAST VINCENT TOWNSHIP, CHESTER COUNTY, PA., BY FREDERICK SHEEDER, FEBRUARY 18, 1846.

This remarkable manuscript history was presented to the Pennsylvania Historical Society and was published in the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, Vol. XXXIV, Nos. 1, 2, 3, from which the following extracts have been taken since the balance of this section was put in type. The manuscript begins:

"To the Historical Society of Pennsylvania: With due Respect."

An Introduction by Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker concludes:

"It has been thought best that the history should be printed in the quaint phraseology and orthography in which it was written, believing that it loses nothing in strength or value because of the fact that the author was without education and expressing his thoughts in an unfamiliar tongue."

GOSHENHOPPEN.

The general locality wherein live the descendants of [A1] Gerhard¹ Brumbach, and which includes part of the "Goshenhoppen Region," is likewise interesting to the descendants of [E1] Johannes Henrich¹ Brumbach, because of the tradition^a in the "Woodcock Valley," Huntingdon Co., Pa., that their ancestors passed through the "Goshehoppa," were identified with it, and in earlier days traded there. It is not thought that there was any relationship between [A1] and [E1], and no traces of land ownership there by [E1], or the children, have yet been discovered.^b

^a See Preface.

^b The compiler will be grateful to any persons in Eastern Pa. who will assist in carefully searching the old land and church records for anything pertaining to the earlier representatives of any of the families, and then communicate with him.

“THE LEGEND OF GOSHENHOPPEN—REV. C. Z. WEISER.”^a

“Notes: The origin and significance of Goshenhoppen is still a puzzle. It is a name given to a region of country extending from North Wales to Macungie, north and south, and from the Falconer to the Great Swamp, east and West. Its orthography is variously written, but preference is of late inclining to Goshenhoppen. It is doubtless a derivation and degeneration from some Indian name—perhaps a mixture of several names. The nearest approach to the term, as now written, is offered in the Titles of such Chiefs as Shak-happa, Guch-i-a-thion and En-shock-hippo. These stand broad and plainly written in the Early Vols. of the “Colonial Records” and “Penna Arch.” From a comparison of a number of Indian Deeds to William Penn, given during 1683-5, we incline to the opinion that Shack-a-hop-pa was the Chief over the Region. His signature or “Mark,” as we would say, was a Big Smoke Pipe.

Onas, which means a pen, was the name under which the Indians knew Wm. Penn.

“FEW NOTES RELATING TO GOSHENHOPPEN AND ITS CHURCHES.”^b

“I have an old deed of a Tract within the bounds of Goshenhoppen of 1733 which reads ‘There was surveyed unto George Cowhill of the county of Philadelphia a certain Tract of Land situate in old Cowissippin in the said County, etc.

Gordon’s Gazatteer of Penna. under New Hanover says the W. branch of the Perkiomen passes through the N. W. angle of the Township of Swamp Creek centrally and the population is German and have two churches upon opposite sides of a branch of Swamp Creek, one of which is called the Swamp Church.

New Goshenhoppen is not on the list of P. O. any more—it is changed to New Hanover.”

“ADDITIONS MADE FEB. 28, 1879, FOR PA. HIST. SOC.”

“I would further say in regard to Goshenhoppen that Mr. Weiser is wrong in saying ‘It is a name given to a region of country extending from North Wales to Macungie,’ etc. It never embraced so large an extent, for a part of it was embraced in what was then known as Methachey which now forms a part of Yoomencing, Worcester and Skippack Townships.

It appears these names were originally applied to certain localities without special boundaries, before Counties and Townships were surveyed. Skippack* was also such a General name which embraced the present Perkiomen and Lower Salford Townships, without any special limits eastward. It comprehended about the middle district between Methachey and Goshenhoppen to Perkasio, while Goshenhoppen extended to Macungie, which is another such a locality whose original boundaries cannot be defined, besides many others especially in Western Penna.

I have nothing reliable concerning Schwartzwalde but think Mr. Super or Rev. Mr. Weiser could give the desired information if applied to. Their address is Pennsburg, Montgomery Co., Pa.

"Old Goshenhoppen distant 6 miles. New Goshenhoppen Reformed Church (Hornerly? P. O.) is now Hanover P. O. Reformed Lutheran Church is near by. 'The New Goshenhoppen Ref. Ch.' is $\frac{1}{4}$ mile from the Perkiomen opposite Pennsburg, which was originally called 'Heiligsville.' The first building was used by the Reformed Lutherans and Mennonites and was built as early as 1716. The second church building was put up in 1796. The first regularly organized church dates to 1731. It is said that John Henry Sprogle from Holland arrived in Phila. in 1705, owned altogether about 13,000 acres in Montgomery and Berks. He gave 6 acres for a burial place for Mennonites, Lutherans and Reformed, though they had no lawful title before 1796—they had titles of their own in 1749, but no legal patent.

He further says 'In 1741 Father Theodore Schneider, a Jesuit priest, founded the Mission at (New) Goshenhoppen, where he lived in the utmost self-denial and poverty, ministering to the wants of the people over 20 years. He built a church in 1743 where the present Catholic church in Washington Township, Berks Co., now stands; a part of the building is still attached to the present building.' The Mennonites and Herrnhutters helped him to build his church out of Respect. Father Schneider established the first school (in that locality) which was attended by Mennonites and other children. The church owned 500 acres of the best land in Penna—a farm of 110 acres still

The Life and Works of Christopher Dock, America's Pioneer Writer on Education—by Martin Grove Brumbaugh [E682], Phila., 1908. Introduction by Samuel W. Penny-packer: "Twenty-five years ago the name of Christopher Dock, the pious schoolmaster on the Skippack, was unknown to the reading world, and the light of local fame, extending from Germantown to Goshenhoppen, which in the eighteenth century gave a general glow to his life, had faded into an almost imperceptible ember," etc.

belongs to it. This church is also called the Goshenhoppen, besides another one on the North side of Pennsburg known as the Six Angular church is also called the New Goshenhoppen, and as they are not far apart Mr. Mülenberg no doubt frequently visited each of them.”^a “GOSHENHOPPEN: The region lying partly in Berks, Montgomery and Bucks counties, that is in the angle formed by the three named districts, together with a strip of Lehigh, has been ycleped ‘Goshenhoppen’ for a full century. In 1728 it is first written in the public prints. Its orthography was framed by every writer after his own choice. Cowissa-hoppen, Queso-hoppen, Coss-he-hoppen, Cosh-enhoppen, Coshahopin, Cosche-hoppe and Goshenhoppen, and, it may be, still other specimens may be found.

The German settlers derived it of German origin, but, like Tulpehocken or Conshohocken, it came from Indian source. We are all the more ready to believe this herkunft, from the fact that two Indian chiefs contributed to its patronymic, who owned contiguous tracts of land in its latitude. Their names were severally ‘Enschockhoppa’ and ‘Shakahoppa.’ Their marks were Smoke Pipe, which they invariably attached opposite their names. Until we are better informed, we are disposed to hold fast to this dusky origin. It embraces a tract extending from Treichlerville to Sumneytown, north and south, and from the Bucks county line to the Perkiomen, east and west. It covers a region rather than a township or country. The only part which retains a part of the old name is Hoppenville.”

The above quotation is from “Folk-Names of Places,” by C. Z. Weiser, D.D., in “The Perkiomen Region,” Vol. I, No. 4, p. 64. The latter, in Vol. I, pp. 88-90, contains an excellent sketch by Wm. J. Buck, and illustration, of the “Old Goshenhoppen Church,” erected in 1732 and used by both German Reformed and Lutheran congregations. “The Perkiomen Region,” Vol. III, p. 76 et seq., contains a reprint of the “oldest Congregational Record” in the Ref. Ch., 1731-1761, and the pastor of that church informs the compiler that the later records are also in good preservation. An examination of the latter is yet to be made for possible traces of our families—“Schippach, Alt Coschenhoppen, Neu Coschenhoppen, Schwam, Sacen, Aegipten, Macedonia, Missilem, Oli, Bernet Dolpenhacen” are included in these old records.

^aMr. Martin I. J. Griffin in Penna.-German, Vol. XII, No. 9, p. 571, says the Catholic Goshenhoppen Ch. records are found in the Amer. Cath. Hist. Soc. of Phila, Vols. 2, 3, 8, 11—1741 to 1810.

SECTION B.

GEORG¹ BOMBACH AND DESCENDANTS.

[B1] GEORG¹ BOMBACH arrived at Germantown, Pa., Dec. 3, 1740, on the ship Samuel, Captain Percy—"natives and late Inhabitants of the Palatinate upon the Rhine and places adjacent."

"The same name appears among the list of Surveys for Land in Lancaster Co., Pa., Dec. 21, 1750; again on a Tax List of the Town of York, 1779. In the latter year the same name is found on a Tax List of Allen Twp., Cumberland Co., Pa." ^a Georg's¹ name appears as the 18th signature in the first column (see arrow in accompanying illustration) of "Captain Percy's Passengers, 1740." The fifth name above his signature is that of Daniel Furry, and the second beneath his signature is that of Poulus Zúg (Zook), both of which are of interest to certain families included in this work. In this connection those interested in this ship's immigrants should notice that the list as given in Rupp's Thirty Thousand Immigrants, 2d Edn., 1898, p. 144, is wholly different from the photographic copy of the ship's papers herewith reproduced.

[B2] CONRAD² BOMBACH ([B1] Georg¹) b at Middletown, Pa., about 1750; millwright, and established the first mill at Standing Stone, now Huntingdon, Pa.; located at Highspire, and in 1794 is chief burgess of Harrisburgh, Pa., where he welcomed General George Washington in connection with the latter's activities in the "Whiskey Rebellion"; served in the Continental Army; m Catherine Zell; d April, 1821.

"Conrad Bombaugh"—"A Muster Roll of the Revolution." "A true return of Capt. Samuel Cochran's company of the 4th Battn., Col. Robert Elder, as it stood at Middletown Aug. 12, 1777, in the march to Phila." (Notes & Queries, Egle, 1897, p. 55.)

"Conrad Bombach" took oath (or affirmation) of allegiance to Pennsylvania at Lancaster May 1, 1779.

[B2] Conrad² and Catharine (Zell) Bombach had one son:

Abraham³, b April 23, 1770, in Paxtang Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa. (now Dauphin); m Catharine Reehm,^a who d March 22, 1855. They had 3 ch: Aaron⁴, Catharine⁴, and Sarah⁴.

Aaron⁴ m Mira Lloyd, dau of John Lloyd of Phila. The eldest of their 5 ch was Charles Carroll⁵ Bombaugh, M.D., b in Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 10, 1828; d in Baltimore, Md., May 24, 1906; grad. (M.D.) from Harvard Univ. 1850, and from Jeff. Med. Coll. 1853; served as regimental surgeon U. S. A., 1861-'65; 1864-'65 was on editorial staff of Baltimore American; 1865 established and for thirty-three years successfully conducted the Baltimore Underwriter—he was an authority upon life insurance.

A tombstone in St. Peter's Ch. Cem. at Middletown, Pa., says Catharine Bombaugh d Dec. 18, 1833, in her 71st yr. (Notes & Queries, Egle, 3d Ser., Vol. I, p. 223.) Whether or not this is the above Catharine⁴ has not been determined.

The following records are here given merely to make them accessible, but their proper place amongst the families is undetermined:

BUMBAUGH—There are some families using this spelling. In a few localities the later generations have changed to "Brumbaugh," and a considerable amount of information has been collected, but the replies to repeated inquiries have been so delayed that it has been decided to omit such publication.

SECTION C.

JOHANN JACOB¹ BRUMBACH AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

[C1] JOHANN JACOB¹ BRUMBACH,* b about 1728, is said to have been an orphan and to have had £50 upon his arrival at Philadelphia, Pa., on the ship Nancy, August 31, 1750—see his signature on the Immigrant List. He settled in the Conococheague District, about 1 mile south of Mason's and Dixon's Line, and 4 miles north of Hagertown, then Frederick Co., Md. In 1760 he m Mary Elizabeth Angle, b 1740 (for Mary Elizabeth see deed of 14th March, 1780, p. 148), dau Henry Angle of Washington Co., Md. The latter's family in Heads of Families, Md., 1790, is given as three free white males over 16 years, including heads of families, two free white males under 16 years, and five free white females, including heads of families. He built a substantial house on his tract before his marriage—the original house is standing, and with various additions and changes is shown in the recent photograph taken especially for this work reproduced elsewhere. It is probably the oldest original house in Washington Co., Md., and is occupied by the family of [C111] Philip Napoleon⁴ Brumbaugh—the illustration shows his wife seated at the main entrance to the original building. This house is built of heavy hewn logs, 36 x 16—two rooms below and two above, with large open fire places (since closed), and very heavy oak doors and shutters. The porch and two-story addition were built during the ownership of the present occupants.

Jacob ^{1 a} seems at once to have dropped the "Johann" after landing, as nowhere has any later signature other than "Jacob" been found, and this was a common practice—the Census of 1790 enumerates him as "Jacob" only. Originally a Lutheran, he united with the G. B. B. Ch., of which his wife was a member. In the Braddock campaign of the F. and I. War he served as a packman, his religious scruples preventing service in actual conflict. His hearing was defective, and this tendency, together with his large stature and strong general constitution, seem to have been hereditary in some later generations. He had an unusual faculty for acquiring land, and shortly before his death in Pa., April 10, 1799,^b is said to have owned over 6,000 acres in Bedford and Blair counties, Pa., together with large tracts of land in Frederick Co., Md. His remains were taken to the old Maryland homestead and buried in the small family graveyard. Mary d Nov. 28, 1806, and was laid beside her husband, both graves marked by rudely dressed limestones containing "J. B." and "M. B." The remains of the 7 children also rest there.

Heads of Families, First Census of the United States, 1790—Md., p. 118, enumerates [E2] *Jacob*² Brumbach as having 2 sons over 16, 4 under 16, and 3 dau, besides his wife; also on p. 121 [C4] *John*³ Brumbagh as having 3 dau and his wife; and immediately beneath is found [C2] *Jacob*² Brumbagh as having 4 sons under 16 and one dau besides his wife.

The children seem to have united with different religious denominations, and in the main the descendants of each remained therein; [C2] *Jacob*² and [C7] *Henry*² became Pres.; [C3] *Mary*² and [C4] *John*² became G. B. B.; [C5] *Daniel*² became Ref.; [C6] *David*² and [C8] *George*² became Lutheran, according to [C76] *David Stuckey*⁴ Brumbaugh.^c Considerable space is given to the deeds which follow because of their bearing upon questions of locality and of genealogy. Often they have been the only means of positive identification amongst our numerous families.

He settled in Woodbury Twp. (now Middle Woodbury) where the Brethren Church stands at New Enterprise, Pa., soon after 1780, coming with [C4] John² Brumbaugh. For many years he was a noted speaker and the Elder in charge of the Woodbury Church. Samuel died at New Enterprise in 1822, and both himself and wife Mary² were there buried.

^eFrom data furnished by Jacob Brown [C56], Cumberland, Md.—recorded at Hagerstown, Md., and other sources.

[C18-vi] Barbara⁵ Snoeberger writes that Mary or "Maria went for their cows one evening and became lost in the woods. The wolves came near her and she had to climb a tree. The family blew horns which she could hear, but, as she could not make them hear her calls and did not dare to get down from the tree, she was compelled to stay there all night. The wolves left in the morning, and she found she was in sight of her home where she had left a nursing baby."

The name Ulery is variously spelled. Eve Brumbaugh Snoeberger said: "Samuel Ulerich was the first minister of the Brethren in this place."

The Woodbury Twp., Bedford Co., Pa.,^a assessments for 1789 show:

	Acres.	Horses.	Cows.	State Tax.		Co. Tax.
Samuel Ulerick	200	2	2	6	6	3	3
David Ulerick	148	3	4	14	3	7	2
Daniel Ulerick	150	2	3	15	9	7	11
Stephen Ulerick	148	3	5	11	10	5	11

John Ulerick single freeman assessed £1 2s 6d state tax and 11s 2d Co. tax—for some reason the highest "single freeman" assessment in the county—the other such assessments being about 10s and 5s for State and Co. taxes.

"Samuel Ullery was grantee of Commonwealth of Penna. to a large tract of land in the south end of Morrison's Cove, New Enterprise, now forming part of the said grant, and his patent of 1786 was signed by Benj. Franklin."^b

A number of deeds are also noted under [C1], [C2], [C7] and [C8] in which Samuel Ulery and wife appear.

Heads of Families First Census of the United States: 1790—Penna.—Bedford Co.—p. 21 enumerates "Samuel Ulery" as having one free white male under 16 years, and five free white females, including heads of families (his wife). It also enumerates "David Ulery" as having five sons under 16 years, his wife and a daughter. (The Md. Census of 1790, p. 66, enumerates "Henry Uhlry" and "Michael Uhlry" of Frederick Co.)

John Ulrick^c was the owner of the Neff mill at Roaring Spring, Blair Co., Pa., and sold it to George B. Spang in 1822. Christena, w of John Ulrick, d July 1, 1817, as shown by the tombstone inscription. John seems to have been a brother of Samuel Ulrick who m [C3] Mary² Brumbaugh.

to "John Broombaugh." (See p. 163.) Both signatures to this deed were probably misread, being in German.

MONTGOMERY, VIRGINIA.

January 17, 1798, "Thomas Proctor of the City of Philadelphia in the State of Pennsylvania, Esquire," deeded to "Mary Broomburgh of Washington County, Maryland," one certain Lot or piece of ground in the Town of Montgomery in the State of Virginia Marked in a General Plan of the said Town No. 1334 situate on the South side of Washington Street in the said Town." This deed was acknowledged before Thomas Smith, Esq., one of the Associate Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, February 3, 1798, and witnessed by Sarah A. Charlton and Daniel Grant.

The Library of Congress, and the Virginia State Library at Richmond, Va., are unable to afford any information as to the location or history of the "Montgomery, Virginia." The town was platted of considerable size to contain at least 1334 lots. The deed was evidently intended for [C3] Mary² Brumbaugh, born in 1767, and lived in Washington Co., Md., until her marriage to Samuel Ullery, a minister of the German Baptist Church, and one of the first ministers of that denomination in Bedford Co., Pa. German names were very often mis-spelled in legal documents through misinterpretation of speech or writing.

He farmed in Washington Co., Md., where he owned some slaves—never sold one, and later liberated them. One of the latter was Samuel Cole of Hagerstown, Md. In 1827 the entire family moved from Md. into Franklin Co., Pa., upon a farm in Antrim Twp. He built a house at Middleburg, now called State Line, Pa.—this house was later used as a public house, or hotel, which Eve largely conducted while David² directed the farming of his 300-acre tract S.W. of McConnellsburg. About 100 acres of this were cleared and the balance consisted of heavily wooded land and contained several fine springs. He was very fond of spending his summers on this mountain land, and it was a great treat for the grand-children to join him there. Simeon³ farmed the old homestead farm in Washington Co., Md., during a portion of this time.

David² Brumbaugh founded the town of Middleburg, now called State Line, Pa.

"Joseph Brumbaugh + + + The farm being divided by the 'old Province line,' in the same manner as my own old home farm, about 100 miles west—a strange coincidence. The farm has passed out of the hands of the family long since, the same as the Brown farm. It is a singular fact that not one of the ten children has lived in Washington county for over twenty years; indeed, the Brumbaugh race has become quite meagre in its native county. Gone West. Many of them, however, of the race live in Southern Pennsylvania. Father Joseph Brumbaugh was a plain, unassuming man, deservedly respected by those who knew him. He was a careful, watchful parent, and a faithful husband. He bore arms for his country in the War of 1812; was one of the defenders of Baltimore. His wife bore an excellent character, was highly respected and proud of the Angle and Brumbaugh names. I honor her for it."^d

"David Brumbaugh, brother of father Joseph, was a prominent and respectable man in Washington Co., especially in agricultural matters and insurance business. He had two sons and as many daughters. Jerome became a member of the Washington Co. bar, but promptly located in Kansas, where he did well. Was at one time Attorney General of the State. He died some years ago, leaving a widow, who soon followed him. The Brumbaugh family are too numerous and scattered to permit more than a general reference to them + + +."^b

David³ was one of the incorporators and First Pres. of Washington Co., Md., Agricultural and Mechanical Assn., which was chartered in 1854, and the first fair was held on the edge of Hagerstown along the Williamsport pike. He owned and operated the Lehman Mill in Leitersburg Dist. for 6 yrs.—it is the third largest mill in Washington Co., Md., outside of Hagerstown. The ^aThe author thinks this classification a probable error—possibly in family, probably in generation at least—as [C389] Andrew M—⁵ Brumbaugh, b 1831 would place him in the fourth generation rather than the fifth—the correspondence could not be pursued owing to the death of the writer and the fact that none of the surviving family will reply to letters.

“DEATH OF DAVID BRUMBAUGH.”^b

“This worthy and much esteemed citizen and native of our county, one of a numerous and influential family, an honest man and a true Christian, if we may judge of his life by his actions, died at his home near the Pennsylvania State Line on Friday night last, December 6, aged 76 years, 6 months and 11 days. His death was caused by old age, the wearing out of nature. We believe until he lost his wife, a few years since, he scarcely knew what it was to be sick a day. That loss, followed soon after by the death of a son, of whom he had just cause to be proud, and in whose career was stored pretty much all of his earthly treasures during his latter years, broke his almost indomitable spirit, and he gradually sank under the repeated blows of affliction.

In the early days of his life, out of a numerous family of solid and influential men, all of who were active politicians, Mr. David Brumbaugh was the only one who was a Whig, the others of the name in this locality being all decided Democrats. He was also as decided a Presbyterian, and through sunshine and storm alike he as regularly wended his way to Hagerstown to church; as on Tuesday he did, in later years, to the office of the Mutual Insurance Company, of which he was Surveyor and Actuary. Up to the day of his death he was devoted to his church, but when the ‘Know Nothing’ party supplanted the old Whig party he connected himself with the Democratic party of the nation and died in that political association. A man of deep convictions and marvelous regularity of habits, he was always conspicuous in public enterprises and thoroughly earnest in his work. He was born upon a farm and reared with agricultural predilections, and was, if not absolutely the father of the Agricultural Association of our county, more entitled to that honor than perhaps any one man connected with it, as he was from its birth. For many years, and until age began to paralyze his energies, he was its President, and continued to be its Vice-President until near his death. In this connection he was Correspondent of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington for many years, and was the only agricultural statistician our county has ever had. In this field his death will be a loss to the whole county.

“For many years before his death, as we have said, he was Surveyor of the old Mutual Company of our county, and as such visited and familiarized himself with the people of every section of the county; there is probably not a man in our county who did not know David Brumbaugh. In early life he was a man of property, and one of the most intelligent and prosperous of our farmers. Had he confined himself exclusively to practical farming, he no doubt would have died among the rich men of our county. As it was, he was poor. With a very active mind and more than ordinary education, and of a generous nature towards his fellow men, in early life he divided his talent and attention between his legitimate business and that of surveying and assisting his neighbors in conveyancing, and finally to farming attempted to add the milling business; which multiplicity of occupations was too much for him, and he lost his property, but never the love and respect of his fellow beings. Then it was he became connected with the Insurance Company, and at his funeral, which took place last Sunday at State Line, as a mark of well-merited respect, Messrs. M. S. Barber, H. K. Tice, Alex. Neill and Buchanan Schley, officers of the company, were in attendance. Among the pall bearers were two of his brethren in the church, Messrs. P. B. Small and Joseph B. Loose, whilst the funeral services were solemnized by the Rev. J. C. Thompson, of the Presbyterian Church of our place, of which the deceased was a member. The whole surrounding people turned out to pay the last sad rites to the memory of their friend.”

and thought it would be a good thing to demonstrate the power of powder. He placed some on a shovel and called the boys around him, saying: 'Now bura gook was fulfer doot'—('Now boys come and see what powder does')—whereupon the powder 'went off' and also his beard, which was long after the manner of the men of those long past years."

David³ lived on a large tract over a square mile in extent about one mile west of New Enterprise, Bedford Co., Pa. The "mansion part" now has but about 300 acres. The old house, greatly altered and modernized, is herewith shown, and is about 100 years old. "One part of it was used as a meeting place of the Brethren before they had a church in that community, and as they now have the second church on the same foundation for over 80 years you can see how long since they worshiped in the old David Brumbaugh house."*

Both united with the G. B. B. Ch. early in their married life and remained quite active therein until their death. Their home in the early days was often used for church services, and visiting brethren and sisters were ever welcome—no person was ever sent away empty handed, and the orphan was ever an especial object of solicitude upon their part. Eve read extensively, only in the German language, and retained her excellent memory and active interest in all of life's activities until the end of her long life.

[E344] Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh visited Eve³ at her home in 1891 and then made extensive notes based upon her exceptional memory and extensive knowledge of family matters. These notes have proven of great assistance in un-

[C33] JACOB BENJAMIN³ BRUMBAUGH ([C6] David², Johann Jacob¹) b June 23, 1818, in Washington Co., Md.; when he was nine years old his parents moved to Antrim Twp., Franklin Co., Pa., where they d in 1842 and 1845. Jan. 1, 1856, he m Rebecca Clopper, b on a farm near Wingerton, Franklin Co., Pa., March 15, 1834; dau Samuel and Maria (Gordon) Clopper. In 1857 they moved to Middleburg, Franklin Co. (now State Line), and there kept a hotel and also conducted a farm of 170 acres in the immediate vicinity; Rebecca practically managed the hotel; in 1870 they moved to Lemaster, same county, and there spent the remainder of Jacob's life.

The Public Opinion^a in announcing his death on Feb. 4, 1903, after a protracted illness with a complication of diseases, in his eighty-fifth year, said in part:

"Mr. Brumbaugh was, therefore, reared to manhood in this county, during a long, honorable and useful life, taking an interest in its history and progress, and in everything relating to the welfare of his fellow citizens. A successful farmer and business man and prudent in the management of his affairs, he had the confidence of the community in which he resided, and was a safe counsellor whose advice was sought by neighbors.

"Charitable and kind-hearted, Mr. Brumbaugh's generousities were many and unostentatious. His supreme happiness was in being in company with congenial friends, and his knowledge of current affairs made him interesting and the life of the party. After his retirement from the farm and on his removal to Lemaster ten or more years ago, where he spent the evening of his life, there as at his old home he quickly gathered about him troops of those with whom he would spend a pleasant hour. As one after another of some of these were called hence, he felt their loss as one personal, and their memory was ever dear to his heart. Himself ever honorable and truthful, he spoke ill of no one.

"In politics a Democrat, Mr. Brumbaugh had the courage of his convictions, but he had respect for those who differed with him. He was well known for his uprightness and integrity, and served with credit as a member of the Board of County Commissioners, to which body he was elected in 1869. For years he was one of the master spirits of his party, and later was a candidate for County Treasurer, being defeated by his Republican opponent, the late J. N. Flinder, by a small majority."

Jacob Benjamin³ was buried in the Greencastle Cemetery, Franklin Co., Pa.; Rebecca, his widow, lives near Greencastle, Pa., and has assisted by repeatedly furnishing extensive facts for this publication, and by the purchase of copies of the latter.

JOHN BROWN INCIDENT.^a

"The venerable J. B. Brumbaugh, of Peters Township, one of the well-known and highly esteemed residents of Franklin County, conversed very entertainingly about famous John Brown, whilst in the Opinion office recently, and thus furnished data for a first-class article of unpublished history.

"Mr. Brumbaugh followed his father in keeping a hotel or wayside inn at Middleburg, in Antrim Township, this county, in the latter part of the fifties. Because of this fact he was not aware until too late that he had entertained one of the famous characters in our national war history.

"Late one night in October, 1859, he was called and was met at the door by a gray-bearded, pleasant spoken old gentleman who desired entertainment. A young man was with him. Their horse was put up and after breakfast the next morning they departed. In this case, as well as at subsequent times, the stranger paid his bills in gold. Mr. Brumbaugh said that the stranger, whom they called 'Pap,' and who afterward proved to be the famous John Brown, made his hostelry his stopping place from that time on, was a fluent talker, and as orderly and pleasant a guest as ever stopped at his place. On one occasion 'Pap' had assisted at an apple butter boiling. During all his lodging Brown had slept in a certain bed. + + + +

"At different times one of his sons accompanied John Brown, Mr. Brumbaugh continued. He well remembers the incidents of Sunday and Monday evening before the State election. After breakfast Monday morning Brown and his son, before departing, remarked that if any person called for them during the day to inform the party that he would be back in the evening. No person called during the day, but in the evening visitors turned up. Two genteel looking men drove up to the house, had their horses put up, got supper, asked for a room with two beds and very soon after retired. When John Brown returned he greeted the strangers, one of whom was another of his sons. The whole night the men engaged in animated conversation. Mr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh were interrupted in their slumbers by the mumbling, and mine host B. feels sure that that night the plans were laid for the raid at Harpers Ferry the following Sunday.

"The two strangers left Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock for Chambersburg, whilst John Brown and son, after breakfast, made their way toward Harper's Ferry. In the evening the son returned, left his horse at Middleburg, and left for Chambersburg on foot. Wednesday he returned with two men and a horse and wagon, and after supper proceeded towards Harper's Ferry. This was the last that Mr. Brumbaugh saw of the Browns at Middleburg.

"The events at Harper's Ferry the following Sunday, when Brown and his party were routed and captured, but not until great effort, is history and well known. John Brown, after a fair trial, was hanged at Charlestown, W. Va., December 2. Mr. Brumbaugh felt a hesitancy about witnessing the execution of Brown, but in April of the following year witnessed the execution of Stephen and Hazlett, who participated with Brown in the fight. Mr. Brumbaugh says they were fine looking men and died game."

"Eleanor^b, wife of Jacob Brown, d at their residence in Cumberland, Md., on the 27th day of July, 1889, after an illness of over two weeks, age 61. Her children were all present at her death and funeral, which took place at 5 P. M. on the 28th in Rose Hill Cemetery. She leaves surviving her husband, Jacob Brown, and five children, all of age; three daughters and two sons—two daughters and one son unmarried. She was married to her surviving husband May 20, 1851, and has lived in Allegheny County ever since, nearly all the time in Cumberland. She was born and reared in Washington Co., Md.; the sixth daughter of the late Joseph and Elizabeth Angle Brumbaugh, two ancient families of great respectability. Her immediate family left that country many years ago. The survivors are one brother, Alexander, in Kansas; two sisters, Mary and Emily, in Indiana, all her seniors. She was a full cousin of Catherine Angle McComas, mother of Congressman McComas, and she a daughter of the late Henry Angle, one of Washington County's most respected citizens. The deceased, in life, was retiring and modest, amiable, quiet and kind in her disposition, yet energetic, wise and intelligent in her chosen sphere in life—thoroughly domestic and practical by nature and cultivation. Her house a model of industry and prudence, where her friends were sure of a hearty welcome and real hospitality. She was intensely devoted to her family, and took but little share in the world's pleasures—hers were at home."

“When about 15 years old she was one day left at home while her parents spent the day away from the home. Her father was considered about the richest man in the community, and doubtless had plenty so that a neighboring family thought there was more than was needed—frequently relieving them of their substance. On this day mother saw two women slipping into the smoke house—she, too, 'skipped' in a round about way and shot the bolt of the door. When the folks came home in the evening she said: 'Come into the yard and see the nice birds I caught!' You can imagine the rest."

She also says: "On the Brumbaugh farm, which has been in possession of some of the name for well on 200 years, is a cave of interest. When my great-grandfather, John² Brumbaugh [C4], first bought the land from the Indians it was a hiding place of theirs. On the wall of one room is a carved picture in relief of an Indian woman nursing her child. There is also an interesting story of a panther that I heard when I was a small child."

He owned and lived upon the David³ Brumbaugh [C16] homestead, on which he conducted a small store and P. O., the latter called "Brumbaugh" until it was recently discontinued when the R. F. D. route from New Enterprise was established. Elizabeth lives in Bedford, Pa. (1911).

The following extract is taken from the Martinsburg (Pa.) Herald of Jan. 21, 1910:

"Simon Snyder Brumbaugh, a prominent and highly esteemed citizen of Bedford county, died at his home near New Enterprise Friday, Jan. 14, at 6:45 P. M., 1910, after an illness extending from the middle of May, 1909. The best of medical assistance was given him and all that careful nursing administered by loving hands could do was done in the hope of his gaining health and strength.

"In October he underwent an operation at Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, which seemed to benefit him for a time. Through all his sickness he was a patient sufferer, bearing it all with Christian fortitude. Early Thursday morning he took a turn for the worse and passed peacefully away, the wife and children all being present. * * *

"In his earlier life he was a huckster. He was elected steward of the Bedford County Almshouse and served six years. About twenty-five years ago he purchased the Aaron Reed distillery and was engaged in that business at the time of his death. In business he was very shrewd, and many were they who went to him for advice and assistance. He was always interested in the cause of education and served a number of years on the school board of South Woodbury Township. He was a member of the Lutheran Church, Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Grange. He was one who was always ready to assist in any cause which was for the good of the community, and was especially good to the poor.

"The funeral, which was one of the largest held in the community for some time, was held in the Burger Church at Salemville, conducted by Rev.

M. S. Sharp of Martinsburg, and Rev. D. T. Detwiler of New Enterprise. Interment in the Burger Cemetery."

gentle spirit took its flight to a better world at one o'clock. His sickness, disease of the heart, was painful, but near the end he went to sleep like a little child.

Jerome D. Brumbaugh was forty-five years old, a native of Maryland. He came to Marysville in 1858, and has been identified with its interests ever since. He has been honored by the people with many offices, and in each faithfully discharged his duty. In the county he has held the positions of Probate Judge, County Attorney, Commissioner and Representative, and honorably discharged the duties of Attorney General of the State one term. His was a pacific spirit, and he was conservative in politics.

Few men have done so much for the material interests of Kansas. He was a hard-working, conscientious lawyer, a public-spirited citizen, a faithful friend, and a generous opponent. His place will not be filled in Marysville. About the old law office there will always remain a vacancy, and in the memory of the people of this city and county his memory will long be cherished."

The "Conference Biographical Album of Eminent Men in Methodism (North West Indiana Conference, 1898)" contains the following biography:

"Rev. E. H. Brumbaugh, S.T.B., M.D., D.D., is a native of Ohio. At an early age he removed with his parents to Iowa, where he resided with his parents on the farm until he was fourteen years of age, at which time he left home to complete his education. He studied medicine and received the degree of M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Keokuk, Iowa. Dr. Brumbaugh practised medicine ten years.

Being impressed that he ought to preach the gospel, he received license to preach and a recommendation to the travelling connection from the Unionville (Mo.) Quarterly Conference, and was admitted to the Missouri Conference in 1882. At the request of the people of Unionville, he was sent to them as their pastor.

At this time he took a three years' course in Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Ill., and during the time of his attendance at the Institute Dr. Brumbaugh served as pastor of Central Avenue Church. He was president of his class at Garrett and was chosen by the faculty as one of the commencement speakers when he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology. He has served as president of the Alumni of Garrett.

Dr. Brumbaugh's first appointment after graduation was to First Church, St. Joseph, Mo., the most important charge in the Missouri Conference. He took rank at once as one of the foremost preachers of Methodism in his State. His discourses on the great moral questions of the day gave him a wide reputation. Many of his discourses, some of which were on our public schools and their foes, have been published in book form, and have been circulated in nearly every State of the Union.

During his pastorate in St. Joseph the church was strengthened with the addition of 452 members, and was built up in many ways.

In March, 1893, Dr. Brumbaugh was transferred to the Kansas Conference and stationed at Atchison. His pastorate there was characterized with a spirit of indomitable energy, intense loyalty to the church and unswerving opposition to all forms of evil. Dr. Brumbaugh was five years in Atchison. At the end of the fourth year, he was appointed to the District, but at the request of the church in Atchison, Bishop McCabe changed the appointment from District work to the pastorate.

In 1891 Soule College of Dodge City, Kans., gave him the degree of D.D.

September, 1897, Dr. Brumbaugh was transferred to the Northwest Indiana Conference and stationed at Crawfordsville. Here his usual success attends his labors.

Dr. Brumbaugh is a very eloquent and forceful speaker, and as a lecturer, as well as preacher, has won an enviable reputation. He has more demands for lectures and addresses than he can meet. He has attracted marked attention with his pen, and is a paid writer for the Methodist Press."

Dr. Eli Harrison⁴ Brumbaugh d Jan. 19, 1902, at Chicago, Ill., after an operation for gall stone. His wife lives at Memphis, Scotland Co., Mo., and furnished the above biography.

July 10, 1891, from St. Joseph, Mo., he wrote: "How soon do you expect to get out your Brumbaugh History? I am anxious to get hold of it!"

"He is a trained speaker, a man who has something to say and knows how to say it."—Evanston (Ill.) Index.

SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE.

The wintry winds are cold and chill,
 The bare trees weep and shiver,
 And restless willows sway their boughs

And as I watch the fading sun
 That scarcely warms the meadows,

I seek to find some sunny soul
To brighten gathering shadows.

But as the last beam fades away,
And I am at the heather,
There joy and home are radiant beams
Amid the wintry weather.

LIFE'S STORY BOOK.

Years make the chapters,
As we grow old;
Days make the pages,
As deeds are told;
Hours will paragraph
The kindness shown;
Minute, a sentence,
Is the seed sown;
Second, a fragment,
Like a swift brook;
Perhaps, keeps unmarred
Life's story book.

THE FLOWERS OF JUNE.

Oh, how can my spirit of mortal be sad
When the flowers of June are making it glad?

I long for the fragrance of roses in June
And for smiles and blushes when nature's in tune.
Then away to the woods, where wild flowers grow,
To hear the birds singing just all that they know.

I'll speak and I'll sing of the queen of the year,
For no other month is so fragrant or dear.

BRUMBAUGH SONG.

(Tune, "America.")

Our German fathers came,
 And brought our famous name,
 The name we love.
 Name that we praise so well,
 Fame from our fathers fell,
 Greater than man can tell,
 Inscribed above.

May we united be
 In great Eternity,
 And world below,
 Brave in the forests wild,
 Where lived the savage child,
 Our fathers, strong and mild,
 Joined hearts we know.

Our Father, good and great,
 Is caring for our fate,
 As those of yore.
 Long may our voices raise
 In gladness and in praise
 A song in tuneful lays,
 From shore to shore.
 —*Horace Atlee*⁶ Brumbaugh.

SECTION D.

GERMANNA, VA., AND MELCHIOR BRUMBACH; JOHN BRUMBACH (BROMBACH) OF LANCASTER CO., PA.; [D1] JOHAN MEL- CHIOR BROMBACH, AND [D2] "THE WIDOW BRUMBACH" AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.

Within this chapter are gathered interesting findings resulting from extended research, which, upon the first consideration, were disassociated, but which are becoming more and more closely identified. It is probable that the future will make clear at least most of the mysterious points involved; as the finding of the Bible records of [D3] Henry² Brumbach established the proper spelling of his family name, and the certainty that the Brumbach descendants belong to the "Brumbach Families."

GERMANNA—GERMANTOWN, VA., AND MELCHIOR BRUMBACH.

The reader will look in vain upon current maps for these ancient settlements, and almost in vain in historical literature for descriptions of them; yet, in "1721 it [Germanna] marked the farthest westward advance of civilization in Va." Germanna appears upon the Va. map of Fry & Jefferson, 1751 (a copy of which is in Library of Congress); upon the Reid, 1796, map used in Heads of Families, First Census of the U. S., 1790; and in one other map. It was the German colony of Gov. Spottswood in Stafford Co.; was founded by direct importation in 1714 of iron workers from Nassau-Siegen, Westphalia, Germany; and it is of special interest to Brumbach families because we there find Milcard—Milchert—Melchior Brumbach (various forms in which the English recorder wrote the names) taking part in the first iron blast furnace operation in America.

ORDER OF THE VA. EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, APRIL 28, 1714.^a

This is apparently the first Va. record of the German colonists (German Reformed) who settled Germanna in 1714:

"The Governor acquainting the Council that Sundry Germans to the number of forty-two men, women and children who were invited hither by Baron de Graffenreid are now arrived" + + + "The Governor therefore proposed to settle them above the falls of Rappahannock River to serve as a

^b"— sailed to Va. in the spring of 1714—conclusively that these colonists came directly from Germany."

Barrier to the Inhabitants of that part of the Country against the Incursions of the Indians," etc.

This settlement was at once made a fort by order of the Council; its inhabitants, in view of their exposed position and their inability to raise crops, were exempted from "publick Levies of the Government"; and they were designated as "Rangers" and thus given general hunting privileges.

AFFIDAVITS OF MILCARD—MILCHERT [MELCHIOR] BRUMBACH AND OTHERS.

Twelve Germanna colonists made affidavits in June, 1724, for the purpose of obtaining 1800 acres of land, as shown by the Spottsylvania Co. (Va.) records.* Germanna was first in Stafford Co., later Prince William, and in Fauquier about 1720.

"At a Court held per adjournment from yesterday the 2d day of June, 1724, for Spottsylvania County."

"Milcard Brumbach in order to prove his right to take up land according to the Royal Charter, made oath that he came into this country to dwell in the month of April, 1714, and that he brought with him Elizabeth his wife, and that this is the first time of proving their said importation, whereupon certificates is ordered to be granted them of right to take up one hundred acres of land."

The names of these colonists were^b:

"John Spellman [Spillman] and Mary his wife,
Hamon Fitchback [Herman Fishback] and Kathrina his wife,
John Huffman [John Henry Huffman] and Kathrina his wife, ^bThe quotations above given are from Va. Mag. of Hist. and Biog., Vol. 13, pp. 367-373, wherein the further statement is made that the original English writing clerk made evident grave errors in the German spelling of the names.

"The original German forms of the surname of the 1714 colonists are: Holzklau, Kemper, Martin, Spielman, Fischbach, Hoffman, Kuntz, Richter, Brumbach, Weber, Weide."

"The history of Germanna is of importance because the colonists of 1714 were the first organized body of Germans who came as permanent settlers to Va., and were the pioneers of that sturdy element which has done so much to develop the western part of the State. Germanna was the first county seat of Spotsylvania in 1722 and continued as such until 1732. It was originally in old Essex County, but is in the eastern portion of present Orange Co., on the south bank of the Rapidan, about thirty miles above Fredericksburg. John Camper [Kemper] and Alice Kathrina, his wife (100 acres).

Johannes [John Joseph] Martin and Maria Kathrina, his wife, (100 acres)."

The Westover Manuscripts, "Progress to the Mines," partly reproduced in History of Orange Co., Va., Scott, p. 87, et seq., contain the interesting description of Col. Byrd's visit to Col. Spotswood and Germanna in 1732.

Journals of House of Burgesses, 1712-1726, edited by H. R. McIlwaine, Va. State Librarian, p. xxii, contains especially interesting references to Germanna.

Barrier to the Inhabitants of that part of the Country against the Incursions of the Indians," etc.

This settlement was at once made a fort by order of the Council; its inhabitants, in view of their exposed position and their inability to raise crops, were exempted from "publick Levies of the Government"; and they were designated as "Rangers" and thus given general hunting privileges.

AFFIDAVITS OF MILCARD—MILCHERT [MELCHIOR] BRUMBACH AND OTHERS.

Twelve Germanna colonists made affidavits in June, 1724, for the purpose of obtaining 1800 acres of land, as shown by the Spottsylvania Co. (Va.)

"The original German forms of the surname of the 1714 colonists are: Holzklau, Kemper, Martin, Spielman, Fischbach, Hoffman, Kuntz, Richter, Brumbach, Weber, Weide."

"These Germans were invited over, some years ago, by the Baron de Graffenreed, who has her Majesty's Letter to ye Governor of Virginia to furnish them Land upon their arrival. They are generally such as have been employed in their own country as miners," etc.^b

"The first organized community in the new county [Spotsylvania] consisted of twelve German families from the old principality of Nassau-Siegen [Westphalia], Germany, who came to Va. in the month of April, 1714^c + + They were skilled workers in iron, and built for Gov. Spotswood a blast furnace about 10 miles n.w. of Fredericksburg, which, according to his testimony, was the first in North America"^d + "Thus the great iron and steel industries of the U. of Prodestant Germans, built them a Fort, and finish'd it with 2 pieces of Cannon and some Ammunition, which will awe the Straggling partys of Northern Indians, and be a good Barrier for all that part of the Country. These Germans were invited over, some years ago, by the Baron de Graffenreed, who has her Majesty's Letter to ye Governor of Virginia to furnish them with Land upon their arrival. They are generally such as have been employed in their own country as Miners, and say they are satisfied there are divers kinds of minerals in those upper parts of the County where they are settled, and even a good appearance of Silver Oar, but that 'tis impossible for any man to know whether those Mines will turn to account without digging some depth in the Earth, a liberty I shall not give them until I receive an Answer to what I represented to your Lo'ps concerning y'r Ascertaining her Maj't's Share, which I hope by y'r Lo'p's interposition be speedily signified" + +^a

"A settlement of German Protestants was also effected, under the auspices of the Governor, on the Rapidan river, which was called after the name of his residence, Germanna."^b

"In the county of Spotsylvania, Spotswood had about the year 1716, founded on a horseshoe peninsula of four hundred acres on the Rapidan, the little town of Germanna, so called after the Germans, sent over by Queen Anne, and settled in that quarter, and at this place he resided after his retirement. A church was built there mainly at his expense. Possessing an extensive tract of forty-five thousand acres of land, which abounded in iron ore, he engaged largely in connection with Robert Cary of England, and others in Virginia, in the iron manufacture."^c + +

"As to the other Settlement, named Germanna, there are about forty Germans, Men, Women and Children, who, having quitted their native Country upon the invitation of Herr Graffenreidt, and being grievously disappointed by the failure to perform his Engagement to them, and they arriving also here just at a time when the Tuscaruro Indians departed from the Treaty they had made with this Government to settle upon its Northern Frontiers, I did, both in Compassion to those poor strangers, and in regard to the safety of the Country, place them together upon a piece of land, several Miles without the Inhabitants, where I built them Habitations and subsisted them until they were able, by their own Labour, to provide for themselves, and I presume I may, without a Crime or Misdemeanor, endeavour to put them in an honest way of paying their Just Debts."^d + + diary of John Fountain.^a He + + visited the settlement on Nov. 20 and 21, 1715. He says: "About 5 P. M. we crossed a bridge that was made by the Germans, and about 6 we arrived at the German settlement. We went immediately to the minister's house; we found nothing to eat, but lived upon our small provisions, and lay upon good straw. Our beds not being very easy, as soon as it was day we got up. It rained hard, notwithstanding we walked about the town, which is palisaded with stakes stuck in the ground, and laid close the one to the other, and of substance to bear out a musket shot. There are but nine families, and they have nine houses built all in a line, and before every house, about twenty feet distant from it, they have many sheds built for their hogs and hens; so that hog styes and houses make a street. The place that is paled in is a pentagon very regularly laid out, and in the very center there is a block house made with five sides which answer to the five sides of the great inclosure; there are loop holes through it, from which you may see all the inside of the inclosure. This was intended for a retreat for the people, in case they were not able to defend the palisades if attacked by the Indians. They make use of this block house for divine service. They go to prayers constantly once a day and have two sermons on Sunday. We went to hear them perform their service, which was done in their own language, which we did not understand, but they seemed very devout, and sang the Psalms very well.

This town or settlement lies upon the Rappahannock River, thirty miles above the falls, and thirty miles from any inhabitants. The Germans live very miserably. We would tarry here some time, but for want of provisions we are obliged to go. We got from the minister^b a bit of smoked beef and cabbage, which was very ordinary. We made a collection between us three, of about thirty shillings, for the minister, and about twelve of the clock we took our leave, and set out to return."

HUGH JONES' DESCRIPTION OF GERMANNA, 1724.

"Beyond Col. Spottswood's Furnace above the Falls of the Rappahannock River, within View of the vast Mountains, he had founded a Town called Germanna, from some Germans sent over thither by Queen Anne, who are now removed up farther: Here he has Servants and Workmen of most handycraft Trades; and he is building a Church, Court-House and Dwelling-House for himself; and with his Servants and Negroes he has cleared Plantations about it, purposing great Encouragement for People to come and settle in that uninhabited Part of the World, lately divided into a County.

At another place we find: “We spoke with each other about Bethlehem”—400 miles distant through the forest.

“These colonists remained at Germanna until the year 1721, when they acquired lands in the Northern Neck and removed about twenty miles northward from Germanna, locating in old Stafford Co. That section of Stafford fell into Prince William in 1730, and later (1759) into present Fauquier Co. Their new home, called Germantown, was on Licking Run about eight miles south of present Warrenton, Va. Midland Station, on the Southern Railroad, is near this ancient settlement, which, in 1721 marked the farthest westward advance of civilization in Virginia. The importance of the preceding Council Order and the Court Orders relating to the colonists of 1714, consists in the fact that these documents settle every doubt which has been raised with reference to the time when and place from which they came. The Court Orders also furnish for the first time positive evidence with reference to the names of all the persons who composed this.”^e Take your map of Va., and in the extreme northeastern corner of what is now Orange Co., on a remarkable horseshoe peninsula of about 400 acres, with the Rapidan to the north, west, and east of it, was the site of this famous town. Gov. Spottswood had a very large tract of land here; he had discovered iron on this tract; he brought these Germans over to work this body of ore; he built a furnace near the tract, the ruins of which have lately been discovered, crumbling to dust, and overgrown with vegetation; the Governor built himself a handsome residence on this tract, to which he retired in 1723, after he ceased to be Governor."

DEED FROM CHILDREN OF "MILCARD BRUMBACK", JULY 23, 1746

July 23, 1746, Stephen Huntzenbiller, Jacob Newswanger and Christopher Wingle of Frederick Co., Va., conveyed for natural love and affection "which we bear to our beloved brother and sister Henry Otterback and Agnes Otterback his wife" 100 acres lying in Prince William Co., Va., "in the Germantown," it being part of the land taken up by John Fishback, Jacob Holtzclaw and John Henry Hoffman, by grand patent and by them conveyed by a lease for 99 years yet to come, to Milcard Brumbach, and by him conveyed to the grantors; the said lease to Brumbach being recorded in Stafford Co., Va. This land adjoins that of Elizabeth Rictor and John Fishback.

The above appears in the deed book of Prince William Co., ^b and in the same records also appears a deed of Feb. 21, 1738, by which Just Hite conveyed to Jacob Niswanger, in consideration of 5 sh., 400 a. granted to Hite by patent June 12, 1734, lying "on ye west side of 'Shenando River' [Shenandoah] bounded by North Branch of Crooked Run, to Walnut which divides this and Peter Stephen's land."^c

MARRIAGE OF MARIA GERTRAUDT BRUMBACH, JUNE 5, 1738,*
AND THE REV. STOEVERS.

The baptismal and marriage records of Rev. John Caspar Stoever (Notes and Queries, Egle, 1896, p. 83) contain this important family record:

"June 5, 1738, John Jacob Neuschwanger and Maria Gertraudt Brumbach, Opaken (Opequon)."

Opequon^b is an old hamlet with a P. O. and a creek, in Frederick Co., Va., N.E. of Winchester (the northernmost Co. of the State, and S.W. of Hagerstown, Md.) Frederick Co., Va., was formed from Orange Co. in 1738. In this connection it is interesting to note that none of the Brumbachs about Opequon can throw any light upon the life or even existence of these earlier Brumbachs or their marriages.

The above marriage was made by Rev. John Casper Stoever, Jr. "This man probably organized more churches than any one else, not even excepting Mühlenberg himself."^c "He also traveled beyond the Susquehanna in a S.W. direction, penetrating almost to the center of Va., via the Shenandoah Valley, stopping in Md. on the way, preaching to the scattered Lutherans and baptizing their children."^c He was the first Lutheran minister ordained in the colonies; was pastor in the Tulpehocken region (Pa.) 1733, after his father went to Va., to 1779; and ministered to the people of all religious beliefs. The considerable interval occurring before and after the entry of the Brumbach-Neuschwanger marriage seems to justify the conclusion that he then traveled to the Opequon, Va., region to see his father, Rev. John Caspar Stoever, Sr. (Note that this learned and precise German minister spells the name Brumbach, as Henry³ [D3] also wrote it.) The lives and activities of the celebrated Stoevers are extensively given in Transactions of The Pennsylvania-German

Said will is signed, "John Caspar Stoever, Minister of the Dutch Lutheran Church in Virginia," and is of exceptional interest. In it he writes: "Now unto my well beloved son John Caspar Stoever, minister of Conestoken, unto thee and Michael Schmidt do I give, etc."

"On Sept. 11, 1728, there arrived in Philadelphia Johann Caspar Stoever, Sr., Missionaire, and Johann Caspar Stoever, S. S. Theo. Stud. The latter remained in Pa. and was instrumental in founding many Lutheran churches. The former went to Madison County, Va., in 1733 + +." (Va. Hist. Mag., Vol. XI, p. 241.)

"The German colony on Robinson river, west of the present town of Madison, prospered under the kind government of Sir Alexander Spotswood. The colonists were laborious and pious people. In 1735 they founded a congregation with Rev. Johann Caspar Stoever [Sr.] as parson, who also took charge of the church at Germanna, upon Rev. [Gerhard] Henkel's acceptance of a call to the congregation near the Yadkin River in N. C." (History of the German Element in Va., Schurecht, 1898, Vol. I, p. 74.)

"Maria Gertraudt Brumbach," "Agnes Otterback" and the wives of Stephen Huntzenbiller and Christopher Wingle were undoubtedly sisters, and daughters of Melchior Brumbach, deceased, and the three sisters were apparently giving their interest to the other sister in the absence of male heir.

It is evident from the affidavit of June 2, 1724, by "Milcard [Melchior] Brumbach" that upon landing in 1714 there were no children; as, under the early Va. laws, an additional allowance of fifty acres was granted for each child. Mr. Willis M. Kemper reports that the records of Prince William Co., Va., are incomplete, owing to destruction during the Civil War, and that the existing records and those of Fauquier Co. show no further trace of Milcard or Melchior Brumbach.

Heads of Families—Va., 1782, Frederick Co., gives: "David Nisewanger 5 whites," "John Nisewanger 6 whites" and "Colo. John Nisewanger 7 whites and 1 black." John Neuschwanger who, on June 5, 1738, m Maria Gertraudt Brumbach of Opequon, was probably the ancestor of the above persons, but no extensive efforts have been made to verify the supposition.

The names Huntzenbiller, Wingle and Otterback do not appear in the above mentioned "Heads of Families," or in the Stoever baptisms and marriages.

The testimony of the early Moravian diaries and the known migration and close intercourse between the settlement of Germantown, Bethlehem, and Lititz in Lancaster Co., Pa., and those German settlements of Germanna and Germantown in Va. seem to indicate a probable relation between the Brumbach—Broomback who m Anna Julian Kemper, and the Melchior Brumbach of Germanna, who "came into this country to dwell in the month of April, 1714," and that he brought with him Elizabeth his wife." The compiler's study of the problems involved also leads to the theory that there is a further relation between the foregoing and [D1] Johan Melchior Brombach who landed at Philadelphia September 22, 1752, and the [D2] Widow Brumbach (or Brombach), whom we find in Page Co., Va., about 1760—recently from Pa. The former seemingly died in Pa., but the searches thus far possible amongst the records of Eastern Pa. have failed to throw further light upon the time and place of the death of [D1]. He may be the long-sought husband of the "Widow Brumbach"; and the latter has been assigned [D2], but is given as the head of the American ancestry of Section D, in the following pages.

The "Marriage and Baptismal Records of the Rev. John Waldschmidt, a Minister of the Reformed Church who served the Congregations of Cocalico, Seltenreich, Weissachenland and Muddy Creek in Lancaster Co., Pa." contain:

"Brumbach, Margareta, daughter of Melchior and Christian Conrad, son of Lenhard Conrad, married March 6, 1770, at Riehmstown in Andrew Reihm's House." ^a

The Conrads lived in Tulpehocken Twp., Berks Co., Pa., and the Marriage Records of the Rev. John Casper Stoeber, Jr., show that Christian Conrad was b June 19, 1745, and baptized July 6, 1746. ^b

THE WIDOW¹ BRUMBACH [D2] AND HER DESCENDANTS.*

"About A. D. 1760 a German woman, a widow Brumbach, first name unknown, with her 5 children settled on the South Branch of the Shenandoah River above Bixley's Ferry and three or four miles north from Luray, in what is Page County, Virginia. The family had then recently come from Germany and probably landed in Pennsylvania and passed through the Tulpehocken region, that State, without a long stay, into the Luray Valley, Va. The children were four daughters and one son—Henry. Two of the daughters were Elizabeth and Mary, but the names of the others are unknown."^a

"A large majority of our first immigrants were from Pennsylvania, composed of native Germans or German extraction. There were, however, a number directly from Germany, several from Md. and N. J., and a few from N. Y. These immigrants brought with them the religion, habits and customs of their ancestors. They were composed generally of three religious sects, viz.: Lutherans, Menonists and Calvinists, with a few Tunkers. They generally settled in neighborhoods pretty much together.

"The territory now composing the County of Page, Powell's fort, and the Woodstock valley, between the West Fort mountain and North mountain, extending from the neighborhood of Stephensburg for a considerable distance into the county of Rockingham, was almost exclusively settled by Germans. They were very tenacious in the preservation of their language, religion, customs and habits. In what is now Page County they were almost exclusively of the Menonist persuasion; but few Lutherans or Calvinists settled among them."^b

*Much of the original investigation for the Va. portion of this work (comprising about 20 typewritten pages) was carefully made by the late Judge Jefferson⁵ Brumbach [D231], who spent several summers in that State making personal investigations. He died June 22, 1907, and evidenced the greatest interest, approval and co-operation in the work of the compiler. The "Tulpehocken" statement is important, and the recently discovered Mennonite records showing a probability that the husband of the "Widow¹ Brumbach" [D2] will yet be identified.

The late Judge Jefferson⁵ Brumbach and Judge Orville Sanford⁶ Brumbach [D263], Toledo, O., closely worked together in the effort to gather authentic family records; and, since the death of the former, the latter has been constant in his co-operation to further the success of this work.

Register of Land Office.

The patent of Lord Fairfax of June 15, 1754, shows that the 400 acres was conveyed to Michael Coffman for the orphans of Martin Coffman, without naming them. There is recorded in the County Clerk's office of Frederick County, Virginia, at Winchester in Volume 10 of Deeds, p. 193, a deed from Michael Coffman of Lancaster County, Province of Pennsylvania, and late of the County of Augusta, in the Colony of Virginia, to Henry Bromback and Ann, his wife, late Ann Coffman, daughter and orphan of Martin Coffman, deceased, of Frederick County, Virginia. This deed is a lease and release dated April 1, 1765, and conveys the 400 acres^a covered by the patent from Lord Fairfax of June 15, 1754. It is signed by Michael Coffman in German and attested by Samuel Newman and Thomas Wood and one whose German signature is illegible. The record of the deed in giving Henry's signature is written indistinctly, as are most early English transcripts, and the name of Frederick County reads 'Friederich.'"^b (Especial attention is directed to the autographic Bible Record of [D3] "Henrich Brumbach.")

"Henry² Brumbach [D3] died testate in 1799 in Rockingham County, Virginia (that County was established in 1778), and by his will, probated there, devised the 400 acre Spring Farm tract to his sons [D8] John³ and [D12] David³, and to his son [D10] Henry³ another tract of 206 acres. By deed dated May 12, 1805, Book P, p. 338, at Woodstock, Virginia, 'Ann Broombach,' the widow of 'Henry Broombach,' of Rockingham County, Virginia, in consideration of 150 pounds, released her right of dower in the tracts devised by Henry Brumbach to his sons John³, David³ and Henry³. The lands were then in Shenandoah County, established in 1772, under name of Dunmore, last name being changed to Shenandoah in 1777. Page County was cut off from Shenandoah in 1831."^c

FURTHER RECORDS OF [D3] "HENRY BRUMBACH," AND OF THE EARLY MENNONITE SETTLEMENTS OF VIRGINIA.

"Harrisonburg, Va., Jan. 2, 1912.

"× × × I have just come from the clerk's office (Harrisonburg, Rockingham Co., Va.), and submit the following facts:

April 7, 1806, John³ [D8], Henry³ [D10], and David³ Brumbach [D12], made a deed to their younger brother, Jacob³ Brumbach [D16], which is recorded in Burnt Records Deed Book No. 0000, pp. 427, 428. From this deed it appears that Henry² Brumbach [D3], deceased, made his last will and testament May 14, 1792, which was duly admitted to record in Rockingham County; that he willed among other things a tract of land each, in Shenandoah County, to his sons John, Henry, and David; also to his widow, Nancy^{*} Brumbach, the whole of his plantation in the County of Rockingham, called and known by the name of 'New Glasgow,' until his son Jacob Brumbach [D16] should be 21. Other conditions are mentioned.

It also appears that New Glasgow comprised 124 acres, but as yet I have not been able to locate it.

Henry signed in German (in 1806). This was Henry, Jr. [D10].

It is quite possible that the land referred to as being in Shenandoah County is now in Page County.

It is also possible—probable—that Henry Brumbach, Sr. [D3], was a Mennonite, for 4 miles west of Harrisonburg would put him right in a Mennonite settlement; but I find no Mennonite minister by that name in Rockingham. Write Bishop L. J. Heatwole, Dale Enterprise, Rockingham Co., Va., who can likely help you regarding the Mennonite relations.

I could not find Henry Brumbach's will—many of our records were burned in 1864. But there are other records regarding the Brumbachs. As yet I have not found the sale to Daniel Smith × × ×

With kindest regards, I remain

Yours very truly,

JOHN W. WAYLAND."

Letter from Bishop Lewis James Heatwole.^b

"Dale Enterprise, Rockingham Co., Va., Jan. 11, 1912.

^bLewis James Heatwole, b Dec. 4, 1852, ordained bishop in Mennonite Ch. May 2, 1892, in Middle District of Va. Conference. His letter and that of Dr. John W. Wayland, preceding, throw important light upon the problem of the identity of the "Widow Brumbach."

nonites who formed the greater part of the Massanutten colony in the page Valley of the Shenandoah river from 1727 to 1735—and at all events had reached this point from Lancaster Co., Pa., coming by way of the Susquehanna River, Chesapeake Bay, and the Potomac River and across the Blue Ridge through Swift Run Gap by the Spottswood route of 1716.

The records in my possession show that at least the Ruffners, Stricklers, Stovers and Kauffmans were Mennonites, and that Michael Kauffman, Jacob Strickler, Henry Brumbach [D3] and probably Peter Ruffner with John Rhodes were Mennonite preachers.

The first court of Rockingham County was held April 17, 1778, at the house of Daniel Smith, two miles north of what is now Harrisonburg. His father, John Smith, had come from England as an officer in the French and Indian War, but his wife appears to have been a German woman. It was Daniel, a son of Daniel Smith, who later became the distinguished Judge Smith of our county, and his portrait now occupies a prominent place in the County Court House at Harrisonburg to-day. It was this same Judge Smith who came into possession of the Brumbach farm as the following records show: [See D9—p. 275.]

“Deed Book No. 1 Records of Rockingham County Va.” Page 73.

Daniel Smith, on 17th day of April, 1806, buys of Henry Brumbach [D3] through Jacob Brumbach administrator of the will of Henry Brumbach a plantation known as the “New Glass” farm for $1500, not including the part reserved by said will for the benefit of Nancy Brumbach the widow of Henry Brumbach during her life time, and containing 90 acres—witnessed and signed by Hugh Boyd and [D12] David Brumbach. [See “Anna” in Bible Record.]

“Deed Book No. 4. Records of Rockingham County”—Page 268.

In year 1817 (day and year not legible) the heirs of Henry Brumbach sell to Daniel Smith and William Cravens 47 acres of “New Glass” farm as the dowry of Nancy “Broombach.”

The signatures to this deed are: Samuel Kauffman, Abraham Miller, David Ruffner (signed in German), David Brumbach [D12], Samuel Stover, Samuel Miller, Samuel Brumbach [D17], Christian Brumbach [D19], Tobias Brumbach [D21], Jacob Brumbach [D16].

According to the phraseology of this deed, which is very wordy and lengthy, the inference is to be drawn that besides the five sons there were also five daughters in the family. Of these Barbara [D7] was the wife of Samuel Kauffman, Elizabeth [D11] the wife of Abram Miller, Ann [D9] the wife of David Ruffner, Susanna [D13] the wife of Samuel Stover, and Mary [D15] the wife of Samuel Miller.

In making a search through the County Records again, with the assistance of the clerk in charge, it develops that all the names signed to the deed of the Henry Brumbach heirs to Daniel Smith gave affidavit and signed the deed at Lancaster, Fairfield Co., Ohio, April 27th, 1817.

I am not sure, but the evidence is almost conclusive that almost all the descendants of the "Massanutten" colony on the Shenandoah River, 1727 to 1735, at a later period settled in the part of Rockingham County, this State, occupied by the Brumbachs—hence the evidence that the wives of the Brumbach sons were of the Kauffmans, Stricklers, Millers and Stovers of the same generation—as were also the husbands of the Henry Brumbach daughters.

Have made a fruitless effort to find the will of Henry Brumbach, but it is evident that it was recorded here and lost with many others during the period of the Civil War.

As to the said Samuel Brumbaugh^a being identified with the [D17] Samuel whom you say was born Dec. 17, 1786, cannot be established here further than that he was of the same generation with the Virginia Brumbachs.

Trusting that the above data may answer the purpose for which you intend it, and wishing you much success in your efforts to bring forward a reliable register of the Brumbaugh family, and that in return it may meet with an extended patronage from a generous public, I beg to remain

Humbly but sincerely,

L. J. HEATWOLE."

THE EARLY MENNONITE CONFERENCE OF VIRGINIA.

The recently discovered fact that Henry Brumbaugh [D3] was a minister in the Mennonite colony in the Shenandoah valley, together with a number of others in the second generation closely connected with the ancestors of various families, and the uncertainty surrounding the principals in the statement, "About A. D. 1760 a German woman, a widow Brumbach, first name unknown, with her 5 children, settled on the South Branch of the Shenandoah River," from Pa., etc., requires a close search of the early Mennonite records of Va. and Pa.

"Up until this time (1800) all ministers and deacons residing in Va. appear to have been ordained in Pa., and it seems that all matters of organization and oversight were vested in the Lancaster Co. (Pa.) conference; in His daughter Elizabeth, carrying her baby sister in her arms, escaped to the barn and later by flight through a field of tall hemp to the river, which she crossed in safety. This awful tragedy took place on the Shenandoah River [later] in Page Co., some miles below Luray. The circumstances of the daughter's escape, and the burning of the buildings by the Indians was witnessed by the Stauffer family, who lived on the opposite side of the river."

The Bible records of [D3] Henry² Brumbach and [D10] Henry³ Brumbach, herewith reproduced, were carefully intensified and translated by Prof. Michael Alvin Gruber of Washington, Pa. (after all this section was in type), and he is positive that the original records are "Brombach." This strengthens the supposition of relationship between [D1] Johan Melchior Brombach and [D2] the "Widow¹ Brombach"; but no attempt has been made to change the printed "Widow¹ Brumbach," so as to conform to the latest translations. Brombach and Brumbach are frequently used interchangeably, as found in the foreign records and noted in the beginning of this publication.

[D7] BARBARA³ BRUMBACH ([D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach), b Aug. 17, 1762; m Samuel Kauffman. As an heir of Henry Brumbach he signed a deed^a in 1817 to land in Rockingham Co., Va.

[D8] JOHN³ BRUMBACH—"Brumback" ([D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach), b near Luray, Va., Sept. 9, 1764; until about 40 years old he was a man of means, with his farm and mills thereon (both grist mill and saw mill) run by water power. About that age he engaged in handling produce and transporting it to the seaboard, or points east of his home. He appears to have been something of a speculator, met with reverses, and some time prior to 1819 his property was sold by the sheriff.

John³ [D8] is reported to be the one who changed the spelling of the family name to "Brumback," and it has so continued in his family line.

March 27, 1787, John³ m Elizabeth Rothgeb (or "Roadcap"), dau George and Magdalena (Beidler—or Pieldler) Rothgeb, who moved to Ohio from Va. in 1819. Elizabeth was b Oct. 28, 1766; d April 18, 1858, at Van Burenton, Licking Co., O.

"Elizabeth was a woman of great force of character, and one of the women who with only a limited education, are thoroughly good, true and heroic. After her husband's failure in Virginia she emigrated to Ohio with her seven children (1818); the youngest, John, being only about 10 years old, remembers walking behind the wagon on the long journey. They located in or near Licking County, Ohio, where the husband and father followed them later. He never accomplished a revival of his fortune after coming to Ohio. Upon the death of the first wife of his son John (youngest), 1835, he and his wife went to live with him until they died at great age."^a

JACOB ROTHGEB—ROADCAP; "REDEMPTIONER."

Jacob Rothgeb (name in English in many early documents, including patent of September 15, 1749, hereinafter mentioned, being spelled Roadcap) settled in the Valley of Virginia some time before 1749. According to tradition among some of his Virginia descendants, he and a young woman, his fellow passenger across the Atlantic, served Joseph Strickler for seven years in consideration of Strickler having paid for their passage to America, he having in some way become entitled to their labor for that term for such payment.

During the reign of Frederick the Great, and between 1740 and 1760, many thousand German emigrants landed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a number going to the valley of Virginia. Many of these emigrants were from the Palatinate on the Rhine. Some of these emigrants had money.

"Others again who had not the means of paying their passage across the Atlantic were, on their arrival at Philadelphia, exposed at public auction to serve for a series of years to pay their passage. Those thus disposed of were termed Redemptioners, or Palatine servants. The Palatine Redemptioners were usually sold at ten pounds, for from three to five years. Of this class many became men of wealth and influence in their day, and their descendants are among the first in society, as to intelligence, wealth and respectability."^b

A Colonial law of Virginia of March 16, 1642 (1 Henning's Statutes at Large, page 257), provides:

"Such servants as shall be imported having no indentures or covenants, either men or women, if they be above twenty years old, to serve four years;

^aAccording to the late [D231] Jefferson Brumback.

if they shall be above twelve and under twenty to serve five years, and if under twelve to serve Seven years."

Other Colonial laws of Virginia on this subject are the following:

Act of March 18, A. D. 1657.

"An act concerning servants and slaves," Oct.———1705.

Probably Jacob Rothgeb and the young woman became bound in Pennsylvania to serve Strickler for paying their passage across the Atlantic. They may, however, have been bound to him under indentures as apprentices, or been compelled to serve him under the Virginia law, because they were not indentured when brought into the Colony.

After their service to Strickler ended they married and had one son, George. After the death of this wife Jacob Rothgeb married a widow Good (first name unknown), and had by her one child, Peter.

Lord Fairfax, by patent dated Sept. 15, 1749, conveyed to Jacob Rothgeb under the name of Jacob Roadcap 400 acres of land on Mill Run, a few miles from Luray, Page County, Va. Jacob Rothgeb must have died before 1770, as in that year his sons George and Peter, under the name of Roadcap, partitioned the 400 acres by deeds. Sometimes his descendants used the name Rothgeb and sometimes it was written Rotgeb. The name, however written, must have been pronounced so that Lord Fairfax and other Englishmen understood it to be Roadcap and so wrote it.

George Rothgeb [3] had three wives. His first wife was a Biedler or Piedler (first name probably Magdalena), and he had by her the following children: Isaac, Abram or Abraham, Jacob and Elizabeth, latter born Oct. 28, 1766.

The second wife of George Rothgeb [3] was a Graybill or Greybill (first name unknown), and by her he had the following children: David, Barbara, George and Christian (twins), their mother dying in childbed soon after their birth.

There was a son named Daniel, the issue of the first or second wife, who died very young.

The third wife of George Rothgeb [3] was Barbara Bear, and he had by her the following children: Samuel, Joseph, John, Michael, Reuben, Henry, Anna, born January 20, 1874, Esther, Mary, and another girl who died when a very young baby, and probably without a name. Henry Rothgeb died when a very young man, about or before the time his father died.

Sixteen children of George Rothgeb [3] survived him for a number of years, the date of his death being unknown.

THE FIRST CENSUS OF THE UNITED STATES—VIRGINIA.

Heads of Families—Va., 1785, for Fairfax Co., p. 85, enumerates "John Bromback" as having a family of "9 white souls, 1 dwelling and 3 other buildings."

Page 66 of the same census, in 1784, for Shenandoah Co., Va., mentions "George Roodcap 14 whites, 0 blacks," and the same in 1785 13 whites, 1 dwelling and 2 other buildings—also in same year and county Isaac Roodcap as having 2 whites, 1 dwelling and 1 other building.

Page 104 of the same census, in 1785, for Shenandoah Co., states that Isaac Roadcap had a family of 2 white souls and 1 dwelling, and that Peter Roadcap had a family of 6 white souls, 1 dwelling and 1 other building. They were neighbors of Peter, Mary, Benjamin and David Rufner. [See p. 275, &c.]

*John*³ Brumbach [D8] m Elizabeth Rotgeb March 27, 1787. *Henrich*² Brumbach [D3] had 10 ch. in 1785, and his autographic Bible Record also precludes any supposition that his name could be "Johannes Henrich Brumbach" [E1] who landed at Germantown, Pa., Sept. 30, 1754. The latter is known to have settled in the Conococheague district of Md. and thence to have moved to Pa., with his family of 6 whites, including himself.

BIBLE RECORD OF [D8] JOHN³ BRUMBACH.

"John Brumbach was born 9th day of September, 1764.

[D9] ANN³ BRUMBACH ([D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach), b Nov. 11, 1766 (?); m David Ruffner, "b 1767 on his father's (Joseph) farm on the Hawksbill creek, near Luray, and there lived until 1796, the year of his removal to Kanawha." ^a "Before he was 23 years of age he was appointed justice of the peace for Shenandoah Co., Va., no small honor in those days of intelligent and high-toned magistrates. This was the beginning of his magisterial career, which with but little intermission continued to the day of his death, 53 years later." ^a

"For about forty years his big brain and muscular arm led in a multitude of important enterprises, both economic and moral. His mind was characterized by originality and activity, his energy seemed tireless, and his philanthropy and public spirit, especially in the latter half of his Kanawha life, seemed to dominate even his private interests." ^a

"When David died, Rev. Stuart Robinson, his pastor, wrote: 'Colonel Ruffner was one of our first settlers, and by general acknowledgment has been our most useful citizen.' He represented Kanawha in the Va. Legislature in 1799, 1801 and 1802, 1804 and 1811. The Kanawha saltworks and the first coal mines, the chief industries of this district, were established by this energetic German-Virginian. Col. Ruffner died Feb. 1, 1843." ^b

Dr. John W. Wayland kindly searched the wills and deeds of Rockingham Co.^c and the result verifies the statement that "Henry Brumbach, a Mennonite preacher," is [D3] and that he lived in a Mennonite community, where also lived the Ruffners. These discoveries may lead to important findings concerning the identity of the "Widow Brumbach [D2]."

Peter Ruffner came to America "from the German border of Switzerland in 1732, whilst still a young man." He m Mary Steinman of Lancaster Co., Pa., and they settled upon a tract given by his father-in-law in Frederick, later Shenandoah, now Page Co., Va. There were 6 ch., of which Joseph was the oldest, b 1740. 1764 Joseph m Ann Hiestand, dau Henry, and they had 8 ch.

^cSee Dr. Wayland's letter in [D3], a few pages forward. His publishers, Ruebush-Elkins Co., Dayton, Va., announce the issue about Nov., 1912, of a History of Rockingham Co., Va., by John W. Wayland, Ph.D.

One of the latter discovered "Ruffner's Cave" on their property about 1795, and the name was later changed to "Luray Cave." Joseph's oldest son David, b 1767, m Ann Brumbach—the early Ruffners and Brumbachs were Mennonites. (Extracted from W. Va. Hist. Mag., Vol. I, to which interested persons are referred for further details. See also [D10] and [D11]).

Heads of Families, Va., 1784, Shenandoah Co., gives the following "Ruffner" enumerations: List of Alexr. Hite, p. 65, gives Benjamin 8 white souls. Page 66 mentions Emanuel 4 white souls, Peter 9, Reuben 6. For the same county the list of enumerations in 1785, p. 104, by Edwin Young is: Peter 10, Mary 3, Benjamin 7, Joseph 10. For the same county the list of Richd. Branham for 1785, p. 105, mentions Reuben as having a family of 5 white souls, 1 dwelling and 2 other buildings.

"In 1789 he [David Ruffner] was married to Ann Brumbach, daughter of Henry Brumbach,^a a Mennonite preacher who owned and lived upon the beautiful farm four miles west of Harrisonburg, Rockingham county, which afterward became the property and residence of the eminent Judge Daniel Smith. This was a happy marriage. The sweet face, deep blue eyes, and gentle temper of the wife softened the sterner and developed the more amiable qualities of the husband, forming as harmonious a combination as was possible between man and wife. She ultimately became the well-known and greatly beloved 'Mother Ruffner' of Kanawha salines, and lived to a great age."^b

"Most of the Brumbachs are farmers, industrious, honest, and prosperous. * * * Most of them were Old School Baptists until Eld. Burnam introduced and organized Sunday Schools amongst us. * * * Most of the Brumbachs (O. S. B.) have gone with the 'New Departure or Burnam Division.'"—Lucy Gertrude (Lanck) Brumbach [see D104].

GROVE FAMILIES IN VIRGINIA.*

Heads of Families, Records of the State (Va.) Enumerations, 1782 to 1785—First Census, 1790 Series, p. 64, gives: "Marks Grove" as the head of a family of "10 whites" in Shenandoah Co., and in the same locality and reference, p. 66, Christián Grové as having a family of "11 whites"—no "blacks" in either family. [D11] ELIZABETH³ BRUMBACH ([D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach), b Aug. 19, 1771; m Abraham Miller of Pa. July 5, 1791, according to the marriage records of Shenandoah Co., Va.; ceremony performed by Rev. Paul Hinkle, and her name is therein spelled "Elizabeth Brombach."^a

April 27, 1817, at Lancaster, Fairfield Co., O., as an heir of the late Henry² Brumbach [D3] Mr. Miller signed a deed to land in Rockingham Co., Va.^b He d in Licking Co., O., Sept. 3, 1831, and Elizabeth d March 6, 1862.

A search amongst the histories of Fairfield Co., O., brought to light several interesting quotations, which are herewith reproduced^c:

"David Miller, deceased, Walnut Twp.; was born in Rockingham county, Va., Feb. 2, 1803; the eldest son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Brumbach) Miller. David came with his parents to Ohio in the spring of 1805. He was educated in Walnut Twp., and assisted his father in clearing the farm, until his marriage, Dec. 9, 1828, to Frances D., dau of Jacob Guile, a former well-known resident of Berne Twp. Mrs. Miller was born in this county Sept. 11, 1810. After marriage they continued to reside on the home place. Upon his father's death, 1831, he took sole charge of the place. His mother resided with him. In 1833 he built a nice residence. The barn built by his father is still in use; it was built in 1820. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were parents of one daughter and eleven sons, eight sons and the daughter still living, all residents of this Co. Elizabeth, the wife of John Eversole; three sons still at home, Jacob K., an ex-grain buyer, of Millersport; Josiah C. and Benjamin F. on the home place. Mr. Miller was grandfather to 30 children and great-grandfather to 4. They were members of the United Brethren Church. He was a successful farmer, owning at his death 260 acres—the home place and 110 acres elsewhere in the Co. He died Dec. 3, 1882, in his 80th year."

"Henry Miller, farmer, Walnut Twp. [Fairfield Co., O.]; son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Brumbach) Miller. He was born in Walnut Twp. Nov. 12, 1805. Abraham Miller, born in Pa., removed to Va., where he was married and came with his wife and five children to O. in the spring of 1805, settling in this township, on the place owned by David Miller, which is still owned by his heirs.

Abraham entered a half section of land and improved it. He raised a family of nine children, two living: Barbara, widow of Joseph Berry, a resident of Iowa, and Henry Miller. Abraham Miller was Justice of the Peace for a number of years. He was a member of the Mennonite Church. He died Sept. 3, 1831; his widow March 6, 1862, in her ninety-first year. Henry Miller completed his education and helped in clearing the home place. In 1826 his father gave him a one-fourth section of land. This he improved. He built a hewed log house, where his present residence stands. In 1839 he was married to Rachel Ann Biddell, who was born in this county. To that marriage have been born eight children, four of whom are living. Mrs. Miller died about 1861. Mr. Miller now owns 500 acres. He never desired office, but accepted that of township treasurer one year. In 1862 Mr. Miller was married to Mary Shane, who was born in Walnut Twp. They are the parents of three children; one living, Alma Jane, residing with her father. Mrs. Miller died in 1872. Mr. Miller is a member of the Baptist Church. He owns 160 acres of land, which he cleared. He is a self-made man." ^a

[D12] DAVID³ BRUMBACH ([D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach), b Aug. 19, 1771; Sept. 23, 1800, in Shenandoah Co., Va., was m to Rebecca Ruffner by Rev. J. Koontz, and in the records the name appears "David Brumbaugh." ^b

April 27, 1817, as an heir to the late [D3] Henry² Brumbach, the heirs then living near Lancaster, Fairfield Co., O., he signed a deed to land in Shenandoah Co., Va., ^c and a search of the histories available in the Library of Congress discloses the following interesting statements:

"David Brumbach came [to Liberty Twp., Fairfield Co., O.] in 1803 or 1804, and settled half a mile south of the present town of Baltimore, near Walnut Creek bridge, on the west side of the present pike. The farm is owned by Emanuel Rinch. Mr. Brumbach afterwards settled on Poplar Creek, where his son lives. Martin Brumbach [D49], the son, has the most extensive vineyard in the county." ^d

"Our old pioneer, David Brumbach, was the undertaker in our township. He buried, or rather made all the coffins when I was a small boy. I remember once I went with my grandfather to a funeral at Showley's, and as screws were scarce in those primitive times, nails were used to fasten down the lid of the coffin; and I heard my grandfather tell my mother this: 'Barbi, wenn ich sterbe, will ich nicht mit dem Hanmer zugenagelt sein' ('Barbara, when I die, I will not have my coffin nailed with a hammer')."^a "Cabinet makers were undertakers—he cut down a dry walnut tree, split it into puncheons, and with ax and adz dressed them down sufficient to make a rude coffin."

Marriage Records [See D11], and the latter were furnished to him by L. B. Wayland for his announced book on Rockingham Co., Va.

[D27] DAVID⁴ BRUMBACH ([D8] John³, same ancestry as [D24]), b Feb. 22, 1797; d suddenly in a hay field Aug. 1, 1833, and was buried at Johnstown, Licking Co., O.; farmer. He wrote his name Brumbach, and July 25, 1822, m Frutilda Bearnes, b March 2, 1805; dau George and Catharine (Sigler) Bearnes of Hog Run, Licking Co., O. Frutilda d July 3, 1891, aged 86, and was interred in the family vault at Van Wert, O.

Frutilda (Bearnes) Brumbach was thus left a widow at age 28, with a family of six small children, four girls and two boys, the eldest ten years old, and the two boys only six and four years old respectively. They inherited from the husband and father forty acres of wild land with a cabin upon it, near Johnstown, O. Only a small portion of this land was cleared, and the problem of subsistence was one of the most serious character for the widow to meet. She showed herself equal to the occasion, and by strict economy and wise management succeeded in bringing up her family to mature age, with the exception of the elder boy *George*⁵ [D94], who died at the age of nineteen.

The struggle for a living in those early pioneer days in Ohio was most strenuous, and many were the times when the family subsisted for days on cornmeal and potatoes. Although the good mother Frutilda had only a limited education, she realized the desirability of educating her children, and assisted them to get the common school education afforded in those days. She also trained her girls in all that goes to make good wives and mothers, so that they all married well and reared children who have been a credit to their ancestry. The boy, [D95] *John Sanford*⁵, who handed down the family name, although starting with such limited advantages, became "a man among ten thousand," with a career so successful that it is set forth at length elsewhere in this publication.

After marriage he settled on the farm of his father-in-law, 5 miles south of Newark, O., and in three years purchased the same, paying $8 per acre for it. For several years he conducted a small blacksmith shop upon the farm, also attending to the farming. Owing to a trouble with his shoulder, he abandoned blacksmithing and thereafter gave his entire time to tilling the soil and to stock raising. He gradually acquired 570 acres of excellent land.

"In educational affairs Mr. Brumbach has always maintained a deep interest. Having had no advantages in his youth, he has always been especially desirous that his children should have the best opportunities for gaining a practical education. They have amply repaid his efforts in their behalf, as they are well educated men and women, who are highly respected in their several communities. For seven years he was Comr. of Licking Co., and for one term served as J. P. "The Brumbach Family."

"The handsome estate adjoining the Pitman home, owned by this family, justifies a brief mention + + +. The family belongs to the Colonial settlers, but their first settlement was in old Frederick County, now Page. Joseph Brumbach + + made his home where his son Jacob [D243] now lives, being the old Carr homestead. There he reared his family and spent a long and useful life. He was Justice of the Peace for several terms. + + + Dr. Isaac Milton⁵ Brumbach [D246], living in the same neighborhood ('on the Cedar Creek Grade,' p. 482), is well known. He has one son, a physician, and also several (other) children."*

"The Glebe, often called the Glade, was a celebrated tract of land lying on the west side of the old Cartmell and Froman roads. One part of it is owned by Mr. Andrew Brumbach. This tract occasioned much trouble. When the first Vestry was formed in Frederick Co., a certain survey was designated as the Glebe land, to be known as the property of the Established Church (Episcopal). All revenues to be for the use of the vestry towards the 'living of the Minister.' In 1754 Nathaniel Carr obtained a grant from Fairfax, and located where the old Pitman property is now seen. Later on he built a house where Jacob Brumbach now lives. Carr's grant lapped over the Glebe. He and the vestry compromised, Carr paying a nominal rent, and was the virtual owner. He sold a portion of his grant and included part of the Glebe to Peter Gilham in 1777. At this time the vestry was so demoralized by changed conditions in their church, brought about by the war then in progress, that the tenants were forgotten; and the Glebe was regarded for many years as the property of the Gilham estate. Titles to the Glebe were disputed for many years. Col. Carr, as he was called, retained over 1,200 acres of land at a cost of one dollar per acre. Several well-known homesteads were founded from this tract."*

[D95] JOHN SANFORD⁵ BRUMBACK ([D27] David⁴, same ancestry as [D91]), b March 4, 1829; d Dec. 11, 1897, and was buried in the family vault built by himself at Van Wert, Van Wert Co., O. He was a remarkable man. Having been brought up by a widowed mother under the most trying circumstances, he was trained to a life of frugality and taught from childhood how to battle with the world. Being compelled from boyhood to depend upon himself and to labor for those he loved, he was one of those strong, self-reliant, generous men who win the affection of those who know them and make the world better for their having lived.

John Sanford early showed such self-reliance, sagacity and good judgment that at ten years of age he plowed the fields, and at fourteen attended to all the family's financial affairs. At eighteen, with only fifty dollars' capital, he succeeded in obtaining credit sufficient to open a country store in Ashley, O. In this he was so successful that at the end of five years he had accumulated two or three thousand dollars, with an income to justify his getting married.

May 26, 1852, at Ashley, Delaware Co., O., he m Ellen Perlina Purmort, b Aug. 10, 1832, at Jay, N. Y., and a school teacher at the former place; dau of Minor and Perlina Nettleton. Her father was s of Joshua and Eunice (Walworth) Purmort, Joshua Purmort being a descendant of New England ancestors of that name, and his w Eunice Walworth being a descendant of the old New England Walworth family.*

The Purmort Genealogy gives the following reference to her life:^b

"Ellen Purmort, born at Jay, N. Y., August 10, 1832. She was the oldest child of Minor No. 45 and Perlina Nettleton, his wife. She went with them to Kempville, Canada, when eight years old, and later to Berlin, Delaware County, Ohio, in the summer of 1847. She taught a term or two of school at Berlin, and became noted as the little teacher who could manage the rude, rough boys. Upon the death of her mother in 1850 the care and responsibility of the large family fell upon her young shoulders, which burden she kindly and successfully assumed for two years. As the oldest in the large family of children, she had passed through all the trials and burdens of her parents in their losses and removals and sad experiences, yet she kept a happy heart and was her father's helper in those heavy years. JOHN SANFORD⁵ BRUMBACK [D95].

ELLEN PERLINA (PURMORT) BROWNBACK [D95].

Ashley, Delaware County, Ohio, she was married to John Sanford Brumback, a merchant at Ashley. Owing to poor health of her husband, they moved on a farm on the Old State Road north of Worthington, Ohio, where they lived for two years. They then moved to Casey, Clark County, Illinois, where Mr. Brumback again engaged in mercantile business and succeeded very well. In the spring of 1852 they moved to Van Wert, Ohio, a new and undeveloped country at that time, and there they made their home and have lived ever since. Mr. Brumback was a shrewd, thrifty business man, and became at Van Wert a man of influence and wealth. Beginning as a poor boy, he made his way up the ladder to a noted financial success."

The loving and sacrificing nature of Mrs. Brumback and her husband was well shown when her parents died shortly after her marriage, and they took into their own home her five young brothers and sisters, for whom she and her good husband made a home and brought up two of them as their own children to lives of usefulness. What this meant in the early days when the wife of a household did most of her own work can hardly be appreciated in these days of labor-saving appliances and small families.

When her husband moved to the farm, he employed two and sometimes three or four farm hands to help him on the farm. Mrs. Brumback did most of the housework and had a hired girl to help her only part of the time. She tells how she would bake six loaves of bread a day for the large family of seven and hired help, and that they would eat a whole sheep in three or four days.

About this time her eldest son, Orville, was born, so that the young wife's life was not an easy one; but she was happy and uncomplaining, and her untiring efforts to help her husband doubtless brought the good health that now rewards her with a happy old age.

One of those unselfish, self-sacrificing characters who think of others more than of themselves, she was a loving, faithful mother, and an unfailing inspiration and helpmate to her good husband until his death. It was her wise counsel and frugality that enabled him to accumulate his ample fortune. The fact is that few men who start in life without a fortune ever succeed in acquiring one unless they have wives to help them who are willing to work and economize. Certainly none do when the fortune comes through safe business methods without speculation. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brumback were a happy, congenial pair, and the world helped them because they helped themselves—by living sober, prudent, industrious lives. They lived as a husband and wife should—she as an unfailing inspiration and helpmate to the husband, and he a loving, tender husband to the wife.

In 1858 he removed to Casey, Clark Co., Ill., where he again embarked in a country store business with such success that when in the spring of 1862 he moved his family to Van Wert, O., he brought with him $5,000 in gold which he and his good wife had accumulated by careful economy.

Van Wert County was then a new and thinly settled country. Mr. Brumback embarked in the dry goods business, and used such good judgment and so won the confidence of the people and made such wise investments, that he gradually increased his fortune until in 1884 he sold out his dry goods business and became president of the Van Wert National Bank.

As a banker Mr. Brumback was careful, conservative and withal progressive. He became well known all over Northwestern Ohio, and became one of the leading citizens of that section. He helped create and finance many enterprises of great value to the people, notably the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railway (now part of the Big Four system), which he undertook when it seemed Ohio was about to lose this valuable adjunct to its prosperity. He never was identified with a failure, and so when he took hold the people knew it would be a success, and gave it the hearty assistance it so greatly needed. Mr. Brumback was prominent in many other large enterprises in Northwestern Ohio, such as The Central Manufacturers' Insurance Company, and a Toledo Street Railway Company, which he likewise started on the road of prosperity when collapse was imminent to the great loss and damage of large numbers of people.

Space forbids further details of Mr. Brumback's large and active business career. It is sufficient to say that seldom has any man ever carried on a more upright business career, and no man ever more enjoyed the entire confidence of the people.

In his later years Mr. Brumback's generous heart, always seeking to do good for his fellowmen, prompted him to found a public library for his native town. It was before Mr. Carnegie had entered upon his library career, and the idea of building and donating a public library building was not so common then as now. Mr. Brumback, after consulting with the members of his family and being encouraged by them, had plans prepared for a fine library building to be located in a particularly beautiful park in Van Wert; but when the plans were about perfected he was taken seriously sick and shortly died. Finding he would not be able to carry out his library plans, he called his son Orville⁶, a lawyer in Toledo, to his home in Van Wert, and there after fully discussing the project with the members of his family, his will was drawn, providing for a library that would forever be a monument to the Brumback name.

But even in so important a matter as this the loving, sympathetic, self-sacrificing heart of the man was shown by the fact that he ordered his will so drawn that any one of the heirs could defeat the project if not willing to join in the expense.

Another feature of the will is the unique idea, undoubtedly original with Mr. Brumbach, of having the library benefits extended to the whole county, so that the country folks as well as the town folks could reap the benefits. This idea has been carried out with the greatest success, and the Brumbach Library has the proud distinction of being the first County Library ever inaugurated. At this date (December, 1910) the library has fifteen sub-stations, located in different parts of Van Wert County, bringing the books within walking distance of all the farmers' homes. A small salary is paid to each person having charge of a sub-station, and books are delivered at each station in traveling boxes, which contain 125 books each. They start at Station No. 1, and in turn are sent to each of the other stations before being returned to the Central Library. The school teachers over the county, some fifty in number, are also supplied with books for their pupils, and annually circulate a large number of instructive books among the children. The interest taken by the country people and benefits they derive are shown by the great number of books drawn from the sub-stations.

The terms of the will under which the Brumbach Library was built are of such interest that it is given in full:

LAST WILL OF [D95] JOHN SANFORD⁵ BRUMBACH.

In the name of the Benevolent Father of all, I, J. S. Brumbach, of Van Wert, Ohio, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do make and publish this my last Will and Testament.

It is my will and I do give and devise and bequeath all my property, both real and personal, as follows:

Item 1. I do give, devise and bequeath all my property, both real and personal and mixed, to my dear wife, Ellen P. Brumbach, so long as she may live, she to have and enjoy all the income from the same so long as she may live. If it becomes necessary for her comfort and best welfare to use any part of the principal it is my will that she may do so in so far as it may be absolutely necessary for her personal comfort and best welfare.

The foregoing bequest and devise to my said beloved wife to be in lieu of her dower estate in my property.

It is my further will and devise that my said wife leave the management and control of all my said property to my living children (a majority controlling), so long as they profitably manage the same.

Item 2. I do give, devise and bequeath to my dear children, Orville S. Brumbach, David L. Brumbach, Estelle B. Reed, and Saida M. Brumbach, per stirpes, all my property, both real, personal and mixed, in fee simple and absolutely, subject, however, to the life estate of my dear wife, Ellen P. Brumback, and conditions thereof as contained in Item I.

Any notes that I hold against any of my said children by way of advancement to them to be taken out of his or her respective share (without interest).

Item 3. Feeling a great regard for my fellow townsmen of Van Wert, Ohio, and affection for the said city, in which I have spent so many happy years of my life, I have long contemplated a gift to them of a Library Building as a token of my affection and regard. In that behalf I have had plans prepared for such a building, but owing to the condition of my health have not been permitted to enter upon its construction. It is my will and desire that my said dear wife and children expend sufficient of my estate willed to them in Items 1 and 2 to carry out my wishes known to them by the erection and gift of a library building, something after the plans and designs I have had prepared for that purpose; Provided and this item is upon the express condition, that my said wife and children can make arrangements satisfactory to them with the said City of Van Wert, or if they desire and think best, with Van Wert County, for a location for said building and the maintenance of the library to be placed therein.

Item 4. It is my will that my said dear wife and children, or so many of them as may desire to qualify, act as executors of my estate, without giving bond or having any appraisement thereof. I know they will not fail to carry out my wishes herein stated, whether sufficiently stated in law or not.

In witness whereof, I, the said J. S. Brumback, have hereunto set my name and do declare and publish this instrument as my last will at Van Wert, Ohio, this the 29th day of March, A. D. 1897.

J. S. BRUMBACK. [Seal]

When, after Mr. Brumback's death (Dec. 11, 1897) the heirs came to arrange a contract with the County of Van Wert for the maintenance of the library after it was started, it was found there was no law in Ohio under which a contract could be executed. This afforded an excellent pretext for the heirs or any one of them to have declined to go further, but they all inherited a good deal of the Brumback loyalty, and so set about it to get a law enacted to give the County Commissioners power to act. Orville S.⁶ Brumback prepared a bill to introduce in the Legislature, and, with the assistance of prominent men all over the State, the Van Wert people succeeded in having it enacted into a law as follows:

A BILL

To supplement Section 891 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio, so as to provide for the acceptance of Bequests, Donations, and Gifts for Public Libraries, and to Equip and Maintain the same.

HOME OF JOHN SANFORD⁵ BRUMBACK [D95], VAN WERT, O., BUILT BY HIM,

THE BRUMBACK LIBRARY, VAN WERT, O.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, that Section 891, of the Revised Statutes of Ohio, be supplemented so as to read as follows:

SECTION 891 (a). The Commissioners may receive a bequest, donation, or gift of a building, or property wherewith to construct a building for a County Public Library in the county-seat of the county; and may enter into an agreement on behalf of the county to provide and maintain a Public Library therein. Any county accepting such bequest, donation or gift shall be bound to faithfully carry out the agreement so made to provide and maintain such Library.

SECTION 2. The Commissioners of any such county are hereby authorized, at the March or June session each year, to levy a tax of not exceeding one mill on each dollar of taxable property of such county, and the fund derived from such levy shall constitute a special fund to be known as Library Fund, and shall be used for no purpose other than is contemplated in this section.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.—(Sec. 93, Ohio Laws, 355.)

The next step was to accomplish an agreement with the County Commissioners that would forever insure the maintenance of the library upon a broad basis and provide ample funds for carrying it on in a way to enable it to accomplish all that such a library ought to accomplish. How the negotiations were carried on to this end, and the terms of the contract as finally agreed to, is best told by The Van Wert Republican, in its issue of Thursday, July 28, 1898:

THE BRUMBACK'S MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Offered the People of Van Wert County. Conditions Upon Which This Great Gift Is Made.

"For several months, those who have the welfare of Van Wert County people at heart, have been anxiously inquiring what was being done toward accepting the late J. S. Brumback's magnificent gift to the county of a fine library building. Owing to the absence of Hon. O. S. Brumback in the West, the matter was delayed somewhat, and nothing was done until his return. The heirs have now submitted to the citizens of Van Wert County a contract, and, upon the signing of which, they are prepared to proceed to erect and furnish a Public Library building that any county in the State may feel proud of, costing upward of $50,000 to be presented to the county of Van Wert free of all incumbrances. The heirs of the late J. S. Brumback, desiring that his liberal gift should be of a personal benefit to every person in the county, have wisely determined to offer it to the entire county. The only condition they make is that first, the representatives of the people of the county and the Board of County Commissioners enter into an agreement to care for the building after they have received it. The town council of Van Wert is asked to enter into the contract, inasmuch as they control in part, the proposed site, the Second Ward park. Let it be distinctly understood that the town of Van Wert has never had the offer of this magnificent gift, does not now, and we fear never will, only in common with the county. The heirs have concluded to offer it to 30,000 people and not limit its benefits to 8,000. The Van Wert Library Association is ready to donate its little library of nearly 2,000 volumes as well as other properties as a starter for a good county library. We understand if the offer is accepted and the building erected, that local librarians will be appointed in every district in the county and that the rules and regulations will be made such that the people living in the remotest part of the county may borrow just as many books to read at their homes as those living nearest the building.

The progressive farmers of our county have already, at their meetings, expressed their readiness to accept so generous a gift, and are willing to pay their mite to maintain the building. Copy of the contract given below has been presented the Ladies' Library Association, the Board of County Commissioners, and the Common Council of Van Wert. There is no reason whatever why any member of these bodies should hesitate to sign the contract on behalf of the people. We fear this may be the last opportunity to accept or reject, and if they fail to sign the contract Van Wert county people may forever lose the privilege of receiving a gift, which if accepted, will be greatly appreciated not only by the present generation, but thousands yet to be, will express their gratitude for so great an inheritance. We look for prompt action to be taken in the matter, and it is a settled fact that all who bend their efforts to secure such a gift for Van Wert county will be forever considered as benefactors of the people of our county.

Van Wert, Ohio, July 16, 1898.

To the Ladies' Library Association, the Board of County Commissioners of Van Wert County, Ohio, and the Common Council of The City of Van Wert, Ohio.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

To carry out the will of the late J. S. Brumbach, we hand you herewith a copy of an agreement we have prepared providing for the construction of a Library Building in the Second Ward Park of Van Wert, Ohio, and for the maintenance therein of a free public library for the benefit of the citizens of Van Wert County, Ohio.

We have endeavored by the terms of the contract to insure the success of the library when the building is erected in accordance with the designs which Mr. Brumbach had prepared for it.

We request that your respective bodies give the matter your early consideration and advise us if the terms meet your approval.

We believe such a library will prove so great a success that other counties in the State will in a few years acquire like institutions.

Assuring you of our desire to facilitate the project in every reasonable way, we remain, sincerely yours,

ELLEN P. BRUMBACH,
ORVILLE S. BRUMBACH,
DAVID L. BRUMBACH,
ESTELLE B. REED,
SAIDA M. BRUMBACH.

AGREEMENT.

WHEREAS, The will of the late J. S. Brumbach provides as follows:

"Feeling a great regard for my fellow townsmen of Van Wert, Ohio, and affection for the said city, in which I have spent so many happy years of my life, I have long contemplated a gift to them of a library building as a token of my affection and regard. In that behalf I have had plans prepared for such a building, but owing to the condition of my health have not been permitted to enter upon its construction. It is my will and desire that my said dear wife and children expend sufficient of my estate willed to them in items one and two to carry out my wishes known to them, by the erection and gift of a library building, something after the plans and designs I have had prepared for that purpose; provided and this item is upon the express condition that my said wife and children can make arrangements satisfactory to them with the said city of Van Wert, and if they desire and think best, with Van Wert County, for a location for said building and the maintenance of the Library to be placed therein."

AND WHEREAS, The heirs of the estate of the said J. S. Brumbach are unanimous in their desire to fully carry out his wishes as expressed in his will;

AND WHEREAS, A free public library would be of inestimable benefit to the people of Van Wert County, Ohio, and afford to them, their children, and descendants most valuable privileges and educational advantages;

Now, therefore, For the purpose of carrying out the will of the said J. S. Brumbach, to establish a free public library for the people of Van Wert County, Ohio, and to provide for the proper equipment and maintenance thereof,

And the parties of the first part further agree to turn over and donate on behalf of the said J. S. Brumback's estate said library building, so built and constructed, to the County of Van Wert, Ohio, free of all encumbrances or charges thereon, to be held by said county and used for library and educational purposes only.

In consideration of the receipt of the said library building and the donation thereof as aforesaid to the County of Van Wert, Ohio,

Said library fund so to be raised by said tax shall constitute a special fund in the hands of the Treasurer of Van Wert County, Ohio, to be drawn upon only by the Board of Trustees of said library as hereinafter provided.

The proposition was duly accepted as stated by the Van Wert Bulletin in its issue of August 1, 1898, as follows:

GIFT ACCEPTED.

The Brumback Library Building Will Be Erected.—The County Commissioners Give Unanimous Consent for Its Maintenance.

At the office of the Van Wert County Commissioners, on Saturday last, one of the most important meetings ever held in this county assembled and its acts have passed into history. The proceedings will adorn a bright page. They are an honor to those who took part in them. They secure to this county an educational distinction possessed by few in the State and by no other county in the prosperous northwest. At the same time, they give to all, old and young, in town and country, benefits which are an auxiliary to and in harmony and sympathy with our peerless public school system.

The County Commissioners, by this act, have honored themselves, have made a record to which they can point with pride in all time to come, and which will grow in popularity as the years roll on, by saying "Yes"—every man of the same opinion—to the proposition of the heirs of the late John Sanford Brumback, to carry out a stipulation of the will of their father, which provides for the gift to Van Wert County of a public library building, of magnificent proportions, fully furnished and equipped for the purpose for which it is intended—the home of a free public library. It is the most valuable gift ever bestowed upon the citizens of Van Wert County, and will remain for all time a monument to the generosity of the donor, an embellishment to our magnificent parks, a lasting benefit to every citizen of the county.

The following account of the cornerstone laying appeared in the Toledo Daily Blade Tuesday, July 18, 1899:

THE BRUMBACK MEMORIAL.

Laying of the Cornerstone at Van Wert To-Day.—Beginning of the Beautiful Building for the Brumback Memorial County Library.

[Special Telegram to The Blade.]

VAN WERT, O., July 18.—The cornerstone of the Brumback Memorial County Library, a building that will cost $50,000, donated to the county of Van Wert by the late J. S. Brumback, president of the Van Wert National Bank, was laid to-day in Second Ward Park, Van Wert. The ceremonies were conducted under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, F. & A. M., Grand Master Nelson Williams acting as master of ceremonies.

The event was made a county affair in every particular. Every fraternal organization in the county was well represented. A grand parade of lodges and citizens, headed by several bands, marched and counter-marched through the principal streets of the city. It was a grand spectacle, showing in a measure the appreciation of Van Wert County citizens for a gift that any county in this rich country of ours might well feel proud of. The exercises consisted of several selections by Heistand's band; prayer by Rev. J. A. Gordon; oration by Rev. A. J. Fish; selections by Venedocia Club; address by Hon. O. S. Brumback of Toledo; proclamation by the Grand Marshal; prayer by the Grand Chaplain; presentation of a silver trowel to the Past Grand Master; invocation by the Worshipful Master; Masonic ceremonies; lowering of the stone; laying of the same, and an oration by Grand Master Nelson Williams. The ceremonies and exercises throughout were impressive and grand.

One of the provisions of this magnificent gift was that it was to be maintained by the county and every citizen in the county was to share equally of its benefits. A general law was passed by the last legislature authorizing county commissioners to accept similar gifts and empowering them to enter into a contract for the maintenance of the same by levying a small tax on all the taxable property of the county.

The Brumback library will be one of the finest buildings for library purposes possessed by an American city. No town in this great State of Ohio can equal it. It is erected throughout of the most costly and lasting material, and is a lasting monument to its donor and a grand memorial to the liberality and faithfulness of his heirs, who so nobly carry out his wishes. The ceremonies held in the city of Van Wert to-day will long be remembered by all who participated.

The address of Hon. O. S. Brumback, of Toledo, was as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen, Friends of Van Wert County:—There are occasions in the affairs of men, of nations and of communities which mark epochs in their history. To-day marks an epoch in the history of Van Wert County. Fifty years ago this county was a primeval wilderness, inundated by water that had no sufficient outlet. This beautiful park was formerly a swamp from the overflow of the neighboring stream, and even here where we now stand I have, in my boyhood days, fished in summer waters, and in winter skated on unyielding ice.

"It has only been by years of tireless toil and unremitting industry that Van Wert County has been redeemed from swamp and beast and forest, until it has become the garden spot of Ohio. When the genial summer sun kisses her loamy soil and the 'tears of Nature' fall upon her fertile fields—

'Every clod feels a stir of might,
An instinct within it that reaches and towers,
And, groping blindly above it for light,
Climbs to a soul in grass and flowers.'

"With such a metamorphose to accomplish in the face of nature, with all the privations consequent upon such work, it is little wonder the mass of the people have had but scanty opportunity for higher education. The schoolhouses which dot the townships, and the church spires towering amid the groves and meadows, all give proof that the people of Van Wert County have been awake to the need of early education tempered with righteousness. But it is reserved for to-day to inaugurate an era of the broadest education and the widest culture for all the people.

"In laying the cornerstone of this library we are taking steps to place the knowledge and wisdom of all the ages within the reach of the humblest citizen and his children.

"Edward Everett said: 'It is our common schools which give the key of knowledge to the mass of the people. Our common schools are important in the same way as the common air, the common rain, the common sunshine, invaluable for their commonness.'

"Carrying forward these beautiful analogies, we may well add, it is our public libraries that form the repositories of knowledge, ready for the application of the key of knowledge. Our public libraries are important in the same way as the public parks, the public highways, the public government, invaluable for their publicity.

"The common school system can only afford a preparatory education for the youth of our land. To utilize and make the most of that education is the work of a lifetime after leaving the public schools. And here is where the public library opens wide its doors to freely offer its treasures of learning.

"When Abraham Lincoln was a poor country boy yearning for that higher education by which alone he could aspire to lead his fellowmen, his opportunities for acquiring knowledge were so limited, it is almost miraculous he persevered in his purpose until he became the savior of his country, the emancipator of a race.

"Alas, how many minds equally bright have become discouraged under such conditions and given up a higher education through lack of opportunity!

"That the people of this country are willing to tax themselves for the growth and maintenance of a library speaks volumes for their intelligence. It shows they realize that just in proportion to the advantages offered will Van Wert County afford a desirable place to live, and every acre of land and every piece of property thereby proportionately increased in value. It shows they realize that success in life comes not from accident, but from intelligent action based on the wisdom and experience of those who have lived before.

"The public library gathers the books in which are stored this wealth of human knowledge; and there the people of every occupation, creed and profession can go to learn the best method to accomplish the best results. It is not too much to say that under the inspiration of such a work, under the inspiration of such an institution, generation after generation will reap boundless benefit from the Brumbach library.

"He whose name it bears was himself an example of what the poor country boy can accomplish by high aspirations and intelligent, faithful industry. He himself realized what it was to be debarred from the higher education through lack of opportunity, and in the liberality of his generous heart, with true philanthropy, he willed that Van Wert County boys and girls—the sons and daughters of his old friends and associates, should have opportunity second to none in the land. When that is accomplished, John Sanford Brumbach will not have lived in vain.

"And when in the future under the beneficent example of Van Wert County other counties in Ohio, yea, the counties of other States, shall have followed in our footsteps and laid cornerstones of county libraries, to Van Wert County will belong the meed of praise as leader in a glorious work. Though young in years, she will be among the foremost in achievement.

"And when in the widening brotherhood of man, every one shall feel he is his brother's keeper; when each shall know that all he is or can be he owes his fellowmen, and in return stands charged with a debt of gratitude only to be repaid by the happiness he secures for others; when all society realizes that by higher education, a better, nobler, broader civilization can be attained, in which the happiness of each is best secured by the happiness of all; then will come 'peace on earth, good will to men.' Then the era upon which we are now entering of humanity for humanity will have accomplished its full fruition, and the cornerstones of public libraries will not have been laid in vain.

"And each shall care for other,
And each to each shall bend,
To the poor a noble brother,
To the good an equal friend."

It took a year and a half to build and complete the library, and on New Year's Day, 1901, it was ready to be dedicated. The following is the program of the exercises:

THE BRUMBACK LIBRARY.

Dedicated Tuesday, January 1, 1901.

An appreciative audience of grateful people filled every foot of space in the large auditorium of the First M. E. Church, New Year's afternoon, to participate in the exercises attendant on the dedication of the Brumback County Library Building—the grandest gift ever bestowed upon the people of this county. Long before two o'clock, the time announced the exercises would commence, standing room was at a premium. As we looked over the sea of faces it was indeed a delight to notice not only the splendid representation of the citizens of Van Wert, but also among the throng in large numbers the citizens of the various townships of our county, for the library belongs to them as much as to the citizens of the town. It was a day upon which the boy of the farm and the boy of the city alike cherished their fondest hopes of having equal rights and privileges to enter the portals of a storehouse of knowledge far grander and superior in every way than had the most ambitious ever expected to enter.

Turn where you will from the Norman Conquest, along the whole course of English history, and you will find the source of strength of the English-speaking race lies largely in their love of books; and so the habits of mind and of morals engendered in the citizens of our county by their great love for the noblest and the best were never better demonstrated than by their presence from every section of our county at the dedicatory exercises. They all realize that books are the strength of individuals and nations.

All the time the Brumback Library has been in course of construction the interest of the people has increased, until to-day the splendid building bequeathed to the county through the generosity of John Sanford Brumback is the pride of all, and as we review it all it is no wonder that strangers from other States in the throng Tuesday afternoon and evening wished that they, too, lived in this town and county to enjoy in the fullest measure the benefits to be derived from such an institution.

The Rev. James A. Gordon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, presided over the exercises, and the splendid musical portion of the program was under the direction of W. H. Hiestand, who conducted a mixed chorus, accompanied by Moebus' Orchestra. Hiestand's Band played during the reception in the building in the evening. A very pleasing feature of the afternoon exercises was the two solos rendered by Mr. Charles W. Clark, a Van Wert boy, who has delighted audiences at home and abroad. He is always welcomed home, but never more cordially than this time, when he voluntarily came home to help our people sing the songs of joy upon receiving such a handsome present on the dawn of the twentieth century.

Rev. Gordon, in his introductory remarks, spoke as follows:

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I do not believe that in all the world there will be a celebration of the new year, or the new century, more significant and typical of the spirit of progress that marks the age than we are having here to-day. Here, where a hundred years ago was an unbroken wilderness, the home of savages and wild beasts, we dedicate to-day a temple of civilization and knowledge, noble in the spirit that prompted it, classic in its architectural beauty, and complete in all its appointments. As one who has been interested in the library from its inception and who participated in the cornerstone laying, I rejoice in this proud day for the people of Van Wert County. I have the honor to introduce the exercises of this afternoon. We have a rich and varied program and while it is somewhat lengthy, this is an event which will never occur again, and I am sure you will all give patient attention to the speakers."

Presentation Address by Hon. O. S. Brumbach, of Toledo.

The following splendid address of presentation of the building by Hon. O. S. Brumbach, of Toledo, the eldest son of the generous donor, needs no word of commendation. Words are inadequate to express the gratitude of our people and their feeling as they listened to the revelations herein contained:

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—Men may come and men may go, but their thoughts inscribed in books live after them. Books afford the true transmigration of souls, since in them the minds of men live on long after their bodies have returned to dust. A library is a mausoleum of the souls of great men and women who have lived on earth, and the open doors of a public library are a standing invitation to enter and become acquainted with them. He who accepts the invitation should tread lightly and with awe, for there the learning of the ages awaits his call. The scintillating wit, the flights of eloquence, and the rhythmic pathos of the human race there surround him; and there the hopes and fears, the sorrows and joys, the failures and successes of mankind for centuries are portrayed to him who reads.

"The pleasure, the satisfaction, the profit, that books afford cannot be overstated. Do you desire to ponder over the glorious achievements of men? Gibbon, Macauley, Bancroft and all the rest will detail with faithful accuracy the history of the past. Do you desire to revel in imaginary scenes of human life? Dickens, Scott, Thackeray, Cooper and hundreds of others will lead you through scenes and bring you face to face with characters, so true to life that you forget it is all a fiction of the brain. Do you desire to wander through Elysian fields where poesy lulls the senses into sweet content? Then Shakespeare, Byron, Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, or other of the hundred bards will carry you away on the wings of ecstasy, until with Wordsworth you feel—

"For ever something is or seems,
That touches us with mystic gleams,
Like glimpses of forgotten dreams."

"Long days become as hours, and dull hours fly unnoticed, when rapture thrills the heart, and the weary brain forgets its tribulations in the entrancement of a good author.

"Assembled as we are to-day, to dedicate a temple to literature, the mind spontaneously recurs to all that books are to man.

"After printing was invented, books at first were to be found only in the convents of mediæval times, ponderous in size and crude in form. Learning was then confined to the priesthood, few among the people could read, and inability to write, even among the nobility, caused the use of a signet seal.

"From the convents, books gradually spread into the hands of the people, until at the time of the Colonial Period in America most families had one or more books, commonly a Bible with a few others. Books being so precious, favored was he who had access to a few volumes, and happy was the one who had a small library at his command. Because of the scarcity and value of books, no one was able to acquire a library of much magnitude, and from the very necessity of the situation, following the Colonial Period came the Institutional Period, from about 1638 to 1731, when libraries were to be found in Harvard, Princeton, Yale and other early colleges.

BRUMBACK AT 50.

"In 1731 began a Co-operative Period, in which men and families clubbed together in cities and villages to form libraries of their own. This lasted until 1854, when the Free Public Library Period was inaugurated by Boston opening a library free to all who sought admission. From Boston they have spread over the country, until to-day nearly every city of note in the United States, and many villages as well, have their free public libraries to promote education and intellectual growth.

"The remarkable spread of knowledge in the United States is directly ascribable to these public libraries, acting in conjunction with the public schools. The wonder of Europe is the amazing progress of the United States, accomplished by enterprise, inventive genius and intellectual superiority. And yet these are but the product of our schools and libraries, sending forth inventors, poets, authors, statesmen, jurists and divines.

"A boy of humble parentage comes out of our public schools, he applies himself assiduously to master the books free at hand, and lo! a Lincoln, a Blaine, a Beecher, a Morse, or an Edison lives to elevate and glorify the race.

"Or perhaps a boy after leaving the public school goes to work at a bench, in a factory, or upon a farm, or enters upon a business career; with a library at hand and wise use of his time he grows in knowledge, his wisdom sheds its light upon his fellowmen, and his fraternal spirit warms all with whom he comes in contact. Honest, faithful and true to all the duties of life, he may remain a quiet, unobtrusive citizen, content to fill a humble sphere in life. But 'tis such as these make up American citizenship. 'Tis such as these that form the anchor and stay of American institutions.

"John Sherman wrote to a young friend: 'Learn to love your books, for there is pleasure, friendship and instruction in books.'

"The public library instills a love for books by creating a taste for reading, and a taste for reading is a taste of Paradise. Happy indeed is he who can say from his heart:

"My books are friends, whose cheerful greeting
Delight my heart with each new meeting;
With them I take the greatest pleasure;
Enjoy their wit in fullest measure.
Whene'er I feel the need, or yearning,
For knowledge, wisdom, counsel, learning,
I steal away to quiet nooks
To interview my faithful books."*

"Every citizen—even the humblest—can enter the public library with a sense of ownership, for it is maintained by his own contribution with that of others. He feels that he is at home and entitled to share the privileges which surround him. The people of a community animated by such a spirit soon become a reading community, and a reading community soon becomes an educated community.

"In 1890 some of the prominent ladies of Van Wert, realizing the great good to be derived from a library free to all who would aid in the enterprise, incorporated The Van Wert Library Association. Without books or money, except such as they could hope to secure from donations, the prospect of success was anything but flattering. But nothing daunted, the ladies entered vigorously upon the work. They canvassed the town for subscriptions and gave entertainments in aid of the project until a nucleus of a circulating library was formed. Any person who contributed $3.00 each year was permitted to share in the use of the library. So heartily were they encouraged in the work, and so enthusiastic and persevering were they in their efforts, that at the end of the first year they had a collection of 600 books, placed in charge of a lady librarian in a general reading room rented by the association for library purposes. The annual dues paid by the patrons of the library were only sufficient to pay the running expenses, leaving but scant means to add new books. Notwithstanding many and varied discouragements, the ladies persevered in their good work until the library became so generally appreciated that in 1896 the Common Council of Van Wert voted a tax of three-tenths of a mill in aid of the Library; realizing about $575 annually for that purpose. This served to pay running expenses, and, together with the money realized from the dues of patrons, furnished a small income upon which the library could be maintained.

"The field for the work was, however, so much larger than the means wherewith to accomplish it, and the future was so dependent upon constant and unremitting effort, that the ladies, although justly proud of what had been accomplished, might well feel apprehensive for the future when their personal efforts should cease. A like library established some years before had finally gone into bankruptcy, and it was only too apparent that this also might fail if not placed upon a firm and enduring foundation.

"It was at this stage that the will of John Sanford Brumbach was made public, providing for the gift to the people of Van Wert County of a splendid building in which to forever maintain a free public library, by the following clause in the will:

"It is my will and desire that my said dear wife and children expend sufficient of my estate willed to them in items one and two to carry out my wishes known to them by the erection and gift of a library building, somewhat after the plans and designs I have prepared for that purpose; Provided and this item is upon the express condition that my said wife and children can make arrangements satisfactory to them with the City of Van Wert, or if they desire and think best, with Van Wert County, for a location for said building and the maintenance of the library to be placed therein."

"Before going to what has been accomplished under this provision, let us take a cursory view of the life of the man who made possible the firm establishment of a public library in Van Wert County to bless present and future generations.

"John Sanford Brumbach was born on a farm in Licking County, Ohio, on the 4th day of March, 1829. His father descended from an old Virginia family of German extraction, the progenitor of which had emigrated to America in early Colonial days. His mother's name was Frutilda Bearnese, her parents having emigrated to Ohio from Pennsylvania at an early day. From her he inherited many of his sterling qualities of mind and heart.

"When he was four years old his father died, leaving his mother a legacy of six young children and forty acres of undeveloped land, having a log house upon it. With nothing to rear and educate her four girls and two boys except what could be produced from the soil of this wild land, his mother, like others of that day, no whit discouraged, set bravely to work to eke out a precarious livelihood. In a few years she was called upon to mourn her eldest son. No other course remained but for herself and four daughters to make their own living, aided only by John's efforts. Unable to spare her only boy from his work except in the winter season, John's early education consisted of the crude instruction received in a country school during the few winters he was privileged to attend school at all. He was quick to learn and acquired even in this short time the rudiments of an education that added to and rounded out by a lifetime of close observation and keen perception made him a man of general information and broad intelligence.

"Had J. S. Brumbach received a liberal education, such as most boys receive now days, there is no station in life his natural ability, industrious habits and moral worth would not have eminently fitted him to fill.

"As illustrative of his self-reliance and capability, even in early life, I often have heard his mother tell how she entrusted him at the age of ten years to drive to market the farm produce the family had to sell, which he disposed of with rare judgment for one of his years. He was as good a horse trader at fifteen as David Harum himself. His mother used to say she never knew what horse John would bring home. It was sufficient for her that he rarely, if ever, got the worst of a bargain. He laughingly told me that he never got beaten in a horse trade but once, and that was when he traded a horse for a cow—and the cow died.

"The commercial instinct thus early aroused, he left the farm and entered the grocery business at the early age of seventeen. The only capital he had was $50 his mother had saved up, which she willingly entrusted to him. On this he went to Cincinnati, and so won the confidence of wholesale dealers by his frank and manly bearing that they trusted him to enough goods to open up a small country store. It is needless to say that from this small beginning his after success and fortune was attained. Attained by honorable, upright dealing. It was never said of J. S. Brumbach that he was otherwise than perfectly fair, honest and just in every business transaction.

"No man ever acquired wealth and position in a community without arousing the jealousy of some less fortunate. And yet, although J. S. Brumbach did business in Van Wert for over 35 years, first in the dry goods business and then as a banker, never was he accused of making a dollar dishonestly. He was shrewd, far-seeing, and expected every man to fulfill his contracts, but unjust or oppressive—never.

"His heart was as tender as a child's; his sympathy went out to the needy and distressed. And many in Van Wert County will bear me witness that when J. S. Brumbach had it in his power to profit greatly by their misfortunes, he did not do so, but instead helped them out of trouble at no small cost of time and effort to himself.

"His judgment was so wise and perception so unerring that his opinion was constantly sought by people in all walks of life. No one appealed to him in vain for assistance in a righteous cause; whether it was alms to the poor, aid to his relations, encouragement to the down-hearted, succor to the unfortunate, or a donation for the public good, he always gave freely when merit demanded. In short, in the words of Shakespeare:

"His life was gentle; and the elements
So mixed in him, that nature might stand up
And say to all the world—this is a man."

"Such a man, with such a heart full of philanthropy, could not die without remembering his fellowmen, if it could be accomplished in justice to his own family, toward whom he recognized his first duty. So when he came to draw his will, he did not conceal what he had in mind and secretly consult a lawyer, but openly, as he had lived, he called his family around him and freely expressed his thoughts. He said he had long felt like doing something for Van Wert, and that he knew of no way in which so much good could come to his old friends and associates and their children as through a public library. He said:

"I would like to firmly establish for them such an institution, if you are all willing. If any of you feel I ought not to do so, I will dismiss it from my thoughts."

"It is sufficient to say that in the discussion which followed the vote was unanimous. But even then, when I was drawing his will, he said:

"I want you to draw it so as to make it entirely optional. If hereafter any of my heirs should not be satisfied to carry out my wish, I want it so that it will not be obligatory."

"And so the will was drawn; and under it the magnificent steel and stone fireproof building has been constructed for the Brumback Library, on the condition made by the heirs that it be forever maintained by Van Wert County under that name, in honor of the donor.

"The unanimity with which the heirs have carried out the wish expressed in the will bears testimony to the affection and veneration felt for the husband and father. What a glorious life to live, and be thus remembered! Had J. S. Brumback spent his life in a sordid pursuit of wealth, he could have accumulated a much larger fortune. Instead, he wisely chose to make good use of his money as he went along. Liberal, but modest in his mode of life, he educated his children and aided them to become established in life, and when he passed away they could not but feel that they in turn owed him a debt of gratitude that never could be repaid.

"Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul; and the heart of man knoweth none more fragrant."

"One thing to be especially noted in the will is the provision for a County Library. The suggestion was a noble conception, full of great possibilities. Up to the date of this will, no thought apparently was ever directed to the establishment of a county library.

"The population of our cities and towns are less in need of the advantages of a free public library than the rural communities, since books in the centres of population are readily accessible and pass from hand to hand by loan and exchange. Not so in the country, where people are widely separated and books are not so plentiful on the family shelves.

"There is a great yearning among the youth of the country districts for more of the opportunities and pleasures that go to make up life in the twentieth century, causing a great drift to the cities and towns, to the detriment doubtless of the national welfare. If the farms are to be kept populated, rural life must be made attractive, and opportunity there afforded to enjoy the pleasures of literature and enter the world of knowledge.

The statistics of our insane asylums show a remarkably large percentage of patients from the rural districts. This has been ascribed to the monotony of life on the farm, without mental vicissitude and relaxation. There can be little doubt that with good books circulating through the country districts affording mental recreation, there will be fewer inmates of asylums from the farm.

"When it was first proposed to make the Brumback Library a county institution, many looked askance and could hardly believe it practicable. Some of the residents in different parts of the county have thought such a library could be of but little or no advantage to them. They little realized how books are now being circulated in our great cities many miles from the central library; and there is no reason why they cannot be had almost as freely in distant parts of the county as in the county seat itself. The only need is the books themselves, and they will surely be acquired in a few years in sufficient number to supply the whole county. Under a sub-station or branch library system, books are delivered in any number at stations in distant localities, there to be called for and returned when read.

Ready means for their transfer is afforded in this day of constant communication and rapid transit facilities.

"Of course, the inauguration of a County Library was not accomplished without much effort and many discouragements. When I drew a bill to be presented to the Ohio Legislature, to permit the County Commissioners to bind the County to maintain a library by taxation, I believed its passage could only be secured by the most strenuous efforts. When, however, the farmers of Van Wert County assembled in their Granges, and after full discussion declared almost unanimously in favor of such a library, I knew their voice must be heeded and their intelligence receive the reward of success. By the assistance of leading citizens, both in town and county, the bill became a law, and later the County Commissioners took the necessary action under the law to execute a tripartite agreement with the Ladies' Library Association and the heirs of J. S. Brumbach.

"By the terms of that contract the Ladies' Library Association turned over to the Brumbach Library all the books—some 1,600 in number—belonging to the Association; the County agreed to forever maintain the library by the levy of an annual tax upon all the taxable property of the county; and the Brumbach heirs agreed to construct, and furnish complete and ready for use, a stone building in one of the parks of the City of Van Wert, the county seat of the county, wherein the library might have a home, and its influence be extended in ever-widening circles.

"How well the heirs have much more than fulfilled the terms of the contract let the splendid building and furnishings—substantial, commodious and beautiful in every detail—speak. It is sufficient to say that no expense has been spared to make it the best. From the solid stone walls three feet thick to the steel truss tile-covered roofs, stability and grace have been sought. Upon entering the arched portal and obtaining a view of the commodious rooms, lofty arched ceilings, Mosaic floors, marble mantel and wainscoting, polished oak woodwork and furniture, with space for 40,000 books and more—it certainly must be said that Van Wert County is indeed fortunate in having had J. S. Brumbach live within its borders.

"Believing the ladies would exercise a most beneficent influence in the management and work of the Brumbach Library, and to keep it out of political broils as much as possible, the tripartite agreement provides that the library shall be managed by a non-partisan board of seven trustees; three to be appointed by the County Commissioners, two by the Ladies' Library Association, and two by the Brumbach heirs. Their term of office is for three years, and in case any appointment is not made by the parties designated, the City Council of Van Wert is to make the appointment.

"It will thus be seen that the governing board of the library is selected by various interests, and the best qualified persons for such a work will, in all probability, be secured.

"The income of the library under the tax levy now produces nearly $5,000 per annum. Twice this sum could well be utilized. Under the new decennial valuation of property, this amount will be substantially increased. Only lack of means will prevent the library from at once entering upon its full usefulness. To fill the demands of the whole county under the sub-station or branch library system a large library is necessary, and the fear is that in the beginning the supply will not be equal to the demand. If the people, however, will be tolerant, a few years ought to suffice to accumulate an extensive and valuable collection of books, embracing all departments of literature.

"When the people once realize how much good is to be had from the few cents collected from each for the library, it is believed a strong sentiment will grow up to increase the levy until a sum can be had adequate to meet all demands. It is certainly better that people should tax themselves for libraries and schools, rather than for almshouses, jails and other asylums of misery.

"As the first to inaugurate a County Library, Van Wert County owes it to herself and the world to see that it is made a complete success. I doubt not that with such an example other counties in Ohio will soon take up the work, and the system extend to other States, until the results accomplished will be tremendous.

"The prominence Van Wert County will receive as the pioneer in such a work cannot but be a proud distinction, and of the greatest benefit to all her people. Since the law was enacted for the benefit of the Brumbach Library of Van Wert County, Cincinnati has already taken up the cue, and procured the enactment of a law extending the field of her library work to all of Hamilton County. Toledo and other localities are considering the same action.

"The demands of the time are for greater literary advantages and fuller opportunities to learn all the wonders of science and the achievements of the past.

JENNIE KING (CAREY) BRUMBACK [D263].

"Give the people full opportunity for mental culture and free access to the world of books, they will not be slow to wander with Proctor into the realms of space, to learn the wondrous stories of suns that glow, and systems that circle there; or go with La Place to other worlds to hear how ages since the rock-ribbed hills and ancient sea were but a fiery cloud, a morning mist of creation. They will quickly understand how Cuvier finds a bone and builds the mammoth to which it belongs, and reads the hoary rocks which tell of primeval seas and towering forests. With Carlyle they will pass through the terrible scenes of the French Revolution; and from John Stuart Mill soon learn the true relation of economy and thrift to supply and demand. Who can doubt that wisdom, good judgment and wise action must result from such instruction?"

"Prosperity and success have ever attended upon intelligence. And so it is that the elevation and advancement of the whole race to the higher planes of social development and fraternal brotherhood is along the road of a wider dissemination of knowledge. Nor is the field of human effort by any means exhausted. Indeed, it is scarcely curtailed. Vast fields of learning yet unexplored, and heights of intellectual attainment beyond belief, await those who attempt them.

"Great problems yet remain to be solved, the greatest indeed that have ever confronted mankind. The true relation of capital and labor, the proper union of diversified interests, the economical administration of public affairs; in short, all the great questions that will arise as population increases and the human race strives to attain the greatest good to the greatest number, must be determined, and determined rightly. In these great controversies, destined to test the stability of human institutions, the wisdom drawn from the whole past experience of man can alone lead the race aright.

"The people of the great Middle West have in the past been chiefly occupied in developing their material resources. The time is come when they are to devote more attention to literary and scientific pursuits. That intellectual giants will be forthcoming cannot be doubted, and they will be the product of just such institutions as the Brumback Library.

"The libraries of a community are the foster-mothers of intellectual prominence. Many of the foremost statesmen, historians, poets and orators of America have been Massachusetts men—the product of a State that boasts the great libraries of Cambridge and Boston, and where nearly every village has a public library. Bancroft and Prescott, and Motley and Parkman, and Fiske, as historians; Bryant and Longfellow, and Lowell and Holmes and Emerson, and Whittier, as poets; Winthrop and Choate, and Everett and Sumner, and Wendell Phillips, as orators, have brought imperishable fame to themselves and the Old Bay State. Ohio has already taken rank as the mother of Presidents. Her sons are yet to attain still higher pinnacles of success, and surprise the world with their versatile genius.

"In opening a library designed to aid in these great accomplishments, we are starting upon its career an educational institution whose silent but wholesome influence will reach through all the future. When we think of the character the Brumback Library will mould, the pleasure it will give, and the knowledge it will spread, we cannot but realize this is indeed a momentous occasion. As said by Senator Hoar of Massachusetts:

"The opening of a library is an event of the highest importance in any community. It is one of the institutions which tend to build up and adorn the local life. There is no city so great and renowned that it does not wear its library as the chief jewel of its crown. There is no town so humble that a good library will not raise it to distinction and honor. However excellent may be their schools, however admirable the training that the children get at home, the community where there is no good library is but half educated."

"What considerate man can weigh the dollars it will cost to maintain this library against the immortal minds it will train? One youth kept from a dissolute and vicious life by the charms of literature supplied from its shelves will more than repay the expense of years. God has implanted his Divine essence in the mind of man to be trained and educated for good citizenship on earth and immortality hereafter. This library, engaged in broadening and ennobling the mind of man, is kindling a flame 'Which will shine not merely when every artificial beam is extinguished, but when the affrighted sun has fled away from the heavens.'

"To-day we enter upon a new century. To-day mankind all over the world is contemplating the past and standing tip-toe to peer into the future. Surpassing day, transcendent day. All living millions will never see its like again.

"Upon this Natal day of the twentieth century, while loving congratulations are echoing around the globe, on behalf of John Sanford Brumback, now gone beyond the stars, but whose spirit hovers near; on behalf of his wife and children, who have striven as best they knew to carry out the will of him they loved, I now here present to the Trustees of the Brumback Library, acting on behalf of all the people, this building, wherein it hath been covenanted to forever maintain a free public library.

"And may every man, woman and child in Van Wert County reap the benefit to be obtained by delving into the mysteries upon its shelves, and their descendants in turn drink deep at the 'Pierian Spring.'"

Address of Acceptance by Judge Glenn.

The address of acceptance by Judge H. C. Glenn was as follows:

"MR. PRESIDENT:—With uncovered head I make my most gracious bow to Mrs. Brumback and her family. While I address them I also address the ladies and gentlemen present.

"I have never received a summons to duty which I obeyed with such supreme pleasure as the present one, of accepting from this family, in the name of the Trustees of the Library and in behalf of the citizens of Van Wert County, yonder well-proportioned and exquisitely finished and furnished library building.

"This little library, or what used to be a little library, but which has grown to be one of considerable proportion, has a warm place in my memory.

"I remember so well the time when and by whom was first conceived the plan by which it was hoped to provide for the people of Van Wert a free public library. I also well remember the dozen true and philanthropic women who organized themselves into a society to materialize this conception and to promote this plan. The plan succeeded, but would not have done so but for the liberality of the people of the city.

"I have always thought that the fate of the enterprise was determined, and success became assured at our own home. An entertainment had been arranged by the ladies for the benefit of the library fund. The same one just spoken of by Mr. Gordon. Everybody was invited and nearly everybody came. The children came with their pennies and nickles and dimes; the grown people came bringing their quarters, their halves and their dollars; but the acme of success was reached when it was ascertained that Mrs. Marsh had sent her check for a generous sum and that Mr. J. S. Brumback had brought his check for $50.

"It is also my good pleasure to know something of the history of this library building. Aside from his own family, Mrs. Glenn and I were the first persons to whom Mr. Brumback communicated his purpose of erecting a library building, and of donating the same to the public. It was not his original idea to make this a post-mortem gift. When we talked with him he had a hope that he might so far recover his health as to be physically able to erect the building himself and with his own hand turn it over to the public. This idea had progressed so far that he had plans prepared by an architect, which I understand to be the same plans, in the main, after which the building has been constructed—changed and added to only so far as modern architects' experience and good taste, convenience and utility suggested. His hope of recovery was only a hope. He informed us that he had talked the matter over with his family, who heartily acquiesced, so that whether he recovered or not the library was a fixed fact, unless conditions should exist rendering the same impracticable.

"My friend, Mr. Brumback, in his presentation address, referred to one matter which I wish to emphasize as a matter of justice to the living. It is this: This building has not been erected in pursuance of any mandatory provisions of Mr. Brumback's will. There is no such provision in his will. Every reference to the library is in form of a request or wish on the testator's part. I am satisfied, however, that there would have been such mandatory provision had he not been entirely satisfied that the same were unnecessary. Any objections, or rather failure to concur on the part of Mrs. Brumback, his direct legatee, or of any one of his sons or daughters, his ultimate legatees, would have defeated the enterprise.

"This does not detract from Mr. Brumback's generosity or our obligations of gratitude to him, but extends the circle of our beneficiaries and creates new objects of gratitude. This is both refreshing and commendable, in an age when the chief end of heirs and legatees often seems to be, to have and to hold the ancestral estate, and often results in strife among themselves as to which shall obtain the lion's share. In this family the only strife seems to have been, if there was any, as to which should be the most liberal and liberal in carrying out the ancestral wish.

"Having said this much, there remains but little more for me to say or do than to proclaim, in the presence of this vast audience, in behalf of the Trustees of this library, and in behalf of the citizens of the county, whose servants they are, that yonder great storehouse of knowledge is accepted for the uses and purposes for which it has been presented. And knowing the trustees as I do, and knowing the sentiment and temper of the people, and full of confidence in the future, I do feel perfectly safe in promising that the same shall never be perverted from the use intended. Being so massive and substantially built, I do not see why the end of the century, the threshold of which we are just passing, should not see this building still standing and the stream of knowledge, education and morality then, as now, flowing from it in all directions, lighting up the dark places of this community as the great luminary of the day shall then, as now, send out its rays in every direction, illuminating the dark corners of the Universe of God.

"Again allow me to say that the benefits flowing from this magnificent library building and its contents will not be confined to the present age nor will gratitude cease with the present generation. After the last survivor of this vast audience shall have been gathered to the fathers, hundreds and thousands of grateful men, women and children, deciphering the inscription engraved with mallet and chisel over yon grand entrance will roll the name 'Brumback' as a sweet sound under their tongues, and on their lips sweet gratitude will lovingly and lastingly linger."

The following is a summary of the acquisition, and a full description, of the Library, as printed in the Van Wert Republican December 27, 1900:

THE BRUMBACK LIBRARY.

Description of the New Building.

ITS FINE ARCHITECTURE.

No pen can describe the many words of gratitude heard expressed on every hand by the citizens of Van Wert, and the county in general, since they heard the good news of the provisions made in the will of the late John Sanford Brumback, former president of the Van Wert National Bank, and long ere the building was completed many of the people of this State, as well as other States, also rejoice with us in our good fortune, as will be seen by extracts taken from State papers pertaining to the gift.

When the seal of the envelope containing the last will and testament of the late John Sanford Brumback was broken, Peabody's sentence, "Education—a debt due from the present to future generations," proved to be the main theme, and by reason thereof our town and county received on the dawn of the twentieth century a handsome gift to build and furnish which has cost the Brumback estate nearly $50,000.

Well may Van Wert feel proud of the day John Sanford Brumback sought a home in her midst, and particularly so as he has provided that his great aim in life—of working for the higher interest of Van Wert County people and mankind in general—should continue through his directions and provisions after he had crossed the silent river of death.

Mr. Brumback took great interest in the little city library, established a few years ago through the efforts of a few noble women. He also did much toward making the city's handsome little parks what they now are. The fine grove of trees in Second Ward Park were planted by him, so it is no wonder he selected this beautiful spot as the site on which should stand one of the most lasting monuments that a Van Wert could possibly erect.

It has also been very gratifying to our people to see his children, viz.: Mrs. J. P. Reed, Jr., Mrs. E. I. Antrim, D. L. Brumback, president of the Van Wert National Bank, and Hon. O. S. Brumback, now a prominent attorney in Toledo, all working so faithfully and unitedly carrying out the desires of their noble father, devoting much time to see that the building should be a perfect one in every particular and worthy of the memory of one who truly loved his fellowmen. Such zeal and devotion merits the highest praise; by their deeds they have not only proven themselves truly heirs of a noble man, but also have erected for themselves a monument, which time cannot efface. With them we can right here very properly speak of Mr. John P. Reed, who has had the supervision of nearly everything in connection with the building. He has worked early and late, and it is due in a measure to his ability and unceasing efforts that next Tuesday Van Wert County will be presented with one of the most handsome and most perfect structures ever erected in Ohio.

Space will not permit us to mention the many difficulties and discouragements the heirs had to contend with while endeavoring to carry out the wishes of their father. First, there was no authority on the statute book authorizing the Board of Commissioners to accept of the gift, great as it was. This difficulty, however, was soon removed; through the efforts and solicitations of the heirs, a general law was passed authorizing County Commissioners to receive on behalf of the public such a bequest and to make suitable provisions for keeping it up. Thus it will be seen that the Brumback heirs have opened the way to have a county library building in every county in the State of Ohio.

The plans for the building were made by David L. Stine, Toledo's popular architect. It is a handsome structure as well as a durable one, view it from any point you will, and is strictly fireproof. The cornerstone of the building was laid with appropriate ceremonies in the summer of 1899, under the auspices of the Masonic Order, Grand Master Williams of Ohio being master of ceremonies.

The entire material used in the building and the work of constructing same are the very best that money and skill can produce. The grounds surrounding the building have been terraced, the finished grade stands about eighteen inches above the level of Main street, and the floor of the library four feet higher. Upward of 10,000 wagon loads of dirt were used in the construction of terrace and grade. The exterior walls are of blue Bedford stone, rock faced. We cannot enter into details as to the perfect system of drainage made surrounding the building prior to the construction of the foundation. All footings for foundation walls and pieces are of concrete laid in courses of eight inches each, and each course was allowed to stand two days before subsequent course was laid. The boundary walls of the foundation from top of concrete footings to level are constructed in first-class rubble work and stones used are of uniform size (18 x 24 inches) and from six to eight inches thick. On the top course of rubble walls have been placed large cut stones of even thickness. Upward from these large foundation stones have been laid Bedford rock-faced stones laid in alternate courses of stones four and ten inches thick. The base or "plinth" course around the entire building is hammer dressed, the basement windows and sills being of the same dressed material. The exterior in general is rock faced with small margin draught cut on all outer vertical corners. All stones rest on natural bed, the larger courses in base projecting beyond the building line about four inches. The size of the entire building is 60 x 70 feet, with an elevation of two stories.

All the beams, channels, angles, T's and plates throughout the building are of American manufactured steel uniform in quality, and in the entire construction of the building upward of seventy-five tons of steel were used, all of which was subjected to a severe test, the beams being subjected to a tensile strength of from 60,000 to 68,000 pounds per square inch. In the construction of the roof the greatest care was taken, the roof sections, the valley rafters and trusses being of steel with two-inch purloins for fastening wood as sheathing, the same being notched pine planks, not over six-inch face running up and down roof, on which are securely fastened the terra cotta or Spanish tiles. These tiles are of the very best material made, three-fourths of an inch thick, and the total weight of tile on roof is upward of 50,000 pounds.

By referring to the picture it will be seen that the building has two towers, the western tower being square, rising to a height of nearly forty feet from grade; the east tower is round, and larger in every way, its extreme height being forty-five feet; this gives the structure an imposing appearance, like that of a castle. The building stands in the center of the park, and the main entrance is about 127 feet from the north curb line of Main street.

Without further description of the exterior, reader, follow us in, and we will endeavor to give you a pen picture of the interior. We approach the main entrance of the building over a fine cement walk, nine feet wide. As we near the building we are much impressed with the elaborately carved portico.

We ascend the eight steps in the entrance platform which brings us immediately under the carved portico. The stone in the rough was put in place for the carver and the mouldings and capital carved. The work is fine, and the longer you look at the carvings in the portico, the more you become impressed with the fact that a master hand handled the chisel. Notice the five columns on each side. The height of entrance is twelve feet. We enter very handsomely carved heavy oak-panelled doors, and are now in the vestibule, which is 12 x 6½ feet. We first notice the handsome floor beneath our feet. The vestibule has a very attractive marble tile floor of a Grecian design. In the center there is a geometrical figure and the "Lamp of Knowledge," with Grecian torches and wreath. Even the vestibule is inlaid in French and Italian marble wainscoted in white Italian marble eight feet high. Just over the inner doors we notice in white plaster cast an open book, surrounded by a wreath.

In the center hangs a very handsome hall lantern, of a green tint, made especially for the building. The ceiling is painted pink and tinted into a cream in the center. We now pass through the two inner vestibule doors which are also of richly carved oak with plate glass the full length. Now we are within the library proper.

To say it is magnificent does not express it; words are inadequate to do the building justice, and it is indeed hard to know just where to begin to describe the array of costly things. The reading room is 61 x 23½. The floor is marble of a Mosaic design, with a large geometrical figure in the center, and the entire reading room is laid with tile in small pieces not quite half an inch square—there is estimated to be in the entire flooring over 400,000 pieces. The foundation of the floor, which is fireproof hollow tile and concrete, rests on steel beams. It took seven expert Italians from Chicago four weeks' time to lay the tile.

The vaulted ceiling, which is twenty-five feet high, has ninety rosettes of unique design, also very attractive borders and mouldings and nearly two hundred plaster panels cast singly in staff, placed in position and wired to angle fasteners, the whole cemented together with plaster Paris. The fine arches have ninety handsome rosettes; from the center of each protrudes an electric bulb, and when they are all lighted they present a handsome sight. They look like so many diamonds, and the light shows the ornamentations in a manner that is fascinating.

Below a heavy moulding on the sidewalls are fifty-eight lights, each of eight candlepower. The reading room, as well as the reference room, is wainscoted three and one-half feet high, with white Italian or Cararra marble. Between the reading room and the stack room are two imposing columns, 36 inches in circumference, finished in Florentine onyx. Next we would call your attention to the delivery counter, on each side of which are two very handsome settees, each five feet long, the seats, backs and ends being upholstered in a rich green corduroy. At the extreme ends of the settees are two doors or gates, through which access is gained to the stack room; these are handsomely carved out of solid oak, the wreath pattern on center panel being found wherever there is wreath ornamentation on the various things in the building, including floors, furniture, etc. The lighting fixtures throughout the building are made of a special design of heavy cast brass, and are combination fixtures for both electric lights and gas. We step in the direction of the northeast corner of the reading room and find hanging on the wall a large, rich oil painting of the noble donor of the edifice, Hon. John Sanford Brumback. If we could but take a glimpse into the veiled and mysterious future, at times, even for centuries yet to come, we would see many a young man standing almost on the same spot as we now stand and here we could see them not only admiring the kind and noble features of Mr. Brumback, but also wishing that they could express their gratification to him or his heirs for providing so generously not only for their comforts, but even their children's children. Thousands yet to be will rise up within the bounds of Van Wert County and call him "blessed," as the gift will increase in value as time rolls on.

Near us we now notice a card catalogue case, which is in the extreme northeast corner of the reading room; it has a capacity for 72,000 cards.

Next we would call attention to the handsome marble mantle and fireplace. Notice the large marble shelf and the columns on either side. It stands seven and one-half feet high. The fireplace is faced with red French marble. The grate and trimmings are of brass. In the fireplace are imitation logs, which will be heated with gas so as to have the appearance of burning timber. Notice the unique solid brass trimmings and the old-fashioned andirons.

In the panel just below the marble mantel shelf is a solid bronze tablet with the following

a free Public Library.

The reading room is furnished with four large solid oak tables, similar in design to those used in the Chicago Library, the ends being panelled. The chairs are also solid oak, with convenient arms so that one sitting close to a table can raise up and get out of his seat without moving his chair. A fine rack for newspapers and a solid oak periodical rack are also a part of the furniture in the reading room, and all movable furniture has rubber tips, so as to prevent making noise when moving same on the floor.

In the west tower is a reference room. The floor of this room is also laid in marble Mosaic tile. In the center as we enter we notice a solid oak table and chairs of the same design as those in the reading room; in front of us is an oak bookcase containing reference books.

In the eastern tower is a room designed for the children. This has Georgia pine floor, being almost round, having a radius of 19½ feet. This room is furnished similar to the other rooms mentioned excepting that it has a round table. In time this will be filled with books expressly for the children. In the second story of this tower is the Trustees' room, which is also neatly furnished. We reach the Trustees' room by flights of steel winding stairs. From here one can have a splendid view of Fountain Park and the Central School campus.

Before we enter the stack room let us again take another look at the handsome ceiling, which is of pure white, as well as the moulded frieze and panels. The sidewall to the ceiling moulding is of cream, the colors and scroll work blending admirably.

The stack room is $27\frac{1}{2}$ x 33 feet. The floor is of Georgia pine, laid on fireproof concrete, edged grain strips being three inches wide, perfectly matched and hand smoothed. The floor was coated twice with filler and finished with Johnson's wax in mahogany color. The room is tinted in green and shaded to a cream ceiling. Here also the colors blend perfectly. There are six stacks, twelve feet long, two feet thick and seven and one-fourth feet high, made of enameled steel, with adjustable shelves, the whole being olive green color with brass trimmings. There is space in the stack room for additional stacks, but the six now in will be sufficient for some time to come. Over the stack room is another room designed to be used when the present stack room becomes too limited for the library.

On the east side of the stack room is a Librarian's room, with a suitable desk. Here also we found a fine switchboard with twenty-four switches to operate the many electric lights in the various parts of the building.

On the west side of the stack room is a marble stairway leading to the side door and the basement. On our right as we descend the stairs is a toilet room, fitted up with the very best in that line, this floor as well as the hallway also being laid in marble Mosaic tile. Space will not permit us to enter into minute description of the basement, which has cemented floors and is partitioned with fireproof hollow tile into suitable rooms for storage, etc.

"THE PIONEER COUNTY LIBRARY."

The prominence attained by the Brumbach Library as "The Pioneer County Library" is well shown in a Washington Communication printed in the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune (daily) under date of January 20, 1912, as follows:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Ohio has the ideal public county library system of the United States, according to an announcement of the United States bureau of education.

The announcement, which gives an interesting description of the Ohio plan, says:

"Every inhabitant of the United States, no matter how far from the centers of population, will have practically as good library facilities as are now enjoyed by the average city dweller if plans for the establishment of a new type of book-distributing agency work out according to the anticipation of the United States commissioner of education, Dr. P. P. Claxton, who is personally interested in their development. As the rural population of the United States numbers about 55 per cent. of the total population, the new library plan may have the effect of doubling the effectiveness of libraries and of raising the standard of culture in this country to a corresponding degree.

"The county library plan has already been put into successful operation in Van Wert county, O., where a main depository and fifteen branches are maintained at an expenditure of between $6,000 and $7,000 a year, this sum being raised by levying a half-mill county tax. The same appropriation also covered the cost last year of placing eighty-nine additional branch libraries in the public schools. Fourteen counties in Wisconsin are now enjoying similar facilities.

"Dr. Claxton went on to say that his advocacy of the county library was based on his personal observation of the Brumbach library of Van Wert county, O., which is at present one of the few institutions of this kind in the country. * * *

"The heirs of the late John Sanford Brumbach spent $50,000 on the building. With the money realized from a county tax levy, some 3,000 books were purchased in 1899; and these, together with 1,600 others turned over by the merger of an existing library, formed the nucleus of the present collection.

"The library building erected by the Brumbach estate was turned over to the county in 1901. It is a beautiful structure in the Gothic-Romanesque style of architecture, built of Bedford blue sandstone, with a tile and marble interior; fireproofed throughout. The book stacks have a capacity of 25,000 volumes. With the handsome park in which it is located the Brumbach library has become one of the show places of Van Wert.

"This is the central depository for the county's system of branch libraries and school libraries. The branches are in charge of librarians who are paid $50 a year and are made responsible for the safe keeping of the books sent them. Rural merchants and postmasters are generally selected to conduct the branch libraries, as their establishments are most centrally located and most frequently visited.

"BOOKS FOR LOCAL READERS.

"The collections of books in their charge range from 100 to 150, although if this is not a sufficient number, additional volumes will be sent on request. Four times a year, or oftener, the branch librarian boxes up the books for which he is responsible and returns them to the central depository, receiving at once another collection.

"The books thus forwarded are not the arbitrary hit-or-miss selection of the head librarian, but conform to the desires of the local readers, as ascertained at the branch itself. Before any books are sent out the branch librarian receives a list of the titles in every available traveling collection. Each title is accompanied with a note explaining the character and contents of the books listed.

The users of the branch library then discuss these lists, and the box of books which contains the greatest number of works that interests the greatest number of readers is the box called for. If the contents of no one box prove interesting to the neighborhood the main library will make up a special selection upon request. In this way the rural book lover can obtain practically any work he desires for which there is an appreciable call.

"The kind of books read by the country people of Van Wert county are of an unusually high character. One representative box contains 100 works, dealing with such varied subjects as philosophy, religion, sociology, language, science, the useful and fine arts, literature, travel, biography, history and fiction. Books for young people comprise about one-fourth the entire list. * * *

"A most valuable feature of the Brumback library's work is the establishment of loan collections for use in schools. These school libraries will be sent to any teacher who asks for them, the selection being made by the teacher or by the librarian, as the borrower prefers. Although this school library department is only about four years old, it has grown so rapidly that to-day all but about 40 of the 125 country school teachers in Van Wert county make use of its facilities.

"INSTRUCTIVE BOOKS POPULAR.

"The selections which teachers may draw out for school use are as large as desired. Usually as many books are taken as there are children in the rooms. These school sets are exchanged sometimes twice a month, but usually once a term, the interval being fixed by the teacher.

"In this way books dealing with history, geography and biography have been made popular subjects of reading among the school children of Van Wert county. Nature studies and easy scientific books are also in demand, while fairy tales, myths and legends provide the children with an enjoyable introduction to literature.

"Occasionally members of school boards object to the introduction of library sets into the schools, on the ground that the children should give all their time to textbooks and the study of the three R's. However, it is the experience of a number of teachers that this supplementary reading has resulted in better schoolroom discipline and an increased interest in such subjects as geography and United States history.

"The work of the school library department of the Brumback library is now broadening in an unexpected direction, for the parents of school children are coming more and more to borrow from these loan collections, as well as from the formally constituted branch libraries. Thus Van Wert county provides that the whole world of books is brought to the very doorsteps of the remotest farmstead in its borders by a clearing house system of libraries which Commissioner Claxton wishes to see in equally successful operation throughout the United States."

Ellen Perlina (Purmort) Brumback is a member of the M. E. Ch. and lives at Van Wert, O., now in her 80th year. She preserves much of the beauty that distinguished her in younger years, and has a clear recollection of her eventful life.

and taken prisoner, but was soon paroled and exchanged in the spring of 1863, when he engaged again actively in military service. He took part in both captures of Jackson, Miss., in 1863, and his regiment was among the forces that besieged Vicksburg, which was captured July 4, 1863. Much of the year 1864 the regiment had headquarters at Memphis, Tenn., and was engaged in the battles of Guntown and Tupelo. Afterward the regiment constituted part of an infantry force, which, under the command of Gen. A. J. Smith, pursued Gen. Price and his army through Ark. and Mo. during their raid north in 1864. The infantry forces to which Col. Brumbach's regiment was attached then went to Nashville, Tenn., where the regiment was engaged in the two days' battle in Dec., 1864, which resulted in the defeat of Gen. Hood's army. The Confederate army under Gen. Hood having been badly disorganized after the defeat and having left that section, the 95th O., with other troops, went to Mobile, Ala. There the regiment aided in capturing the forts above the city in the early part of 1865, while Grant and Sherman were delivering the final blows against the armies of Lee and Johnston. When Lee and Johnston surrendered, the 95th O. was in central Ala. and in due time was transported to Columbus, O., where it was paid off and disbanded. Col. Brumbach commanded the regiment much of the time while it was in service, and he and his men endured many of the hardships and trials incident to active warfare.

After quitting the army Col. Brumbach resumed the practice of law at Newark, O. In 1866 he was elected judge of the court of common pleas for the district, which included Licking Co. He filled the office until he resigned in 1869 to settle in Kansas City, Mo., where he practiced his profession until May, 1900, when he retired. He served the city one term as alderman and several terms as city counselor. He was (a Repubn.) never active as a politician. He preferred to be studious and painstaking in his profession, and to deserve respect and confidence for good work as a lawyer.^a

"As a lawyer he stands among the most eminent in the state and has been interested in numerous cases requiring the utmost skill and ability." . . . "His life has been an honorable and upright one, characterized by the faithful performance of every duty of both public and private life."^b

Judge Brumbach spent considerable time traveling throughout Va. gathering data for a history of his immediate family line; and, after the interchange with the compiler of numerous letters and summaries of work, an intended meeting in Washington, D. C., was prevented by his sudden death June 22, 1907. The compiler acknowledges his indebtedness for the excellent and careful foundation work done by the late Judge Brumbach, which has been incorpor-

After years of search, an excellent photograph of that co-worker was found through the active assistance of another co-worker,^a and it is reproduced to perpetuate the memory of those strong, kindly, and rugged features. His biography has been gathered from the known published articles, as his death occurred before he furnished the facts pertaining to himself and immediate family.

[D263] ORVILLE SANFORD⁶ BRUMBACK, A.M., L.L.B. ([D95] John Sanford⁵, [D27] David⁴, [D8] John³, [D3] Henry², [D2] Widow¹ Brumbach) b on a farm in Delaware Co., O., Dec. 2, 1855; attorney-at-law, Toledo, O., and one of the leaders of the Ohio Bar; was thoroughly educated for his profession, his father sparing no expense to afford him the advantages of the best educational institutions. Finishing his preparatory work in the Van Wert schools when but sixteen years of age, he matriculated in the classical course at Wooster University. At the end of his sophomore year Mr. Brumbach entered the junior class in Princeton University. Throughout the two years of his work in that institution he maintained the same high standard of scholarship that had before characterized him, and won for himself such recognition in the minds of students and faculty alike, that he was chosen one of ten, out of a class of one hundred and thirty members, to deliver commencement day orations. His graduation at Princeton was in the class of 1877, and his selection to this honor in his class was the more marked by reason of his being a western man in an eastern institution, where he had only two years of collegiate work. The Princeton faculty granted him the degree of B.A., and later conferred upon him the degree of M.A.

In the fall of 1877 he entered the College of Law of the University of Michigan, and in June, 1879, was graduated with the degree of B.L. The following winter he passed the examination necessary for admission to practice at the Ohio Bar and located in Toledo. In 1880 he had so far progressed in his profession that he felt the time was ripe to open an office of his own and "hung out his shingle." Ever since he has made his profession the chief concern of his life, and has been so successful that he is recognized as one of the foremost lawyers in the Northwest, and is retained in cases of great importance, especially in corporation litigation.

Mr. Brumbach is a member of the First Congregational Church of Toledo, and fraternally, socially and in a business way, is identified with the principal local organizations of Toledo. While a student at Wooster he became a member of the collegiate Greek letter fraternity, Sigma Chi, and having never lost his interest in the order, has made it the means of keeping in touch with colleges and college men. He has been honored with the office of Grand Consul in the national body of the Sigma Chi, and at the present time is one of the Grand Trustees of the fraternity.

In politics, Mr. Brumbach has ever been a staunch Republican. In 1885 he became a candidate for Representative from Lucas County in the Ohio Legislature. It was the year when John Sherman was being opposed by John McLean of the Cincinnati Enquirer for the United States Senate, and the fight for the legislature was strenuous throughout the state. For several years Lucas county had been going Democratic so that it was expected its members in the legislature would continue to be Democratic. Mr. Brumbach entered into the campaign with his characteristic energy, and when the election returns were counted it was found that he had run far ahead of his ticket and was elected, while the other Republican legislative candidates were defeated. His election was vital as the Republicans had a majority of only one upon joint ballot with which to elect Senator Sherman, and, if Mr. Brumbach had not been elected John McLean would have had one majority. Mr. Sherman's election was of national importance, for it was during this term in the Senate for which he was elected that he secured the passage of the celebrated Sherman Anti-Trust Law. 1885 was also the year when the Cincinnati election frauds were perpetrated. Mr. Brumbach served on the legislative committee to investigate the frauds and thereby made a state reputation. He served two years (1885-1886) in the legislature, declined a renomination, and has since many times refused to run for public office, believing it unwise to subordinate his profession to a political career.

Oct. 26, 1881, at Indianapolis, Ind., Mr. Brumbach m Jennie King Carey, b Oct. 15, 1860, in New York City; dau Simeon B. (b Dec. 22, 1820; d Aug. 5, 1902) and Lydia (King) Carey (b Jan. 12, 1837, and living in Indianapolis, Ind.). Mr. Carey was a prominent wholesale merchant of New York, and his ancestry appears in the "Carey Memorials."^a In 1873 Mr. and Mrs. Carey moved to Indianapolis, Ind., where he became a prominent citizen and conducted a wholesale hardware business until his d in 1902.

Mrs. Carey is a descendant of prominent New England families, her great grandparents being Adjutant Aaron King, and Hannah Mosely, the daughter of Col. John Mosely, who commanded the 3d Hampshire County regiment of the Massachusetts Militia in the Revolution. Aaron King was Adjutant to Col. Mosely and, as indicated, married his daughter Hannah. Col. Mosely also commanded a company as Captain in the Crown Point Expedition. Mrs. Brumbach is actively interested in the Natl. Soc. D.A.R., and is a member of "Ursula Wolcott" Chapter of Toledo.

Mr. Brumbach's interest in the preparation and publication of this volume has been continuous, substantial financially, and encouraging; and the compiler expresses special appreciation for the same. [D264] DAVID LA DOYT⁶ BRUMBACH ([D95] John Sanford⁵, same ancestry as [D263]) b in Casey, Ill., July 30, 1861; soon after his birth his parents moved to Van Wert, O., where, except for two years' residence in Toledo, he has since resided. He was carefully educated by his father, who thoroughly believed in higher education, and the success in life attained by all his children has demonstrated the wisdom of those views. David⁶ went from the Van Wert High School to Wooster University which he attended for three years, and then took a business course in Eastman's Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

After leaving college Mr. Brumbach chose banking for his life work, and, after serving as cashier of The Farmers Bank at Rockford, O., he accepted the position of teller in the Union Savings Bank of Toledo, O. Here he obtained a valuable experience in the best city methods of banking, and at the end of two years returned to Van Wert to take the position of cashier in the Van Wert National Bank. He successfully filled this position for nine years, until the d of his father, who was president of the bank, when he was elected to the presidency.

Mr. Brumbach is recognized as one of the most sterling, reliable and successful bankers of the Middle West. His judgment and foresight are so unerring that he is constantly consulted on the most important financial matters. His honesty and character are so well known that no man in Northwestern Ohio stands higher in public estimation. It is such men who accomplish the great financial success of the American people, for it is upon them that the safety and stability of our financial system depend. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Van Wert and a progressive Republican, meaning thereby that he stands for Republican principles so long as they are best adapted to the national welfare. He has uniformly declined to run for office, having a field so large for activity in his financial career that the honors and emoluments of office do not suffice to draw him away from his life work.

Sept. 4, 1889, he m Elizabeth Adelia Pinkerton, b Feb. 5, 1863; dau David Clendenen and Elizabeth (Pyle) Pinkerton, members of an old and prominent family residing in McConnellsville, O. Miss Pinkerton was a highly accomplished lady and the union was a most happy one until the d of the devoted wife and mother on Jan. 8, 1910 (interred in the family vault at Van Wert, O.). Three sturdy sons survive the mother to comfort their father. And in them he takes all the customary pride that the Brumbachs take in those who come to perpetuate the name. The Van Wert National Bank in Van Wert with D. L. D. Brumbach as president, Ernest I. Antrim, his brother-in-law [D266], as vice-president, and John P. Reed, another brother-in-law [D265], as cashier, comes very near being a Brumbach institution. THE WAY TO THE FOREST OF ARDEN*

No signboards show which road to take
To reach its ever-peaceful skies;
Each one must his own journey make
To find where Arden Forest lies.

For who can tell how far to go,
There is no book from which to learn;
One may stop here or there, and lo!
It's gates are just beyond the turn.

The path that leads on straight ahead
May take on farther from the goal;
And this one which so many tread
May still perplex and vex the soul.

What route to take no one can say,
'Tis found on neither map nor chart;
Only the joyous find the way,
Only the kind and light of heart.

SECTION E

JOHANNES HENRICH¹ BRUMBACH AND HIS DESCENDANTS

[E1] JOHANNES HENRICH¹ BRUMBACH, the immigrant (see reproduction of immigrant list), and family arrived at Philadelphia on the ship Neptune, Captain Waire, Sept. 30, 1754, sailing from Rotterdam and stopping at Cowes, England, for provisions as was the general custom during those long voyages, filled with innumerable hardships. A brief quotation bearing upon these hardships is instructive:

“The journey for those who came from Southern Germany in 1754 lasted ‘fully half a year amid such hardships as no one is able to describe adequately with their misery.’ The passage from Holland to Cowes, England, alone, often required from two to four weeks.”

Careful search through the land and other records of Philadelphia, and of the adjacent counties has not yet been exhaustively made; but, so far as completed, it has failed to show that Johannes Henrich tarried long in Pennsylvania before settling in the Conococheague district, north of Hagerstown, Frederick Co., now Washington, Md., or in Franklin Co., Pa., immediately adjoining to the north. As noted a few pages later, the Franklin Co. records are incomplete. It does not seem probable that he could have been the “John” enumerated in Fairfax Co., Va., in 1785. (See Sec. D.)

There were four children, three born in Germany. [E2] *Jacob*² (“Jockel”²) b Nov. 27, 1734; about 1760 m and settled on a tract of land near “Funkstown”—Hagerstown, Md., near [C1] *Johann Jacob*¹ Brumbach. About 1787 [E2] *Jacob*² and his brother [E5] *Georg*² (called “Yerrick” or “Yorrick”) removed with the earliest pioneers to Morrison’s Cove, then in Bedford Co., Pa. (Bedford was erected in 1771), now Blair Co., and located near the Rebecca Furnace property, occupying a large tract of land. The predatory Indian outbreaks of 1778 and 1779 caused all the early settlers to leave that locality and these brothers returned to their former homes on the Conococheague river in Maryland—perhaps also Antrim Twp., Franklin Co., Pa. After the cessation of the Indian depredations these brothers re-occupied their Bedford Co. lands.

[C18] *Eve*³ (Brumbaugh) Snoeberger, b 1806, while yet in full possession of her excellent memory, in 1891 wrote and also said that she “always understood from my father that my grandfather ([C1] *Johann Jacob*¹ Brumbach) was a cousin to Johannes Henrich¹ Brumbach, and Johannes [E4] was known as the stocking weaver.”

Children (4):

- [E2] + Jacob², b Nov. 27, 1734; d Aug. 13, 1816.
 [E3] + Conrad², b ———, 1735; d ———, 1791.
 [E4] + Johannes².
 [E5] + George².

[E2] JACOB² BRUMBAUGH—“Jockel” (Johannes Henrich¹) b Nov. 27, 1734; about 1760 m his first w, whose name is yet unknown, near “Funkstown” (Hagerstown), Frederick Co., Md., and there were 6 ch. from this union. About 1766 Jacob² m (2) Elizabeth Baker (“Engle?”), and there were 9 ch. from the 2d m, making a total of 15 ch.

Mr. David Brumbaugh⁴ Wineland [E11-X], b April 11, 1817, says that his maternal grandparents came into Morrison’s Cove, Bedford Co., now Blair, Pa., about 1780, and settled on the farm now owned by Samuel Dilling.

Jacob Brumbaugh appears in the 1786 list of taxables in Antrim Twp., Franklin Co., Pa. This was in the “Conococheague settlement,”^a which extended also across the Mason and Dixon line into the Hagerstown, Md., region. A quotation is given concerning this settlement on the Maryland side of the state line:

“The district (Conococheague) was one of the earliest settled in Washington Co., Md., and contained a portion of Lord Baltimore’s reserved lands and manors.

“Nov. 9, 1767, the commissioners empowered by him offered these lands for sale at the home of Col. Thos. Prather in Frederick Co. The manor contained over 11,000 acres. The ancestors of the immortal author of ‘Star Spangled Banner’ were residents of the Conococheague district and Edmund Key owned ‘Paradise,’ an estate of 335 acres, ‘Good Hope,’ 300 acres, and ‘Friendship,’ 206 acres. He died in 1766.”^b

The importance of establishing the identity of the 1786, Jacob Brumbaugh, taxable in Antrim Twp., Franklin Co., Pa., is evident. Messrs. Elias B— Hartle [C117-1], Hagerstown, Md., and H. H. Spangler, Mercersburg, Franklin Co., Pa., made two searches resulting in finding the following deeds, and the latter further adds: “There is no will on record, and no letters of administration were granted in his estate. His real estate probably was con-

The author has the following receipt:

Aug. 4, 1800 he received deed for this 219 acres on the south side of Warrior Ridge called "Timothy Meadows,"^a and lived there continuously until his death, August 13, 1816. The old homestead farm yet remains in the Brumbaugh name.

Nov. 28, 1814, [E2] Jacob received his deed from John Canan for the property described in the following:

The author has a letter written May 26, 1888, by George⁴ Brumbaugh [E1725] at age 86, in which he says "Conrad and Johannes came from Germany about 1765, and settled within three miles of Johnstown, Pa., where David and George were born. Conrad died within three miles of Johnstown when I was too young to remember."

"Samuel Brumbaugh,^a a farmer of Perry township, Montgomery county, Ohio, is descended from Pennsylvania-Dutch stock, the founder of the family in America having come from Germany. He was Conrad Brumbaugh, and was the grandfather of Samuel Brumbaugh. It is believed that he was married in Germany. Two of his brothers also came to America, but the date of their coming is not now known. From these three brothers sprang all the Brumbaughs of Pennsylvania.

"Conrad Brumbaugh settled in Lancaster (?) county, Pa., probably before 1761, as it is believed that all of his large family were born in Pennsylvania, and the youngest of his thirteen children was born in 1788. After a part of his children were born he removed to Morrison's Cove, Bedford county, Pa., but the Indians becoming troublesome he returned to the more thickly settled portions of the state. When he reached Morrison's Cove he found the Indians in possession, and that they had destroyed everything he had left behind, and had killed all the remaining settlers. After the Indian troubles ceased, Conrad Brumbaugh returned to this place with his family, made a home and lived there for some time. Then removing to Allegheny county, Pa., he made a home for his family there in the wilderness, and became one of the pioneers of that section of the state. His children were John, Daniel, Jacob, William, Conrad, David, George, Elizabeth and Christiana. Mr. Brumbaugh was well educated in Germany, and after reaching this country taught school and became a minister in the German Baptist church, being one of the first ministers of that church in America."^a

"Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 10, 1906.

To Whom it May Concern:

I hereby certify that the name of Conrad Brumbough appears as that of a Private on a Class Roll of Captain John Orbison's Fourth Company, Fourth Battalion of Cumberland County Militia—Commanded by Colonel Samuel Culbertson, August 21st, 1780.

See p 767, Vol. 23, Penna Archives, 3d Series.

"Conrad Brumbough" was assessed for no acres, 2 horses, 4 cattle & no negroes in 1780 (?) in Montgomery Township, County of Cumberland, Pa. (Pa. Archives, 3d Series, Vol. XX, p. 525.)

"Coonrod Brumbaugh" in 1783, Frankstown Twp., Bedford Co., Pa., appeared in the "Supply Tax" for 300 acres and a tax of £6 s6 d6. (Pa. Archives 3d Series, Vol. XXII, p. 267.)

Conrod Brombagh appears on the list of taxable property of Woodberry Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., in 1788 for 250 acres, 3 horses, 5 cattle, and a tax of 16s 3d. (Pa. Archives, 3d Series, Vol. XX, p. 344.) The original records at Huntingdon, Pa., for 1788 show "Conrad Crombaugh" as taxed 18s 3d for State and 8s 2d for County.

The 1790 census for Bedford Co., Pa., enumerates "Conrod Broombough" as having 6 sons under 16, and 4 females.

Especial attention is invited to Conrad's signatures on the Immigrant List of Countess of Sussex 7 Oct. 1765^c and to the minutes of Annual Meeting of 1789,^d as well as to the entry giving him a credit of five shillings June 17, 1800, for "Schooling for the little girl"^e—the latter showing him to have been a teacher near the present Johnstown, Cambria Co., Pa.

^aFrom "Centennial Biographical Record of Dayton and Montgomery County, O.—Conover, 1897," pp. 1230-31—it shows that even family traditions are at times at fault.

MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING (G. B. B.) 1789.^a

ARTICLE 1. . . . "For this cause we beseech earnestly all brethren who have distilleries to be diligent to put them away; . . . so that peace, love and union may be planted and restored." . . . &c.

ART. 2. . . . "there should be used more diligence to instruct our dear youth and children in the word of truth to their salvation, and that it is the special duty of the dear parents, as well as of the pastors and teachers, to be engaged herein," . . . &c.

ART. 3. "Further it has been discussed, and unanimously deemed good and evangelical, that all brethren, in all places, should shun all worldly offices, so as not to serve in any of them, provided it is possible to be relieved from them—such as supervisor, overseer of the poor, collector, constable, assessor, or also juryman, etc. Yet it is considered, with some difference, such as supervisor or overseer of the poor might be served, perhaps, with least objection; provided, there is no suing, or something contrary to the word of the Lord. If a brother should be elected to one of these offices contrary to his will, then only that what he would have to do contrary to the gospel should be rebuked in love and compassion, according to the word of the Lord."

ART. 4. "Concerning marriages of near relations, especially cousins, was unanimously considered, and deemed good that such marriages should not at all be, and that parents should warn their children earnestly in this respect, so that offense and scandal might be prevented, which have been so often occasioned by it, and that our dear youth may not in ignorance be led into something, where, perhaps, afterward their thoughts might be accusing one another about those things which can not be altered any more, and therefore should be well considered previously in the fear of God.

An article^a by James Horn⁵ Camerer [E2900-xi-(8)] †, who has shown much interest in his family history, is herewith reproduced:

"HISTORY OF OUR FIRST SETTLERS—OWNED FIFTEEN HUNDRED ACRES OF LAND—JOHN BRUMBAUGH AND SON-IN-LAW, DANIEL CAMERER, LOCATED NEAR MARTINSBURG.

"Editor HERALD:—The first settlers of Martinsburg were John Brumbaugh and Daniel Camerer, both of German descent. The following dates, in connection with their family history and time of coming to this place, are taken from an old German Bible.

"John Brumbaugh emigrated from Frederick Co., Md., to the Conococheague settlement in the year 1783. He did not come further at that time, for in those days it was dangerous to live far from the forts, on account of the ^aMartinsburg (Pa.) Herald, Nov. 27, 1908.

Indians, and then the red men had possession of this territory. While Brumbaugh lived at Conococheague, Daniel Camerer, who came from the city of Worms, near the river Rhine; and who, like Brumbaugh, had settled near the Mason and Dixon line, married Brumbaugh's oldest daughter, Margaret Brumbaugh, who was then 20 years of age and her husband a few years her senior, he having been born in 1760. At that time Mr. Brumbaugh and his wife, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Metzker, had two daughters, the younger of whom after their coming to this place became the wife of a man by the name of Kensinger.

"John Brumbaugh, wife and younger daughter and a boy living with them, came by way of Fort Loudon and Fort Bedford, and on to where Martinsburg is located, then a wilderness densely covered with timber. Having the pick of the land he located here. He went back to Bedford and procured a warrant for 1500 acres of land, March 14, 1785. The Indians were then leaving this part of the country. Some time afterwards he employed a surveyor and had the land surveyed. Later, September 7, 1792, patent for the land was issued to him by the Penns, which I have in my possession, but he held a warrant for the land during the seven preceding years.

"After living here some time another daughter was born in the Brumbaugh family, Lydia Ann, who afterwards became the wife of John Stoner. I here relate an incident in the life of Mr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh. While they were living in Frederick Co., Md., a company of Scotch Highlanders who had a small child, a boy, in their possession, left the child alone on the door step of the Brumbaugh home. Mr. Brumbaugh and wife took him in and brought the boy with them to their new home in the wilderness, or far west, as this locality was then called. They named the boy Brumbaugh. It was never known to them how the Highlanders got possession of the child. When he grew to manhood he learned to play the violin and was nick-named 'Fiddler Jack.'

"The first house John Brumbaugh built was north of the 'Y,' where three pear trees are still standing. The second house he built was nearer the site of Martinsburg, near the present stone house on the Hagey-Clapper farm, formerly known as the Stoner homestead.

"A few years after John Brumbaugh came here, Daniel Camerer and wife and two children came to the 'Cove.' Having heard from his father-in-law, John Brumbaugh, they sold their house and farms, and with their stock and household goods emigrated to this place.

"While Daniel Camerer and his wife lived at Conococheague Creek near the Mason and Dixon line, he built a house there, and I am told by good authority, a man who was there and saw the house, that his name, 'Kammerer,' for that was the German way of spelling the name, is cut on a large stone above the door. The house is yet standing, and anyone going there can see the stone bearing his name. While living in this house Mr. and Mrs. Camerer became the parents of two children, a daughter and son, Hannah Camerer born January 28, 1792, and David Camerer, born July, 1794. When the Camerer family landed here they had a large amount of money and stock, and for years were regarded as amongst the wealthiest of the early settlers.

“Daniel Camerer purchased 700 acres of land from his father-in-law, John Brumbaugh, thereby obtaining the present town site of Martinsburg. The deed for this land was made November 1, 1799, and can be seen at the home of the writer. A recorded copy of the deed can also be seen in Bedford, at the court house, book No. 19, page 62, this territory then being a part of Bedford county. Aside from the borough of Martinsburg, this 700 acres of land purchased by Daniel Camerer is divided into the following tracts, beginning at the north: Blake and Straesser tract, James Camerer farm, Snyder farm, Liebegott farm, Provins farm, John E. Furry farm, S. L. Haffley farm, and the Orville Long farm. His father-in-law's tract lay to the west and consisted of the Hagey-Clapper farm, William Tipton farm, and other nearby lands. Lydia Ann, who became the wife of John Stoner, inherited the homestead farm.

“Daniel Camerer and wife were the parents of eleven children, nine of them being born after they emigrated from Conococheague to this place, Elizabeth, born 1796; John, born 1798; Louis, born 1800; Mary, born 1802; Margaret, born 1803; Samuel, born 1806; D. Camerer, born 1807, died in infancy; Daniel, born 1809; James, born 1812. These are all dead and all buried in Spring Hope cemetery, except two, Louis, buried at Steubenville, O., and Mary, wife of Jesse Speelman, buried at Cherrytree, Indiana county, Pa. The latter inherited the Blake and Straesser tracts which they sold before locating at Cherrytree. I have no record of the death of John Brumbaugh and wife, but both are buried in Spring Hope cemetery. Daniel Camerer was aged 73 years when he died and his wife, Margaret, was aged 69 years at her death.

“Mrs. Daniel Camerer was a member of the Church of the Brethren, then known as the German Baptist Church, and her sons John and James Camerer, built the first German Baptist church at Martinsburg, both being identified with the same church early in life. The building is still standing, corner of Wall and Christiana streets, opposite the present church, and is owned by Miss Sara Snyder, of Philadelphia, having been since converted into a dwelling house, now occupied by J. S. Wareham and family.

prior to that time was a member of the Roman Catholic church and had been educated for the priesthood. He withdrew from that church and united with the German Baptist church. Rev. Manelia was a blacksmith by trade, coming here at intervals from his home near Mason and Dixon line. On one of his visits here he told John and James Camerer of an encounter he had with a panther which sprang at him in his path. He looked the wild animal squarely in the eyes for a long time when the panther turned and walked away. He had his blacksmith's leather apron with him, and thinking to frighten the panther, shook and pounded the apron, but to his amazement the panther sprang back close in front of him in the path, keeping him at bay for a much longer time.

Wurtemberg, Germany, about 1758. The Metzkers lived about half way between the present Martinsburg and Fredericksburg on the "Old Livingston" or "Indian doctor farm," part of which is owned by C. M. Black. Their house was used for all religious services for many years—the old graveyard is on the farm. John d at age 80, and is said to have been a nephew of Theobald Metzger.^a

George lived for many years in Morrison's Cove, a few miles from Martinsburg, then in Woodbury Twp., Bedford Co., Pa. He was a farmer and also a minister of ability and considerable reputation; he reared a family of five sons and seven daughters and the entire family were members of G. B. B. Ch. Together with *Johannes*³ Brumbaugh [E1700] in 1813 he built the old grist mill owned and operated by [E183] *Henry Dilling*⁵ Brumbaugh at Fredericksburg (Clover Creek P.O.), Blair Co., Pa.—illustrated elsewhere.

George² [E5] pre-empted for settlement all that section of Morrison's Cove where the old Fredericksburg mill was later built and where [E3006] George³ later lived—all this was just south of the [E2] Jacob² pre-emption. [E3] Conrad² pre-empted south of the [E5] George² pre-emption and part of Conrad's² land was later owned by Frederick and Isaac Rhodes (lately bought by John Law of Hollidaysburg). [E4] Johannes², the "stocking weaver," did not pre-empt land but lived on a small cleared tract, part of what was later owned by Peter Shoenberger.^b

In this connection attention is directed to the deed of Nov. 21, 1799, wherein [E4] Johannes² is shown to have acquired "Broomfield," 349 a., through warrant of March 14, 1785.

"John Matzgar" in 1789 was assessed in Woodbury Township, Bedford Co., Pa., for 200 acres, 3 horses, 6 cows and paid a state tax of 11s 5d, and a county tax of 5s 9d. [E5] *George*² Brumbaugh at the same time and place was assessed for 130 acres, 3 horses and 4 cows, and his state tax was 7s 9d, and his county tax 3s 10d. At that time there were "118 inhabitants" taxed in the township, and Joseph Long was the collector for a total assessment of £99, 7, 3 state tax, and £52, 7, 0 county tax.

John Metzker in 1795 was assessed in Woodbury Township, Bedford Co., Pa., for a county tax of 10s 6d.

Metzger or Metzker is most frequently spelled the latter way in the assessments of 1788, 1800, 1810 and by the descendants,^c while it is often spelled "Metzgar" in the West.

THE METZGER CLAIM (METZKER).

Mr. John J. Scholl, Allentown, Pa., in 1868 issued a small pamphlet: "History and Memorial Report of the Rights Between the Heirs of the Deceased General Lieutenant and Governor Theobald Metzger, from Weibnom, against the Ficus of The Netherlands, &c." Numerous actual records, etc., etc., from the Metzgers, and numerous other families included in this publication are inaccessible to the compiler because long ago sent to Mr. Scholl, Agt., or to Mr. J. W. Griffith, Chalfont, Berks Co., Pa., and apparently resting somewhere unknown to the persons now searching for that historical and genealogical treasury—of far greater practical value than the mythical treasure sought so long in vain.^c

Theobald Metzger "from Weibnom" died at the Hague Feb. 23, 1691, as Lieut.-Gen. and Gov. of Breda, and left a large estate which is covered by his will and codicil of Feb. 2, 1691, a copy of which was published in the above pamphlet, of 1868.

[E8] MARGARET³ BRUMBAUGH ([E2] Jacob², Johannes Henrich¹), b May 5, 1766, near Funkstown, Frederick Co., now Washington Co., Md.; in 1785 at Sharpsburgh, Md., m Nicholas Fauss (later the name became "Fouse") b May 7, 1748; s of Theobald Fauss, b "1725" (?) and lived in Rheinvill, Rheinfalz, Bavaria.^a About 1746 Theobald m Margaret ———, and moved to Zweibruecken, where he d at age 40, and was survived by his widow and five children: Nicholas, b May 7, 1748 (confirmed 1762 in the Reformed Church of Zweibruecken); Jacob, who kept an hostelry; Valentine, a baker; Theobald, Jr., and Margaret. Their mother, Margaret, d early in 1784. The brothers, Nicholas and Theobald, determined to leave the war stricken country. They managed to evade the rigid border inspection, being dressed as mechanics and carrying the tools of their trades—Nicholas was a lock and edge-toolsmith and Theobald was a shoemaker—and escaped from the country in May, 1784. After being on the Atlantic ocean over five months, they landed at Baltimore, Md., in October, 1784.^b Theobald remained there and is enumerated in the First Census of the U. S.^c "Theobald Fouse" "Baltimore Town" as having one son over 16, one under 16, a wife and two daughters. His will is recorded in W. B. 13, page 101, Baltimore, Md.

Nicholas went to Funkstown, Md., and there resumed his trade of locksmith and blacksmith. Soon after his m to [E8] Margaret³ Brumbaugh they ^aMany of the details in this "Fouse section" were furnished to the compiler, or to the late Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344], by John Garner⁶ Fouse [E8-IX-(6)], whose active co-operation is gratefully acknowledged. The latter is actively gathering further facts, old records, photographs, etc., to be later published in a volume to be called the "Fouse Families in America." All persons interested in the latter project should promptly communicate with him; address 404 Ross St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

^bThe Fouse brothers had a companion named Conrad Nicodemus, who also settled first in Maryland and later in Bedford Co., Pa. They continued to be close friends throughout life, and there are later Fouse-Nicodemus marriages.

there went to housekeeping, and, being quite robust in build and strength, she is said to have become quite expert in handling the hammer and in otherwise helping at the anvil whenever necessity called for such assistance. In the spring of 1789 all the household goods, clothing, smithing tools, food, etc., were packed into a covered wagon drawn by a yoke of oxen (see "Conestoga wagon" elsewhere shown) and the little family of parents and two infants, Margaret⁴ and Elizabeth⁴, crossed into "Morrison's Cove," Pa., then in Cumberland Co., entering at the southern end of the same. They traversed about 150 miles of rough, forest-encompassed road, probably the route of the old Baltimore, Chambersburg, and Bedford road, later a turnpike. Turning northward about where Everett, Bedford Co., Pa., was later built, and passing up Yellow Creek and on through the gap to where Loysburg, or Pattonville, was afterwards established, they temporarily settled on a part of the large tract pre-empted in 1788 by [E2] Jacob² Brumbaugh, his father-in-law, near where Rebecca Furnace was later built.

The Census of 1790^a enumerates "Nicholas Fouss" in Huntingdon Co., Pa., as having "2 Free white males under 16 years" and a wife. The interesting photographic reproduction of the family record as kept by Nicholas in his "Tagbuch"^b establishes the fact that the enumerator should have recorded two females rather than two males. However, that Census is a mine of genealogical wealth. It also gives Anthony Bever, Jacob Brumbough, John Brumbough, Michle Garnur, Abraham Miller, etc., as amongst their neighbors.

Nicholas remained on that tract about four years, and then bought 135 acres about five miles northward. This tract was deeded by Benjamin Tudor Jan. 3, 1793, for a consideration of £56—gold and silver—and is recorded in Book B-1, p. 490, Huntingdon Co., Pa. Tudor pre-empted the same Sept. 27, 1791, recorded in Pat. Book 18, p. 230. On this tract they built a small log house of four rooms, with a crude chimney in the center and a fireplace on either side for cooking, and to measurably keep the family comfortable in the cold winters. The necessary blacksmith shop was also soon built. All sharp edged tools were in great demand by the incoming emigrants, besides nails, hinges, bolts, etc., etc.—all made by hand and mostly at night. During the day Nicholas had to clear the land of the great trees to prepare for the necessary crops, and when he went to make tools or repair such as were brought to him by his neighbors, often coming long distances, these same friends would work in the forest while the blacksmith's skill fashioned their implements. Thus there was a close community interest and friendship amongst those devoted pioneer fathers and mothers; and that sturdy, self-reliant, honest life assured healthy life, with contentment, and energetic, strong descendants. (Throughout all this publication the observant reader will see a close relation of facts necessarily separately given, as the early families are mentioned in various parts of the volume.)

“Aunt Margaret told us that grandfather frequently referred to these experiences as an important period in his life. Here amongst the tall oaks, with no part of the land under cultivation, it was necessary to eke out an existence for the small family.”

As the family increased in size, an addition was made to the house, and June 24, 1805, Nicholas bought from Levi Roberts an additional 42 acres.^a

As time advanced the shop continued to be the important factor in maintaining the growing family, as well as the source of income. All families were producers. There was an absence of internal improvements, and large markets or outlets for farm and other products, excepting by teams to Pittsburgh, and by rafts and canoes down the Frankstown and Raystown branches of the Juniata river, thence down the Susquehanna river to Baltimore, or overland by the improving roads to Lancaster and Philadelphia. The author found accounts kept with residents along the Frankstown branch, in the admirably written and well preserved books of the Valley Forge, or Mount Joy Forge,^b showing how far distant the interior settlers had to go for certain supplies. The extensive river trips were feasible only during the spring and fall floods.

The increasing population in this locality and the increased activities of all the settlers increased the income of Nicholas, and we find that he purchased an additional 34 acres from Patrick Dimond Aug. 11, 1815, making the homestead farm then consist of 211 acres and allowances, or 226 acres.^c

Large landed possessions were not his aim in life, but rather true Christian contentment—at the same time making good use of what he owned and gradually accumulated. Like his neighbors and kinsmen he took good care of his land, and gradually invested his savings in other real estate. After his sons grew to manhood he gave little personal attention to the farm work, and was quite conservative in the matter of adopting new practices in threshing the crops. He favored flaying, because grains and straw would be less injured than by the tramping of horses. Threshing machines came into use long after his day.

Margaret³ related that, as a little girl she would often make hasty trips to distant houses for coals of fire, when the home fire had gone out, rather than use the slower process of kindling by friction.^a The practice was to cover embers or coals from the great logs with ashes in a corner of the huge fireplace, and it was usually thus comparatively easy to "keep fire" or preserve live coals throughout the night.

Margaret³ further said "The forests were being subdued, and cultivated fields with abundant crops compensated the united efforts of father, mother and children. Economy and care had brought us to a point where we considered ourselves in comfortable circumstances. We girls were well satisfied with calico dresses for Sunday. The boys wore lindsey pantaloons, and thought it a great improvement over the coarse linen week-day clothes. Coffee was used only once a week, and that always on Sunday morning. Being a rare thing it was much relished by the younger members of the family, and they always looked forward to this weekly treat with great delight.

"The goods for the clothing were all home spun. The flax was raised on the farm. The men cared for it until it reached the switch stand, then mother and my two sisters took charge of it until it was ready for the loom. The same was necessary with the wool from the sheep's back. It had to be prepared for our Winter clothes and comfort. Nearly all my brothers learned how to weave, and alternately employed their evenings in that way. We had a weave shop at the South end of our house where the weaving was done by the hand loom, by either daughters or sons. Some of the boys were not so apt at this work. Hard work through the day was frequently offered as an excuse to mother to get out of it, but she always managed to have them weaving during the Winter evenings."

Owing to Margaret's³ long continued illness and confinement to her bed or chair she became the seamstress for the family. She often spoke of the good health enjoyed by the family, aside from her own crippled condition. "No serious illness came into the home until the Summer of 1814, when Jonathan³ [E8-X], the youngest of the family and a bright healthy boy of six years, became seriously ill with fever and spasms. His general health was later restored, but his mind was so impaired that he could not tell one letter from another or memorize anything. It was a source of deep distress, especially to mother.

"The early settlers were home makers, scattered along the streams and springs, and, though mostly Germans, or their descendants, were not always true to the religion in which they were reared. Religious exercises were observed in the homes under difficulties and the influx of settlers brought with them peculiarities of doctrine, causing no little confusion among those of so-called orthodox faith.

“Many of the would-be ministers had no theological training. Father did not approve of their methods and ascribed the confusion to the lack of church facilities, therefore labored earnestly to give his family and near neighbors intelligent conception of their spiritual needs.”

Dec., 1809, Nicholas took part in the purchase of a lot containing 82 perches from Tobias Hanline^a on which to erect a house of worship. It was deeded to Nicholas Fouse and Abraham Miller, trustees for the Ger. Ref. Ch., and Christian Acker and Adam Sorrick, trustees for the Luth. Ch.—as elders and charter members of their respective denominations—the first organization of the kind in Morrison’s Cove—and these families continuously worshiped therein. The remains of these trustees rest in the graveyard, part of the original plot, four miles S. of Williamsburgh, on Clover Creek, Blair Co., Pa. Nicholas lived three miles distant and continued an active and faithful member of this congregation.

As before stated, Nicholas was confirmed 1762 in the Ref. Ch. at Zweibruecken, Bavaria. Margaret³ [E8], his wife, was confirmed in the Ref. Ch. at Funkstown, Md., 1780 (age 14). The home was turned into a place of worship each Sabbath evening, there being no regular public house of worship until 1810, the services prior thereto being held in the different homes. No labor was permitted about the place on Sunday, except that which was absolutely necessary for the welfare of the family and of the live stock. Social visiting on the Sabbath was discouraged, but time was always taken to speak words of comfort and cheer to the sick neighbors. Both Nicholas and Margaret³, and all the children (except the youngest child) were actively and continuously interested in furthering the interests of the Ger. Ref. Ch., and the parents were especially zealous to set good examples and to give careful personal instruction in religious matters.

The Heidelberg catechism served as one of the important books in the home, and Nicholas taught the children in German, which language he used throughout his life. At first the nearest private school was two and a half miles distant—the instruction was indifferent and the term of school was of but two or three months in mid-winter.

As showing the habits of life prior to 1810, the following incident is given: “Grandfather Fouse and Conrad Nicodemus lived eight miles apart and belonged to the Ref. Ch. and the services were held alternately throughout the membership. Nicodemus was a progressive man and wealthier than most of his neighbors. For one of these meetings they prepared their house for the occasion and put carpet on the floor, the first carpet in the community. Many people looked with astonishment, thinking pride had caused Nicodemus to cover the floor with "coverlids."^a

Nicholas was keenly appreciative of the liberty guaranteed under the comparatively new government. He was an earnest advocate of free schools, the separation of church from state; the establishment of a strong central government, and, though not active in politics, he supported Washington, Federalism, and later the "National Republican" party.^b When the war of 1812 was declared Jacob⁴ (IV) and John⁴ (V) belonged to the local militia. "Father was very anxious on the day the drafting took place, fearing it might require his boys to go. He had them prepared for it, telling them that if it fell to their lot they could not do other than go. Their names were not drawn. He had a great horror of the scalping and butchering practiced by the allies of the English army. He was loyal and advocated vigorous prosecution of the war, and had no use for anyone who sympathized with the enemy. Some of the neighbors, descendants of the Germans and Hessians whom King George had brought over to fight our patriots, were subject to adverse criticism and nicknamed 'hirelings.' Father thought these criticisms unjust because these people were forced by their petty rulers to go and fight for the English. When they laid down their arms many of them became good American citizens, and he thought such persons justly deserved to be respected by their neighbors because their sympathies were really with the Americans. It fell to the lot of the son of one of these Hessians to go to the frontier with the others who took their departure at the muster of the militia on the Fouse premises. He bravely took up arms in defense of his adopted country. The prayers and benedictions of these German fathers being pronounced, they took their departure for the War of 1812."^c

FURNACES AND THE IRON INDUSTRY

About 1812 John Royer built Springfield Furnace, in Woodberry Twp., some five miles northwest of the Fouse home. He preempted a large tract of land, some of which was rich in hematite iron ore, and most of it was well covered with forest trees from which he made charcoal. Soon afterward Dr. Peter Schoenberger, proprietor of the iron works at Marietta, Lancaster Co.,

Pa., preempted large tracts of mountain land, also a large tract known as "The Barrens" containing considerable hematite ore. About 1817 he built Rebecca Furnace, later in Huston Twp., four miles south of the original Fouse farm. All this activity gave the pioneers a ready market for produce, stock, etc. Extensive hauling was necessary, as the pig-iron had to be conveyed from the furnaces ten miles to Maria Forges and twenty miles to Petersburg. In common with many others in the "Cove," the Fouse sons earned money by chopping wood at 35 cents per cord in the winter, and, during the summer, the farm was further cleared and cultivated. The success of the iron works soon led to the establishment of other similar furnaces and forges, and Morrison's Cove became a veritable hive of industry offering a good home market for everything the farmers could produce, as well as for their labor by team, etc.

"Prior to the completion of the canal and Portage Railroad, in 1833, there were a large number of charcoal-furnaces and forges in this portion of Huntingdon County and their product was hauled to Pittsburgh at a cost of from twenty to thirty dollars per ton."^a March 13, 1819, Nicholas bought another tract containing 134 acres from John Paulis,^b and he soon transferred the same to his cousin, Jacob Brumbaugh. March 20, 1819, he bought a tract of 138 acres from Henry Acker,^c known as the "mountain farm," and this was deeded to his son, William^d (VI) on January 8, 1825.^e This deed is reproduced because of the signatures, and also because of the provisions made in the same whereby the son, William^d (VI), was to annually deliver certain supplies to the parents—the same clause appeared in the several deeds made at this time, through which the father turned over to his sons all his real estate.

Jan. 1, 1825, he sold to Frederick^d (VII) 112 acres,^e and on the same date to Theobald^d (VIII) 113 acres^e—the home farm consisted of 226 acres. Frederick^d and Theobald^d were also to deliver ample firewood.

DEED OF NICHOLAS FOUSE AND MARGARETH TO WILLIAM FOUSE, JAN. 8, 1825.

township, county, &c aforesaid of the other part, Witnesseth . . . consideration . . . Eighteen hundred dollars . . . Thence by Tusseys mountain . . . thence by lands of Christian Acker," &c.—see photographic copy of said deed. The signature of Nicholas, it should be remembered, was made shortly before his death.

After an illness of almost a week, Nicholas d Aug. 9, 1825, aged 77 yrs., 3 mos., 2 ds., and was buried in the Union Cemetery, now Lutheran, on the Clover Creek Road, four miles S. of Williamsburg, Pa.

No letters of administration were taken out, as he had disposed of his real estate before his death. The family agreed to adjust all matters of personal property amongst themselves, and all were imbued with the idea that justice and equity had been shown to them by their father (giving each a start in life, so far as he was able, etc.) and that such fairness must prevail in the division of his personal estate.

In personal appearance Nicholas was of a ruddy complexion, broad across the shoulders, muscular, 5 feet 8 inches high, and weighed about 180 lbs. He was a splendid example, kind and indulgent to his children, yet firm, for his word was law and had to be obeyed.

Margaret³ [E8] was a "large woman of strong bones and muscular, round faced, inclined to be fleshy, and of about the same weight as grandfather. She had a kind and true heart, was very fond of her children and grandchildren, loving them dearly. In return they loved her, were faithful and true to her, and tried to reward her for her kindness toward them."

Theobald⁴ (VIII) occupied the original house (not large enough for two families) and it was decided to build a small house for the mother, Margaret³ [E8], and the crippled sister, Margaret⁴ [E8-I]. This house was erected in 1826 about midway between the houses occupied by the brothers, Frederick⁴ (VII) and Theobald⁴ (VIII).

"Daniel Garner was the last one to live in the old house built by grandfather, where they reared their ten children. I was then a small boy and can remember calling there with my mother because Mrs. Garner, the first wife of cousin Daniel, gave me a delicious cake. The latter I remember much better than the date or the appearance of the house."^a

As a probable result of overexertion in the early pioneer days, Margaret³ [E8] long suffered from hernia. It became strangulated and she died in much suffering Aug. 8, 1829, aged 63 yrs. 8 mos, 4ds. Remaining conscious until within a few minutes of her d, she was concerned about the two dependents, Margaret⁴ and Jonathan.⁴ Turning to the former she said "Peggy, such de zuflucht bei dem Friedrich." Turning to Adam (IX) she said, "Adam, gebst du acht auf den Jonathan." All the children assured her that those mentioned by her should never be in want, and after such assurance her spirit took flight. She was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the old cemetery adjoining the place where the entire family had been baptized and confirmed by Rev. John Dietrich Aurandt, Ger. Ref. missionary; and the latter also gave Rev. Theobald⁴ Fouse (VIII) his first systematic theological instruction. Plain marble tombstones mark their resting places.

These devoted parents were both revered and respected by all who knew them. They had nobly fulfilled an important mission in family and community, and each member of the family with singleness of purpose has reflected the excellent parental training in honesty, industry, and upright lives. Of these children it is said, "Like their parents they had strong constitutions, were hale, hearty, naturally industrious and willing to earn their livings by the sweat of their brows. They were frugal and economical, as well as charitable and willing to help their neighbors in time of need. They dealt honestly with their neighbors and with each other, and their integrity has never been doubted. They loved character and a good name more than money, as shown by their records in their communities. They esteemed each other as a family, tried to contribute to each other's happiness, and frequently visited each other. They paid their honest debts, and sought by integrity, industry and frugality to secure homes and a competency for themselves and their children."

CLOVER CREEK GERMAN REFORMED CHURCH

Jan. 2, 1832, the Fouse children and some neighbors met and entered into an agreement to build a Ger. Ref. Ch. on the old homestead in honor of Nicholas Fouse and Margaret³ (Brumbaugh) Fouse. Frederick⁴ (VII) and Theobald⁴ (VIII) agreed to give the ground for the church and graveyard site, besides paying their pledges—the agreement is reproduced, showing the signatures, terms, etc.

The church was built in 1832, rebuilt and enlarged in 1853 (named Salem Reformed Church), of brick 40 x 60. Frederick⁴ (VII) and Adam⁴ (IX) Fouse were the building committee, and the structure was dedicated Oct., 1853. Rev. Henry Harbaugh, D.D., preached the dedication sermon, and was assisted by the pastor, Rev. Theobald⁴ Fouse (VIII) and Rev. F. A. Rupley, D.D.

The foundation unfortunately settled, and, a larger building becoming necessary, a lot across the road was purchased and a larger brick church, two stories high, was built on the new site in 1884, during the pastorate of Rev. J. David Miller. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. I. N. Peightel, assisted by the pastor and Rev. F. A. Rupley, D.D. The building committee this time was Adam Garner⁵ Fouse [E8-IX-(8)], George B. Greaser, S. B. Isenberg, and John M. Rhoades.

This was the third building erected on the site donated from the original Fouse homestead for church purposes, and in which Adam⁴ (IX), the sole survivor of the family, was permitted to worship to the time of his death, May 5, 1887. On May 7th his remains were laid at rest in the adjoining cemetery, where two sisters, Margaret⁴ (I) and Catharine⁴ (III) and two brothers, William⁴ (VI) and Frederick⁴ (VII), and many of their children, had already been buried. Nicholas and his w, Margaret³ [E8], rest in the lot purchased by the former in 1809.

Theobald⁴ (VIII) and Jonathan⁴ (X) rest in the Ref. Ch. yard near Marklesburg, Huntingdon Co., Pa.; Jacob⁴ (IV) and John⁴ (V) rest in the Union Ch. yard at Uniontown, Stark Co., Ohio; and Elizabeth⁴ (II) in the Union Ch. yard (Snyder's) near Cairo, Stark Co., Ohio. In most cases husbands and wives rest side by side, and all the graves are plainly and neatly marked by marble monuments or tombstones.

CIVIL WAR RECORD OF THE FOUSES

While all of the Fouse families regretted the necessity for President Lincoln's call to arms, all of these families sympathized with the North, and (encouraged by their parents) many of the sons enlisted in the Union army, where all rendered faithful service. Some were left dead and their bodies lost on the battlefield; some died in hospitals; some were wounded and recovered; and others, fortunately, were permitted to return home and enjoy the blessings resulting from a free and united Union.

There were at least 24 of the Fouse kinsmen who served in the U. S. A. Theobald⁴ Fouse (VIII) had 7 sons in the army: Christian⁵ (2), John⁵ (2), Benjamin⁵ (6), Dewalt Shontz⁵ (12), Reuben Shontz⁵ (13), Frederick Shontz⁵ (14), and Samuel Shontz⁵ (15); and 2 sons-in-law, Anthony Shultz and Samuel Grove. Adam Fouse⁴ (IX) had 3 sons in the service: John Garner⁵ (6), Adam Garner⁵ (8), and Henry Garner⁵ (9); also one son-in-law, George Nicodemus. Theobald A. (VI-[2]) Fouse had two sons in the service: William D. and George. Jonathan Hoover had one son in the service: William. Jacob C. Hoover had his son Daniel; Jacob Heimbaugh had his son David; Michael Heimbaugh had his son Jacob; John Miller had his son Abraham; Frederick Garner had his son Eli; and Daniel Garner had his son Dewalt, and one son-in-law, William Warren Waddell, and a nephew, John Peightal (s Sarah Garner Peightal)—all in active service for their country.

(I) *Margaret*⁴, "Peggy," b Oct. 12, 1786; d May 19, 1855; unm.

She said that at age thirteen she was out in the field raking hay; becoming much heated, she waded the creek on her way home, to "cool off," and took such a cold as resulted in a serious and permanent swelling of the limbs. The nearest doctor was at Huntingdon, twenty miles away, and the usual home remedies and treatment failed to relieve the conditions. It was about twelve years before she could sit in a chair or begin to move about on crutches, which latter she was always thereafter compelled to use. She further said, "I am now so grateful for the tender care of my dear parents, whose nursing through all those years saved my life. I was the tender branch of the family, but I was never wanting for care or sympathy from them all my days."

"In stature Aunt Margaret⁴ was the least in the family. She had a strong face, was noble hearted and true, and had fixed purposes in life. She loved to speak of the things that were elevating. Though most of us were young, yet it was a great pleasure for us children to sit in her room and learn from her—those talks in the early fifties had a marked influence over us. Her little white cap ruffled with lace was fittingly in keeping with her neat and tidy appearance. While she moved about with difficulty her room was always invitingly cozy, and everything was in its place. It was a pleasure to be with her, and to do her errands."^a Frederick⁴ (VII) complied with his mother's dying request and took Margaret⁴ (I) to his home, building two rooms to the northern end of his house where she could live in comfort. He provided a safe horse ("Nelly") for her to use in riding to church and elsewhere—there were no carriages in that locality in those early days. She had to have a companion to assist in mounting and dismounting from her horse, as well as to open bars, gates, etc.

In 1854 Margaret⁴ moved from Frederick's⁴ (VII) house to Adam's⁴ (IX) and thereafter made her home with the latter's family. Throughout her life she was very thoughtful of both temporal and spiritual matters; long years before her death she had prepared her burial clothes, and often spoke of being ready and willing to die whenever the summons should come. She was troubled with rheumatism for many years, and in the Spring of 1855 became a sufferer from a complication of diseases, making her totally helpless. Elizabeth⁴ (II) had a bed in her room and constantly and faithfully cared for her every want. The last illness was brief, and she breathed her last May 9, 1855, aged 68 yrs., 6 mos., 27 ds. Thus her many sufferings were ended and she was laid to rest in the faith of her Saviour, whom she loved and served all her days. She had been most active in all religious duties, and was especially gifted and helpful in earnest prayer.

(II) Elizabeth^a Fouse, b Aug. 11, 1788; d 1869; March 10, 1814, m Abraham Miller, also of Huntingdon Co., Pa. Soon thereafter they moved to a forest covered tract in Plain Twp., Stark Co., O., six miles N. of Canton, remaining there throughout life. He was a son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Clapper) Miller. Abraham, Sr., came from Bavaria about 1778, landing at Baltimore, Md., but unfortunately the Maryland immigration lists are not preserved, as are those of Pennsylvania. He went to the neighborhood of Funkstown, Md. Tradition says that he served in the German Army, in the "Seven years war," before emigration. Soon espousing the cause of America, he became a private in Capt. Henry Hardman's Co., Md. Troop, Continental Line, 1775-1783.^a At the close of the Revolutionary war, he was honorably discharged; returned to Funkstown and there m (1) Elizabeth Clapper. After several years they moved to Cumberland Co., Pa. (Huntingdon Co. was formed in 1789), and we find him enumerated in the 1790 census,^b Washington Co., Md., as having 1 s under 16, 1 dau and his w.

Oct. 26, 1796, Abraham Miller, Sr., paid William Phillips £200 for 170 acres.^c Oct. 3, 1799, he bought from Phillip Hartman 50 acres,^d thus completing the 220 acres granted by warrant to William Phillips March 28, 1774, and patented to him Sept. 25, 1791. Mr. Miller sold 4 acres from that tract June 27, 1798, to Adam Sorrick for £8 17s 6d, and, as there is given no wife's signature to the transfer, he must then have been a widower. The entire farm was in Woodberry Twp., then in Huntingdon Co., Pa., and on both sides of Clover Creek—a fine farm containing an excellent spring of water, and situated three miles S. from Williamsburg, and one mile from the Union Church—of which as before mentioned Nicholas Fouse and Abraham Miller were trustees; where these families worshiped, and in which cemetery the bodies of Elizabeth Miller, Nicholas and Margaret (Brumbaugh) Fouse were laid to rest. Nicholas and Abraham, and their families were thus long and closely associated, and even in death their bodies in most instances rested in the same cemetery.

Abraham and Sybilla Miller sold the remaining 216 acres^a April 18, 1812, to Michael Bosler for $5,280.00. They remained in Pennsylvania for several years but Abraham, the father, and Abraham, the s, made several trips to Ohio and June 24, 1813, purchased part of S.E. Sec. 4, T. 11, R. 8, containing 168.6 acres of virgin forest, from Abraham Croft; lying six miles N. of Canton. A few days afterward Abraham Miller, Jr., m Elizabeth^a Fouse (II) in Pennsylvania and they, with father and mother, started for Ohio in a Conestoga wagon which after their arrival was used as their place of abode. Soon building a small log house, they roofed it with clap-boards, and chunked and daubed the sides with clay. The same was erected near a good spring, and served as their home for a number of years. The farm was heavily timbered, and after being cleared became very fertile and highly productive. Pittsburgh was about 100 miles distant and was the main source of supplies for the Canton merchants.

They commenced housekeeping in part of the old Fouse homestead. As before stated, Theobald⁴ and Frederick⁴ (VII) jointly conducted the farm until it was divided in the purchase from their father Jan. 1, 1825. These brothers continued in ownership of the several farms until the fall of 1832, when Frederick⁴ bought his brother's portion of the original farm, and Theobald⁴ purchased a farm of 216 acres in Woodcock Valley from Thomas Jackson for $3,000.00, adjoining the farm of his father-in-law, Christian Shontz. They moved to this farm in the spring of 1833.

Theobald⁴ and his father were especially mindful of religious exercises in the family, and they were also especially fond of the old hymns that were constantly sung under the parental roof. Favorites are remembered as the Forty-second Psalm; Es ist gewiszlich an der zeit; Wachet auf ruft uns die Stimme; Wie Schon leuchtet uns die Morgenstern, etc. This early training doubtless had a great influence toward causing Theobald⁴ to become a minister in the Ger. Ref. Ch., of which his entire family also became members. He was pastor of the Clover Creek Ger. Ref. Ch.,^a and of six others comprising the

They soon began housekeeping in the little spring house near Frederick's⁴ (VII) home, and they made this their home until the fall of 1829. Early in that year he had purchased the interests of the heirs in the farm of Samuel Hoover, two miles S. of where the former was living. He had arranged to build another house on the new tract for his mother, Margaret³ [E8], and sister, Margaret⁴ (I), but the former died Aug. 8, 1829, and this changed all plans. He, however, moved to the Hoover tract and took Jonathan⁴ (X) along, giving him a home and caring for him.

Adam⁴ was a consistent and active member of the Clover Creek Ger. Ref. Ch.^a and was elected an elder at its organization, holding that office continuously until his d May 5, 1887 (55 years service), attaining the ripe age of 82 yrs., 3 mos., 4 ds. He was also S. support, as also for the home and foreign mission work. Unless prevented by absence or sickness, he never missed attendance upon the services, and also required that the children thus attend and read the Bible at home. He always said grace before meals, and had family worship in the evening before retiring. While he read fairly well in English, he loved the German language and his prayers were always uttered in the latter tongue. He was ever kind and indulgent to his children, and especially enjoyed visiting and showing his sympathy for the poor and needy. (Illustration.)

During the years when the late Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344] was gathering information for his proposed publication, Mr. Fouse was decidedly interested and helpful, as shown by letters in possession of the compiler. The latter acknowledges the decided help received from the personal recollections and many notes made by the subject of this brief sketch when in conversation with the older Fouse ancestors. He is also actively accumulating additional materials to be used in the proposed issuance of an enlarged volume to be called "Fouse Families in America." (Illustration.)

His wife d Nov. (?), 1805, and was buried in the small cemetery on the "Teeter farm east of Rebecca Furnace." Soon after a visit, in 1854, to Conrad³ and his family at Lake Twp., Stark Co., O., whither the family had moved in 1811, Mr. John Garner⁵ Fouse [E8-IX-6] assisted his father, Adam⁴ Fouse, to build a strong wooden fence about this grave, and he reports that the inscription is "Elizabeth wife of Conrad Brumbaugh Died 1805."

In 1806 Conrad³ m (2) Catharine Markley and the date of her d is unknown. It is observed in Land Records of Huntingdon Co., Pa., p. 299, that the deed recorded Nov. 5, 1811, from Conrad Brumbaugh to Jacob Brumbaugh of Woodbury Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., is unsigned by a wife. It conveys his property "east of Tussey's Mt." for a consideration of $20—no size or other description is given—evidently about the time of his removal to Ohio.

By marked industry and economy Conrad³ accumulated a considerable estate, and thus assisted his 11 sons and 4 daughters to good homes in the vicinity of his Ohio residence. For many years he was an active member G. B. B. Ch.

[E345] Ephraim⁵ Brumbaugh, a grandson, describes Conrad³ as a man of quiet disposition and very fond of his children and grandchildren; and that the latter especially prized his frequent invitations for them to come and eat apples and other fruits, of which he raised large quantities. He attended closely and successfully to his farming. In Ohio he is said always to have written his name "Conrad," and never had his picture taken—his s [E41] Henry⁴ is also said never to have had a picture taken.

The writer has a ledger, carefully preserved by his father, [E226] Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh, which is marked "Henry Miller's Ledger, 10 Aug., 1801—Huntingdon, Pa." and on page 147 of same there is an account with "Conrode Brumbaugh"—Huntingdon, 1802, Dec. 7, Sundries of Mdse 8s 5½d, and this entry is closed 1803, July 4, by "cash recd of Danl Brombaugh 8s 5½d." 1805, May 4, "Conrode" is again charged for "Sundries of Mdse 8s 9d" and the account is carried forward into another ledger. The Daniel was [E14] Daniel³, his bro, as his son [E42] Daniel⁴, was born June 11, 1807.

The signatures of Conrad³ and of his bro, [E16] Samuel³, appear upon the order and note herewith reproduced.^a [E11] HANNAH³ BRUMBAUGH ([E2] Jacob², Johannes Henrich¹) b Oct. 27, 1775; July 17, 1794, m John³ Wineland (Peter², John¹), b in Va. May 1, 1769. John³ together with two of his brothers, Christian³ and Peter³, went from Va. to Morrison's Cove, Pa., about 1780—Peter², the father, had eight children, Jacob³, Christian³, Peter³, Abraham³, John³, Mary³, Barbara³, Magdalene³. John³ and Hannah³ lived on the Christian Miller farm, where Rebecca Furnace was later erected about 1827, and also on the Samuel Mock farm near Millerstown. At the latter place is the Wineland family graveyard. John was a farmer, a plow maker, and often traveled from house to house mending shoes. It is related of him that upon one of these expeditions he saved his life by using a stout hickory club to drive off the wolves, which attacked him late one night. It is also related of him that he and Hannah³ did much of their "courting" in the harvest field, when he would hand her his sickle and bind back both his own and her swath, talking as they proceeded, and that sometimes they tarried long at the far end of the field—working all the harder on the return swaths.

^aData for this sketch was furnished by [E11-X] David B.⁴ Wineland, J. C. Frederick and John G. Fouse [E8-ix-6] and others.

Both John³ and [E11] Hannah³ were members of the G. B. B. Ch.; the latter d March 5, 1866.

- x David Brumbaugh⁴ Wineland,^a b April 11, 1817; m Sophiah Loose, b Sept. 24, 1818; he learned the trade of a blacksmith. At 93 he is yet active in making edged tools and exhibited a fine lot of his own recent work at the Blair Co. Fair, Sept. 28-Oct. 2, 1908. His memory is excellent and he and his son, (8) David Loose⁵ Wineland,^a are preparing to publish a volume of reminiscences and history of the early settlers in Morrison's Cove. The latter is Historian for the Wineland family.

"David⁴ says when he was 16 years old he helped to harvest wheat on the John Metzker farm, now owned by C. M. Black, and the wheat cutting was then nearly all done with the sickle. Twelve men were helping and they cut 12 acres of rye in one day, which all conceded was a very good day's work. His father's family cleared the 170 acres that originally belonged to the old Wineland homestead where ^aTo both father and son the author is indebted for considerable help rendered at various times.

Samuel Mock now lives, and David himself cleared the field just east of Hoover's shop. To help do this clearing he bought an axe, paying $3.50 for it, but it was too soft so he tempered it himself, as he had a small amount of experience in helping John Bridenthal, who operated a blacksmith shop in Millerstown, a few rods north of John B. Smith's dwelling house in Henrietta, Pa. It so happened that he tempered it, as he says, as well as he ever tempered any axe. This so encouraged him that he decided to do such work, and he soon got plenty of work. From that time until this he has been an ardent follower of Vulcan. He made pump augurs for people hundreds of miles away, some residing in Maryland and Virginia. In Mr. Wineland's over 70 years of active work as a blacksmith, he has outdone all others in the country, if not in the state."^a

Mr. George⁴ Garner [E18-V], an aged gentleman with an exceptional memory living in Huntingdon Co., Pa., says that Henry³ lived in an old house on the old Garner farm and later in a house below the present Aitch, Huntingdon Co., Pa., and that oxen could be driven through the former house, leaving logs for the large fire place. Aug. 17, 1811, he took title to N. E.⁴ Sec. 7, T. 6, R. 4, Randolph Twp.

“A hearty and well meaning loving greeting to you my beloved brother [E13] George³ Brumbach, and to the daughter your wife and children and to my beloved mother and all remaining ‘geschwestert’ (brothers and sisters) and I let you know at this occasion that we thank God are all healthy and well, (—?) and the Andreas Werner and the [E15] Cadarina³ are also yet healthy and well—and the David Werner and the [E17] Esther³ are also yet healthy but their youngest child is already since several months not healthy and we send to all of you all our heartiest greetings, and might wish that this time of the year might meet (you) there in health and as it has come so that our brother [E6] Wilhelm³ goes to you so we have thought when you have money for us then you can send it with him out here, but if not so send it with the first best opportunity and write us again back with [E6] Wilhelm³ and report all how it stands with the mother and how you have found everything as we have received no letter since the father has died^a so we wish you also the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and his rich blessings. EXTRACTS FROM HISTORY OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY, OHIO.^b

"In the year 1800 Jacob Miller came from Flat Rock Valley, Va., and settled on the west side of the Miami River, near Dayton, O. He was born in Pa. (Franklin Co.) in 1735; was a man of ability and labored earnestly for his church. He was much revered by the red sons of the forest, who said he was ^bHistory of Montgomery Co., O., 1882; p. 60; Randolph Twp.

'the good man the Great Spirit sent from the East.' He raised a family of 9 sons and 3 dau., 3 of the former becoming able ministers in the Dunker Church (G.B.B.). The earliest pioneer Dunker preacher in Randolph Twp. was Emanuel Flory, who, in 1810, organized a congregation of his co-religionists. For many years they had no house in which to worship, and held service every alternate Sabbath at the dwelling house of some of its members. Every member that was able to have meeting would take his or her turn . . . in having the meeting at his or her residence. It took about 2 yrs. time until it came back to the starting point. The congregation was served refreshments by the individual at whose house the meeting was held. All who wished to stay, after the meeting was adjourned, were made welcome to partake of the hospitalities of the brother, who always set a bountiful table."

"They have 2 churches, one in Randolph Twp. (Stillwater), the other in Clay (Salem), . . . each with a membership of 275. The former is presided over by the Rev. Abraham Flory, Rev. Samuel Kinsey [E60-I], Rev. John Smith and Rev. George Garver; the latter by Rev. Abraham Deitrich of Miami Co., Rev. Samuel Shellebarger, Rev. John Sollenbarger and Rev. Jesse Kinsey, all gentlemen of ability and refinement and are doing good work in the advancement of Christianity and enlightenment."

Page 68 of the same reference, under "Jefferson Twp.," gives further data concerning Eld. Jacob Miller, etc., and further says:

"Services were then held in the groves, 'God's first temples,' and in each other's cabins, until after the building of schoolhouse and meeting houses. Rev. David Bowman was also one of the very early G. B. B. ministers, and a colleague of Jacob Miller. The first meeting house of the twp. was a union one, built jointly by the Luth. and Ger. Ref. people in 1812, constructed of hewed logs, one story high, with an extensive gallery, and was a model structure for the day. Each of the male members hewed his share, and hauled them to the site selected."

[E13] GEORGE³ BRUMBAUGH ([E2] Jacob², Johannes Henrich¹) b March 12, 1780; m Mary Bowers, b March 1, 1778; dau Isaac and Barbara Bauer. Upon his father's d he succeeded to the old homestead farm ("Timothy Meadows")^a in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., and in 1830 moved into the small stone house built beside a fine spring a little distance from the stone mansion erected by [E2] Jacob² on higher ground—the original house stood a little nearer the road than the present old stone house, but on part of the present site. The picture here illustrated shows but part of the smaller house, owing to its location and was a "snap shot" taken many years ago (the house also was where the parents of the compiler began housekeeping, and the small upper window lighted the room in which he was born). The fence conceals a porch, and there were stone steps leading from a landing down to the spring which flowed in front of the lower opening—a door leading into the "spring house" of delightful, toothsome memories. This house was torn down some years ago, but the cornerstone is preserved. The latter is about 3 ft. x 1½ ft. x 2 in. and bears the inscription:

[E13] George³, like the other older Brumbaughs, was a man of large stature, being 6 ft. 1 in. tall, "heavy set and broad chested"—"he had a powerful head of dark hair," cut short; he wore a full beard and had heavy eyebrows; he was courtly in manner, and generous in spirit. He always rode horseback, using "Possum" which was reserved for his exclusive use; this horse was as wild as a colt for children and strangers, but would sidle up to the mounting block and be as gentle as a kitten for its owner. Many readers will remember amusing incidents concerning "old possum" and his tricks, yet he was a faithful horse and served his master well.

George³ was an elder in the G. B. B. Ch. and was known as an "exhorter" of special earnestness, and spoke in German. He was succeeded in the eldership by his son, [E67] Isaac⁴.

"GERMAN BAPTIST BRETHERN—Among the first ministers of this denomination who are known to have preached in this neighborhood were Revs. John Shinefelt, Christian Hoover, and John Martin. Elders, [E13] George³ Brumbaugh and [E67] + Isaac⁴ Brumbaugh were also among the earlier laborers

In 1874 and 1875 branches were established at Coffee Run, Lincoln Twp., and on the Raystown Branch, Penn Twp., and suitable church edifices erected.

In the usual form Jno. Miller, "one of the Justices of the Peace" for Huntingdon Co., Pa., executes the acknowledgment.

Accompanying the above "Indenture" is preserved a receipt "April 2th 1819 Received of George Brumbaugh^a $267 cent for Schooling Susanna Steffi four month Recd by me JACOB SHOWALTER"

Jacob Showalter on the same paper also receipts to George³ [E13] for "four months schooling" of Susanna, April 15, 1823, and March 4, 1825.

January 18, 1822, [E13] George³ sent to Huntingdon, Pa., by his close business friend "John Patton Esq. Twenty dollars in full of a fine imposed upon him by the Commissioners for refusing to serve as Collector (of taxes) for the year 1821." This action was undoubtedly due to his religious scruples against holding political office. The receipt^b is reproduced and illustrates the fact that the great majority of the German ancestors neither sought position nor would accept the same, even after election or appointment. The task of portraying their lives is, therefore, rendered much more difficult than it would be if their activities were at least partly recorded amongst public records, other than realty transactions.

TURNPIKES

Like most of this early non-office holding class, George was public spirited, and favored the creation of much needed public improvements. "The river could only be relied upon for the floating of arks and keel boats when the water was at a certain stage. During the frosts of winter and the droughts of summer navigation was suspended, and some other means of communication between the upper Juniata region and the seaboard" and the West became necessary . . . "Other sections of the State, imitating the example of the older countries, had tested the merits of turnpikes, and soon the project of the construction of a macadamized road from Harrisburg to Pittsburg was agitated." The "Harrisburg and Pittsburg Turnpike Road" was incorporated

^aThese papers were preserved by [E225] George Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh. It is interesting to note that [E13] George³ in his signature of June 30, 1814, wrote it "Broombaugh," and the name in body of receipt of April 2, 1819, (in his handwriting) appears as "Brumbaugh," and that in the body of the former indenture the name is "Brombaugh."

by Act of Feb. 24, 1806. Not meeting with success the Act of March 20, 1810, created the "Huntingdon, Cambria and Indiana turnpike road."^a The company was finally incorporated Feb. 15, 1815, and 77 miles of road was finally opened from Huntingdon, Pa., to Blairsville, much of it through "a rugged and sparsely settled region." Amongst the supporters of this public improvement and necessity we find [E13] George³, who on Oct. 22, 1821, sent money "By the hands of John Patton, Esq." to Huntingdon, where subscriptions were received, and received a receipt calling for its stock.^b This company also issued "scrip" or "shin-plasters" to carry forward its extensive improvements.

Upon the death of each owner the homestead farm passed from [E2] Jacob² to [E13] George³, and (Aug. 6, 1849) [E68] Jacob⁴—by deed it next passed to the latter's s, Abraham W.⁵, and next to [E865] Irvin Bechtel⁶ Brumbaugh, who actively farms it.

[E14] DANIEL³ BRUMBAUGH ([E2] Jacob², Johannes Henrich¹) b Aug., 1783; m Anna Bowers, b 15 Feb., 1780; dau Isaac and Barbara Bauer; lived and died on a farm in Woodcock Valley, Hopewell Twp., near Coffee Run, now Entriken, Huntingdon Co., Pa.

He was a man above the average intellectually; was remarkably well, never having been known to be sick, and was very "stout and hearty." Both he and his four sons followed farming—he was able to give land to each of his children. He told his son, [E73] Abraham⁴, in the morning of March 23, 1859, that he would die on that same day, and he fell asleep about sundown—quietly passing away.

Letters of administration were granted on his estate April 26, 1859, to [E73] Abraham⁴ Brumbaugh, who gave a bond of $2,000.00 with Ira Beaver and A. W. Benedict as sureties. (Will Book 5, Huntingdon Co., Pa., page 414.)

Aug. 26, 1791; Aug. 6, 1810, m John Matthew Garner, b Sept. 21, 1776; d Feb. 13, 1849; s John Michael and Catharine (Seiss) Garner.

THE GARNER FAMILY

Owing to the extensive intermarriages between Brumbaugh, Fouse and other closely related families some details are herewith presented.

John Michael Garner was b in 1728 in Wurtemberg, Germany. With his parents, after a voyage of six months, they landed at Baltimore, Md., in 1738 or 1739, according to tradition. The Garner family soon went to the vicinity of Sharpsburg, then Frederick Co., Md., and engaged in farming upon or near Antietam Creek. Sept. 24, 1769, he there m Catharine Seiss, a native of Switzerland, and they soon went to housekeeping and farming near Sharpsburg. He followed that occupation until the latter part of the Revolutionary War, when he enlisted as a private in a co. recruiting near Funkstown, Md., under Capt. Henry Hardman. In common with other German patriots from that locality he actively participated in a number of battles, and was mustered out at the termination of the war. He continued at farming until the autumn of 1788, when he took his family to Huntingdon Co., Pa., following the old Chambersburg and Bedford road to "Bloody Run" (Everett), where they turned N. following the eastern side of Tussey's mountain. They settled on a farm in Hopewell Twp. (now Penn), in Woodcock Valley, 1¼ miles N.E. of the site of Marklesburg (James Creek P. O.) and 12 miles from Huntingdon. He later purchased the "improvements" on this tract containing 279 a, 59 p and allowances preempted by Robert Whitner—deeded June 20, 1794, by John Penn and John Penn, Jr., for £112 s5.^a

The Census of 1790 for Pa., p. 76, for Cumberland Co., gives "John Garner" as having a family consisting of himself and two females, and on the next line appears "John Garner" as having a son over 16, one under 16, and four females; and for Hopewell, Newton, Tyborn and Westpensboro townships another "John Garner" as having a family of one son under 16, and four females. Page 123, same reference, for Huntingdon Co., Pa., enumerates "Michle Garnur" as having a son over 16 yrs., 3 sons under 16, and 3 females, including the mother.

Tradition says that John Michael Garner d at the homestead farm between 1805 and '10, and that his w d some years later. Their remains rest in the "Frank Cemetery" upon the adjoining farm. The family of seven children were reared upon that farm, yet owned by George⁴ Garner [E18-V] and tilled by the latter's s, Winfield Scott⁵ Garner.

George⁴ Garner relates how his grandfather, John Michael Garner, and others were besieged by the Indians in the "Hartsocks fort,"^a which stood near the Frank cemetery on the Frank farm^b, now owned by the heirs of [E274] David Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh:

"The entire company of settlers including the women dressed in men's clothing and went out through a back window coming around through a sheltering ravine and re-entering through the front opening in the stockade. This they continued until the Indians decided that a large body of recruits had come, and left without serious attack."

^aSee [E8-III-(6)].

*Hoover*⁵ Brumbaugh, James Creek, Pa., shows all records written "Brumbach," and this record has been reproduced herewith.

The facsimile record of the division amongst his children by Isaac Bauer on Aug. 21, 1820, is shown elsewhere [See E13], to which the reader is especially directed. Such division during the father's lifetime was a common practice in his time and possessed many advantages—it also explains in part why there are so few wills to assist in the compilation of this history.

"David³ Brumbaugh and Matthew Garner (his bro.-in-law, John Matthew Garner, see [E18]) were the owners of the land on which Marklesburg is located. It was part of the tract which was for many years in dispute between the Bank of North America and the heirs of Dr. Allison. David Brumbaugh put an end to the conflict in title by purchasing both claims. The town was laid out in the summer of 1844 by Jacob Cresswell, surveyor, and was named in honor of Gen. Joseph Markle, the Whig candidate for Governor of Pa."^a

David³ and Barbara and their children were members of the G. B. B. Ch.; they lived in the substantially built stone house on the farm upon the edge of Marklesburg (James Creek P. O.), Huntingdon Co., Pa., where Barbara d Nov. 4, 1859, and David³ d Nov. 19, 1880. The latter's will is recorded in W. B. 9, p. 201, Huntingdon Co., Pa., and was witnessed by [E225] George Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh and A. Megahan. John Brumbaugh Replogle [E3009-II], his son-in-law, was administrator.

The family record is clearly written in German in the large Bible: "David Brumbach ist zur Welt geboren 29 September 1793."

- [E92] + "John Brumbach geboren Feb. 1814.

MATRIMONIAL REMINISCENCE^b

"Long, long ago there was an uncommon time of matrimony in Lanier Township, Preble County. The parties concerned were of two very respectable families. One of them, Daniel Adney, one of the first settlers of his neighborhood, moved in the woods with his family and cleared the farm known in later years as the Classon farm. The other was old Peter Rinehart, as he was familiarly called. But Mr. Rinehart came to the neighborhood in later years and bought a farm on the road from Winchester to West Alexandria about three miles from Mr. Adney's. Both families came from Virginia.

"These two families lived peaceably and friendly, as neighbors should, but in the course of time a talk of a great secret got out among the neighbors of something going on between these two families—Mr. Adney's and Mr. Rinehart's—and finally it couldn't be kept any longer, and old Peter's oldest son Jacob called on old Daniel for his daughter Polly to wife. Now Daniel being kind-hearted didn't ask Jacob to serve seven years for his wife, so Daniel gave Polly to Jacob to wife, and Jacob and Polly went their way rejoicing, and multiplying and replenishing the earth.

^bTaken from the "Register" of Delphi, Indiana, a daily paper, dated February 10, 1890, and republished in the Fourth Annual Report Brumbaugh-Rinehart Reunion Association, 1906, pp. 10-11.

"Now there was quietness once more, but this didn't last long, for a new rumor got out and went the rounds among the neighbors and finally it became public that old Peter's second son, Peter, called on Daniel for his daughter Sally. Now Daniel knew young Peter was a good boy, and Daniel gave Sally to Peter to wife, and Peter and Sally went their way rejoicing.

"Now old Daniel expected peace and comfort, but not so. It wasn't long until the same rumor got out that old Peter's third son, Daniel, called on old Daniel for his third daughter, Betsy. Now old Daniel thought old Peter was coming down rather strong, but he had too much grit to be outdone by old Peter, and gave Betsy to Daniel to wife, and hoped that all would be quiet. But not so. Old Peter started out his fourth and last son, David, for Daniel's fourth and last daughter. Now David called on old Daniel for Rebecca. Old Daniel said unto David, 'Take Rebecca to wife, as you have been a good boy.' And David and Rebecca went their way rejoicing.

"Now here is a family of four sons who married four sisters of another family. Who can beat this? OLD BOY."

[E68] JACOB⁴ BRUMBAUGH ([E13] George³, [E2] Jacob², Johannes Henrich¹) b July 4, 1806, upon the old homestead farm in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa.; Oct. 6, 1831, m Rachel⁵ Boyer, b Jan. 6, 1810, 9th ch of Henry and Catharine (Roberts) Boyer,^b and sister of Catharine Boyer, who m [E69] John⁴ Brumbaugh, and Henry Boyer, who m [E18-iii] Susan Garner and Mary Boyer, who m John Michael Garner, b June 1, 1774, latter a bro. of John Matthew Garner, who m [E18] Mary³ Brumbaugh.

Jacob⁴ was a successful farmer, a devoted Christian gentleman of the old school, dear to the entire community in which he long moved. Himself and wife were faithful and active members of G. B. B. Ch., as were all of their children. One of the great delights of the author was to go to "Grandfather's" and roam over the old homestead, stocked with the finest of apples and other fruit by [E227] Abraham W—.⁵ Brumbaugh, and from which even the "old stone house" [see E13], in which he was born, has disappeared—replete with memories of departed loved ones. Jacob⁴ always used German in the family religious worship, and in saying "Grace" at the well filled table, although he spoke and wrote excellently in the English language. He furnished many important basis facts for this publication.

JACOB⁴ BRUMBAUGH [E68] DECLARES THE TERMS OF AN AGREEMENT WITH ABRAHAM W.—⁵ BRUMBAUGH—

"I, Jacob Brumbaugh, hereby acknowledge and declare that in the lifetime of my son Abraham W. Brumbaugh ([E227]) we entered into a verbal agreement whereby I agreed to sell to the said Abraham that certain plantation or tract of land known as my mansion farm situate in Penn Township, Huntingdon County, Penna. adjoining land of Henry⁵ Brumbaugh [E224] on the north west, of Andrew S. Grove on the north east, of Isaac Brumbaugh [E67] on the south west and south east, containing 145 acres more or less, including a small parcel of timber land on the north side of Back Bone ridge, for which the said Abraham agreed to pay to me the sum of six thousand dollars as follows, to wit, two thousand dollars to be credited as a gift to him to equalize him with my other children to whom I sold land, (and the others to whom I have given, or intend to give one thousand dollars), and the remaining four thousand dollars to be paid in eight yearly installments of five hundred dollars, without interest until due, the first to be due and payable 1st April 1868, and yearly thereafter. I reserve the right to have, hold, and use during my natural life a brick house adjoining the old mansion on said premises with ground around sufficient for my use and free access to same, say twenty feet in front and on each of the other sides, except where it adjoins the other house; also whatever I may deem necessary in the several gardens not exceeding one third thereof, also a truck patch for potatoes not exceeding one fourth of an acre; also the use of one third of the spring house; also stabling in the barn with hay from the farm and pasture to be furnished by said Abraham for one horse and two cows; also the pig pen now used by me or another in place of it to suit my convenience; also apples from the orchard for my own use not exceeding the one fourth thereof; also sufficient wood for fuel to be cut and hauled to said house by said Abraham. It was further understood and agreed that the money expended by me in the erection of said brick house should at my death be paid by said Abraham to my estate, which sum in consideration of all circumstances I now reduce to and fix at the sum of four hundred dollars, and the same is charged upon the land for the benefit of all my heirs. In pursuance of which said agreement the said Abraham took possession of the farm subject to the said restrictions and paid to me on account of the purchase money $500.00 the first installment due 1st April 1868, and on account of installment due 1st April 1869 $184.38, subsequently said Abraham died in possession of said land and Henry Brumbaugh his administrator has paid me $1,315.62, as per two receipts given him making the installments due up to and including 1st April 1871, and leaving to be paid thereafter the four installments of $500.00 each. In consideration of said provisos I agree that I will make and execute a deed to the heirs of the said Abraham or any person in trust for them and their mother according to her legal rights upon the said balance of purchase money being paid or secured by bonds or mortgage binding the land—also securing in same way the $400.00 payable at my death to my executor or administrator. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 1st April 1871, and the widow of said Abraham and his administrator have subscribed as witnesses and thereby signified assent.

Ch., of which his wife and all the children were also active members.

John⁴ and his wife lived on the old home farm in part of the house occupied by his son Isaac⁵ [E277]—later they lived with their son David Boyer⁵ [E274] on the "Corners" farm two miles farther up the Raystown Branch, where Catharine d July 24, 1882. An interesting incident is related:^a John⁴ smoked steadily until he reached age 70. He felt that he was in this respect not setting a proper example for others and decided to stop the use of tobacco. His words were: "I will die rather than be overcome by it." During the remaining seventeen years of his life he used no more tobacco, showing what determination of purpose can accomplish. (Illustrations.)

[E113] ALFRED⁵ BRUMBAUGH ([E31] John⁴, same ancestry as [E107] Joseph⁵) b May 19, 1839, at Bell's Furnace, Shirley Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa.; Feb. 22, 1868, m Sarah Jane McCarl, b May 12, 1884, at Cassville, Huntingdon Co., Pa.; dau Robert and Elizabeth (Stevens) McCarl.

During the Civil War Alfred⁵ served as bugler in Co. F, 12th Pa. Cav., and his bro, [E114] Andrew⁵, served in the same company.

"In early life Mr. Brumbaugh united with the M. E. church and all his life demonstrated the reality of the religion which he professed. When in 1859 it was desired by the handful of Methodists, who were among the early settlers of Mapleton, to organize a class here, it was Mr. Brumbaugh and one of his brothers who walked to Bridgeport to see Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wilson, who then resided there, about withdrawing their membership from the then strong Mill Creek congregation and uniting with the struggling band at Mapleton. Their mission was successful and for the more than half a century that has since elapsed Mr. Brumbaugh took the same active interest in church work. He was rarely absent from his place. He was passionately fond of music and a revival or social service in which his strong voice was not heard leading in the songs of invitation or praise would have been incomplete.

"Mr. Brumbaugh frequently filled positions as an official in this borough and though not specially trained for such duties his wealth of common sense and good judgment proved valuable and his sterling honesty made him a valuable acquisition in local governmental affairs. As a neighbor and friend, he was as loyal and faithful as in other capacities. He never swerved from the line he believed to be right.

"The death of Mr. Brumbaugh removes a landmark and is a decided loss from a human point of view, to his family, the community and the church. The world has its ideas of success, and he may not have measured up to its standards, but no well-balanced mind can look upon such a life and deny that it was eminently successful. We commend his career to every young man. In early life he had the wisdom to choose the Christian life and when the time came to change mortality for immortality he goes to the tomb 'like one who wraps the draperies of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams,' and all who knew him are moved to speak his praises."^a Alfred⁵ died suddenly from apoplexy July 3, 1910, and is survived by six ch—Robert Henry⁶ [E600], and Jesse Elmer⁶ [E602] live at Mapleton, Pa., which place had been the home of the family since 1857.

"Sarah Jane Brumbaugh, widow of the late Alfred Brumbaugh, died at her home on Railroad street at 8:20 o'clock Monday evening, January 23, 1911, of pneumonia, after an illness of two weeks.

"Mrs. Brumbaugh's maiden name was McCarl, she being the only daughter of the late Robert and Elizabeth (Stevens) McCarl and was born in Cassville, Pa., May 12, 1844, hence was aged 66 years, 8 months and 11 days. When she was ten years of age the family moved from Cassville to Mapleton and with the exception of one year (1870), which was spent in Mount Union, the balance of her life was spent here. Feb. 22, 1868, she was united in marriage at Mount Union to Alfred Brumbaugh, who died July 3, 1910. To them were born eight children, six of whom—four sons and two daughters—survive. They are John A., of Wilkinsburg; Robert H. and Jesse E., of Mapleton, and Ira Victor, of Lewistown; Mrs. Della Craig, of Huntingdon, and Mrs. Catherine Beale, of Altoona. There also survive six brothers, as follows: William McCarl, of Mercersburg; Edward McCarl, of Clarks Ferry; W. S. McCarl, of Juniata; R. N., Geo. W., and Elmer E. McCarl, of Mapleton.

"Mrs. Brumbaugh united with the M. E. ch. in 1869 and her life was a living epistle of her profession. For some years past her hearing had been defective but last Sunday this function was restored to her in a marked degree of perfection. She at once summoned the friends to her and expressed her gratitude and appreciation of their ministrations, and for the many pleasures they had given her in her life. All day Monday this clearness of her faculties continued and in the evening, at the time above stated, she calmly and peacefully relinquished the burdens of life to assume the pleasures of immortality.

David⁴ was a son of *William H.*³ and Mary A. (Brandenburg) Heckman. William H.³ was born Dec. 25, 1804, in Franklin Co., Va., and was taken from Va. to Clarke Co., O., in 1811, by his parents, David³ and Mary Ann (Snuffer) Heckman. The log cabin erected by William on a government tract of 80 acres of primitive forest was the only house for many miles around.

The Heckman family throughout the generations are and have been active members of G. B. B. Ch., and have always stood high in their localities and have held various church positions of trust. David⁴ was a retired farmer of worth and integrity and, until his d in 1911, lived near Union, Montgomery Co., O. His ancestry is (William H.³, David², Jacob H.¹ Heckman).

He was supervisor of Penn Twp. in 1865 and other years, and favored good roads everywhere. He farmed, with the assistance of his son, Milton Grove⁶ [E631], until he retired from active work a few years before his death, the latter occurring Jan. 28, 1907. He was a deacon in the G. B. B. He worked on his father's farm (the old Brumbaugh homestead [E2]), and attended public school at the "Bowers school"; for one term went to a subscription school at Marklesburg to work up some branches not taught in the public school. He began teaching in 1849 and taught one term at the "Summers schoolhouse," one term at the "Mill schoolhouse," two terms at the "Corner schoolhouse," and two terms at the "Peightel schoolhouse."

He was elected to the ministry of the G. B. B. Ch. in 1863, while he resided on a farm on the banks of the Raystown branch of the Juniata River. At the request of his brother, Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh, M. D. [E226], who then lived in Marklesburg, he moved to that village in 1865, and engaged in the general mercantile business in connection with his ministry. He is well known in his community and in the church at large as an eloquent and forcible speaker, and is colloquially distinguished from his cousin, George⁵ Brumbaugh [E275], another minister in the James Creek Congregation of the Church of the Brethren (G. B. B. Ch.), as "talking George," which phrase indicates his natural eloquence and pulpit power.

He was appointed by the court to make the survey of the original village of Marklesburg, and later made the survey for the extension of the boundaries of this borough; was borough engineer for many years; was a member of its first council and also of many subsequent councils. He served as burgess of the borough, and also as a member of its school board. He was postmaster of James Creek (Marklesburg P. O.), Huntingdon Co., Pa., for twenty-four years, and at one time owned more acres of land than any other resident of Penn Twp. In his later years he retired from mercantile business and has returned to his early love—the farm—living near the borough limits of Marklesburg, Pa.

Martha also was a member of the G. B. B. Ch., in which her husband has so long labored; she died at Marklesburg, Nov. 15, 1908, and was tenderly laid in the Brumbaugh cemetery on the old Penn Twp. homestead [E2].

THE GROVE FAMILIES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Owing to the intermarriages between Brumbaughs and Groves in Pa., and between Brumbachs and Groves in Va.,^a part of the latter early coming from Pa., the following details are given:

"Jacob Grove (originally Graf, Graff, Grof, Groff, and finally Grove) came from Lancaster Co., Pa., in 1795 or 1796. He located on the farm at present owned and occupied by Benjamin H. Grove, a grandson, situate about two miles south of Grafton, in Woodcock Valley (Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa.). He had eight children, five sons, viz.: Benjamin, Daniel, Jacob, John and Andrew, and three dau. Of the sons, Jacob and Andrew still reside on the Raystown Branch, in Penn Twp. One of the daughters is still living, and resides at Logansport, Ind. The Grove family is one of the largest in the township."

Hans Groff ("Hans Graaf"—Graaf der Jäger) and others are mentioned in History of Lancaster Co., Pa. He came from Switzerland and secured a large tract of land in Lancaster Co., Nov. 22, 1717; had sons: Peter, David, John, Daniel, Marcus, and Samuel. The probable relationship to the later Grove families has not been traced.^b

The excellent photograph of Rev. George Boyer Brumbaugh, herewith reproduced, shows him seated beside the precipitous "Abbott's Run" on the "Forge" property, formerly owned by him, but now part of the state forestry reservations. George⁵, in common with almost every visitor to this wondrously wild and beautiful tract of several thousand acres, is always happy while there. During the winter term of 1878, when smallpox in Huntingdon caused the closing of the Brethren's Normal School, he immediately offered free asylum there to such students as might desire to make it their home.^c

Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. His education was begun in a subscription school prior to the establishment of an organized system of public education in Penna., and continued in the public schools, after which he taught nine years.^a He attended a select school ("Academia") near Newport, Perry Co., Pa., and Millersville State Normal School. While working upon his father's farm, and at the carpenter's bench, he studied some of the higher branches, ever striving to better equip himself—"Life is real, life is earnest!" was often repeated by him to his son, and others—these words explaining his constant activity in bettering conditions about him.

"His early training was academic, not collegiate, but by private study and earnest application he became a thorough master of the classics and sciences, thus fitting himself for that large sphere in life to which ambition and destiny led him."

Oct. 11, 1859, he m Maria Baer Frank, b Feb. 10, 1840, on the "Frank farm,"^b in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa.; dau Jacob and Elizabeth Brubaker (Baer) Frank. Her parents came from Lancaster Co., Pa., where the Brubakers, Baers and Franks have a long and interesting Mennonite ancestry.

Andrew⁵ decided to make the practice of medicine his life work. While earning a living for his small family by working at the carpenter trade, with anatomy and other medical books open before him upon the work bench, he laid deeply the foundation for his later medical and surgical success. He also trained both hands, and became ambidextrous for his later surgical and other professional work. He matriculated at the Med. Dept. of Univ. of Pa., Oct., 1863, and graduated (M. D.) in the class of 1866—thesis was "The True System of Medical Electicism." Prior to graduation he had acquired a considerable medical practice in Penn Twp. and at Marklesburg, as shown by his diaries for '62 and '63. His entry for Jan. 27, 1865, 43 yrs. before his death, shows his constant dependance upon the Heavenly Father: "Had four patients today . . . May the Lord, in whom we trust, and on whom we rely, prosper and assist me and give me wisdom, that I may succeed fully in my calling! Amen!"

Oct. 12, 1864, the family moved from the homestead farm to Marklesburg. April, 1866, he located in the office of the late Dr. Luden, in Huntingdon, Pa., and continued in active practice in this town until his death.

^bThis was the site of "Fort Hartsok" (or "Hartslog"), closely adjoining the Brumbaugh homestead, and this farm later passed into ownership of the late [E274]+David Boyer² Brumbaugh.

“ A VISIT TO MORRISON’S COVE ”

“ On Friday, Feb. 23d (1867) we set out for Morrison’s Cove via Huntingdon, Saxton and Cove Station. At Huntingdon we had the opportunity of visiting brother Andrew B. Brumbaugh, now very successfully engaged in the practice of medicine. Hope he may, under the blessing of the great Physician, and by close application to the duties of his profession, be the instrument through which much suffering may be spared our unfortunate race.”^a

Intense concentration and keen observation were the key notes of his life. Much of his recreation and happiness throughout life was drawn from the gratification of his intense love of nature and for nature study. As these lines are penned, memories of delightful walks and drives in his company over the hills and vales of Pa. pass in rapid succession before the author and such experiences will be remembered alike by family, friends and patients.

Dr. Brumbaugh loved books and literary work. His diary for Sept. 24-25, 1864, and the following letter, are significant and especially interesting, referring to the wonderful collection of books, much of which his nephew [M. G. B., E682] later secured for the institution even mentally planned at that early date:

. . . “ Left the city about 9¼ hrs. to come to Indian Creek Church to a lovefeast. Came by the North Penna. R. R. to Louder’s station, and walked to place of meeting, 6 ms. Enjoyed myself much at the meeting, after which I went with Bro. Umsted to Bro. Abraham H. Cassel’s. He has the largest library of any brother or other private individual in the Commonwealth. His collection is of many of the rarest and most ancient works in the world. Many exceedingly valuable works are found on his shelves. He has much material of immense value to the Church, and to a Church school that should be founded.”

“ This morning as soon as breakfast was over, we went to look at Bro. Cassel’s very extensive library. Here I enjoyed myself very much until late meeting time. Good meeting. After meeting I went back to Bro. Cassel’s, where I stay over night. This evening we looked over many literary, and other curiosities. Also many of Bro. Cassel’s own productions in manuscript. We did not retire until a late hour.” . . .

“ Hundreds of times have I talked of you and held up your achievements as an incentive to others to make greater efforts. That library almost ‘ haunts me,’ and I long to be where it is, or near it. . . . It does strike me forcibly that it ought to be secured, and placed in connection with the ‘ Brethren’s School' at this place. . . . This enterprise has in it the elements of success, and must succeed under the blessings of God."^a

He was truly a "pioneer educator" in his church and amongst his own people. He regarded the founding of The Pilgrim at Marklesburg, Pa., in 1870, as a logical step toward the fulfillment of his cherished dream—his oft repeated words were "Paper and advanced educational institution together at Huntingdon."

"With singleness of purpose and a deep insight as to the future educational and other possibilities for the College and other associated Church interests to be grouped together at Huntingdon, he steadily tried to influence the opinions of the Church leaders and to lay deep the foundations for Juniata College," &c.

Dr. Brumbaugh was baptized by "S. Lehman of Va., Sept. 7, 1853, in Morrison's Cove, Blair Co., Pa., at the Clover Creek Ch.," having walked 12 miles across Tussey's mountain from his home to attend the then nearest church. He continued actively in the work of the Church of the Brethren (G. B. B.) throughout his life. At the time of his death he had been the only secretary of "The Brethren (German Baptist) Church of Huntingdon, Pa." . . . "which began its existence in 1876 with a membership of 8 persons," and was incorporated June 16, 1888.^b

Dr. Brumbaugh similarly held the position of secretary of trustees of Juniata College and served, with singleness and steadfastness of purpose, the Normal Select School and each of its successors in title. Further details are contained in the article upon Juniata College, immediately following this biography.

For a number of years Dr. Brumbaugh was literary editor of The Pilgrim and also of The Huntingdon Journal. He founded the Juniata Echo, in connection with the other trustees of Juniata College, and was its editor, representing it in membership upon the Pa. State Educational Assn. His literary activity also showed itself in various papers and addresses before medical, literary and historical bodies.

That literary life led him to early attempt to trace his family origin, and to make the investigations which secured early and important records, original papers, and personal narratives by old people long since passed away. These activities and his constant interest and encouragement have made possible important parts of this publication, and materially helped to sustain the compiler in the persistent labors necessary to subsequently carry the work to its present form.

“No doctor in this section of the State was a closer student and investigator than Dr. Brumbaugh. Though advanced in years, he was modern and up-to-date in his work, the natural sequence of his close alliance with the medical societies of the state and nation, whose meetings he regularly attended. He was identified with the Huntingdon County Medical Society, which he helped to organize in 1872 [pres., secy. and treas. at various times]; member of the State Medical Society; the American Medical Association; the National Association of Railway Surgeons, and of the American Academy of Railway Surgeons. He was a member of the pension examining board in Huntingdon for nearly thirty years, and at the time of his death was the surgeon of the Pennsylvania and Broad Top railroads at this point. He was the county inspector of the State Board of Health and a member of the local board [as also a member of the National Board of Health during its existence]. He was the physician at the Orphans' Home for 27 years, and the bigness of his heart is revealed from the fact that he served without any compensation whatever.”^a He also assisted the late David Emmert,^b the founder of the said Orphans' Home, and the originator of the “Huntingdon idea” in dealing with orphans, in every manner possible and served continuously as a trustee—all the Huntingdon Brumbaughs have been closely connected with this work.

“Dr. Brumbaugh is highly esteemed not only for his professional ability, but also for his public-spirited generosity and active interest in all movements relative to the general improvement of the community in whose behalf he has so industriously and effectively labored.”

“Here for 42 years he has been going in and out of the homes of our people, ministering alike to rich and poor, high and low, and winning fresh laurels year after year, both for his well rounded ability and the persevering industry he displayed in his professional life. He was equally successful in the dual relation of physician and surgeon, which is uncommon.”

“. . . Our remembrance of him will be of one who in all his relations in life, both public and private, was the embodiment of loyalty and devotion.”^c

Jan. 21, 1908, Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh attended the annual meeting of the Pa. State Ed. Assn. at Harrisburg. They returned to Huntingdon next day, and the doctor at once started in his buggy to see patients. He became sick with intense symptoms of appendicitis; went to bed; was taken to Thus his oft expressed wish that he might "die in the professional harness" was actually fulfilled. His body was tenderly laid away in Riverview Cemetery, overlooking the center of much of his long years of faithful service. Such a life is a continued blessing, and an inspiration.

A FEW RESOLUTIONS, EDITORIALS, ETC.

At a special meeting of the Huntingdon County Medical Society, Jan. 29, 1908, the following was ordered to be placed upon the minutes:

"In the death of Dr. Andrew B. Brumbaugh, who was one of the founders and a member of the society since April 9, 1872, and its secretary for many years, this society has sustained a great loss. He was rarely absent from its meetings and was always willing to use his rich fund of experience and ripe judgment in promoting the interests of the society and maintaining its dignity and honor.

"For forty-two years, by day and by night, in sunshine and storm, he devoted his talents to the people of this community and ministered with great medical and surgical skill to alleviate their sickness and suffering."

"The inadequacy of words forces itself upon us as we endeavor to speak editorially by way of appreciation of our deceased Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh. He was such an ardent spirit in his interest in everything that made for the advancement of Juniata in general, and of The Echo in particular. The Echo was his own creation; and it seems such a strange coincidence that his death should occur while the last Echo, containing just a little sketch of him, was being published. Doctor had creative imagination, literary taste and style, insight into human nature, sympathy to the extent of self-sacrifice; devotion to home, and friends, and profession, and church, and school, away beyond the ordinary; and a hearty good-cheer that made him always invigorating. He leaves a great vacancy in the large community of which he was part; and we can only hope that those who take up the various lines of activity in which he led shall catch somewhat of inspiration from his resourceful personality."^a

EXTRACT FROM MINUTES OF TRUSTEES OF JUNIATA
COLLEGE, MARCH 3, 1908

“The Trustees of Juniata College in recording the death, January 27, 1908, of Dr. Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh, Secretary of the Board of Trustees, unite in expressing their feeling of loss and sorrow in the removal from their midst of one who had been a loyal and earnest co-worker in the cause of Christian education.

“Dr. Brumbaugh was active in promoting and establishing the small school which was opened April 17, 1876. From that date to the time of his death he was Secretary of the governing body, or Trustees of the institution, and its inner history is preserved in his handwriting. He was most faithful in attendance upon meetings, even when held at hours which interfered with his professional practice. His service as a Trustee was much more than perfunctory. As a close student of affairs, well read in different fields of study and investigation, his views were progressive and often ahead of the times. He suggested new activities and gave the enthusiasm of his own spirit to aid any movement which counted for the development of the College.

“Dr. Brumbaugh also served as a member of the Faculty, giving his time without remuneration, for lectures to the student body on Hygiene. In this form of instruction he took special delight, and his practical work along this line is well remembered by many who were under his tuition.

“As Editor of the Juniata Echo he performed a distinctive service to the College, especially in maintaining an official organ for the institution in the days when it was small. His pen was ready and high hopes were expressed most confidently for the school to which he gave so much of his time and thought.

“On the personal side Dr. Brumbaugh will be remembered best as the College Physician, who ministered with skill and devotion to those who needed his assistance. To natural acumen, and a thorough understanding of the science of medicine, he added those qualities which made him quick to perceive the source and nature of disease, and ready to adapt the remedy to the patient. Joined to this professional skill were those personal traits of sympathy, and solicitude which made one glad to go to him for medical advice.

“In recalling these services to the College and recording the loss which it has suffered, the Trustees wish to add their word of sympathy for the immediate family who have no more the companionship with one who possessed so many splendid traits of heart and mind. May they enjoy the comforts and blessings of Our Heavenly Father, who does all things well!

“In Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh we recognized a professional man of highest rank, eminent as a surgeon and successful as a practitioner; a philanthropist who gave of his professional and material means to those in need, without expectation of reward; a useful, public-spirited citizen who always had the highest welfare of the community at heart; a devoted Trustee of Juniata College, tirelessly working for her growth in influence as a center of religious and intellectual culture and power; a faithful member of the Brethren Church, discharging his duties conscientiously throughout the years of his residence here; and a man of exceptional breadth of culture and depth of intellectual insight.”

The Faculty of Juniata College, Feb. 6, 1908.

“Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh, M. D., Sec. of Board of Trustees, and Lecturer on Hygiene, died on the 27 Jan., 1908, in the 72 year of his age. Doctor Brumbaugh had been associated with the institution since its founding, was one of its founders and as the first of that group to settle in Huntingdon, was the real pioneer in the idea of establishing a Brethren school in this community. The college was fortunate in having his counsel as a Trustee through a period of 32 yrs. He was the creator of the Juniata Echo. He wrote with enthusiasm about the work and ideals of the college, and continued as editor-in-chief of the Echo close to the time of his death. By many he is remembered because of his gifts as a physician and surgeon, as well as for the attractiveness of his personality. In the study and practice of medicine he was progressive and constantly kept in touch with the learned societies of his profession. To professional skill he added a fine literary and artistic taste. He was independent in thought, quick in judgment, and candid in expression. A man of such varied interests and abilities is a valuable factor in the development of an educational institution, and his direct personal influence is remembered with appreciation by those who gained inspiration from his life of friendly service.”^a

Mrs. Brumbaugh desired to live in close association with the projects so dear to her late husband, and purchased a lot facing the campus of Juniata College and the new stone church erected therein, and in 1911 moved into her new residence located at 1618 Moore St., Huntingdon, Pa.

" A PSALM OF LIFE " ^b

"Tell me not, in mournful numbers,
 Life is but an empty dream!
 For the soul is dead that slumbers,
 And things are not what they seem.

Life is real! Life is earnest!
 And the grave is not its goal;
 Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
 Was not spoken of the soul.

 With a heart for any fate;
 Still achieving, still pursuing,
 Learn to labor and to wait."

JUNIATA COLLEGE—MOVEMENTS LEADING TO ITS FOUNDING

“During the early years of the existence of the Brethren Church (G. B. B.) in this country the membership was generally opposed to education, in the belief that it tended to ‘worldly mindedness,’ and led away from the ‘simplicity of the gospel’; but in later years a strong sentiment grew up in favor of a more liberal education than the public schools afforded, and there were those in the church who felt that schools should be organized by the Brethren, and under their control, where the children of the fraternity and others, the young of both sexes, could receive an education free from the contaminating influences of fashionable life, and surrounded by such influences as would not prejudice their minds against any of the doctrines of the Bible.”^a

A brief summary of the principal pioneer, denominational educational movements preceding the establishment of Juniata College is herewith given to show the conditions and surroundings of its inception and development.

In 1834 James Quinter began teaching a school at Lumberville, Montgomery Co., Pa., in a building also used for church purposes. In March, 1856, he published a letter in the Gospel Visitor urging the need of higher Church education.

“Sister Sarah Douglass, James Quinter, and Jacob Miller had established select schools confined to the English branches and common grade and a large number of our prominent elders and ministers had taught in the common schools previous to the beginning of this period, but not until April 1, 1861, had any member of the Church of the Brethren (G. B. B.) attempted to establish an institution in which was taught Latin, Greek, higher mathematics and advanced sciences.”

“Kishacoquillas Seminary was located about twenty-two miles south-east of Huntingdon, Pa., the seat of Juniata College. This Seminary was built by the Presbyterians in a strong, wealthy Presbyterian community and was well patronized from the beginning, but for some cause it failed financially three times during six years, and then was sold by the sheriff and bought by Solomon Zug Sharp. On April 1, 1861, the school was opened under the principalship of a brother, with thirty-six students which number was soon increased to seventy-two.” . . . “The facts are it continued for seventeen years and until the Brethren’s Normal College at Huntingdon was firmly established.”

“In October, 1861, six months after the opening of the school at Kishacoquillas, James Quinter began his first session at the academy in New Vienna, Ohio. He saw the advantage of such a school to the Church of the Brethren to save many of our most talented young men to the church," etc.

"The school was closed June 27, 1864, on account of the disturbed condition of the country caused by the War of the Rebellion."^a Bourbon, Ind., brethren attempted to purchase Salem College about 1870, but for various reasons the project failed.

In 1872 an unsuccessful attempt was made to establish a school at Berlin, Pa., and the late Elder Henry R. Holsinger was a prominent factor in the same.

"In 1874 Elder Lewis Kimmel, assisted by Howard Miller, began a school in the Plum Creek meetinghouse, one mile from Elderton, Pa. He gave to the institution the name of Plum Creek Normal School. Only three students were enrolled the first day, but the two principals were accomplished teachers and the school soon gained a large patronage, and in the spring of 1875 had an enrollment of about one hundred, a large proportion of whom were teachers and those preparing to teach. The character of the school was maintained on a high moral and religious plane. Its unfavorable location and opposition induced the friends of the school to abandon it at the end of four years."

BRETHREN'S NORMAL COLLEGE

"Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh, H. B. Brumbaugh, J. B. Brumbaugh and J. M. Zuck were the promoters of the project which resulted in establishing what is now Juniata College."^b

In March, 1876, at a conference between Elder Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E276] and John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E278], then publishers of The Pilgrim, in Huntingdon . . . and Dr. Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh [E226], their cousin, of the same place, while discussing the school projects and their prospects, the doctor, who had the possibility of establishing a school at Huntingdon in prospect for years,^c proposed that "while they are asking for an endowment fund at Berlin, and trying to sell scholarships at Plum Creek, we start a school here, and ask for students only, and do such work that the school will commend itself." This was nobly seconded by the others, one offering to board the teacher "free if need be" (J. B. B.), and the other to "furnish the room" (H. B. B.). (A. B. B. was to "furnish the students and some furniture.") John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E278] was designated to correspond with Jacob Martin Zuck of Clay Lick, Pa., who was known to him as a young man of more than ordinary ability in teaching, and by them thought to be the proper man for the place, and who was looking for just such an opportunity, and full of the spirit of the work, and who proved to be the efficient pioneer of a work fraught with so much of importance to the future of the church and its doctrines. He was secured and accordingly, on the 17th day of April, 1876, the school was opened in a room in the Pilgrim building (since the Primitive Christian), owned by Elder H. B. Brumbaugh [E276], who did very much to the further success of the enterprise by his liberality and enterprise, and from the election of the "temporary trustees" to the present (1912) has been president of the board of trustees.

"NORMAL SELECT SCHOOL

"The undersigned will open a normal select school in the Pilgrim building, Huntingdon, Pa. The school year will consist of four terms of eleven weeks each, beginning April 17, Sept. 4, Nov. 20, 1876, and Feb. 12, 1877.

"The patronage of all is solicited. Special attention given to those desiring to teach. For further particulars address J. M. ZUCK, Huntingdon, Pa."

"The school opened with three students in attendance: Miss Rebecca Cornelius, of Shirleysburg, Pa. (nee Black); Miss Maggie D. Miller (nee Campbell), and Gaius M.⁶ Brumbaugh [E743] of Huntingdon. By the close of the first term the number of students had reached seventeen, and at the opening of the fall term it was found necessary to provide more room for the accommodation of the increasing number of students attracted by the popularity of the school, and the large building, No. 1224 Washington Street, was secured and occupied until its overcrowding demanded still greater facilities."

"On the 27th day of January, 1877, steps were taken toward the erection of a suitable building to accommodate the increasing patronage, and to establish the school on a permanent basis. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions, etc. The committee consisted of Elder James Quinter, Dr. Andrew B. Brumbaugh [E226], and Professor Jacob Martin Zuck, and reported the following:

EDUCATIONAL HUNTINGDON NORMAL SCHOOL

We, the committee appointed at a school meeting of the brethren, at Huntingdon, Pa., January 27th, 1877, to draft resolutions, etc., report the following:

WHEREAS, the subject of Education has been before the fraternity of the Brethren for a number of years, and many have felt the need of a school surrounded by the proper moral influences; and, whereas, brother J. M. Zuck has opened a school in the town of Huntingdon, Pa., known as the Huntingdon Normal School, which has met with encouragement and has awakened a decided interest on the part of brethren and others, and apparently only needs better accommodations to make it a complete success; and, whereas, all acknowledge Huntingdon to be a good location for a school such as we need, in order that we may retain, develop and utilize the talent that otherwise might be lost to the church; therefore Resolved (1), That we will make an effort to raise the necessary funds to establish an educational institution in the town of Huntingdon, Pa., and that to this end we will respectfully but earnestly solicit the co-operation and assistance of our brethren and others friendly to the cause.

Resolved (2), That we commend to the serious and prayerful consideration of our brethren the educational project set on foot by the brethren in the aforesaid town of Huntingdon, and appeal to all who can do so, to lend a helping hand in the way of donating or subscribing to the fund to be known as the "Huntingdon School Fund."

Resolved (3), That although we shall aim to get as many of the brethren as possible interested in this enterprise, yet we approach all such brethren in an individual rather than in a church capacity, and hence this measure ought to be regarded as a private or individual enterprise, and concerns only those who are, or may become, friendly to the cause.

Resolved (4), That the brethren who have inaugurated this movement, residing in the town of Huntingdon, be and are hereby constituted a Board of temporary Trustees, who shall elect their own officers, appoint a general agent or solicitor, and take such other steps as may be necessary in order to carry out the work in which they have engaged.

Resolved (5), That the Temporary Trustees of the Huntingdon School Fund and the subscribers and donors to said fund enter into the following articles of agreement:

ARTICLE I.—DESIGN.

The design of this Fund shall be to establish a school or institution of learning that will provide the young of both sexes with such educational advantages as will fit them for the duties and responsibilities of life, and more especially to secure these advantages to the youth of our own fraternity at such a place and surrounded by such influences as will not prejudice their minds against any of the doctrines of the Bible, as believed and practiced by the Brethren.

ARTICLE II.—BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

A Board of nine Trustees, all of whom shall be brethren, and at least five of whom shall reside in the vicinity of the school and constitute a quorum, shall be elected by and from among the stockholders, each share of $100 entitling the holder to one vote. The first election shall be held at such a place and time as may be agreed upon by the Temporary Trustees, at which election three members shall be elected for three years, three for two, and three for one year, according to the respective number of votes, those receiving the greatest number of votes to serve the longest periods of time. After the first year, elections shall be held annually or as often as may be necessary in order to fill vacancies, and the brethren thus elected shall serve for a period of three years and shall be subject to re-election at the pleasure of the stockholders. Said Board of Trustees shall have discretionary powers in all that pertains to the welfare of the school; and the duties of its members shall be the same as are generally required of such officers in similar institutions.

ARTICLE III.—MANNER OF RAISING FUNDS.

The Temporary Trustees shall appoint a brother as general agent and solicitor whose duty it shall be, in connection with such sub-agents as may be appointed by him, to secure a sufficient amount of subscriptions and donations to enable the Trustees to carry out the design specified in Art. I.

ARTICLE IV.—DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS.

Section 1.—All stock-subscriptions shall be applied to the purchase of a plot of ground and the erection thereupon of suitable buildings, said ground and buildings to be the property of the stockholders, and in the event of sale the proceeds thereof shall revert to said stockholders.

Section 2.—All donations shall be known as the stock of the school, and, unless otherwise ordered by the doners or the Board of Trustees, shall be applied to the providing of the above named buildings with the necessary furniture, books, apparatus, etc., all of which articles shall be the property of the school, and shall be under the care and supervision of the Principal; and, moreover, all dividends and proceeds accruing from the aforesaid donations shall be applied to the up-building of the school, or to the promotion of the cause of education in such other ways as may be agreed upon by the Principal and the Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE V.—OBLIGATION.

The following obligation shall head all lists of subscriptions or donations:

We, the undersigned subscribers [or doners] to the Huntingdon School Fund, agree to pay the several sums opposite our respective names, one half to be paid on demand of the chief solicitor for said fund, and the other half within six months from the first payment.

Resolved (6), That the original subscription lists, with a transcript of the same alphabetically arranged, and a copy of these resolutions, together with a record of the Temporary Trustees, and of other matters of importance, connected with the founding of the school be kept in its archives for use and reference in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

ELDER JAMES QUINTER	} Committee.
DR. A. B. BRUMBAUGH
PROF. J. M. ZUCK.

The foregoing report being approved at a meeting of the Brethren at Huntingdon, Pa., February 2nd, 1877, and sanctioned at a council meeting of the Brethren in the James Creek congregation, Huntingdon county, Pa., February 3rd, 1877, the following brethren, according to the resolution, are constituted a Board of Temporary Trustees:

JAMES QUINTER,
H. B. BRUMBAUGH, [E276]
A. B. BRUMBAUGH, [E226]

J. M. ZUCK,
J. B. BRUMBAUGH, [E278]
J. W. BEER.

Although admission to the school was from the start free to the members of every, or even no, religious denomination; yet, because of the real purpose of its founding and in spite of the indifference and even opposition of Brethren in certain quarters, students were enrolled from eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri. During the winter of 1877 the school disbanded on account of the smallpox plague that visited Huntingdon in that year, and during the "scare" three students^a from Ohio took refuge at "The Forge," or "Orphan's Retreat," on Trough Creek,^b about five miles south from Marklesburg, Huntingdon Co., Pa.

"Regular hours of study were observed, and so, it may be said, this little upper room in the wilderness is the link that unites the broken chain in Juniata's history. In the intervals of study and work the boys explored the wild romantic region round about. For nearly two months they were thus exiled. . . .

"One day they were surprised by a sledding party from town, which came with plenty of good things for the occasion and some to spare. It may be ^aThe "refugees" were Benjamin F. Bowser, Levi Stoner, and William Beery. interesting to note that here came a youth betimes to spend nights with the boys. He was acquainted with all that rugged region, and led them on many an excursion up the slippery glens and over the mountain tops. His father ([E225] George Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh) was owner of thousands of acres of this untamed country and many summer days he spent lumbering hereabouts. Probably, he here, too, caught the flavor of school life, for when the boys returned in the early spring there was one new student registered whose life from that time forward has been associated with the life of Juniata. We called him then 'M. G.,' but now everybody calls him 'Dr. M. G.' ([E682] Martin Grove⁶ Brumbaugh).

In further description of "The Forge Country,"^a I quote:

"The pure blue of the sky—for one seemed to be looking from the deep casement of a window which shut off all surrounding objects—never seemed so blue before. The rich green of pine and hemlock that crowned and festooned hill and peak, and the merry rush and gurgle of the stream, whose course was one succession of cascades through the entire length of the gorge, appealed to nature-loving souls and compensated for the loss of human companionship. . . . At the foot of the highest peak we were shown the cave where ice is found in midsummer and from which a cool current of air constantly flows. The lichens and liverworts clung to the rocks in rich profusion, and, had we known it, a genuine arctic flora might have been found. A quick run up the stream brought us to 'Wild Cat' or 'Abbotts Run,' a rocky cañon almost terrifying in its wildness. We followed 'Laurel Run,' where speckled trout flitted like sunbeams in the crystal pools, and returning crossed a spur of the ridge and entered a little cove called 'The Kettle' from its peculiar shape as seen from the cliff beyond the creek."

"When the smallpox scourge came, and it became necessary to close the school, it was a question in the minds of some of us whether it could ever be revived again. But not so in the mind of Prof. Zuck. Some thought all hope for the school was gone. I said to him, as the students were leaving: 'Well, if there is no hope at all, I suppose we must stop.' 'Stop! No!' said he, 'we commenced this work as an experiment and nothing less than death itself will stop me, and if I should be stricken and die, I hope some others will have the courage to take up the work and continue it.'"^b

"When the last smallpox sign disappeared 'the refugees' returned and the school was reopened. By April first all the members of the faculty were at their posts. Many of the old students came back, and a surprisingly large number of new ones were enrolled."^a

"In the first catalogue, published in the spring of 1878, seven teachers constitute the faculty, and the names of one hundred and seventy-two students are recorded, most of them taking the 'Normal English Course,' although Music and Art are emphasized, and a 'College Course' of four years is outlined as an indication of the high aims of the 'Founders.' The school year consisted of forty-eight weeks divided into four terms, the 'Institute Term' of six weeks beginning July 22nd."^b

"A beautiful site, consisting of an entire block of lots on an elevated portion of the borough of Huntingdon, . . . was purchased by the Board of Trade and donated to the trustees for the use of the school. The building ('Founders Hall') was completed in the winter of 1878-'79 and was first occupied for the spring term of 1879. A charter of incorporation was granted by the court Nov. 18, 1878 . . . under the name of Brethrens Normal College."

The petition for this incorporation was signed by James Quinter, Henry Boyer Brumbaugh [E276], Jacob Martin Zuck, John Boyer Brumbaugh [E278], Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh, M. D. [E226], Samuel E. Henry, A. H. Hight, and Buchanan & Son.

"The school was commenced as a private enterprise, under Professor Jacob M. Zuck, who soon found it necessary to associate with himself other teachers. Miss Phoebe W. Weakley was the first assistant, then Professor Jacob H.⁵ Brumbaugh [E232], and these three formed the first faculty as elected by the temporary trustees, Feb. 28, 1879, when Professor Jacob M. Zuck was elected president and principal and Professor Jacob H. Brumbaugh [E232] secretary. Other teachers, and for different departments, were secured from time to time as required among whom was David Emmert,^c the artist, and founder of the Orphan's Home" (who long was a member of the faculty, and who continued a member of the board of trustees of Juniata College, as the institution is now chartered). "Professor Zuck died May 11, 1879, aged thirty-three years, from pneumonia, sincerely lamented by all who knew him, having accomplished a work and erected a monument more lasting in the perpetuation of his memory than tablets of stone. His was a pure life, devoted to the best interests of humanity and the cause of the Great Master, who will own his work."

1879, Elder James Quinter was elected president of the college . . . and Professor Jacob H. Brumbaugh [E232] was elected principal to fill the place made vacant by the death of Professor Zuck, and which position he held until the office of principal was abolished in 1881, when he was elected secretary of the institution, and still remains a valued member of the faculty."

"In the spring of 1878 Joseph W. Beer removed from Huntingdon and Elder William J. Swigart was elected to fill his place on the board of temporary trustees, and still forms one of the business quorum of the regular board, which consists of Elder Henry Boyer Brumbaugh, president; Dr. Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh,^a secretary; Elder James Quinter,^b John Boyer Brumbaugh, and Elder Wm. J. Swigart, treasurer and member of the faculty. The board of trustees has been increased by the charter to fifteen, five of whom are elected annually."

"From the opening of the school it has been highly successful, and has had among its patrons earnest young men and women from a majority of the States of the Union and the foreign countries of Denmark and Mexico. The first class that was graduated from a Brethren's school was at the commencement, July 3, 1879, when the degree of Bachelor in English was conferred upon M. Linnie Bosserman of Polo, Mo., Phebe R. Norris of Gettysburg, Pa., and Gaius M.⁶ Brumbaugh [E743] + of Huntingdon." . . .

"In the decade of 1880-1890 the school became rather intensive than extensive in its growth. The Summer Institute Term was dropped in 1880. The Normal Department received most attention, though there were three graduates in the Scientific Course.

"In 1881-'82-'83 Prof. William J. Swigart and Prof. L. S. Shimmel were chairmen of the faculty successively, and Prof. Jacob H. Brumbaugh, secretary, Prof. Brumbaugh taking the chairmanship again in 1883 and holding that position until the death of President Quinter in 1889, when he again became Principal, the office of President being filled until 1894 by Elder Henry Boyer Brumbaugh. During these years and up to the present time Prof. Swigart was Treasurer and Prof. Joseph E. Saylor was Secretary, and also Librarian until 1904. In the list of regular members of the faculty for 1882-'83 appears the name of Prof. J. B. Kidder, long known in Huntingdon as a profound scholar. He taught the Ancient Languages. Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, after having completed the Normal English Course in 1882, appears as a member of the faculty teaching English and Natural Science in 1882-'83, in 1885 as a graduate of the Scientific Course, and again in 1889-'90-'91 as teacher of Natural Sciences, Pedagogics, and English until he began his university career. Prof. Frank H. Green, now of West Chester State Normal School, was head of the department of English, from the spring of 1884 until the end of the school year, 1888.

“The Alumni Association was formally organized in 1887. Dr. Andrew B. Brumbaugh and his son, Dr. Gaius M. Brumbaugh, of Washington, D. C., were particularly active in developing the library and the museum, the latter arranging with the U. S. government to constitute Juniata College one of the Congressional depositories of her numerous publications. The Bible Department was established in 1889, a one and a two year course being offered. During these years from 1880 to 1890 the total number of students yearly enrolled numbered about two hundred and fifty.

“The steady growth of the institution now demanded more room, and Ladies' Hall was built in 1890-'91. Mr. John G. Keeney became steward, and the number of students and teachers became noticeably larger. Prof. G. W. Snavely was formally installed as Principal of the newly organized Business Department. The first special Bible Term, held ever since during the winter for popular Bible study, was opened in 1892. To the Department of Vocal Music, which Prof. William Beery had been conducting since 1880, was added a teacher in piano-forte. Prof. David Emmert, who had been an early promoter of the institution and one of its most earnest teachers, but who because of his interest in the care for orphans had been absent for several years, returned to the Faculty as teacher of Art and Botany, in 1894.

“The Oriental and Wahneeta Literary Societies were organized, instead of the one Eclectic Society, in the Spring of 1892.

“In the winter of 1893-'94, Dr. Martin Grove Brumbaugh returned to his Alma Mater as its President. Very soon the institution began to plan for definite work along higher lines. A number of “post graduates,” as they were called, returned and began to line up for the four years Classical Course and the A. B. degree. The Normal English Course was freely sprinkled with ‘electives’ in order to furnish opportunity for definite preparation for college. A large class of ‘Special Students in Literature’ entered from the town. And the enthusiasm for larger things took definite shape in a new building largely contributed to by students and now known as ‘Student's Hall.’ An amended charter was secured in 1896, and the name ‘Juniata College’ was adopted.

“For the year 1896-'97 it was announced that Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, who had already begun some teaching in the University of Pennsylvania, would permanently reside in Philadelphia, and that Prof. I. Harvey Brumbaugh would perform the active administrative duties of President Brumbaugh's office. In June, 1897, the first student was graduated from the course in Arts, receiving the degree of A. B. Since then there have regularly been graduates in this course. In 1896-'97 the idea of larger scope in the work of the institution took shape in the form of a two years' Seminary Course, from which there was one graduate in 1900. This course was combined in 1900-'01 with the College Preparatory Course, which had first been offered in 1883-'84 and again in 1898-'99, and called the four years Academy Course. The student body continually increased and Oneida Hall was built in 1898. In 1899 the Athletic Field was purchased. In 1901, at the twenty-fifth anniversary, an especially large number of old students, friends, and Alumni were present for Commencement Week, the exercises being held in the unfinished Gymnasium, which building was built in response to the intensity of student interest and substantial aid. This period of Juniata's history is also marked by the development of many features of College life on the one hand and still more especially by the introduction of the more distinctively scholarly features of the courses and the instruction. The Juniata Echo, established, first of all, by Dr. Andrew B. Brumbaugh as a quarterly and later developed into a monthly, reflects the literary temper of these and later years. A quarterly Bulletin, edited by Acting-President Prof. I. Harvey Brumbaugh, publishes special lectures, sermons, addresses and theses.

"With the erection of the Library, gift of Andrew Carnegie, upon grounds donated by citizens of Huntingdon, 1906-'07, the latest, and promising-to-be-most-extensive epoch in the history of Juniata College begins. The building of this structure enlarged the horizon of the institution's possibilities so greatly that steps were soon taken to amend the charter, looking toward a wider educational field. In pursuance of this ideal, all stockholders freely surrendered their private holdings and a self-perpetuating board of Trustees was constituted, still morally in sympathy with the high purpose of serving the Dunker Brethren educationally, but also free to work in a larger field of usefulness. Already grounds have been secured nearby on which to establish the College proper, leaving the old seat more particularly for the Preparatory Schools. Plans are being drawn and grounds laid out in view of this extensive purpose. Meanwhile the building of a new Church building has been completed, a Summer Session has been re-introduced, the scope of the Bible work has been enlarged by offering a regular Theological Course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

"The institution now enrolls over four hundred students yearly. The faculty numbers twenty-two teachers. Six regular departments present graduates yearly, the College, the Academy, the Teachers' School, the Bible School, the Music School, and the Business School. The Alumni Association, exclusive of the Business graduates, numbers over five hundred. Nearly five thousand different students have registered since the founding. The College buildings and grounds, surrounded as they are by the homes of trustees, faculty members and friends of the institution, constitute one of the most attractive sections of the town of Huntingdon."^a

The endowment funds amount to over one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, and an earnest effort is being made to materially increase the same. A Science Hall, with lecture rooms and ample laboratories, is also planned for the immediate future.

After several years of successful experience as acting president, I. Harvey⁶ Brumbaugh [E892] + was elected by the trustees as president of the College from July 1, 1911.

[E227] ABRAHAM W—.⁵ BRUMBAUGH ([E68] Jacob⁴, same ancestry as [E224]) b on the old [E2] Jacob² homestead in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., July 28, 1838, and actively farmed the same until his d, Nov. 26, 1869.^a

The following extract from the diary of his brother [E226] Andrew B.⁵ Brumbaugh, M. D., is of interest, pertaining to his m, March 17, 1864 to Hannah Faulkender:

"In the evening cousin Isaac and Priscilla S. came over to father's to go with Abraham as his waiters tomorrow." . . . (Wed., March 16, 1864). "Abraham started about 4½ hr. with Isaac and Priscilla . . . to go over the mountain to get married." . . . (Thurs., March 17, 1864). "This morning we were all busy in preparation for the reception of Bro. Abraham and his wife Hannah, with their company. At 7½ hr. they arrived, Abraham and wife, Isaac and Priscilla, and Samuel Faulkender and his lady, Miss Mary Cowen. Robert (Mason [E228]) and I attended with cake, &c., &c. I carved and waited on the table, &c. In the evening the serenaders came. Abraham took Miss Cowen and went out, Hannah remaining in the house. All passed off very pleasantly." (March 18, 1864).

Abraham⁵ was a careful and successful farmer of the old homestead farm, and amongst other things gave much attention to replenishing the large orchard with fine fruit trees. The compiler recalls often seeing his carefully drawn map showing the variety and location of each fruit tree, and also vividly remembers the joys of that orchard—probably in common with many readers of this paragraph.

The agreement for the purchase and occupancy of the farm is given in full under the biographical sketch of [E68] + Jacob⁴ Brumbaugh.

Hannah⁵ Faulkender, b Sept. 6, 1844, was the third child of John and [E3013] + Susannah⁴ (Brumbaugh) Faulkender and the latter's ancestry was: ([E3005] John³, [E5] George², Johannes Henrich¹). Hannah, Jan. 27, 1876, m (2) Isaac Brumbaugh⁴ Replogle [E3009-vii], b April 2, 1830; s Daniel and [E3009] Nancy³ (Brumbaugh) Replogle ([E5] George², Johannes Henrich¹). The three children from this second marriage are given elsewhere.^b Mr. Replogle d Jan. 25, 1902, and was buried in the Replogle cemetery, Waterside, Pa. His widow lived for a time at New Enterprise, Pa., then with her son, [E779] Mahlon Faulkender⁶ Brumbaugh, in Huntingdon, [E228] REBECCA BOYER⁵ BRUMBAUGH ([E68] Jacob⁴, same ancestry as [E224]) b on the Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., ancestral farm Feb. 2, 1841; Sept. 4, 1864, m Robert Mason, b Feb. 23, 1843; s William and Margaret Mason of Williamsport, Pa. For many years Robert farmed the old homestead farm, and the old spring house, in the upper portion of which the author was born (and where [E13] + George³ and Mary, and others lived), is replete with memories of the sweetest milk, cookies, pies, etc., the handiwork of Aunts Rebecca⁵ and Mary⁵, in the later years when he revisited the old scenes, and enjoyed all the pleasures of "grandfather's home." If only the tales then told could be remembered with the lapse of years, or genealogical and historical questions asked of those long since passed away, and duly recorded, how many less obscure points there would be in this and other family histories!

"Rebecca and Robert Mason were married this day between the 3d and 4th hrs. by Uncle Isaac Brumbaugh at father's, then all went to meeting in the meetinghouse. Sermon by Uncle Isaac from the parable of the "Ten Virgins." . . . Received a note from H. B. Brumbaugh."^a

In 1892 Robert purchased the "Reservoir farm" near Huntingdon, Pa.—so called because it contains the fine springs and reservoir supplying the Pennsylvania Reformatory—from his brother-in-law, [E224] + Henry⁵ Brumbaugh.^b The family have continued to live upon this farm which is especially suited for dairying, etc. Robert has served as Director of the Poor, etc., and, in addition to conducting his dairy business, is a director and vice-president of the Standing Stone Farmers Mutual Fire Ins. Co. of Huntingdon, Pa. He is Reprn., and himself and wife are members G. B. B. Ch. (Illustration.)

He has since been continuously and actively connected with the up-building of Juniata College.^a

“The man who followed Prof. Zuck to the principalship of the Brethren's Normal College, and who stood at or near the helm through the storms and calms of nearly twenty-one years was Prof. Jacob H—. Brumbaugh. Perhaps no man now living has been so near the very heart of the school. Perhaps no man felt more heavily the burden of responsibility, or realized more keenly the importance of the charge so suddenly left by Prof. Zuck's untimely demise” (May 10, 1879). . . .

"This fort was erected for a defence of the settlers in Woodcock Valley about 1778, when a number of other minor forts were built at or about the same time in Huntingdon County. It is near Marklesburg on the Broad Top Railroad, in Penn township. Dr. John H. Wintrobe kindly took the writer to the site of the fort and we found that it was located on a high brow of a hill on the farm now owned by David B. Brumbaugh [E274], about one hundred and fifty feet east of a public road leading from Marklesburg to Huntingdon.

THE PILGRIM.

H. B. & GEO. BRUMBAUGH, Editors.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, & Co., Publishers.

We have had under contemplation for sometime the publishing of a periodical that might be the means of affecting good in the Brotherhood, and the world at large; but heretofore there appeared to be no opening, the "Visitor" and "Companion" apparently supplying the wants of the church. Our minds were therefore directed to the youth of our fraternity, and had decided on publishing a paper for their special benefit; but before our arrangements were fully completed, we were informed that Brother H. R. Holsinger had also the same object in view, and had already made arrangements for the publication of the "Pious Youth." After having heard of our intentions, he offered to make a disposition of the whole affair to us. We, therefore, went to see him with the intention of accepting his proposition, but after some reflection on his part he took back, in part, the offer which he made us. We then made the following propositions to him: We would purchase and publish the "Companion," or he should relinquish the publication of the "Pious Youth" and we would publish it, or we would publish an independent paper, and let it succeed or fail, upon its own merits. The latter proposition was finally agreed upon to the satisfaction of both parties, and we have now decided, by the suggestions and encouragement of many prominent brethren, to publish the "PILGRIM," and with the Chart of Jesus for its guide, we shall endeavor to send it forth with the glad tidings of salvation to every creature, until all shall know the way of the Lord, from the greatest unto the least. We believe that the "Church of the Brethren" is the "Church of God," and shall therefore advocate its principles. Our object, more especially, shall be for the promotion of peace and unity among us as brethren: for the encouragement of the pilgrim on his way to Zion: for the instruction of our children, and for the conversion of sinners, carefully avoiding everything that may have a tendency towards division or sectional feelings. We will state our object more fully in our introduction in the first number. The "PILGRIM" will be published in good style and on good paper. The form will be similar to the "Companion," eight pages, the first year, and will be issued semi-monthly until introduced, and then weekly. The price will be One Dollar ($1.00). We expect to issue the first number sometime in December or the First of January. We will send this, our prospectus, to the addresses of all of our dear brethren that we can obtain, and all those who feel like assisting us in our noble enterprise, will please labor for us by sending us subscriptions and contributions, as soon as possible, that we may have an idea of the extent of our issue and original matter for its columns. Anything that will be interesting and instructive will be gladly accepted. Send on your names, and give us a trial, and then judge for yourselves. We intend to devote our means, time and talents to the "Pilgrim" and the church, and by a liberal support and co-operation we hope to succeed. Send no money until after the reception of the first number. Address

H. B. BRUMBAUGH.

PROSPECTUS OF The Pilgrim, JANUARY 1, 1870.

There is not a vestige of the fort left to mark the place. Tradition places it upon the highest point of Brumbaugh's farm. In appearance the site was the most commanding in Woodcock Valley, as one can have an uninterrupted view in all directions from this point of location. The writer was unable to learn that it had ever been used for any other purpose than to harbor the settlers.

"This fort was located on the old Indian path coming from the eastward through the Tuscarora Valley, Aughwick, Woodcock Valley, to Hollidaysburg and to Kittanning Point. Being on this commercial highway to the westward, the track pursued by the traveler in early times, when in quest of a home west of the Alleghenies, it is likely that its importance to the settler, the soldier, the adventurer, in fact to all who were arrayed against the red man, was of such a character as to entitle it now to some memorial stone which shall preserve its history."

Nov., 1910, George⁴ Garner [E18-v] told the compiler that this fort stood on the highest part of the orchard upon the Frank farm, as above noted.

He attended the public schools, and spent one year as student at Williamsburg, Blair Co., Pa.; taught seven or eight terms in the public schools of Pa.; spent his early married life on a farm in his native township, and moved to Grafton, Huntingdon Co., Pa., where he made good wagons and carriages which were widely and favorably known throughout the "Woodcock Valley." He was baptized into the G. B. B. Ch. in 1852, elected to its ministry in 1857, and ordained elder April, 1872. He was one of the promoters and assistant editor of the Pilgrim, being associated with his brothers, Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E276] and John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E278], who were then located at James Creek, but a few miles distant; and for many years was an able and regular contributor to that paper, and to its successors. [E276] HENRY BOYER⁵ BRUMBAUGH ([E69] John⁴, same ancestry as [E273]) b April 1, 1836, in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. He spent his boyhood days on the farm along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River; attended the public schools and Williamsburg Academy and the Cassville Seminary, and studied Greek, etc., at Juniata College; he farmed for a number of years and feels that the work was successful and congenial; taught 9 years in the public schools of Huntingdon Co.; was baptized into the G. B. B. Ch. June 15, 1856; was called to the ministry of this denomination June 24, 1864, and preached his first sermon from John 11:25, on Aug. 14, 1864. In 1889 he was ordained elder and has since been in charge of the Huntingdon Church of the Brethren. Sept. 20, 1860, he m Susan Fink Peightal, b Oct. 1, 1841, dau of Isaac and Elizabeth (Fink) Peightal, of the same county—original name Beightel. She was also a faithful, devoted and active worker in G. B. B. Ch., and died Jan. 22, 1904; her body was laid to rest in Riverview cemetery at Huntingdon.

In 1869 Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh and his brother [E278] John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh were led to leave the farm and go to "town" to begin the publication of a religious paper along certain distinct lines, and for which they and their advisers felt there was a distinct need. From their residence in Marklesburg, Huntingdon Co., Pa., to the present little can be said of the activities, sacrifices and devotions of the one which does not apply to the other of these "Brumbaugh Bros."

"Today at 4th hr. we had a council meeting for the purpose of trying to finally settle the matter with reference to Bro. George, and then to have a choice for another one for speaker. The voices were taken by which it was decided to put him in the office to which he had been elected. The voice was then taken for a speaker and it fell on Cousin Henry. They—Geo., Henry and Susan—were all received by the members. A little special service was held after which we parted . . . Cousin Isaac with us."^a

"January 1, 1870, the first number of The Pilgrim was published. This was an eight page weekly, the same size of the Christian Family Companion, edited and published by Henry B. and John B. Brumbaugh, with Elder George Brumbaugh [E275] as associate editor, with its office at James Creek, Pa., at one dollar a year." . . . (See photographic reproduction of circular.)

"While it was aggressive and always stood on the side of liberal views, it did it in a way not to arouse antagonism or to engender strife among the church people (G. B. B.), and, because of this milder position, it was well received and soon gained a very encouraging circulation. At the beginning of the second year it was enlarged to sixteen pages and the price per year was raised to one dollar and twenty-five cents."^a

The publication office of The Pilgrim was removed to Huntingdon, Pa., in the fall of 1874, and located in a large brick building erected by Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh at 14th and Washington Sts. He also removed his family at the same time. Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh, M. D. [E226], their cousin, had been identified with The Pilgrim as literary editor and urged the removal of the publishing interests and families to Huntingdon. He superintended the erection of this building, which at once became home for the family of Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh, its owner, "chapel" for the little Huntingdon Church, chapel and home for the Brethren's Normal and Collegiate Institute, and home for The Pilgrim.

"Jan. 7, 1876, the first number of The Young Disciple was issued, a sixteen page monthly, but printed in four parts so as to make a paper for each week. It was published at Huntingdon, Pa., by Henry B. and John B. Brumbaugh, and edited by sister Wealthy A. Clark. This was intended for Sunday school use and weekly distribution, and steadily grew in circulation until 1880, "when it was consolidated with Our Sunday School, a paper prepared more especially for our Sunday school by Eld. S. Z. Sharp and published at Ashland, O." In 1881 The Young Disciple was again published at Huntingdon, Pa., and edited in the main by Henry B. Brumbaugh. In 1882 The Youth's Advance was absorbed giving "a consolidation of all the juvenile papers then published by the church."

The Golden Dawn, a 32 page religious and educational monthly magazine, was published by the "Brumbaugh Bros." (H. B. & J. B.) at Huntingdon, Pa., at $1.00 per year and edited by Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh, and Wealthy A. Clark. It continued for one year.

The Vindicator, an 8 page monthly, was started by Eld. Samuel Kinsey [E60-i], assisted by the advice and counsel of brethren Peter Nead [E60-i], Daniel Miller, Abram Flory, Daniel P. Saylor, Daniel Brower and others,"—published at Dayton, O., at $1 per year and beginning March 1, 1870.

"Oct. 31, 1876, a consolidation was effected between the Primitive Christian and The Pilgrim, the one side of the combined paper being set in type at Myersdale (Somerset Co., Pa.), the former home of the Primitive Christian, and then removed to Huntingdon, the home of The Pilgrim, where the other side was set up and then published as the Primitive Christian and Pilgrim. After this combination, Huntingdon was made the place of publication of the consolidated paper, on account of being a larger place and of its offering more advantages for business, railroad conveniences and mailing facilities. This also necessitated Eld. James Quinter and family and Eld. Joseph W. Beer and family to move to Huntingdon (Oct. 1876), where Eld. Quinter continued to live up to the time of his decease."^a The firm name of the publishers and bookbinders was changed to "Quinter and Brumbaugh Bros." Eld. James Quinter died while upon his knees in public prayer at "Annual Meeting" (G. B. B.), North Manchester, Ind., May 19, 1888.

"THE BRETHREN (GERMAN BAPTIST) CHURCH OF HUNTINGDON, PA."

This congregation is now called "The Church of the Brethren," Huntingdon, Pa. Its beginning in a room 16 x 60 ft. in the building erected and owned by Eld. Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh has already been noted. He recently wrote:^b "In Huntingdon, at this time (1874), were only four members of the Brethren Church, Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh [E226] +, now of precious memory, his good wife, and two others [David Denizer and wife]. The church room was dedicated June 20, 1875.

"The application for incorporation was signed May 10, 1888, in the order given, by: Elders James Quinter, Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E276], William J. Swigart, John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E278], and Joseph E. Saylor, Lizzie B. Howe, Ida M. Pecht, Mrs. Wm. J. Swigart, Mrs. D. C. Burkholder, Mrs. John Boyer Brumbaugh [E278], Isaac Harvey⁶ Brumbaugh [E892], Jacob H—⁵ Brumbaugh [E232], Mrs. James Quinter [Fannie (Studebaker) Quinter—see p. 162], Mary N. Quinter, Jonathan Davis, Andrew Boelus⁵ Brumbaugh [E226] and Maria Frank Brumbaugh, his wife, and David Y. Swayne. This charter was granted June 16, 1888."^c cated Dec. 11, 1910 (sermon by Martin Grove⁶ Brumbaugh [E682]). At that time 724 members had been baptized, 30 men had been called to the ministry, and 11 foreign missionaries had been sent out in the Master's work. (Illustration.)

"We find a little company of brethren and sisters here who are not only endeavoring to be faithful, but who seem to be laboring to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the truth. We trust this little church, the members of which frequently come together, in a room in our office prepared for the purpose, to do as the faithful of old did—to speak 'often one to another,' about the Lord and the 'things which concern salvation,' will form a nucleus around which many will be drawn, and from the body thus formed a Christian influence go out that may be widely felt."^a

"Though the Normal (later Juniata College) had a small beginning, yet the fervent prayers and earnest zeal of the brave, true hearts interested in her welfare soon had their reward in her growth and prosperity."^b

June 24, 1864, Henry Boyer Brumbaugh was elected to the ministry, and from his early activities in organizing the Huntingdon Church, immediately after removal thereto in Dec., 1875, throughout his ministry and eldership in charge (following the death of Eld. James Quinter, in 1888) he has been most faithful in all of the Master's work. During the construction of the new church building he was constantly present overseeing the progress of the work.

The Primitive Christian of June 19, 1883, announced its consolidation with the Brethren at Work under the title "The Gospel Messenger, published at Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., with Eld. Jas. Quinter, Chief Editor; John H. Moore, Office Editor; Henry Boyer Brumbaugh, Eastern Editor; and Joseph Amick as Business Manager."^c This consolidation of publishing interests led to the formation of the present large Brethren Publishing House, Elgin, Ill., which amongst its extensive Church publishing interests continues the weekly issuance of The Gospel Messenger with Henry Boyer Brumbaugh as one of its three Corresponding Editors, he thus being in continuous, active editorial work on a G. B. B. paper since 1870.

"Elder Henry Boyer Brumbaugh, who many years ago started life as a farmer, was destined to become a preacher, a printer, an editor, a teacher, and a college president. He enjoyed the advantages of the common schools of his boyhood days, and further enriched his mind at Williamsburg Academy and at Cassville Seminary . . . As a man of mature judgment, wise counsels, and a philanthropic heart, he is held in high esteem by those who have learned to know and to love him. Elder H. B. has been intimately related to the educational work here from the very start, having been the first and only president of the Board of Trustees—a position, if less prominent, surely not less important than that of the presidency of the college. After the death of Elder James Quinter (May 19, 1888), Elder H. B. Brumbaugh became president also of the college, and so remained until the election of Dr. Martin Grove Brumbaugh [E682] to that position, just before which time Elder H. B., always alert to the best interests of the school, manifested a noble, self-sacrificing spirit by resigning his office as president of the college, in favor of Dr. M. G., who has since held that position.^a Elder H. B. is known as a wise financier, and his financial support to the school, at critical moments as well as at other times, has more than once relieved embarrassment and given the work an impetus that made its success more certain. Besides this he has also given much time in the class room, for all of which he has been paid not a cent. Nor is this all; nor is the author of this acquainted with the half that has been gratuitously given by those who are growing old in the work.”^b

As before stated he has been the only president of Board of Trustees of Juniata College, and the only Dean of its Bible Dept.—in 1895 he spent six months in European travel, especially in the Bible lands; Repr.; v.-p. Standing Stone National Bank; address Huntingdon, Pa. (Illustrations.)

He also attended Millersville and Shippensburg State Normal Schools (Pa.), spent 1 yr at Crozer Seminary and a summer session in the Sch. of Theol. in Chicago Univ.—part of this attendance was after his election to the ministry of the G. Early in 1875, at the earnest solicitation of their cousin,^c and from a full realization of the necessity for a larger field for business and other activities Henry Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh [E276] and John Boyer⁵ Brumbaugh moved their families and the publishing business to Huntingdon, Pa.

“Of those who figured prominently in the early history of Juniata College, no one has been more closely related to her inner life; no one more faithful and untiring in his devotion to the work, from the very beginning than has John Boyer Brumbaugh. In such a cause some personages necessarily stand out more prominently than others. But none the less important are those who humbly hide behind the more aggressive leaders and care for and zealously guard the very life of the institution. Such have been some of the members of the Board of Trustees, and amongst the first and truest has stood J. B. Brumbaugh. He it was who first interested Prof. Zuck in the movement at Huntingdon, and called him here. He and his good wife shared their home and table with Prof. Zuck for the first year, for which they received no compensation save the pleasure and inspiration of the presence of that noble hearted, godly man. . . . He has done much soliciting for the college, and until recently received no compensation, and even paid for his own traveling expenses. He was treasurer of the College until 1880, when he resigned. He has also devoted much time and study to teaching Bible classes in the College. As a man, he is energetic and zealous in every good cause; and always willing to sacrifice when there is sacrificing to be done. A good man!"^a

He has continuously served as trustee of Juniata College, and for years taught a class in the Life of Christ in the Bible Dept. of that institution; has been a member of the Mission Board of the Middle Dist. of Pa. for over 20 yrs., excepting 1 yr.; has been visiting pastor of the Huntingdon (Pa.) Church of the Brethren for over 5 yrs., and continues in that position—is also editor of the Church at Work, the local church monthly.

GOING HOME

TO MY HUSBAND

We begin to see the dawning of the coming of the Lord,
New light shines upon the pathway, as we read His blessed word, Growing brighter still, and brighter, as we near the river's ford,
For we are going Home.

From the valley to the hilltop, where the Lord transfigured stands,
In the glow of heaven's own radiance, we can see his outstretched hands;
Here we fain would tarry longer, but a gentle voice commands,
"My child, come, follow me."

We leave the blessed mountaintop, so near to heaven's gate,
And go with Him to valley deep, and stay through twilight, late;
O, why should dark Gethsemane be on this way of fate?
This way that leads us Home?

We go with Him through the garden, and on to Calvary,
For the glorious resurrection and the crowning time we see;
There's a mansion almost ready now, my dear, for you and me,
And we are going Home.

He continued farming these 120 acres until the death of his w, Feb. 12, 1891, when his son [E936] Cyrus⁶, took charge of the farm, and he began traveling and working upon the "Brumbaugh Record." He lived with his son until March 19, 1896, when he m (2) Mrs. Sarah (Buchtel) Leeser, b June 22, 1835; dau John and Julian Buchtel (and widow of Peter Leeser), of Summit Co., O. He bought a small home near his old home, sold it in 1900 and again returned to the home of his son, [E936] Cyrus⁶, where he d Sept. 3, 1901.

He was always very conservative in his views, and carefully considered a subject before passing judgment. A Democrat in politics until 1861, he went with the Lincoln administration in the prosecution of the Civil War. His convictions were strong that a professor of Christianity ought not to enter the army. He filled offices connected with schools and township affairs; united with the G. B. B. Ch. (East Numishillin Church) about 1870, and at once became quite active in religious work. He was soon thereafter elected church secretary and also deacon, serving in the latter position until his death. He was always active in temperance movements, and abstained from the use of stimulants and narcotics.

Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh commenced work upon his "Brumbaugh Record" in 1885, but, owing to lack of co-operation and slowness in answering letters, made slow progress in the earlier years of the work. Later he traveled extensively, interviewing the older members of the Brumbaugh families in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Pa.; gathering important tombstone inscriptions, Bible records, etc. The compiler of this publication, at various points in his investigations found traces of Andrew's separate investigations, but not until after his death. A box of letters, records, etc., were finally secured from the family, having been preserved by Ephraim⁵ Brumbaugh [E345], brother of the late Andrew⁵, and historian of the Reunion of Descendants of Conrad³ Brumbaugh [E9].^a Some important papers had been largely or wholly destroyed by mice and rats, and every scrap of paper was carefully digested, so that the facts he had patiently gathered might be worked into their place in a broad and deep foundation upon which to rear not only a monument to the memory of the late Andrew⁵ Brumbaugh [E344], our pioneer family historian, but also to that of the worthy ancestors of all the families included in this publication. He planned to include the lines included in Sections E and C. It is deeply regretted that he could not have completed his work, and that he could not have further assisted and enjoyed the consummation of the broader undertaking. An autographic page where Andrew speaks of himself has been photographically reproduced, together with a photograph of himself alone, and as a member of the remarkable group of adult children of Henry⁴ Brumbaugh [E41].

In 1876 he bought one-third interest in a steam saw and planing mill, working therein as engineer for fourteen years. He then sold his interest and returned to farming. Being unable to do hard work he conducted several mail routes for over six years, and never missed the train—going through all kinds of weather, day and night. He held school and township offices. In the meantime his active life as an educator had commenced with his service as prof. of Eng. Lit. in Juniata Coll., 1882-'84, and with the appointment as Co. Supt. of Schs. in Huntingdon county (Pa.); this latter office he held from 1884-'90. In 1890-'91 he was again prof. of Eng. Lit. at Juniata. [E1700] JOHN³ BRUMBAUGH ([E3] Conrad², Johannes Henrich¹) b Oct. 19, 1771 (tombstone gives old style Nov. 11, 1771), probably in Bedford Co., Pa. Reference to the records of [E3] + Conrad² shows that considerable uncertainty exists amongst the descendants as to the time when the family located "near Johnstown, Cambria Co., Pa.," hence the importance of the land records, and of the John Horner ledger records hereafter mentioned—see "Revelations of an Old Ledger." Johnstown, Pa., was called "Cone-maugh" until about 1834.

John³ m Christena Metzker, b May 25, 1765; dau John Metzker ("Christianna Metzger," and "Metzger," are spellings also given by correspondents). They lived in Woodberry Twp., Bedford Co., Pa., where John and his w, "Christina," on Aug. 30, 1815, deeded a half interest in the grist mill^a to [E5] + George² Brumbaugh. John³ built the substantial stone house, herewith reproduced, which contains a stone block with the inscription "J. B.—C. 1816." This tablet evidently means Christena, and seems to contradict the statement that [E3005] + John³ Brumbaugh (miller and s of [E5] + George²) built this house and lived in it. The w of [E5] George² was Elizabeth⁴ Wineland [E11-i].

"John Metzger came to America before the war of the Revolution, from

He was a Dunkard in religion, and was married near Bedford, Pa., settled on a farm in the vicinity of that city, lived there until 86 years of age, and died at the home of his son-in-law, John Brumbaugh [E1700].^a His children were named John, Henry, Jacob and Andrew; and of these, Henry, the father of Benjamin, was born on the original farm near Bedford, Pa., about 1778 and was there married, June 15, 1800, to Susannah Ullery. In 1811 he brought his family to Ohio and located in Jefferson township, Montgomery County, etc.”^b

In connection with all these families especial attention is directed to “Assessment of Woodberry Twp., Bedford Co., Pa., 1789” (complete) p. 50.

Owing to the intermarriages noted in this section and elsewhere, the following quotations are given:

“The Stutsmans and Martins were early settlers. Prior to 1813, from Bedford Co., Pa., came the Metzgers; among them were the families of Jacob, Andrew and Henry; also the Whitmores and Brumbaugh and Wagners were here in an early day.”^c

“In 1803 were added to the thinly settled regions the Ullerys, including 3 large families, hailing from the Keystone State, county of Huntingdon.”^d Samuel entered N. John Ullery is mentioned in Madison Twp.; and a John Ullery, b in Md., May 22, 1891 (s Jacob, b 1772, in Md.), m, 1822, (1) Elizabeth Dale, dau Powell Dale, is mentioned in Miami Co., O. Under [E3] + Conrad² Brumbaugh^a extracts have been given from the important ledger of John Horner; and other pages from the same are herewith reproduced, giving further records of Daniel³ and other children. Another old ledger is in the possession of Mr. James M. "REVELATIONS OF AN OLD LEDGER"

"Isaac Proctor was a native of Bedford Co., Pa. He settled at Johnstown, 'at the forks of the Conemaugh,' when it was a mere hamlet of log houses, about the year 1800, in which year the town was laid out by Joseph Johns, a Swiss Mennonite, into streets and alleys, building lots, public squares, and other reservations. But the name that was then officially given to the new town was Conemaugh and not Johnstown, the latter name being substituted for the former in 1834. We have before us a letter dated at Conemaugh on April 27, 1832. Settlements had been made at Johnstown before 1800 by German and Swiss farmers. For a number of years after 1800 the town was almost exclusively inhabited by people of German and Swiss origin.

"Isaac Proctor was not only a country merchant but he was also the owner of a warehouse on the north bank of Stony Creek, below Franklin street, in Johnstown, which was maintained for the express purpose of receiving and storing bar iron from the forges of the Juniata Valley, which bar iron was hauled to Johnstown over the Frankstown road and thence shipped in large flatboats to Pittsburgh by way of the Conemaugh, Kiskiminetas and Allegheny rivers. There were other warehouses near that of Isaac Proctor which were maintained for precisely the same purpose. The flatboats were built at Johnstown, or at points farther up the Stony Creek and as far south as the mouth of Ben's creek, three miles away. A large business was done far into the present century in the shipment of Juniata iron by flatboats from Johnstown. At first and for many years these shipments embraced only bar iron, but subsequently and down to the opening of the Pennsylvania Canal to Johnstown in 1830 they embraced also blooms and pig iron, all made with charcoal. As the navigation of the streams mentioned was as yet wholly unimproved shipments could only be made during high water, and even then experienced pilots were required to prevent the boats from going to pieces on the rocks and riffles in which the Conemaugh river particularly abounded. Occasionally a boat was wrecked. In one disaster at Richards' Falls two lives were lost. Much of the hauling over the Frankstown road was done in the winter, and February and March, when the spring 'break-up' took place, were favorite months for sending the flatboats to Pittsburgh, which was one hundred miles away. The boats were sold at Pittsburg and the crews walked home.

"Keelboats were also used on the Conemaugh and Kiskiminetas rivers, but they were used chiefly in the salt trade, the Conemaugh salt works beginning about forty miles west of Johnstown. The first salt works on the Conemaugh date from about 1814. In A. J. Hite's Hand Book of Johnstown, printed in 1856, it is stated that the first keelboat built at Johnstown was built by Isaac Proctor in 1816. Keelboats, which passed from the Conemaugh and Kiskiminetas into the Allegheny, brought back return cargoes from Pittsburgh.

"The merchandise accounts in Mr. Proctor's ledger are chiefly for the years 1808 and 1809, occasional entries coming down as late as 1810, 1811, and 1812. The warehouse accounts are for the years 1816, 1817 and 1818. As is usual in ledger accounts the prices of merchandise are not often given. It is, however, very remarkable that all the merchandise accounts are kept in pounds, shillings, and pence. The pound character (£) is used. Dollars and cents are nowhere mentioned, although our federal coinage was authorized in 1792 and silver dollars were coined as early as 1794. The dollar mark ($) does not appear in any of the merchandise accounts. That business should have been transacted in British or colonial currency in an interior town in Pennsylvania as late as 1812 is a discovery for which we were not prepared. We can not understand why the British system of computing values was continued in that interior town so long, nor is any light thrown upon the value of a pound in dollars and cents at Johnstown in 1812, or upon the forms of currency that were used when payments were made in "cash." John Holliday closed his account with Mr. Proctor in June, 1811, when he is credited with a payment of £32 16s. 4d. in "cash"; in January, 1811, Patrick Dempsey closed his account by giving his note for £6 10s. 3d.; in 18812 William Fulford closed his account by giving his note for £2 6s. 1d.; and in the same year John Grosenickle closed his account by giving his note for £1 1s. 2d. In 1808 John Grosenickle is credited with £1 11s. 9d. for hauling a load of maple sugar to Bedford. There are other entries in the same denominations.

“Another revelation of this old ledger is just as remarkable as the use of pounds, shillings, and pence until 1812. The warehouse accounts of bar iron received and shipped in 1816, 1817, and 1818 are kept in tons, hundredweights, quarters, and pounds, the ton representing 2,240 pounds, the hundredweight 112 pounds, and the quarter 28 pounds. The teamsters who hauled bar iron over the Frankstown road are credited in tons, hundredweights, quarters and pounds, and shipments to Pittsburgh are entered in the same terms. In ordinary commercial transactions neither iron nor any other commodity has been weighed by hundredweights and quarters forming fractions of a gross ton at any time within our recollection, the usage being to weigh only by tons and pounds, and it is really very surprising that the early English custom should have prevailed at Johnstown at so late a day as we have mentioned. Charges for storage in 1816, 1817 and 1818 appear, however, to have been paid in dollars and cents, as we find several charges in 1818 in these denominations. We have also found within the leaves of the ledger a bill against Isaac Proctor which reads as follows: ‘Juniata Forge, 16th Dec. 1818. Mr. Isaac Proctor Bot of Peter Shoenberger 2 qrs. 1 lb. Bar Iron @ $0.08c—$4.56.’ Juniata Forge^a was located at Petersburg, Huntingdon county, and was built about 1804. In 1814 or 1815 it passed into the hands of Dr. Peter Shoenberger.

“The numerous entries in Mr. Proctor’s ledger make clear that large quantities of bar iron were shipped at Johnstown by flatboat in 1816, 1817, 1818. He did a large warehousing business, and other owners of warehouses were probably active competitors. The aggregate tonnage shipped by Mr. Proctor, which was chiefly on account of Dr. Shoenberger, amounted to several hundred tons annually. Some of Mr. Proctor’s single shipments amounted to 16 and 19 tons. . . .

“From other sources than the old ledger we add some other facts which show the prominence of Johnstown as an iron centre early in the present century.

“John Holliday built a forge at Johnstown, on the north bank of the Stony Creek, about 1809, for the manufacture of bar iron from Juniata blooms and pig iron, but we find no mention in Mr. Proctor’s ledger of any shipments from this forge. The dam of this forge was washed away about 1811, and subsequently the forge was removed to the north bank of the Cone-maugh, in the Millville addition to Johnstown, where it was operated down to about 1822, Rahm & Bean, of Pittsburgh, being the lessees at this time. In ^aSee [E13] p. 416.

1817 Thomas Burrell, the proprietor at that time, offered wood-cutters ' fifty cents per cord for chopping two thousand cords of wood at Cambria Forge, Johnstown.' The forge would appear to have been in operation from 1809 to 1822.

" In 1807 or 1808 Shade Furnace was built on Shade creek, in Somerset county, about fifteen miles southeast of Johnstown, and in 1820 Shade Forge was built near the furnace. As early as 1820 bar iron was shipped to Pittsburgh from Shade Forge. Much of the iron from this forge was hauled to Johnstown for shipment down the Conemaugh, but some of it was shipped in flatboats directly from the forge. Pig iron was also hauled to Johnstown from Shade Furnace for shipment to Pittsburgh. But there was another early forge, which was still nearer to Johnstown, on the Stony Creek, about half a mile below the mouth of Shade Creek, known as Mary Ann Forge, which shipped bar iron to Pittsburgh at a still earlier day, and perhaps as early as 1811. Richard Geary, the father of Gov. John W. Geary, was the manager of the forge for about one year, and was supercargo of a load of bar iron which was shipped from the forge down the Stony Creek, the Conemaugh, and other streams to Pittsburgh. Garret Ream lived at the mouth of Ben's Creek and built boats which were loaded at Johnstown, but he also shipped iron direct from Ben's Creek, and it is probable that some of this iron came from Mary Ann Forge, Shade Furnace and Shade Forge.

" About 200 pounds of nails, valued at $30, were made at Johnstown by one establishment in the census year of 1810. About this time an enterprise was established at Johnstown by Robert Pierson, by whom nails were cut from strips of so-called ' nail iron ' with a machine worked by a treadle, but without heads, which were added by hand in a vise. The ' nail iron ' was obtained at the small rolling mills in Huntingdon county and hauled in wagons to Johnstown.

" The chief interest of this old ledger consists in its revelation of the fact that large quantities of Juniata bar iron were shipped to Pittsburgh from Johnstown as early as 1816. Earlier shipments were made by water from Johnstown to the same destination, probably as early as 1800, but the ledger of Isaac Proctor shows conclusively that these shipments had attained large proportions in 1816, 1817 and 1818, in which years bar iron had not yet been made at Pittsburgh. Next in importance among the facts disclosed by Mr. Proctor's ledger,^a is the survival at Johnstown down to 1812 of the British system of computing values and the survival down to 1818 of the now long disused hundredweights and quarters."

^aSee also "Ledger of John Horner," following.

In connection with the preceding, and with references under [E8] "Furnaces and The Iron Industry," and [E13] "Juniata Forge," etc., the following extract from "Progressive Pennsylvania," James M. Swank, pp. 189-190, is also of interest:

"Bar iron and castings from Bedford furnace [on Black Log Creek, 1787 or 1788, on the site of the present town of Orbisonia, Huntingdon Co., Pa.] and other iron works in the Juniata valley were taken down the Juniata river in arks, many of them descending to as low a point as Middletown, on the Susquehanna, whence the iron was hauled to Philadelphia. Much of the iron of the Juniata valley was also sent to Baltimore in arks down the Susquehanna river.

"Much of the iron made in the Juniata valley during the palmy days of its iron industry was sold at Pittsburgh, first in the form of castings, afterwards in both pigs and bars, and finally chiefly in the form of blooms. Before the completion of the Pennsylvania Canal [1834] and the Portage Railroad, bar iron from Centre county was at first carried on the backs of horses to the Clarion river, and was then floated on flatboats and arks to Pittsburgh. Pig iron and bar iron from Huntingdon county was hauled over the Frankstown Road to Johnstown and floated to Pittsburgh by way of the Conemaugh river. Subsequently blooms were hauled to Pittsburgh from Huntingdon county by wagon. 'Dorsey's iron from Barree forge' was on sale at Pittsburgh in Oct., 1805, by Thomas Cromwell. In April, 1807, at Pittsburgh, E. Denny advertised 'barr iron for sale, from Huntingdon and Centre counties, at a reduced price.' Juniata iron was long noted throughout the country for its excellence."

LEDGER OF JOHN HORNER, 1799-1809

The History of Cambria Co., Pa., by H. W. Storey, Vol. I, p. 296, contains extracts from the ledger of John Horner, while he was operating the saw and grist mill on Solomon's run. Mr. Emmett Horner, Johnstown, Pa., kindly loaned the ledger to the compiler, from which the reproductions were made, and which has furnished definite facts concerning [E3] Conrad Brumbaugh and some of his sons. The accounts are also kept in £, s. and d., and the £ was \$2.66 $\frac{2}{3}$, the s. was 13 $\frac{1}{3}$ c, and the d. was 5 and 55 hundredths mills. It will be seen that [E1701] + "Daniel Brumboch" spent a half day mowing grass on Aug. 1, 1801, and received a credit of 1s. and 6d.; he further received 3s. for a day's work in cleaning John Horner's mill race; etc.

“John Vaniman, who was noted for his great size and strength, entered a full section of land in Madison township for a homestead, together with other tracts in Perry and Randolph townships, all lying in the unbroken forests. Indians were numerous in the neighborhood, having a camp on a hill upon Mr. Vaniman’s homestead, but were neighborly and well disposed toward the white settlers. "In the dim twilight of a May evening in 1851 a solitary emigrant wagon halted at the cabin of Conrad Brumbaugh and a little band of travelers, consisting of a man, his wife and two ch., weary and travel-worn, were welcomed to a home as hospitable as kind hearts and ready hearts could make it. These more than welcome guests were Asa Cox and family, who had come west to seek a home.

"Mr. Brumbaugh fortunately had two cabins on his claim, one of which he generously offered them, rent free, as long as they desired to occupy it. Of this kind offer Mr. Cox availed himself, remaining in the cabin until 1853. In 1852 Mr. Cox erected the residence now occupied by Lewis Harvont, which was the second house built in Panora.

"While they yet lived on Mr. Brumbaugh's place, the two families possessed one cow in common; one would milk her in the morning and the other in the evening. Panooch and Des Moines supplied these settlers with groceries and dry goods. They frequently walked to Panora, a distance of 25 miles, for goods which they carried upon their backs or drew upon handsleds. This was a lonesome walk, as there was but one cabin, in 1851, between Panooch and the present site of Panora. For flour and meal they went below Winterset and the Fort (Des Moines), and like all the old settlers, when they ran ashore, they ground their grain upon hand mills and coffee mills."^b

"John Milton Brumbaugh, whose career as a man of affairs and varied interests presents some points of unusual prominence from a biographical standpoint. . . . He spent the first sixteen years of his life in his native country, living there after his father's death until his mother sold the farm, and, with her children, moved out to Marion, Marion County, Kansas. Mr. Brumbaugh spent twenty-seven years of his life in Kansas and was identified quite prominently with the official life of the state. He was a clerk in the Kansas state treasurer's office at Topeka two years; lived five years at Concordia, and, during that time served two years as Kansas state fish commissioner. During his residence in the Sunflower State he was known as one of the staunch and steadfast Republicans, unshaken in his allegiance by the populist movement which swept into its ranks so many members of both of the old parties. In 1891 Mr. Brumbaugh met the noted Mary E. Lease in joint debate on the topics of land, finance and transportation, and also took prominent part in many other phases of the campaigns of those years, appearing frequently in joint discussions with Populist orators. In this connection he established a reputation as a debater and fluent speaker and showed himself a master of many of the important problems of the day. Mr. Brumbaugh is a well educated man, although the common schools furnished his early advantages, his native intelligence and practical study of everyday affairs supplying many deficiencies which are often observed even in college graduates. He taught school for ten years of his career. He took up his residence in Elkhart county April 22, 1892, and has lived there ever since. For three years he was engaged in farming in Osolo township, and also filled out an unexpired term as trustee of that township. Well versed in economic subjects and in political affairs, it was but natural that he should turn his attention to the law. He pursued his studies as opportunity offered, and was admitted to the bar of this county in 1898. He was appointed justice of the peace in 1899, and still holds that office.

"He was elected in November, 1910, to his fourth consecutive term as justice of the peace and when he will have served this term he will have been in office continuously for sixteen years. . . . During the residence of Mr. Brumbaugh in Kansas he served as a volunteer in a campaign made by the State of Kansas against the Indians, who had inaugurated one of their terrible wars for the destruction of the settlers and their property of the frontier counties of which Marion County was one.

The company in which Mr. Brumbaugh served was compelled to make long and severe marches against the Indians, and to endure all the severities of an Indian campaign which carried with it the lack of shelter and food. The company never overtook the fleeing savages, but the purpose for which it was organized was served when they were driven back from the frontier and were shown that they might expect armed resistance in any efforts they might make to destroy the settlers and their property."^a

BAPTISMAL CERTIFICATE OF [G4] MATTHIAS "BROMBACH."

"To these two married persons, Hermannus Brombach and his lawful wife (housewife by marriage), Catharine, a born Pattin (Pott or Potts) there was born into the world a son, named Matthias Brombach, in the year of our Lord Jesus 1776 the 9 day of October; this Matthias was born and baptized in America, in the State of Pennsylvania, Berks County, Oley Township. The above mentioned Matthias was baptized on the 6 December, 1776, by the Rev. Mr. Michael. The sponsors were Matthias Höffer and his wife Juliana.

Scarcely have we been born, from the first step in life until we reach the cold grave—a very limited space (only a short measured step)—alas! with each moment our strength declines (goes backward), each year bringing us nearer to the bier (with each year we ripen too fast for the bier); and who knows at what hour the last summons comes, for God has not revealed that hour to any person; he who then sets his house in proper order (he who lives rightly) gladly leaves this world, while on the contrary (whereas) assurance (presumption) can bring about eternal death.

I am baptized, I belong to the covenant through my baptism with my God; therefore I always speak words of gladness in affliction, sorrow, fear and distress; I rejoice that I am baptized, and the joy abides forever.

I am baptized; whether I presently die what harm is there in the cold grave! I know my Fatherland and the inheritance that I have in Heaven with God; after my death there is prepared for me the joys of Heaven and a robe of light.

Praise God in your heart and forget not his goodness (faithfulness), who has from fear and pain out of the dangers of sin."^a

CO., PA.^a

In the name of God, Amen, I, George Brumbach of Oley township, Berks County, State of Pennsylvania, find myself weak and old, but of sound mind memory and understanding, in consideration of the uncertainty of this earthly life, make and publish herewith this present as my last will and testament, in the following way and manner. First, I commit my body to the cool earth after my death until the day of resurrection, and my soul into the hands of my Saviour, Jesus Christ, to an eternal happy life. Second, It is my will and I do order that all my just debts and funeral expenses shall be paid as soon as possible after my decease. Third, In consideration and distribution of the earthly goods, wherewith God has blessed me in this earthly life, I give and bequeath as follows: It is my will that after my death, all my property shall be sold publically, according to law, and converted into money and divided into three shares, namely: To Henry Brumbach [G42] one share and to Susana Clouser [G43] one share and one share to the three children of Catharine Härner [G44]. And if it should be the case that Henry Brumbach or Susana Clouser should die before me, and then shall each one's share come to their lawful children. Further, It is my will that the children of Catharine Härner shall accept a certain bond which I hold against their father, Nathaniel Härner, as part of their inheritance, but not so understood that this bond shall be their full share, but only as far as it amounts. Lastly, I nominate my son Henry [G42] and my son-in-law Daniel Clouser [G43] as my executors, of this my last will and testament, revoking herewith all former wills and bequeasts.

Upon becoming of age he purchased the property, and it was soon (1864) destroyed by fire. It was immediately rebuilt upon an enlarged scale and named the St. Lawrence Mills, after a certain grade of woolen cloth which William³ [G24] had begun to manufacture there in 1856, and to sell through a commission house in Philadelphia. The building is of stone, two stories high, and has three sets of machines run by steam as well as by water power from the Antietam Creek. Seventy hands are employed and the product consists mainly of mixed cassimeres. These were sold through commission houses and merchants in Phila. until 1870, and, until 1895, by traveling salesmen throughout the U. S. In the latter year Mr. Brumbach established a fine three-story factory employing 100 hands in Reading for the manufacture of trousers and vests, and has since been converting the St. Law-

Thomas Jefferson⁴ Brumbach [G93] + and his w, Susan (Lorah) Brumbach, and [G286] + Ida Elizabeth⁵ Brumbach and her husband, Charles Thomas Stockton Snyder, were all victims of the deplorable "Honda wreck" on the Southern Pacific R. R. in Cal. May 11, 1907, as were also a number of others from Reading, Pa.

A beautiful tribute in the form of a memorial sermon by Rev. Henry H. Ranck, preached May 26, 1907, is contained in the St. Andrews Bulletin of June, 1907:

"ACTION OF THE CONSISTORY ON THE DEATH OF MR. AND MRS. STOCKTON SNYDER."

"As the Consistory of St. Andrew's Ref. Ch., we wish to record our love and appreciation of our now lamented member and fellow worker, Mr. Stockton Snyder, and his beloved wife, who came so sadly and tragically to their untimely end.

"We wish also to bear to their bereaved children, parents and kindred, our most heartfelt sympathy and the assurance of our prayers on their behalf that our loving God and Father may comfort them by His spirit, and sustain them by His grace, in this, their time of grievous sorrow, through the tenderness and mercy of Jesus Christ, our Saviour and our Lord.

“Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were received into the fellowship of St. Andrew’s at the autumn communion, Oct. 13, 1901 . . . They were already faithful in attendance at the regular church services, and were at once ready for every good work. They immediately became active in the S. S. and assumed from time to time many positions of usefulness and honor, entered heart and soul into the busy life of our church, became leaders and pillars of the congregation, and in these several positions of influence and services for Christ they stood at the time of their terrible death.

“Mr. Snyder became the asst. supt. of the S. S. soon after he became a member thereof. He rarely missed a session, and then only for good reason; he was a great help to the supt. . . . His gifts and faculty of adaptation were such that he could fill most acceptably any vacancy that might occur.

He, as a rule, taught a class, and in the absence of the supt. of any department would take the position on short notice. He was supt. of the primary school from last Sept. to Jan. . . .

“He became treas. of the ch. Jan., 1904, and in this important position was an ideal official. All matters pertaining to his office were promptly and fully attended to; reports were made to every meeting in clear and simple fashion; his books were kept neatly and in thorough business-like manner, as his annual auditors always testified; and he used not only his immediate ability, but also his business position and vantage again and again to the great benefit of the church.

“He was elected deacon Jan., 1905, filling the unexpired term of the late and lamented Harry Ehl, and was re-elected to a full term in the same position a year later. In this holy and useful office he was faithful in attending all the services, and in his regular Sabbath duties was approachable, courteous and thoughtful; in the counsels of the consistory his mature judgment was always influential, and in the detail work of correspondence and visiting which fell to him as a deacon, he took, with gladness, a large share.

“He had indeed an exceptional versatility of gifts—shrewd and keen in business, tactful and kind, yet firm in dealing with people, forceful and impressive in teaching and speaking, rich and full of unction in prayer—he sanctified them all in faithful unreserved devotion to Christ and the Church.

“Mrs. Snyder was equally devoted to St. Andrew’s congregation and found in the midst of numerous home duties much time for Christian work. She became a teacher in the primary dept. of the S. S. shortly after joining the church, and when the S. S. was reorganized with the addition of a junior dept. she became organist of the primary school.

"Her quiet, sympathetic manner endeared her to the children, even as she was beloved by all; as a member of the Ladies' Aid Society she was one of the most faithful, and gave much time and strength to their work. She volunteered her services at the organization of the Mission Band, Oct., 1902, and as teacher and organist in regular meetings and in the preparation of special programs, served with continuous faithfulness and efficiency.

"Next to their home, the centre of all the holy fellowship and joys of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder was the church, which they loved and sustained unitedly with beautiful appreciation, noble generosity and strong personal devotion.

"Their loss to our church is great, and to those of us who were honored by their close and rich friendship the loss is irreparable. But we rejoice in their lives of splendid service, in their characters of singular sweetness, in their victory of faith through Christ Jesus our Lord, who rewards them with His immortal crown of righteousness as they rest and serve before Him in the everlasting sunshine of His presence. Their works do follow them and we cherish their precious memory as a sacred heritage forever.

"The Consistory—Henry H. Ranck, Pastor; Elders C. E. Diefenderfer, J. O. Glase, C. H. Leinbach, J. P. Luft; Deacons Harry D. Hoffman, E. H. Kreamer, H. J. Raudenbush."^a
